It is a well known fact among promoters of big business concerns that it takes at least seven years to so establish a new enterprise that it will carry itself along and pay a dividend on the money invested. In the case of a going concern which undertakes to establish a branch house in a new territory, it will require at least three years for the branch to reach a self-supporting and dividend-paying stage, regardless of the prestige and standing of the mother company. Indeed to build up a new department in an old established business will take from three to five years, notwithstanding the splendid business and sales organization the new department has to help it along.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS, MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES

[Record and Guide Quotations Are Accepted as Official by Building Material Exchanges.]

THROUGHOUT the Metropolitan district the building situation remains exceedingly quiet with the exception of that phase of structural activity designed for Federal occupation and the group of industrial buildings to house manufacturers of war munitions and supplies. These projects are being speeded up to the limit of possibility. What little private building has been in progress during the last few months is rapidly nearing completion, and there are but few new operations of any magnitude being started to replace them. Although the need for a large number of additional buildings of various types is admitted, there seems to be but slight hope that conditions will readjust themselves to a point where they may be started. Not while the war continues will it be possible to commence the erection of these structures, according to the best informed in building circles.

The housing situation in Greater New York, not particularly as it applies to employees in war industries, but the supply of dwellings to accommodate the rapidly growing population of the city, is serious, and must soon receive the consideration of those responsible. Rentals are steadily increasing, and in many instances are entirely out of proportion to the value of the property. Unless some steps are taken to relieve this situation the coming autumn renting season will witness greater difficulties in providing for homeseekers than was apparent last year.

Intense activity continues in the construction and equipment of ship yards, and there is a large volume of work of this character yet to be placed under contract. Congress will soon be asked for an additional appropriation of $50,000, to be used in the erection of four new ship yards for the United States Emergency Fleet Corporation, at locations to be announced later. The selection of Charles M. Schwab as Director-General of this organization thoroughly meets with the approval of the public, and the move is generally considered as one of paramount importance to the success of the shipbuilding program.

By the action of the Federal Fuel Administrator in ordering the curtailment of the output of the ceramic industries another difficulty is added to the already long list of deterrents to building activity. The production of face brick, common and paving brick, terra cotta, roofing, floor and wall tile and sanitary ware was ordered curtailed 50 per cent. Hollow tile, sewer pipe and drain tile will be reduced 25 per cent., and stoneware, with the exception of chemical stoneware, 15 per cent. The curtailment ordered by the Fuel Administrator is in each case based upon the average output for the last three years. It is felt throughout the building trades that the order of this week is only the forerunner of others that will affect the production of all building materials during the period of the war. The manufacture of clay products and many other building materials are a greater tax upon the transportation and fuel facilities of the nation than any other industry, and although this industry as a unit is considered of fundamental importance to the life of the country and essential to winning the war, reorganization was necessary.

The building material markets have been uniformly dull, and aside from the orders emanating from Government sources or from contractors erecting buildings for federal occupation the business of the week has been negligible. Prices for practically all building commodities are well sustained, however, and are likely to maintain their present levels for some time. The principal exception of the week was the market for Hudson River common brick. Owing to the large quantity of brick now available in this district, and the decreased demand for this material, prices are considerably weaker, and sales have been reported during the week as ranging between $8.50 and $9 a thousand to dealers as compared with $10, which was the ruling quotation last week.

Common Brick.—The market for Hudson River common brick has passed through a comparatively dull week. The arrivals from up-river were relatively light and the sales were not up to the average of recent weeks. Prices have dropped, and the market is now ranging between $8.50 and $9 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots. According to the latest advice there are more than ten million common brick remaining unsold in local waters, aside from those in the yards of the dealers and those now unloading from barges at various points about the Metropolitan district. Manufacturing operations in the Hudson River plants have not yet been commenced, and from all accounts the production from this district will be very light this season. The Raritan situation is practically unchanged, with the product out of this market for the time being.

SUMMARY.—Transactions in the North River brick market for the week ending Friday, April 19, 1918. Condition of market: Demand, light; prices lower. Quotations: Hudson Rivers, $8.50 to $9.00 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 7; sales, 10. Distribution: Manhattan, 3; Brooklyn, 4; New Jersey points, 3.

Structural Steel.—According to the March records of the Bridge Builders' and Structural Society 47 per cent. of the entire capacity of the bridge and structural shops of the country was contracted for during the month. This amounts to approximately 85,000 tons of steel, and of this total it is estimated that in the neighborhood of 75 per cent. was material required on Government contracts. Orders for structural steel booked since January 1 aggregated about 280,000 tons as compared with 338,000 tons for the first three months of 1917. The reduced tonnage of the current year is mainly attributable to the congested freight conditions that have maintained in all lines of transportation, which prevented contract deliveries and curtailed production to a serious degree. The conditions made it inadvisable for the mills to accept all of the contracts offered. During the current month steel commitments have been relatively light, and even the orders from Federal sources have been small in comparison with the average of previous weeks. There is considerable of a new demand in sight for fabricated material to be used in the construction of factories and warehouses for Government usage, and also for industrial concerns which have important contracts from the authorities for the supply of munitions and equipment for the troops. There is almost no demand, however, for fabricated material to be used in the erection of private building operations, and there is no immediate outlook for an improvement in this situation. What little construction is active is cutting the steel requirements to the minimum. There has been no change in the quotations for mill shipments of fabricated material, the Government control figures still dominating all business transacted.

Sand and Gravel.—The markets for these commodities are fairly active, but with the bulk of the business coming from the Government direct or from contractors having important federal structural operations. The demand for private building is slack, and no improvement is imminent. Prices are firm at $1.25 a yard for sand and $2 for gravel. The principal difficulty of the producers of these materials at the present time is in obtaining and keeping the forces of laborers required to operate their plants.

Lumber.—During the past week there has been no material change in the lumber market conditions. The demands from Government sources dominate the situation, and aside from this the activity for general building purposes is slight. The manufacturing consuming interests are important factors in the market, but only those requiring materials for the production of commodities needed in prosecution of the war are obtaining preference in deliveries, and those concerns making objects for general usage must wait until all war industries are supplied. The lumber market continues to feel the effects of the transportation congestion, which is still acute, and the supplies of new lumber coming in from the mills is limited. As a consequence of the difficulties of obtaining adequate stocks to fill orders promptly the prices are indicating a steadily rising tendency. The Southern Pine Emergency Bureau has notified all of the mills within its jurisdiction that the Raw Materials Division of the War Industries Board has made it quite plain that Government lumber orders must take precedence over all commercial orders.

White Lead.—Although there is some uncertainty in the market for this product, due largely to the generally upset conditions of the building industry, the demand continues fair. There is a growing possibility of action by the Price Fixing Committee of the War Industries Board in regard to this product, but at the present writing no definite prediction can be made as to the extent the Government will endeavor to control output or price. Basic carbonate in large lots is now being quoted at 9c. to 10c. a pound to dealers, and white lead in oil at 10³/₄c. to 11c. a pound.

Window Glass.—There is practically no demand for either plate or window glass, and the industry has slowed down production to the minimum. Transportation difficulties continue to hinder both manufacturers and jobbers, and the outlook for the balance of the season is not of the best. There is some Government business in sight, mainly requirements for the new camps under construction and the extensions to existing training stations and cantonments. Almost no business is coming from private building operations. Glass prices are unchanged, and the existing schedule of manufacturers' discounts are likely to remain in force indefinitely.

Cast Iron Pipe.—Trade is quiet in this line, and what little is moving is being influenced by the large volume of Government construction under way. Both municipal and private buying has fallen off to a negligible amount, and although there are persistent rumors of increased business from these sources they have failed to develop into tangible operations. Cast iron prices remain unchanged.

Hydrated Lime.—The market is dull, and there is no renewal of activity anticipated for some time. The spot demand is negligible and sales very light, but from the number of inquiries it appears as though considerable building might be undertaken if conditions became more propitious. Prices for hydrated lime, both common and finishing, are unchanged.

Rosendale Cement.—The market for natural cement is exceptionally quiet, and there is likely to be no change in the situation while the dearth of structural activity continues.

AUTOMOBILE SHOWROOM ON HOTEL SITE

New Addition to Fast Growing Auto Center

In Brooklyn—Project Will Cost $60,000

UPON the site of the old St. Marks Avenue Hotel, on the north side of St. Marks avenue, between Bedford and Rogers avenue, Brooklyn, and in the heart of the rapidly developing automobile center of the Borough, there will

The cost of this operation will be in the neighborhood of $60,000. The structure will be two stories in height, with basement, and will have frontages of approximately 80 feet on the three avenues. The facades have been designed in a shortly be erected a modern fireproof building designed as automobile showrooms and offices. The former structure on this site was notable as being among the first of the modern hotels in Brooklyn and for a number of years was prominently identified with the social life of the section. About a year ago the old structure was totally destroyed by fire and since that time there have been many rumors as to the probable use of this site.

The new building soon to be commenced will be owned by the Lamar Realty Co., Sigmund Orbach, president, 525 Nostrand avenue, and will be constructed according to plans and specifications prepared by Henry J. Nurick, architect and engineer, 957 Broadway.

Noted Architect Passes Away.

The architectural profession lately lost one of its prominent members by the death of James Edward Ware, for nearly fifty years actively engaged in the practice of architecture in this city. Mr. Ware died after a brief illness at his home, 1285 Madison avenue, Sunday, April 14. He was born in New York July 16, 1842, graduated from the College of the City of New York in 1864 and commenced the practice of his profession in 1870. He was one of the pioneers in the design of the modern type of fireproof warehouses, and among the structures of this character erected from his plans are numbered the buildings of the Manhattan Storage & Warehouse Company at 42d street and Lexington avenue and at Seventh avenue and 52d street. As a designer of housing accommodations for people of moderate means Mr. Ware was also widely and favorably known. He was one of the prize winners in the competition held by the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, in an effort to better living conditions in the congested districts of the city, and it was from his plans that some of the earliest model tenements were constructed, those erected by the City & Suburban Homes Company being notable examples. Other prominent buildings from designs by this architect include the Twelfth Regiment Armory at Columbus avenue and 61st street, and the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, 73d street and Madison avenue. During recent years his sons, Franklin B. Ware, formerly State architect, and Arthur Ware, were associated with him in his profession. For a number of years Mr. Ware was a trustee of the Manhattan Savings Institution, and treasurer of the Industrial Christian Alliance. He was a member of the American Institute of Architects and the simple and dignified manner and will be constructed of brick, with trimmings of tapestry brick and tinted stucco. There will be a cornice of red Spanish tile surmounted by a parapet of brick and stucco, enriched with faience tile.

The first floor will be entirely devoted to automobile and accessory display and salesrooms and the second floor will be occupied by the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co., as district offices under a long term lease. The building will embody all modern commercial conveniences and will be a distinct addition to the business facilities of the neighborhood. The architect is now taking estimates for the construction of this project and work will be started immediately upon the award of contracts.

Architectural League of New York. He was a member of the Seventh Regiment, N. G. N. Y., for nearly twenty-five years and was one of the group who comprised the guard of honor when the body of President Lincoln lay in state in the City Hall. In 1872 he married Edith Cordelia Backus. He is survived by his widow, three sons and three daughters.

Rapid Progress Indicated.

The rapid increase in the war-time work of the Building Industries of New York and the co-operation of the association with the various departments of the Government at Washington has obliged the organization to open larger offices, located at 50 East 42d street, which will now be the headquarters of this organization.

Aside from the survey of building materials available in New York City already submitted to the Government departments interested, Building Industries of New York has equipped itself to co-operate in any way in which it is called upon by the local, State and Federal authorities.

The executive secretary, who recently spent several days in Washington, states that Building Industries of New York have no intention of opening an office in Washington at present, as the important work of the association is conducted in New York and the results submitted direct to the proper department heads of the Government. He explained that the association might later open an office in Washington, if it would be of real service to building associations of other cities throughout the United States desiring to co-operate with the Government. In the meantime, all building associations are free to call upon the New York office of Building Industries for any assistance it can render.

Net Revenues From Office Buildings Decline

Higher Taxes and Greater Operating Costs Not Fully Covered by Increased Gross Rentals

DURING the discussions over the terms of the Boylan bill limiting the tax on real estate which failed to pass the Legislature, the claim was frequently made that realty taxes were passed along by owners to occupants of buildings in the form of rentals, these being advanced in proportion to the increased taxes, and that therefore a higher tax rate worked no disadvantage to the holders of property.

Real estate men have admitted that a certain proportion of the increased cost of the operation of high-class buildings has been covered by the advance in rentals that has taken place in the last year or two. But they have also contended that the new scale of rents does not equal the larger operating expense. The Boylan bill, they have pointed out, was introduced as much for the benefit of tenants as owners of buildings, because unless the relief was granted it would be necessary to make further additions to rentals. The burden of the constantly augmented cost of city operation would, therefore, unless the bill became law, fall more and more heavily on the tenants.

Without a fixed tax rate, as provided in the bill, the probability of higher taxes was sufficiently strong to justify a promise of higher rents. In the hearings before Senator Cromwell's Committee on the Affairs of the City of New York it was freely predicted that unless the Boylan bill was passed the tax rate next year would be 20 to 30 points higher than for this year. It was also universally conceded that it was practically impossible to reduce or even to materially retard the constantly increasing cost of running the city government.

Those who opposed any change in the existing system of taxing realty to cover about ninety per cent. of the city's budget declared that the burden of taxation did not fall upon the owners of real estate, but upon the tenants and that this was the most equitable form of taxation because it reached the largest possible number of citizens, many of whom would otherwise escape paying any share of the expenses of the city government.

That this phase of the question may be justified to a certain extent was admitted by real estate men, but it was emphatically stated that gross rentals had not begun to keep pace with the great increase in operating expenses, which included the considerable item of taxes and insurance, and that it was always impossible to advance rentals in the same ratio that these expenses mounted up.

With the object of ascertaining what is the real situation with respect to these various issues, the Real Estate Record and Guide has obtained the actual figures bearing on the question of the relation between operating expenses, including taxes and insurance, and the rentals which can be obtained. For this purpose the managers and owners of ten modern office buildings in the district south of City Hall were induced to give the real figures covering these items and these statistics are presented to the readers of this newspaper for their careful consideration.

These figures were secured on the understanding that the totals only for the ten buildings were to be used, the classification of items having been arranged so as to cover all the expenses incurred in the operation of structures of this character. By this arrangement two things were accomplished—the owners are protected as to the exact figures relating to any one building, and the analysis itself made much more valuable as showing the actual condition of realty, because an average can be struck which applies generally to office buildings of high type in the downtown district.

It was essential to the value of this statement that the buildings should be uniform in character and consequently only office structures of the first class were included in the analysis. It was equally important that the figures should be genuine, and these conditions have been rigidly adhered to. The buildings are all well known, and some of them have national reputation, and the figures have been carried out to dollars and cents.

As the real estate fiscal year ends on May 1, it was necessary to obtain figures for eleven months, to March 31, and for the comparative period of eleven months of the previous year.

The comparison of the gross and net returns on these buildings shows conclusively that the owners did not receive as large net income on their investments during the eleven months ending March 31 last as they did for a similar period of time in 1917. The cause for the great increases in operating expenses are shown in the accompanying table. Of these, the increase in taxes was contributory, but the full effect of the high tax rate now in force will be felt this year. Only three months of the time for which the figures are taken were affected by the new and increased rate.

The gross rents for the ten buildings for the period ending March 31, 1918, were $6,287,804.30, and for the corresponding months in 1917 were $5,970,323.34, showing an advance in gross rentals of $317,480.06, or 5.32 per cent. increase.

The operating expenses were $1,801,533.80 in 1918 and $1,403,522.00 in 1917, the gain being $398,011.80 or 28.4 per cent. increase. Fixed charges (taxes and insurance) for 1918 were $1,156,242.20, and for 1917 were $1,120,058.94, the addition to this item being $36,183.26, a gain of 3.23 per cent.

These figures might be considered fairly satisfactory, unless the comparison between the two years is worked out. Deducting the total operating expenses, including taxes and insurance, from the gross rentals it is found that the net rentals for 1918 were $3,330,028.30, and for 1917 were $3,446,742.40, showing a loss in net of $116,714.10, or 3.38 per cent.

With gross rentals increasing this year 5.32 per cent. over last, the net rentals actually decreased 3.38 per cent., which the owners of the buildings say is sufficient evidence that conditions are very unsatisfactory. There are several other unfavorable factors to be taken into consideration.

Building managers of many years' experience state that a safe estimate of operating cost for a modern building should be based upon 18 per cent. of the gross rents, with the building 85 per cent. rented. This year, as the statistics compiled show, the operating costs have amounted to as high as 30 per cent. in some cases, or within from 6 per cent. to 10 per cent. of what operating expenses and taxes and insurance combined used to cost.

What is equally important is that the figures presented are made up for the 1918 period to include eight months' taxes at the former rate of $2.02 per thousand, and only three months, since January 1, at the new rate of $2.36 per thousand. If the latter figure had been used for the full period the showing would have been correspondingly worse. No effort was made to make out a bad case and the actual amount of taxes to be paid was therefore included in the statement. It is evident that for the ensuing year the tax item will be very much taken in this analysis. In regard to the figures in the table there might be some criticism of the item for repairs, which seems rather high. The total is larger than might otherwise be the case, because in one of the ten buildings extensive repairs had been made during the last year. As larger. The taxes now are about 18 per cent. higher than they were one year ago.

The buildings which are included in this review of the situation are practically 100 per cent. rented at this time and were also fully occupied during the 1917 period, so that the question of vacancies does not enter into the result. One of the most important phases of the whole subject is the fact that leases are often made for terms of from five to ten years, at fixed rentals, and it is impossible to raise the rentals until the expiration of the lease. For this reason owners find it impossible to meet the advancing costs of operation and the increase in taxes with higher rents.

A disturbing element in all calculations of this character is the fact that one building will produce considerably more gross rents in proportion to its assessed value than another. No account of values has been accuracy was aimed at these repairs costs, although probably much greater than the average for buildings of the character selected, was included without making any change in the figures.

The wage increases were mostly made during the last six months, as the result of war conditions in the labor market, and the light, heat and power costs run up into big figures owing to the abnormal conditions prevailing

One of the discoveries which was made during the investigation of the facts herewith presented was that in order to insure himself against loss, due to further increase in taxation, one landlord had adopted a uniform lease, in which the tenant will be required to pay in addition to the rent reserved in the lease all taxes over and above a fixed amount, said to be two per cent. The new form of contract is said to be working satisfactorily.

Bronx Board of Trade Acts to Clear Harlem River

THE Bronx Board of Trade, for years active in a movement urging Government operation of the barge canal, just ordered by Director-General McAdoo, has renewed its activity in the matter of having the piers of High Bridge removed as a menace to navigation of the Harlem River.

Reports of United States Engineers, Borough Engineers, Shipping Organizations, etc., made at the request of the Board contend that these piers are a greater menace than any other obstruction in the waterway. That the bridge has outlived its usefulness is the contention of the Board, and the action of Mr. McAdoo has altered conditions materially, and it is now distinctly the duty of the City administration to decide at once as to what it intends to do with High Bridge.

In order to bring things to a head, therefore, the Bronx Board of Trade has addressed to the Borough Presidents of Manhattan, Bronx, Brooklyn, Queens and Richmond, Commissioner Murray Hulbert of the Department of Docks and Ferries and to Comptroller Charles L. Craig, the following letter:

"Dear Sir:
"I note in the morning papers, that Director General

McAdoo has ordered that the State Barge Canal System be taken over by the Railroad Administration, and that this has been approved by Governor Whitman. It is also proposed to put into operation a fleet of barges to be operated by the Government on the Canal. This is the only step that could have been taken to relieve the congestion on our railroads, as shippers will be obliged to use the Canal, thus releasing numerous freight cars for other and more important uses.

"You will find that it will be necessary with this increased shipping to immediately improve the Harlem River, so as to make a surer and quicker route from the Hudson River to the Sound, or vice versa.

"As High Bridge is the keystone to the improvement of the Harlem River, we would strongly urge that steps be taken immediately by our city government to have said bridge removed, as it is no longer required by the city and costs considerable each year for its upkeep, which is practically a waste of city funds.

"Trusting that this will receive your immediate consideration, and that early action will be taken by the Board of Estimate, I am Yours very truly, CHARLES E. REID, Secretary."

Dock Expansion Is a National Necessity

Dock Commissioner Hulbert Points Out the Projects Around New York Harbor That Should Be Completed as War Measures.

By HON. MURRAY HULBERT,
Dock Commissioner of the City of New York.

WE are a provincial nation. The war undoubtedly will do much to eradicate this condition and substitute in its place a new Americanism. But all of that is only in the making.

In 1916, largely at my instigation, an authorization was obtained for the deepening of the channel in the East River over Diamond Reef to 35 feet to give free ingress and egress to the capital ships of the Navy, which now on some occasions cannot even get in at high tide; but the army engineers did not proceed with the work after the bill had become a law because they realized meanwhile that a 40-foot channel in reality was needed and that it was useless to undertake the construction of a 35-foot channel. Under a subsequent authorization there was let a new contract for five feet additional depth. The bed of the East River is rock, and when the blasting is done it is just as easy to go to 40 feet as to 35 feet, even though one may only take out the material to a depth of 35 feet under the first contract. It would be a saving of millions of dollars to have the authority and to blast in accordance with a provision for 40 feet in the first operation.

Now if the engineers did act wisely, as I would say they did, in deferring operations under the 35-foot authorization at Diamond Reef until they received a 40-foot authorization in order to make one job of the blasting, then if we are to have an eventual depth of 40 feet at Hell Gate, is it not equally apparent that that authorization should be made now in order to save both time and money in the performance of the contract to get an ultimate 40-foot depth?

I have spoken about national provincialism. There is also metropolitan provincialism, and the broadening and quickening of this new Americanism ought to begin here in the greatest city of America. The question was recently asked, what the Dock Commissioner was doing about the construction of the marginal railway? I say now that the Dock Commissioner is not doing anything about it. It is not a matter within the province of the Dock Commissioner, but belongs to the Port and Terminal Committee, of which he is not a member, but to whom he will give his assistance when invited to do so. The Dock Commissioner has had other and more important things to do for Brooklyn, including the bringing to Brooklyn of an industry that will employ from six to ten thousand people.

I have been asked also whether I am more interested in the development of Hell Gate, and I answer that I believe the development of Hell Gate, which is a National question, is essential not only for the commercial development of the Port, but for its protection.

One great difficulty with respect to the development of the Port of New York is that in our provincialism we have confined our activities to particular localities, principally to the lower end of Manhattan and South Brooklyn. As the city has expanded and extended the development of our waterfront has not kept pace. We have permitted improvements that will be absolute necessities in the future, such as Staten Island, Jamaica Bay, Flushing Bay, the East River along the Bronx and even the East Side of Manhattan, to lag both for want of policy and perspective.

Newtown Creek is a relic of the past. A project for its further improvement was recommended in March, 1916. This should have been completed years ago. As a member of the Committee on Rivers and Harbors I had it included in the bill that passed the House in February, 1917, but failed of consideration in the Senate, due to filibuster. In April of last year the Secretary of War caused to be prepared and presented to the House a bill, stating the President would not consent to any projects other than those which the chief of engineers had regarded as war emergency measures, and as I could not get his approval of the improvement of Newtown Creek as a war emergency it was not put in that bill.

Now this project provides that no work shall be done in Dutch Kills until the obstructing bridges near its mouth have been suitably modified; that no work shall be done in Maspeth Creek until its harbor lines have been modified and approved by the Secretary of War, and all questions of right of way have been satisfactorily settled without expense to the United States; that no work shall be done on the removal of Mussell Island or the widening of the channel above that island or in English Kills until the necessary right of ways have been provided in each case, without cost to the United States and corresponding changes have been made in the harbor lines. When all of these conditions have been complied with and the project is adopted, the Government will spend $510,000. What will local interests contribute?

Here is a waterway which in 1916 carried 5,915,150 short tons, having a value of $201,581,200, upon which the Federal Government has only expended about a half million dollars, and upon the Mississippi River, with less commerce, it has expended more than it has cost the people of the State of New York to build the State Barge Canal.

Flushing Bay, which, in my judgment, some day will be considered with Jamaica Bay, the Bronx and Staten Island waterfronts, as the ideal location of a Free Port, that is destined to do for New York in the future what the construction of the Erie Canal did years ago, has been neglected. The original project for its improvement was adopted by the River and Harbor Act of March 3, 1879, and was still going on when a new project was adopted March 4, 1913. To June 30, 1917, there was expended less than $200,000, although in 1916 there was a commerce of 710,547 short tons, having a value of $1,137,195.

The existing project, which is 35 per cent. completed, provides for a channel ten feet deep and 200 feet wide to the Broadway Bridge and thence seven feet to the Main street bridge, narrowing in width to 100 feet south of Strong's Causeway. There were no operations last year, the work having been stopped pending the granting to the United States of a right of way in certain sections of the creek.

During the same period the Degnon Railroad and Terminal Improvement Company, working on a private enterprise under a permit issued by the War Department, dredged the Government channel for a distance of about 600 feet to a depth of about thirty feet and pumped the dredged material to nearby marshes on the shore. In my opinion the Government ought to undertake the construction of a thirty-foot channel and with that end in view there was inserted in the River and Harbor Bill of last August a provision authorizing and directing a resurvey.

The Harlem and Bronx Kills, being located wholly in the district which I represented in Congress, naturally I championed their improvement, which has been projected for twenty years. I did not, however, put that above

Two Cent Transfers Or Railway Receivership?

Surface and Subway Company Representatives Put This Question Up To the Public Service Commission.

SEVERAL hearings were held by the Public Service Commission during the last week to give the representatives of the surface and subway transportation companies opportunity to argue the question of an increase in fares, in view of the recent decision of the Court of Appeals. In the Thursday session the efforts of the railway men centered on the power of the Commission to grant the companies the right to demand two cents for transfers. The Commission took this phase of the matter under advisement. No decision was rendered, but if the Commission should grant the right to charge for transfers the taxpayers would be relieved to a considerable extent of the additional burden of taxation caused by deficits in the operating companies.

Alfred A. Cook, representing the Third Avenue System, said that in effect his companies desired to go ahead and present evidence as to financial needs because some portions of the lines of the system did not come within the restrictions as set forth by the Court of Appeals, namely, that those lines were prevented by franchise grant from charging more than a five-cent fare.

Henry J. Smith, representing the New York Railway System, held that the Commission had power to relieve the companies of statutory burdens placed upon them, such as for instance transfer obligations. He contended that the Commission might abrogate the necessity of the grant by the companies of a good many transfers that are now given and that if the Commission would hold hearings and would prepare to grant such an order, then the city might be willing to relax in its attitude and relieve the roads of some of the franchise obligations placed upon them. He did not state definitely the franchise obligations to which he referred. He said:

"There cannot be any doubt that the Commission has full power over the question of transfers. It can hold hearings and waive the granting of transfers. I state now that if we don't get some relief it will be necessary for the companies to go through a receivership eventually and the system be resolved into the constituent companies. Once that has occurred many transfers will be cut off."

A. M. Williams, representing the B. R. T. System, stated that at 751 points transfers are given to lines of the same company, while at 1,082 points transfers are given to lines of separate companies in the B. R. T. System. As to all of the latter, he asserted, there was no doubt that the Commission had full power to act in regard to the transfers. There were also a number of points, he said, on lines of a single company where transfers are now granted where the Commission could also act, and pointed out that despite the fact that it only charged a five-cent fare at certain points for rides from the center of Brooklyn to outlying districts, that the company nevertheless under old franchises had the right to charge a ten-cent fare.

The hearings were adjourned at the call of the Commission, after Ernest E. Baldwin, representing the City of New York, had argued that if the Commission should propose to issue an order permitting the street railroads to charge two cents for transfers on these parts of the lines not affected by a franchise grant that this would be in effect a discrimination and not permissible under the Public Service Commissions Law.

The Public Service Commission has made public a comparative statement, showing the financial operation of the B. R. T. rapid transit lines for the months of January from 1914 to 1918. The pooling with the B. R. T. under the dual contracts began when a portion of the Centre Street Loop was placed in operation on August 4, 1913.

The deficits at the present time are being added to the cost of construction, but beginning with 1919 the deficits will have to be met from taxes. The Commission is therefore anxious that full information shall be available monthly in order that the public may know the relation between rapid transit service and possible addition to taxes.

For the month of January, 1918, the total gross revenue was $1,007,072; the total operating expenses was $715,468, leaving a net operating revenue of $291,-

603. The company's preferential, interest and sinking fund and the city's interest and sinking fund charges amount to $547,601, which more than absorbs the net revenue, and produces a total company and city deficit for the month of $255,998.

A comparison with preceding years shows that the gross revenue was in 1917, $929,757; 1916, $781,722; 1915, $562,768; 1914, $673,492.

The total operating expenses were in 1917, $599,804; 1916, $517,898; 1915, $436,929, and 1914, $454,757.

The combined company and city deficits were in 1917, $168,260; 1916, $85,611; 1915, $106,826, and 1914, $102,923.

It will thus be seen that the deficit for January, 1918, which is nearly $256,000, is greatly in excess of the deficit for the corresponding month of preceding years, although there has been a very substantial increase in the total revenue. The increase in the deficit is due very largely to enormous increase in operating expenses, including maintenance arising from war conditions.

The statistics show that in January, 1918, the company had 206 track miles in operation compared with 123 miles in January, 1914, and 115 miles before operation of the Centre Street Loop began; that is, there has been since August, 1913, an increase of nearly 80 per cent. in the facilities available to Brooklyn passengers, which has cost for construction and equipment $84,000,000.

So far as traffic is concerned the passenger car miles have increased from 2,784,000 in 1914 to 3,324,000 in 1918, and the number of fare passengers has increased from 13,196,000 in 1914 to 19,611,000 in 1918, so that there has been an increase in passenger car miles of 11% and increase of fare passengers of 48%.

The revenue per car mile has increased from 24.2 cents in 1914 to 30.2 cents in 1918, an increase of 24 per cent. At the same time the operating expenses, including taxes, per car mile has increased from 16.2 cents to 21.4 cents, an increase of 32 per cent. in operating expenses per car mile. As compared with 1917 the increase in revenue per car mile has been 6 per cent., while the increase in operating expenses per car mile has been 17 per cent.

In connection with the Lockwood Bill, authorizing the Public Service Commission for the First District and the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to modify rapid transit contracts, on which there was a hearing before Mayor Hylan, the following letter was filed with the Mayor from Chairman Oscar S. Strauss.

"In its letters of March 8 and 12, 1918, to the Mayor the Commission further emphasized the situation and outlined the then status of construction work, pointing out that $117,000,000 of work contracted for by the Commission was completed and in operation or ready for operation; that additional contracts had been let aggregating $60,000,000, under which $45,000,000 of work had been done, leaving $35,000,000 contract value of work to be done. The Commission also enumerated the rapid transit lines which it regarded as vital to have in operation at the earliest moment. All of these are dependent upon the completion of the contracts referred to.

"Because of the acute financial conditions to which they had been driven by war conditions the contractors upon public work in progress throughout the state, especially that conducted by state departments, but also including rapid transit construction, presented a bill to the Legislature, which, after amendment, was passed by both houses and is now before the governor for action. This is Senate Bill Int. No. 896, No. 1483, by Mr. Walters.

"From the legal point of view two questions are worthy of consideration. As to whether broad discretion should be granted, it is perhaps sufficient to say that such grant of power can be safely made when the joint action of the Commission and the Board of Estimate and Apportionment are required. The second question relates to the constitutionality of such grant of discretion and the possible exercise thereof.

Hearing on Torrens Bill Before Governor

Real Estate Board Representative Presents Arguments Against Its Constitutionality—Many Favor Measure

(Special to the Record and Guide.)

ALBANY, April 26.—The constitutionality of the Youker bill amending the Torrens Land Title Registration Law was attacked at a hearing before Governor Whitman on Wednesday. The validity of the bill was assailed in many respects, but the primary objection was made to the provisions affecting service of notice upon parties who might have some right or interest in property about to be registered.

At the hearing the Governor did not indicate what action he would take as a result of the arguments presented for and against the measure.

Alfred G. Reeves and David A. Clarkson, representing the Real Estate Board of New York City and members of the original Torrens Law Committee of New York, led the opposition to the measure. They pointed out to the Governor that the first defect in the bill is found in the failure to incorporate in it a "statutory mandate for the personal service of all defendants who reasonably can be found within the State." Providing only for "meagre" notification of parties interested, the bill, they declared, is glaringly unconstitutional.

"Notice of hearing under the terms of this bill," declared Mr. Reeves, "is to be published once in one newspaper published in the county in which the land is situated and sent by registered letter, demanding a return, to every party whose address is known. This is not even a requirement that return on registered mail shall be awaited or proved. This fundamental constitutional difficulty cannot be cured by leaving the matter to the court, nor by providing that the court shall require proof of actual notice, as far as it considers it possible. There must be some statutory mandate for personal service in the bill."

The opponents also pointed out that the Youker bill does not even require the title to be registered subject to the rights of the parties so omitted by virtue of a waiver by the petitioner; but insists that the judgment or order entered in such a proceeding—clearly a proceeding in which the court may have no jurisdiction over parties declared by the official examiner himself to be necessary—shall be forever binding and conclusive upon the State of New York and all persons of the world.

This waiver of inconvenient adverse parties by the person most interested in waiving them, they contended, operates to make the proposed amendments incorporated in the Youker bill unconstitutional. It was also contended that the sponsors of the Youker bill have sought to justify the one publication of the notice and its service by registered mail by the method of giving notice sanctioned in this State in foreclosure of mortgages by advertisement. The reason why personal service is now required in such a foreclosure is that the mortgagor, the land owner, must have authorized the mortgagee to sell the property, by power of sale in the mortgage, they explained. More substantial personal service in mortgage foreclosure is required by the provisions of the Civil Code.

Mr. Reeves gave the Governor a practical example of the operation of the Youker bill in the following terms:

"Were the Youker bill by any peradventure to be held constitutional, it would make it possible for A. to register as his own the title to land belonging to B. merely by giving in the petition an erroneous address for B., who might be well known and live within the State close to the property involved, and then waiving the making of parties to the proceeding all mortgagees, mechanics lienors and other claimants against the property."

Both Mr. Clarkson and Mr. Reeves told the Governor that it was a mistake to say that the present Torrens Law was a failure. It has worked very slowly, but it has worked and is now working well, they said. It is necessarily a technical system, needing the most exact and careful adjustment and fitting into the jurisprudence of the State. Few lawyers, they declared, will take the trouble to understand it thoroughly. Many of those who have signified their approval of the Youker bill have done so, not because of a thorough appreciation of it, but rather because of a general desire to cheapen and shorten the procedure and a general feeling that the existing statute has not made its way fast enough.

John J. Hopper, who led the supporters of the Youker bill, declared that he and "everyone else knew where the opposition to the Youker bill came from—the title companies in New York City." He declared that the same question of constitutionality was raised when the agitation was afoot years ago to enact the first Torrens Law. The aim of these companies, he declared, was to keep the present Torrens Law in an unworkable condition.

Walter Fairchild, secretary and counsel of the Torrens Title League of the State of New York, presented to the Governor a memorandum in explanation of the views of this organization. He stated that the bill amply and adequately provides for notice of service and that any question raised as to the provisions affecting service originated in a desire of the opponents to "grossly misrepresent" the purpose to be accomplished by these amendments to the Torrens Law. He declared that any statement to the effect that the bill would permit the registration of title to real property without any investigation was untrue.

Nothing could be further from the truth, the League's representative declared, than the statement that the bill permits the petitioner to waive service on the defendants whom the official examiner finds should be parties to the proceedings. He declared that the bill requires judicial determination upon the evidence submitted of the rights of any and all parties having interests in the property to be registered, briefly that it was well nigh impossible to practice a deception whereby any interested party would be injured.

J. Clarence Davies declared that the Youker bill was necessary "because the present Torrens Law was unworkable."

Among the arguments in favor of the bill were:

It provides a short procedure for the initial registration, doing away with the present form of lawsuit under which an owner must prove his title twice.

That the bill follows the Massachusetts act, which has been in successful operation for twenty years without a single loss to any person, and which was used by the United States as a model for the Philippine Island and Hawaiian statutes, which have operated for fourteen years without loss.

That the amendments, substantially as passed this year as respects procedure, have been presented to the Legislature for four successive years and have been subjected to the closest study by the Law Committees of the Bar Association of the City of New York, the New York County Lawyers' Association, the Bar Association of Brooklyn and of the Bronx, the Citizens' Union, the City Club and others and have been approved by all. The bill has been improved by some changes resulting from suggestions and constructive criticisms made by these Committees.

Nearly every taxpayers' association in Greater New York and vicinity has approved the amendments, including the Real Estate Association of the State of New York. Also the State and Metropolitan Leagues of Building and Loan Associations.

Investigators of the Law Department and Finance Departments of the City of New York have reported favorably and this year the Mayor's Committee on Taxation has given the bill unqualified endorsement.

The representatives of the Torrens Title League presented the following letter from Judge C. T. Davis, of the Massachusetts Land Court, addressed to Registrar Hopper:

"The best possible form of notice is by service in hand. This is actually accomplished by registered mail. In many cases where service in hand is not obtained upon the actual respondent, such service is obtained

Realty Committee Speeds Up in Loan Campaign

Million and a Half Mark Passed and Teams Expect Further Big Subscriptions—Platoon in Liberty Day Parade

TWO million dollars is the mark set by the Real Estate Committee of the Third Liberty Loan Committee in the drive now nearing the end. The captains and members of the various teams are working enthusiastically, patriotically and energetically to achieve this result.

The somewhat apathetic spirit manifested in all parts of the country during the past week toward the Third Liberty Loan has been felt in New York perhaps more than in any other part of the land, and the Real Estate Committee teams realized that there must be a speeding up if the quota was to be reached. To this end they have been working hard to pile up subscriptions so that the final result will show the efforts put forth and the spirit in which the real estate men of New York are assisting the Government.

On Monday the teams started out after listening to the encouraging talk of the Chairman, Alfred E. Marling, who has been most unselfish in his efforts and assistance to make the loan a success. Mr. Marling stimulated the drooping spirits of his co-workers, who had noted the falling behind of this and other districts in the drive. They were given free rein to go where they pleased, instead of being restricted to sections and prospects laid out for them in the beginning of the campaign.

The lists furnished at the beginning of the drive were found in a majority of cases to be useless. The people named had moved away and left no addresses. Houses were vacant, some of the people had died, and in consequence of the unreliability of the lists much valuable time was lost and many subscriptions that might have been gathered in were overlooked.

At the meeting of the teams on Monday evening it was announced that the total subscriptions for the day amounted to $35,320, making the grand total for the campaign $1,120,800. On Tuesday $52,950 was the result of the day's work, and on Wednesday the total reached the very creditable amount of $105,650, making the grand total for the campaign up to that day $1,279,450.

Of the Wednesday subscriptions the largest were one of $50,000 by S. W. Strauss & Company for their New York office; $20,000 from an unnamed subscriber, and $5,000 from Cushman & Wakefield, Inc.

If the minimum amount expected from the real estate men of this city is raised, the Real Estate Board Committee will have to average $100,000 a day for the next nine days. Although this means great work on the part of the teams they are undaunted. Chairman Marling is confident that his Committee will come up to expectations and turn in subscriptions for $2,000,000 at least, and he will not be surprised if it goes over the amount.

Mr. Marling has issued this statement:

"Intentions are the best, but folks are putting off subscribing. This will entail unnecessary work and put too much strain on the teams toward the end of the drive. Every real estate man and employee of a real estate concern who intends to buy a bond should do so this week and thus encourage the 150 men who are canvassing the city for subscriptions. These men need encouragement. They have been working hard, and the real estate profession should come out and show that they are behind the teams and the Real Estate Board in their efforts to roll up a representative total subscription."

The captains of the ten teams met on Thursday afternoon at the rooms of the Real Estate Board, 217 Broadway, at the request of Chairman Marling and a general discussion of the situation took place. Important suggestions for speeding up the drive in the closing days were made by the captains, and William Wheelock expressed the opinion that the payment of the income tax at one time seriously hampered the prospective buyers of Liberty Bonds. But he thought that many of the men who had already subscribed could be solicited again and successfully.

Announcement was made that many of the subscriptions of real estate brokers were comparatively small, and these men will again be solicited with a view to having them increase their subscriptions to an amount in proportion to their position in the realty business and their means.

Several large subscriptions were announced by Chairman Marling for the day, including one of $50,000 from the Woodlawn Cemetery Association; Frederick Brown, the well-known operator, $50,000; Michael Coleman, $40,000, and several subscriptions of $10,000 and $5,000. The total for the day brought the grand total up to $1,481,000, with several subscriptions known to be in the hands of members of the teams, but not yet handled in that would put the total several thousand dollars over the one and one-half million mark.

In the Liberty Day parade yesterday the Real Estate men were represented by a platoon. Laurence McGuire, President of the Real Estate Board, was Marshal, and his lieutenants were William L. DeBost and S. A. Paxson. In the platoon, of which Alfred E. Marling was captain, were William Tod Willcox, A. V. Amy, F. R. Wood, Lewis H. May, Eugene J. Busher, Edward Perry Blake, Benjamin Mordecai, Anton L. Trunk, R. W. Prendergast, Richard Collins, A. R. Bastine, F. D. Kalley, R. E. Simon, C. G. Kolff, Charles E. Schuyler, Howard C. Pyle, Edgar A. Manning, L. Dowdney, Leopold Weil, F. Hovenden.

In the final week of the drive starting next Monday the members of the team will go back over the ground covered in the past three weeks and endeavor to get additional subscriptions from those who have already subscribed and an extra effort will be put forth to persuade the owners of buildings managed by the various brokers to subscribe through the Real Estate Committee.

Employees of Real Estate offices will be asked to increase their subscriptions with a view to receiving one of the flags indicating that every employee, as well as members of the firm, have subscribed to the loan.

There will be no let up in the thoroughness of the drive until the last day of the campaign when the teams will assemble at the rooms of the Real Estate Board, which have been the headquarters of the Committee, and announce the totals. Many of the members have reported to Chairman Marling that persons solicited have been subscribing in other directions, but will subscribe through the Real Estate Committee before the campaign ends. A careful list of these prospects has been kept and in the last days of the campaign these lists will be distributed to the captains and through them to the teams so that no one will be overlooked.

Several of the large title companies who have not yet entered their subscriptions through the Real Estate Committee have notified Chairman Marling that they will do so before the campaign ends, but have not signified the amount they will subscribe.

Dock Expansion is National Necessity.

everything else, rather I subordinated it to more important questions. The improvement contemplated will be important not only to my old district, but it will be of great benefit to the people of Queens Borough. No one realizes that truth more and no one is appreciating more his duty than Congressman Caldwell, who worked with me and is striving now more vigorously since I resigned my seat to get through the new project for the improvement of the Harlem and Bronx Kills, because it would provide a short cut from the Harlem River both to the Bronx Barge Canal Terminal and to Flushing Bay as well. His work in that particular ought to be commended, but more than that his broad spirit and self-sacrifice ought to be appreciated.

That is the spirit in which we ought to strive for the success of the enterprises that will aid the development of our National commerce, not as Manhattanites, Brooklynites, Bronxites or Long Islanders, not even as New Yorkers, but as Americans with a National viewpoint, in a National aspect, for a National purpose and a National advantage.

Building Trades Subscribe $3,287,600 to Loan

More Than Sixty-five Per Cent. of Entire Quota Obtained—Full Allotment of $5,000,000 Now Assured

STRENUOUS efforts on the part of the Building and Allied Trades Committee for the third Liberty Loan, combined with hearty co-operation and consistent work by the various sub-committees representing the individual trade organizations, have made the third week of the drive a memorable period in construction circles, and, what is of vastly greater importance, brought the total of bond subscriptions to date up to $3,287,600.

At the close of the second week of the campaign the building trades were behind in their schedule by a considerable amount, but during the last seven days the efforts of the committeemen have been wholly devoted to cutting down the deficit, with the result that many important subscriptions have been obtained. There is now every reason to expect that the final week of the campaign will become a banner period, with the full quota attained and a probable oversubscription to the bond issue by the building and allied trades.

From the records on file in the executive office of the General Committee, the various organizations that comprise the working field of this Committee have reported the following subscriptions to date:

Mason Builders' and Contractors' Association	$512,100
Marble Industry: Tile, Grate & Mantle Association and the Mosaic Employers.....	146,000
Cut Stone Association and the Stone Setters	64,000
House Movers' & Shorers' Association and the Hoisting Association.....	1,750
Architectural Iron Workers.....	60,500
Ornamental Bronze & Iron Masters and the Wire Work Manufacturers.....	85,000
Cement Workers	127,800
Composition Roofers and Waterproofers; Metal Ceiling Association; Roofers & Sheet Metal Workers; and the Metal Covered Door & Window Manufacturers.....	355,250
Iron League Erectors.....	165,850
Plasterers	28,350
Master Carpenters' Association; Local No. 1, and the Parquet Flooring Association....	169,400
Lighting Fixture Association.....	314,100
Steam & Hot Water Fitters' Association....	148,900
Painters and Decorators.....	96,000
Association of Metal Furring and Lathing Contractors	15,000
Plumbers	203,450
Elevator Manufacturers' Association.....	254,050
Investing Builders' Association.....	76,250
Mason Material Dealers' Association.....	142,350
H. W. Johns-Manville Co.....	300,000
Heat and Cold Insulation.....	20,000
Refrigeration	1,500
Total	$3,287,600

In the Liberty Loan campaign of the building industry one of the most important events of the past week was the meeting held Wednesday afternoon at the Building Trades Club, which was attended by the General Committee, and the members of all of the sub-committees reporting to it. Stirring addresses were made by Judge Hotchkiss, of the Supreme Court, and by Mr. Cecil Landale, a member of the Advisory Trade Committee for the Liberty Loan. A telegram from Mr. Otto M. Eidlitz to the workers, urging them to greater effort in this drive, was also read. The attitude of the meeting was one of renewed enthusiasm and marked readiness to endeavor to break all records for the remaining period of the drive.

Mass meetings, called by the trade unions identified with building construction, have been well attended, and important bond sales to members have resulted. The General Committee has supplied well-known speakers for these gatherings when requested, and by the termination of the present campaign the trade unions will undoubtedly have a favorable showing of bond sales to their credit.

The two job meetings held last week—at Garden City and Mineola, L. I., respectively—under the auspices of the Clough-Bourne Corporation were reported as being most enthusiastic gatherings. Both meetings were held during the noon hour, the first day—at Garden City, L. I.—bringing together about one thousand workmen and resulting in the sale of eight hundred $50 bonds to individual employees. At the meeting of the second day, held at Mineola in a downpour of rain, about seven hundred and fifty employees were present, and six hundred bought bonds of the $50 denomination. In the two days the total of bond sales reached in the neighborhood of $70,000. At both gatherings the military band from Camp Mills rendered patriotic selections, and Miss Ruth Chase, of the Boston Opera Company, sang the "Star Spangled Banner" and "America." The orators were Mr. J. K. Williams, of the National Liberty Loan Committee, and Mr. Walter H. Clough, of the Clough-Bourne Corporation.

During the past week a number of other job meetings have been held, all of which have been successful from the standpoint of bond sales to workmen. Last Monday afternoon John H. Deeves & Brother held a meeting at the base hospital which they are building at 118th street and East River, at which the attendance was excellent and the sales reported as being most satisfactory. On Tuesday of this week the John T. Brady Company sponsored a meeting at their building on Broadway, between 70th and 71st streets. At this gathering thirty coupon books, representing a total of $1,500 in bond sales, were disposed of.

Marc Eidlitz & Son held a meeting last Tuesday for mechanics and laborers at the new building under construction for St. Bartholomew's Church, Park avenue and 51st street. About seventy-five workmen were present, and fifty bought coupon books representing $2,500 in subscriptions. Another important meeting held Tuesday was that of the office employees of the George A. Fuller Company, at which more than $3,000 in subscriptions was obtained.

Yesterday afternoon Post & McCord conducted a meeting for their eighteen hundred workmen at the new shipbuilding plant at Kearny, N. J., the returns of which have not yet been announced. The Cauldwell-Wingate Company, builder of Base Hospital No. 3, at Colonia, N. J., will hold a meeting at this job this afternoon at 1:30 p. m. About seventeen hundred workmen are expected to be present. An excellent program of music and speakers has been arranged, and a large total of bond subscriptions is anticipated.

Another important meeting scheduled for this afternoon will be the one conducted by the George A. Fuller Company at the Hotel Commodore, now under construction at Lexington avenue and 42d street, and next Monday afternoon the same concern has planned for a meeting at the new Pennsylvania Hotel on Seventh avenue, at which about one thousand mechanics and laborers will be in attendance. Job meetings have aroused great enthusiasm among the building mechanics and assisted materially in bond sales.

The Liberty Loan Committee for the Roofing & Sheet Metal, Waterproofing, Metal Covered Doors, Metal Ceiling Industries and Allied Interests, under the chairmanship of Mr. M. F. Westergren, has the honor of being the first of the organizations composing the General Committee for the building and allied trades to attain its full quota. At the commencement of the present drive this committee was informed that its quota would be $331,000. At the present time more than $400,000 in subscriptions has already been accounted for, and all of the members are determined that by the time the drive ends their trades shall have at least $500,000 to their credit. The Honor Flag, awarded to the first committee to subscribe its full quota, was formally presented to Mr. Westergren at the meeting of the General and sub-committees Wednesday afternoon.

Madison Avenue Will Not Be Widened This Year

President of the Borough Dowling Decides Project Can Go Over Until the Close of the War.

MADISON avenue must be widened eventually, but the present is not the time to undertake the work. The President of the United States has asked us to curtail all unnecessary expenditures. I have decided to let the matter go over indefinitely, or until we are in a position to determine the prospects of the war, and in obedience to the request of our President."

Borough President Frank L. Dowling thus disposed of the petition filed with him by the Fifth Avenue Association for the widening of Madison avenue from Twenty-sixth to Sixtieth streets on Wednesday morning when a hearing was held on the petition at his office in the Municipal Building.

When President Dowling stated that the opposition would be heard first, Henry W. Hayden, representing the owners of 80 Madison avenue, 277 Madison avenue and other property owners southeast of Fortieth street, expressed the opinion that this is not the time to inaugurate big public improvements when the people are being asked to put their money into Liberty Bonds and other Governmental financial undertakings.

L. E. Rigner, proprietor of the Hotel Seville, said that the petitioners had given no good reason for the improvement. H. S. Van Duzer suggested that the opposition and the Fifth Avenue Association get together and endeavor to come to a mutual understanding.

Edward P. Doyle, representing the Real Estate Board, said that to impose upon the already overburdened taxpayers further expense would be criminal, and he proposed asking President Laurence McGuire of the Real Estate Board to appoint a committee to go to Washington to petition the Secretary of the Treasury to prevent unnecessary expenditure of city money or making assessments that will prevent the people from financing the war.

Frank R. Lawrence, Dr. Jackson, Rev. W. D. Stephens, Jr., Allen Townsend, J. T. Rossell, Lewis Nixon, Trustees of St. Patrick's Cathedral, Sisters of the Convent of the Sacred Heart, W. L. DeBost and J. M. French all entered protests against the improvement.

Lewis Nixon, who is the owner of Madison avenue property, said: "There is no proof that the work is necessary, and at this time when labor and material are scarce and difficult to obtain, with prices constantly rising, to start this work will mean a long drawn out proposition. It will mean the disturbance of this thoroughfare and will do more harm than good."

Thomas W. Churchill, appearing for B. Altman & Company, said: "Our forefathers made a great mistake in laying out the long blocks East and West, instead of North and South. The condition of congestion existing in New York today is only relieved because of the splendid traffic regulations inaugurated by the Police Department."

Others who favored the improvement were Bruce M. Falconer, representing the Fifth Avenue Association; O. H. Cheney, Walter J. Salmon, E. W. Essers, D. C. Vaughan, and Louis Falkner, and letters were filed with the Borough President from property owners on Madison avenue who are in favor of the project.

President Dowling said:

"The widening of Fifth avenue cost the city $400,000 and I don't know what it cost the taxpayers. To ask the city to spend in the neighborhood of $500,000 to widen Madison avenue would be a hardship.

"The city is now negotiating with the New York Central Railroad to take over the east side of Depew place to relieve the Park avenue congestion. The tax rate is now at the breaking point and the taxpayers are pretty well bent. I will assume full responsibility in this matter and will not be like other public officials who like to pass the buck to others and thus get rid of some of the responsibility. The charter gives me full power, but I could if I so desired put it up to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment and let every member of the Board share the responsibility. I prefer to decide the matter myself and take any abuse that may come to me for my action."

The question of widening Madison avenue first came up about two years ago, when the Fifth Avenue Association, Robert Grier Cooke, President, brought it to the attention of the Board of Estimate. A committee known as the Madison Avenue Committee, with O. H. Cheney as chairman, made a canvass of the avenue, and through personal calls and through correspondence practically every property owner in the district was reached.

The Board referred the matter to Marcus M. Marks, then Borough President of Manhattan, but practically nothing was done until April 2d last, when the Board of Estimate consented to the widening of the avenue from Forty-first to Forty-sixth streets. This concession was made on account of the traffic congestion at Forty-second street. Work is now in progress and it must be completed by July.

upon an agent expressly authorized to receive registered mail. This is much more direct and efficacious than service made by officer by leaving a copy at the last and usual place of abode of a respondent. In some country districts the sheriffs still know most of the people in their bailiwick, but service thrust under a door in a tenement house or an apartment house is worthless for practical purposes. The best agent I know of is the United States mail. So far from being unsafe, we have had many cases in which notice so served has reached people who were supposed by their former friends and associates to be long since deceased, or their whereabouts unknown.

"On the other hand, whenever we have a case in which registered mail is refused, or cannot be delivered, we make use of whatever other method may appear likely to secure actual notice to the respondent.

"Of course, it is to be borne in mind that in addition to the personal service by registered mail or otherwise, we post on the land and also advertise for three successive weeks in a local newspaper."

Abraham Korn of the Harlem Property Owners' Association, Arthur Arcatander of the Bronx Property Owners' Association, Thomas F. Fowler, representing Harlem interests, and Gilbert Ray Hawes also spoke in favor of the bill.

Governor Whitman has approved the Ottinger bill, designed to eliminate the litigation arising over verbal leases by providing that an agreement for the occupation of real estate in New York City shall create a monthly tenancy unless the duration of occupancy is otherwise specified in some memorandum or lease signed by the parties or their agents.

The Governor also signed the Tuckerman bill, making the fee of the New York County Clerk for filing and indexing any bond and undertaking in any proceeding 50 cents, except bonds or undertakings or assignments, injunctions or attachments of property in the county.

The Davis bill, reducing from 25 to 10 years the period after which unknown heirs shall be presumed dead for the purpose of partitioning property, was also approved by the Governor.

The Governor signed a series of bills designed to perfect the manufacturing and mercantile corporations tax law. These amendments provide that the State tax commission may go behind the Federal income tax returns, may provide for the levy of the tax on corporations after merger, both before and after the amalgamation, and may provide for the collection of omitted taxes where the fiscal year has operated to exempt corporations in districts where there is a difference in the commencement of the fiscal year.

Federal Building Projects in Metropolitan Zone

New Work Announced During the Week Involving Additional Expenditures Totalling Millions

CLOSELY following the recent announcements of gigantic Federal building operations to be located in or near to the Metropolitan district, come reports of additional projected construction that will largely increase the expenditures of Government funds and add materially to the volume of work already under contract or contemplated.

According to the vast scope of the preparations for military and naval supremacy that are now under way and the constantly increasing program of building operations designed for the accommodation of troops, storage facilities, training camps, hospitals and other projects designed to bring the military establishment up to the highest point of efficiency, the authorities at Washington are evidently looking forward to a long period of warfare.

The War Department now is planning to spend upward of $25,000,000 in order to increase the storage facilities of New York Harbor. This is absolutely required by the Quartermaster Department so that supplies may be available to shipping points in sufficient quantity to fill all demands within the minimum of time. This great project involves the construction of mammoth warehouses of steel and reinforced concrete on the property adjoining the Bush Terminal in Brooklyn, adding approximately 6,000,000 square feet of storage space to that already under Federal control or at present under construction in that vicinity. In addition this project will involve the construction of four great piers of concrete and steel. All of this work will be under the direction of Major General Goethals, Director General of Storage.

This immense project has been contemplated for some time past and the plans for its construction are now practically worked out to the satisfaction of the War Department. Negotiations with prominent building contractors have been in progress and it is anticipated that a general contract will shortly be entered into with a building firm of National prominence and that active construction will immediately follow the award of a contract.

A total of approximately $29,000,000 in addition will be expended by the War Department for the installation of equipment of various kinds in the 118 buildings and eight piers recently acquired by the Government in the West Section of the Bush Terminal Area, in Brooklyn. Captain H. C. Spaulding, Depot Quartermaster, U. S. A., 43d street and First avenue, Brooklyn, will have entire charge of the purchase and installation of this equipment. Definite details of this project are not yet available, but will be announced within the next few days.

During the past week Congress has been asked for additional large appropriations for extensions to the naval and military facilities in the vicinity of New York. The sum of $1,250,000 was requested for the construction of hospital buildings on Ward's Island. This project is for the use of the Navy Department and the work will proceed under the direction of C. W. Parks, chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks. This same Bureau will also have charge of the construction of the hospital buildings to be erected at Pelham, N. Y., for which the sum of $900,000 has been asked of Congress.

Another large contract has recently been awarded by the Government, which, although located at considerable distance from this city, has a definite influence upon local building conditions owing to the fact that a New York firm obtained the contract. The Carolina Shipbuilding Company, a subsidiary of the George A. Fuller Company, and of which Lorenzo C. Dilk, is president; Eads Johnson, vice-president; Ralph Fuller, vice-president and manager of work, and F. A. Winslow, vice-president; obtained a contract for the construction of a large shipbuilding plant at Wilmington, N. C. This contract also includes the construction of twelve steel vessels, each of 9,600 tons capacity. The entire project will represent an expenditure of more than $22,000,000. The plans and working drawings for this operation were obtained through the shipbuilding subsidiary of the U. S. Steel Corporation.

At the weekly meeting of Building Industries of New York a work of utmost importance was inaugurated when it was unanimously voted to make a survey of the available warehouse space in the five Boroughs of Greater New York, and a similar survey of available apartments and tenements suitable for the use of the workmen engaged in war industries. These surveys will be made with the cooperation of the Real Estate Boards, Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce of the respective Boroughs and the work will be pushed with the utmost dispatch in order to present accurate information at the earliest possible date to proper Government departments at Washington. All real estate brokers and others in the five Boroughs who desire to assist in this work during the coming week should communicate at once with their local real estate organization, or with Building Industries of New York, 50 East 42d street, Manhattan.

Millions for Housing for Richmond Shipbuilders

REPRESENTATIVES of the Staten Island Civic League, the Merchants' Association of New York, City Club of New York, the New York Chamber of Commerce, Real Estate Board, financial institutions, transportation lines and shipbuilding plants were present at a meeting held on Monday at 2 Wall street, Manhattan, to accelerate the shipbuilding housing movement on Staten Island.

Announcement was made by School Commissioner Anning S. Prall of the Borough of Richmond, who acted as chairman of the meeting, and who has made several trips to Washington in furtherance of the project, that the Government will advance $4,000,000 on bonds secured by a first mortgage if the people of Staten Island will raise $1,000,000 to make up the $5,000,000 necessary to carry out the proposed improvement.

E. R. Moody, of the Port Richmond National Bank, expressed the opinion that with a favorable contract offered by the Government, which would guarantee a reasonable return on the investment, the amount necessary to meet the Government requirements could be raised.

Addresses were made by L. L. Tribus, C. G. Kolff,

William J. Davidson, president of the Staten Island Shipbuilding Company; George Brown, of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad; F. E. Tumulty, a brother of the Secretary to President Wilson; William Wirt Mills and Mr. Prall, and it was the consensus of opinion that a great opportunity was presented to Staten Island, and that prompt action was necessary in order to meet the offer of the Government.

The following resolution was unanimously passed: "RESOLVED, That the chair appoint a committee to devise a definite plan to provide proper housing for shipyard workers, and that such plan be submitted to the Government forthwith."

With the consent of all present the chair appointed E. R. Moody chairman of this committee, with power to add as many members as he deemed necessary. It is hoped to have a report ready to go to Washington early next week.

The committee of which Mr. Moody is chairman has requested the people of Staten Island to notify them of vacant houses, rooms or apartments available for providing housing accommodations, especially on the north shore, where the large ship yards are located.

SECTION II.

Record of Conveyances, Mortgages, Leases, Auctions, Appraisals, Judgments, Lis Pendens, Mechanics' Liens, New Buildings and Alterations.

Landlords Not Benefiting by the Higher Rents.

There recently has been a studious attempt to controvert the argument, which real estate men have advanced in demanding remedial legislation, that operating expenses, including taxes, were rapidly mounting above the gross revenue derived from improved property. Opponents of the Boylan Bill and other measures to restrict taxes on realty have contended that the landlords, by advancing rents, have more than made good any increase in taxes and incidentally other operating costs.

The Record and Guide presents elsewhere in this issue figures obtained from the most reliable sources, which show conclusively that landlords are not benefiting by the higher rents which are now being received. A comparison of the gross and net returns on ten office buildings for periods of eleven months ending March 31, 1917, and 1918, demonstrates that landlords are enjoying less net return on their investments now than a year ago because of the abnormal increase in operating expenses and the higher tax rate.

It has not been possible for the landlords to transfer the whole or even a large part of increased costs to the tenants because in many instances tenants are holding occupancy under leases made five or ten years ago at the then prevailing rates, and until the expiration of these leases landlords will not have an opportunity to bring their rentals up to the present-day schedule.

Study of the comparative statement will well repay tenants as well as owners of property. The real estate men have repeatedly urged that the relief from higher taxes for which they have asked, and will again ask, the Legislature is as important to the interests of tenants as landlords. If the renting class of citizens can be brought to realize the abnormal increase in the cost of maintaining government, as they surely will do when their rents go up year after year, then they will begin to take a greater interest in state and city expenditures, and will join hands with owners and managers of property in demanding a remedy.

An exceedingly interesting suggestion is made in the article printed in this issue, involving a new form of lease, which binds the tenant, in addition to his regular rent, to the payment of all taxes over and above a certain per cent., presumably 2 per cent. A clause of this character in leases generally would be effective in uniting the whole body of tenants into an organization for the proper control of expenditures by the city authorities.

A Far-Sighted View of a Big Problem.

It is a far-sighted view into the future of New York's waterfront that the broad-minded Commissioner of Docks, Hon. Murray Hulbert, takes in the authorized statement from him appearing in this issue of the Record and Guide.

Commissioner Hulbert believes that New York's waterways should be improved from a national viewpoint. He points out that while the United States has been a provincial nation the war undoubtedly will do much to eradicate this condition and to substitute in its place a new Americanism. The Commissioner holds that there is also metropolitan provincialism, and he is right in asserting that the broadening and quickening of this new Americanism ought to begin here in the greatest city of America.

It is highly interesting to note Commissioner Hulbert's declaration that "One great difficulty with respect to the development of the Port of New York is that in our provincialism we have confined our activities to particular localities, principally to the lower end of Manhattan and South Brooklyn. As the city has expanded and extended the development of our waterfront has not kept pace. We have permitted improvements that will be absolute necessities in the future, such as Staten Island, Jamaica Bay, Flushing Bay, the East River along the Bronx and even the east side of Manhattan, to lag both for want of policy and perspective."

Commissioner Hulbert makes timely reference to various phases of waterfront development, and calls for the exercise of a broad spirit in promoting enterprises hereabouts which will aid in the development of our national commerce, not as Manhattanites, Brooklynites, Bronxites or Long Islanders—not even as New Yorkers—but as Americans with a national viewpoint, in a national aspect, for a national purpose and a national advantage.

Let Those Who Ride Pay.

Each week develops new proof of the urgency of devising some method for meeting the Dual System deficit.

The Public Service Commission, in issuing a comparative statement showing the financial operation of the B. R. T. rapid transit lines for January, refers to the fact that the pooling with the B. R. T. on the Dual contracts began when a portion of the Centre street loop was placed in operation in August, 1913. A recent report shows that from that date until the end of 1917 the combined company and city deficit amounted to about $6,000,000.

The Public Service Commission statement then declares:

"The deficits at the present time are being added to the cost of construction, but beginning with 1919 the deficits will have to be met from taxes."

The Commission brings out the fact that the deficit for January, 1918, was nearly $256,000, an amount greatly in excess of the deficit for the corresponding month of preceding years. This increase, the Commission finds, "is due very largely to the enormous increase in operating expenses, including maintenance arising from war conditions."

In view of the accumulating evidence as to the size of the Dual System deficit, the Record and Guide is loath to believe that our public officials will insist on placing this added burden solely on the shoulders of the already over-taxed realty owners of the metropolis.

The proposal that the deficit should be met by those who ride is logical and timely. It should not be dismissed with a wave of the hand by the responsible city officials. On the contrary, they have no more important duty to perform than to consider with the utmost care the suggestion of higher fares.

There is a limit to the load which New York real estate can carry, and that limit has been reached.

Readers' Comment on Current Subjects.

Editor of the Record and Guide:

The value of the new banking quarters was recently made the object of a nation wide investigation. A questionnaire, touching on the following points, was sent to a list of financial institutions which had of late either erected new structures or materially improved their old banking quarters:

1. What, if any, is the advertising value of a new building or improved quarters?

2. Other things being equal, do you believe that the bank with the new building is the one most favored by depositors?

3. Have deposits increased or decreased since the occupancy of the new quarters?

4. Would you attribute all or any part of this increase, if any, to the attraction of the new quarters?

With but little variation, and only slight reservation, or exception, all of the banks from which an answer was received replied in the affirmative to each of the questions.

One bank considers its building as its "best advertisement for many years to come," and says that its value in this respect "cannot be estimated in dollars."

An officer of another institution says: "The advertising value of a new building or improved quarters is, in my opinion, very high. People like beauty, and an imposing bank room appeals to most for the reason that a bank is supposed to represent the accumulated wealth of its community. Cheap equipment indicates a poor or cheap bank in the eyes of many."

Deposits, as a matter of cold figures, have in most cases shown positive and important increases, judging from the answers to question three. While a number of those questioned merely replied that deposits had increased, others gave actual figures.

Deposits of one bank, for example, increased from $6,500,000 to $9,500,000 since the erection of a half-million dollar building. Another's deposits increased from $6,000,000 to $12,000,000. Still another reported an increase of $1,500,000 and another an increase of forty per cent.

It would be a fallacy to state that all of these increases were due to the new buildings. There were undoubtedly other factors; but all things being equal, the bank with attractive quarters and up-to-date modern equipment secures the most business.

Of course, it must be borne in mind that, to be successful, the preliminary planning of a banking room must receive competent consideration. In order to insure the greatest facility and economy of operation, it is necessary that the designer and builder have thorough knowledge of the routine procedure of the banking business. A bank building may be most impressive in appearance, yet possess faults of arrangement which will cause permanent inconvenience and dissatisfaction to its occupants.

There is a real commercial value in properly housing a banking institution. Better facilities increase the loyalty of old customers and attract new accounts. They make for greater efficiency among employees and make pleasanter for customers their transactions with the bank. They increase public confidence in the soundness and strength of the institution. The obvious answer is: Build Now!

Editor of the Record and Guide:

Landlords who attempted to put a stop to frequent removals from medium class apartments by requiring tenants to sign a year's lease often found this policy unsuccessful for the reason that those people who were the most likely to move were without financial responsibility. A lease like a judgment is only of material value if the money called for can be collected. In some sections of the city there is a class of apartment house tenants who will move to a clean apartment rather than clean house; who will move into a new apartment house erected in their neighborhood so as to have newly decorated rooms.

This is the class of people who made the renting of an apartment absolutely contingent upon free rent on going into it; demanded more free rent when they remained in it six months and not infrequently presented themselves with at least two weeks' free rent on leaving the premises. In this way some people by moving two or three times a year could save two or three months' rent.

The free rent proposition developed into so costly a one that landlords were compelled in self-defense to make a stand against the practice and, in most instances, the free rent was abolished and this removed one reason for frequent removals. The scarcity of new buildings has further discouraged the constantly removing tenant, but the class is still in sufficient numbers, in some sections of the Bronx, for example, to continue the lease question as a live one. Of what advantage to the landlord is a lease if the lessee is not a financially responsible party? And, if a lease is not an effective measure with this class of tenants what can the landlord do to protect himself against the losses incident to constant removals? With higher class residential property the lease is satisfactory, but with lower grade premises, just where protection is needed the most, it has not been found to meet the issue.

REAL ESTATE NEWS OF THE WEEK

Numerous Pieces of Property Change Hands—Hotel Wellington Bought by Tenant—Other Realty Reports

SEVERAL important deals were summated this week in what was a particularly active market. Paramount in the sales of the week was the sale by the Welham Company, composed of Charles F. Rogers and Henry Forster, of the Hotel Wellington at Seventh avenue and Fifty-fifth street to Miss Mina E. Fritts, who as lessee has been operating the hotel for the past four years. Title to the property will be taken by the Hotel Wellington Corporation which was incorporated at Albany this week with a capital of $10,000.

Another sale of interest was that of the entire block front on the east side of Park avenue between 130th and 131st streets by the Keats Company to the J. M. Horton Ice Cream Company as the site for a factory building. This property was acquired by the selling company eleven years ago and a portion of it on Lexington avenue was sold off. A lease of the remaining property was made with the Wells, Fargo Express Company last month for a long term, but this lease has been canceled. Tenement property on the lower east side figured in the sales of the week. The Lawyers Mortgage Company sold to individuals a five-story building at 122 Chrystie street northeast of Broome street, and 422 East Fourteenth street, a five-story building with stores. Eugene A. Walsh sold for the Pescatore Realty Company to the Crane Company, of Chicago, the entire unimproved block front on the west side of Park avenue from 134th to 135th streets with a frontage of 200 feet on the avenue and 90 feet in each street. The use to which the site will be put has not been divulged, but it will undoubtedly be improved to meet the demands of the new owner.

Other sales involving important properties in various parts of the city were made by the Economy Realty Company, which sold to Directors' Realty Holding Company representing Randolph Jacobs and Everett, Jacobs, the nine-story apartment house at 152 to 160 West 87th street on plot 82.8x100; by William B. May & Company for United States Trust Company of the modern six-story marble front residence at 824 Fifth avenue, between 63d. and 64th, streets on plot 25x120, and held at $300,000; by William B. May Company for the Residence Realty Company to P. F. Rothermel, Jr., of the five-story English basement residence at 105 East Seventy-third street on lot 21x102.2.

Leasing has continued good and there is a great demand for lofts, offices and residential space in all parts of the city. Leases made this week in the mid-town Fifth avenue section attest the fact that new classes of tenants find this section particularly attractive. Brett & Goode leased entire floors in the new building at 6 and 8 West 48th street to the American Gem & Pearl Company and to Jacob Mehrlust, jewelers now downtown; other tenants for space in the same building are Paralta Players, Inc., motion picture producers; First National Exhibition Circuit and E. O'Donovan, retail dressmakers. Flintlock Realty Company, of which J. P. Morgan is president, leased through Henry Hof and Maclay & Davis the five-story fireproof garage comprising 12,000 square feet and the two five-story tenements at the northwest corner of 47th street and Second avenue covering a frontage of 2,276 feet in Forty-seventh street, 100 feet on Second avenue and running 300 feet deep to the Mayer, Daxe Company at an aggregate rental of $534,000 for twenty-one years.

LEGAL NOTES AFFECTING REALTY

Prepared by Committee on Real Estate Laws of
Real Estate Board, Samuel P. Goldman, Chairman

Change of Street Grade.

The New York Appellate Division holds, Corning v. O'Neill, 167 N. Y. Supp. 743, that though the right of access of an abutting owner to his premises is covered by Railroad Law (Consol. Laws, c. 49), §92, providing for the acquisition of lands and easements by condemnation to avoid and eliminate grade crossings, the mere change of grade of a street, or closing it altogether at some point not in front, but beyond the premises, does not entitle him to damages. Where a dangerous grade crossing of a railroad was eliminated, and an owner whose premises were south of and adjoining the right of way of the railroad was given an improved street in its place, though it was a little farther from the premises to the intersection of the improved street with another than formerly, the street facilities being better and safer, the owner was not entitled to damages for closing of the street beyond his premises.

Mortgages—Priorities.

A plaintiff in a foreclosure action cannot cut off a title or lien which is, in fact, prior to its mortgage by making the holder a party under the general allegation that the defendant has or claims some lien or interest in the mortgaged premises which is subsequent to the plaintiff's mortgage, and a judgment by default in such a case does not affect the lien or title which is, in fact, prior to the mortgage. But the question whether a mortgage was superior to a conveyance from the mortgagor to the defendant may properly be litigated in such an action. A mortgage made after, but recorded before, a deed given by the mortgagor to other parties, is superior thereto, if the mortgagees were holders for a valuable consideration without notice. Smith v. Pure Strain Farms Co., New York Appellate Division, 167 N. Y. Supp. 877.

Earnest Money Contract.

In an action to recover sums due on an earnest money contract for the sale of real property, it appeared that the plaintiff contracted to sell to the defendant and the defendant agreed to purchase the property for a consideration of $10,000, and as a part of the consideration agreed to assume a mortgage of $5,200 recited as then being on the property. There was then upon the property a mortgage of $5,500, and it was the only mortgage. Conceding that the plaintiff under a proper allegation might show his ability to reduce the mortgage to $5,200 and give good title at the time of the decree subject to a mortgage indebtedness of $5,200, and upon a proper offer of proof or tender might have specific performance, the Minnesota Supreme Court, Lindstrom v. Helk, 165 N. W. 873, held that he was not entitled to relief in the absence of an affirmative showing.

Residence District Ordinance.

The New York Court of Appeals holds, Anderson v. Steinway, 117 N. E. 575, affirming 178 Appl. Div. 507, 165 N. Y. Supp. 608, that specific performance will not be decreed as to a contract to purchase land on condition that it could be used for business purposes, where an ordinance was subsequently passed making the district in which it lay a residence district, even if the ordinance could be declared unconstitutional in an action for that purpose.

QUERY DEPARTMENT

This department is intended to be of service to all interested in the real estate market, whether as broker, agent or property owner. The readers of the Record and Guide are invited to send in questions on matters pertaining to real estate, building and building management, though legal questions will not be answered in this column. Questions should be stated as fully but as briefly as possible so as to allow intelligent answers. Arrangements have been made through which the questions will be answered by a Committee of the Real Estate Board, including the following

E. A. Tredwell, real estate broker.
Frederick D. Kalley, real estate broker.
Robert R. Rainey, real estate broker.
B. E. Martin.
William Douglas Kilpatrick, builder.
H. H. Murdock, architect.

Question No. 319.—Can you give me any important reason relating to landlords' liability for heat, etc., growing out of the recent coal shortage.

Answer No. 319.—Perry-Freedman Co. vs. Murphy, 169 N. Y., Supp. 74, decided by the Appellate Division, March 8, 1917. The lease was an apartment, and it was proved that there was almost an entire want of heat during the tenancy. The rent was payable on the first of each month in advance. The tenant vacated on January 10th; it was held he had no defense to an action for the rental for January, and he had interposed no counterclaim; therefore, judgment for the tenant was reversed.

Question No. 320.—Can a landlord compel a tenant to vacate his property because of children, although the children were not born until after tenant leased the property?

Answer No. 320.—Not unless there is a clause in the lease giving such a right to the landlord.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

THE total number of sales reported and not recorded in Manhattan this week was 39 as against 26 last week and 22 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 59th street was 14 as compared with 13 last week and 10 a year ago.

The sales north of 59th street aggregate 25 as compared with 13 last week and 12 a year ago.

From the Bronx 7 sales at private contract were reported as against 13 last week and 10 a year ago.

Statistical tables, indicating the number of recorded instruments, will be found on page 555 of this issue.

Woman Buys Hotel Wellington.

Miss Mina E. Fritts, who as lessee has been operating the Hotel Wellington, at Seventh avenue and 55th street, for the past four years, has purchased the property, which is valued at $700,000. Miss Fritts is also proprietress of the Iroquois in West 44th street, and will continue both places under her management. The seller of the hotel is the Welham Company, composed of Charles F. Rogers and Henry Forster. They had owned the property for a number of years and turned it over to the holding company six years ago. That year they leased the hotel to the J. F. Champ- lin Hotel Company for a period of fifteen years at a rental of $46,000 per annum and taxes. Two years later this lease was surrendered, and subsequently the hotel came under the management of Miss Fritts. The Wellington is one of the best known groups of high-class hostelrys put up many years ago just south of Central Park. It is known as 861 to 871 Seventh avenue, with an "L" to 151 West 55th street, surrounding the northeast corner of those thoroughfares. The structure is twelve stories high and stands on a plot fronting 75 feet on Seventh avenue and extending back 125 feet, the 55th street "L" being twenty-five feet wide. It is located on the block below Carnegie Hall, and adjoins on the south the old Glenmore Hotel, while on the east is the Hotel Laureton. Diagonally opposite, at the northwest corner of Broadway and 56th street, is the old Grenoble Hotel site, which is to be improved by Joseph J. Lannin with a $4,000,000, twenty-one story hotel, to be known as the Marne, to commemorate the great battle. Title to the Hotel Wellington will be taken by the Hotel Wellington Corporation, which was incorporated at Albany this week with a capital of $10,000. Alfred Lockwood Brown, of the law firm of Fletcher, McCutcheon & Brown, represented Miss Fritts in the purchase of the property.

East Side Tenements Sold.

Tenement property on the lower East Side was involved in two deals made by the Lawyers' Mortgage Company this week. Individual investors rather than corporations or investors figured in the deals. Through S. Pasquale the company sold 122 Chrystie street, northeast of Broome street, a five-story building with stores, on plot 75.4 x 26.6. This house and two adjoining ones on Broome street were taken over in foreclosure last month. The Lawyers' Mortgage Company also sold 422 East Fourteenth street, a five-story building with stores, on plot 25 x 103.3, located 294 feet east of First avenue. David Vogel was the broker.

Staten Island Waterfront Sold.

Harrison S. Colburn Company sold for the estate of the late John H. Starin the waterfront property at the foot of Jersey street, New Brighton, Staten Island, fronting 247 feet on the Kill Von Kull, close to upper New York Bay. It was held at $70,000. The tract is located opposite the International Nickel Plant and the Standard Oil refinery at Bayonne, and has been owned by the Starin interests for over forty years. It was a landing place for the old Starin line of steamers plying between Manhattan and Staten Island twenty-five years ago. The new owner is the Tanner-Gross Company, which is erecting a dock and warehouse on it. Residents of New Brighton have formed a committee, of which Monsignor Charles A. Cassidy, rector of St. Peter's Church, is chairman, protesting against the sale of the property on the ground that it forever closes Jersey street at this end and deprives residents of New Brighton who work in the various plants on the New Jersey shore of a landing place for the launches and other small craft used to convey them to and from their work. A petition has been passed by the local board of Richmond, that the city condemn the property and erect thereon a public dock for the use of the people of Staten Island generally and of New Brighton especially.

Ice Cream Co. Buys Site for Factory.

As a site for a factory building and garage the J. M. Horton Ice Cream Company has purchased the entire block front on the east side of Park avenue, between 130th and 131st streets, owned by the Keats Company, composed of interests identified with the old firms of Mandelbaum & Lewine and Lowenfeld & Prager. The property fronts 200 feet on Park avenue and 122 feet in 130th street. In 131st street it extends from Park avenue over to within 80 feet of Lexington avenue for a distance of 325 feet. The selling company purchased the entire block bounded by Lexington and Park avenues, 130th and 131st streets, eleven years ago and sold off the Lexington avenue end and most of the 130th street frontage, all of which has been improved with flat houses. Last month the Keats Company closed a deal with the Wells Fargo Express Company, whereby it arranged to build a garage on the Park avenue and 131st street corner, which was to be leased for a long term of years. That lease has been cancelled. The Horton Company paid all cash for the property, which was held at $175,000. Slawson & Hobbs negotiated the transaction.

Sale in Lenox Hill Section.

Continued activity in the sale of private dwellings in the Lenox Hill section was manifested in the sale on Monday to P. F. Rothermel, Jr., of the five-story English basement residence, on lot 21 x 102.2, at 105 East 73d street. The seller was the Residence Realty Company. William B. May & Company negotiated the sale of the property, which was held at $100,000. The property adjoins the house built by Oakleigh Thorne at the northeast corner of Park avenue, which was sold last year to Frank Gray Griswold, who is now occupying it. Mr. Rothermel's neighbors on the Park avenue side are Arthur Ryle and Adele Q. Brown, while to the east are the homes of Norman Hapgood, Charles H. Russell, Ethel K. Crane and Alfred Jaretzki.

School Buys in Bronx.

A sale of forty-five city lots in the Riverdale section of the Bronx was consummated this week by the Newton Land Association with Riverdale Country School. This transaction was started considerably over a year ago, before the declaration of war by the United States, but closing of the title has just been effected.

By this purchase Riverdale Country School adds to the holdings upon which it has erected during the past year, at a cost of $150,000, a beautiful, modern school building, designed by McKim, Mead & White. The property owned by the school, through the Riverdale Country School Realty Company, Inc., now embraces over one hundred city lots overlooking Van Cortlandt Park and extending from Fieldston Road on the west to the Albany Post Road on the east, between West 252d street and West 253d street, one of the largest unbroken tracts occupied by any educational institution within the city. The value of the property is now placed at a quarter of a million dollars.

The sellers were represented by Joseph P. Day, City Judge George Simpson, president of the Newton Land Association, and George Taylor, counsel. The purchasers were represented by Seth Sprague Terry, vice-president of Wm. A. White & Sons, one of the directors of the Riverdale Country School Realty Company, and Frank S. Hackett, head master of Riverdale Country School.

Fifth Avenue Dwelling Deal.

United States Trust Company as trustee sold to a client of William B. May & Company the modern six-story, marble front residence at 824 Fifth avenue. There has been a considerable buying movement of costly private houses of late, and this transaction is but another evidence of the quiet but steady activity in this line of realty. The property just sold covers a plot 25 x 120 between 63d and 64th streets, and has been valued at $300,000. The purchaser will occupy after extensive alterations are made.

Apartment Properties in Deal.

Directors' Realty Holding Company, representing I. Randolph Jacobs and Everett Jacobs, bought from the Economy Realty Company, of which Charles G. Phillips is president, the nine-story apartment house at 152 to 160 West 87th street, on a plot 82.8 x 100. N. A. Berwin and John L. Parish negotiated the deal. The property adjoins the apartment house known as the La Jacquetta, which was recently acquired by Mrs. Adelaide M. Megeath. From the same seller the Directors' Realty Holding Company also purchased the Avoca, an eight-story apartment house, at the northwest corner of Fort Washington avenue and 170th streets, covering a plot 101 x 95. About $600,000 was involved in the deal.

Humanitarian Cult Buys.

As the result of a transaction closed on Monday the Humanitarian Cult, now at 1790 Broadway, is to have a fine new home. Mrs. Peter Doelger sold, through Pease & Elliman, to Cora B. Tinken the five-story American basement residence at 266 West End avenue, covering a plot 27.8 x 100, near 72d street. The property has been held at $125,000. It is understood that the house will be turned over to the cult on easy selling terms by Miss Tinken.

Operator Buys and Sells Apartments.

Frederick Brown, the operator, figured in two apartment house deals on Thursday. The Kingdale Holding Corporation, Paul M. Gomberg president, bought from Mr. Brown the six-story elevator apartment house at 515 West 187th street on a plot 87.6x100. The structure houses twenty-four families and shows an annual rent roll of about $16,000. It has been held at $150,000. In another transaction Mr. Brown was the buyer. The property bought were the three apartment houses occupying the entire block front on the west side of Convent avenue, from 151st to 152d streets, and include 480 Convent avenue, a five-story structure on a plot 54x90xirregular at the northwest corner of 151st street, and arranged for fifteen families; 484 Convent avenue, adjoining, five stories, arranged for twenty families, on plot 54x106, and 492 Convent avenue, southwest corner of 152d street, six stories, 108 feet on Convent avenue and 77 feet on 152d street, having accommodations for twenty-four families. The houses are assessed by the City for $210,000, and were held at $225,000. Phelps & Damiane and H. J. Rogers were the brokers in the deal.

BLISS TALKS

"We consider Bliss Exterminator Service so essential that we contract for it in almost every building."

"Bliss Service Satisfies," otherwise Messrs. Fred Zittel and Sons would not write us as they do above. They find Bliss Service essential because it is a vital factor both in renting and in maintaining rentals, and because it is expected and indeed often demanded by the tenant who is accustomed to up-to-date service from his landlord. Let us give you a demonstration—free, of course.

Provide Your Tenants With Sub-Meters

Tenants should be provided with sub-meters. This means of installation saves a great many owners from the possibility of serious and continuous loss of money. All owners who re-sell current to tenants must either rent or buy sub-meters. Sub-meters may be rented from us. We keep all meters in good running order, inspect them periodically and issue statements from which you can bill your tenants.

as a brewery, and was acquired through foreclosure by the selling company in 1911. Herman R. Elias represented the tenants, and Carter, Ledyard & Milburn the landlord, as attorneys.

Complex Leasing.

William Pierre Jockin, in conjunction with Harris & Vaughan, has just successfully concluded negotiations which will permit the fast growing Union Carbide Company to expand their quarters in the 42d Street Building by obtaining possession on May 1st of the sixteenth floor in this structure. The same brokers have leased for a long term of years to Crocker Brothers, who held a lease of these premises, expiring May, 1921, the entire seventeenth floor of the new building, at 21 East 40th street, at an annual rental of approximately $10,000. In order to consummate the lease of this floor it was necessary to obtain a cancellation of C. I. Hudson's lease of part of it and induce the C. K. Comstock Company, who occupy two floors in the same building, to sublet offices to the Hudson Company.

Lease Second Avenue Garage.

Henry Hof has leased for the Flintlock Realty Company, J. P. Morgan, president, the entire five-story, fire-proof garage, comprising 120,000 square feet, and including the two five-story tenements at the northwest corner of 47th street and Second avenue, being in size 227 feet and 6 inches in 47th street and 100 feet on Second avenue, and running 300 feet deep on the interior portion of the lot. The lessees, Mayer, Daxe & Co., Inc., will operate same after extensive alterations are made. The aggregate net rental for a term of twenty-one years is $534,000. This property was formerly used as a brewery, and was acquired through foreclosure by the Flintlock Realty Company in 1911. Herman R. Elias represented the tenant. MacLay & Davies and Carter, Ledyard & Milburn represented the landlord.

Jewelers Moving Uptown.

New classes of tenants are rapidly moving into the mid-town Fifth avenue, as attested by the leases this week by Brett & Goode of entire floors in the new building at 6 to 8 West 48th street to the American Gem and Pearl Company, now at 14 Church street, and to Jacob Mehrlust, also a jeweler, now at 12 John street. The same brokers also leased floors in the same building to the Paralta Plays, Inc., moving picture producers to the First National Exhibition Circuit, and to E. O'Donovan, retail dressmakers.

Lease Garage from Plans.

Ames & Company have leased from the plans the garage to be erected by Clarence S. Nathan at the southwest corner of Greenwich avenue and West 12th street. BROOKLYN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, re-organized, has started out in a creditable way for the development of a more interested community spirit. By the recent merger with the Civic Club, the Manufacturers' Association and the Advertising Club, there has been effected a large organization united in the purpose of furthering the civic, industrial and financial interests of the city.

The newly elected Board of Directors is composed of many of the best known men in Brooklyn. They are planning to have the Chamber accomplish what similar organizations have done for other cities.

The directors are now actively taking up the matter of procuring adequate accommodations for the enlarged organization.

The officers of the Chamber are as follows:

President, James Sherlock Davis; vice-presidents, Edwin P. Maynard, J. Adolph Mollenhauer, Walter Hammett; secretary, Thomas J. Riley; treasurer, Charles L. Schenck; directors, John T. Barry, Edward C. Blum, Herbert B. Brush, Herbert L. Carpenter, William Hamlin Childs, Frank W. Conn, George Dressler, Guy Du Val, Charles Jerome Edwards, William H. English, Charles H. Bronx Board of Trade.

That manufacturers of the Greater City generally are awakening to a realization of the great future that awaits the Bronx is shown in a report that has just been made by the Industrial Bureau of the Bronx Board of Trade.

According to the figures, which take into consideration only those industrial establishments that employ ten or more workers, an average of one new industry a week has located in The Bronx during the two years the Bureau has been in existence, giving an increase of thirty-five per cent. over the figures for 1915, a total of 118 new plants as against 337 previously located.

Moreover, the end of the demand for space in The Bronx is not in sight, the Bureau having on file at the present time demands for available space approximating nearly 300,000 square feet, few of which can be satisfied at the present time, due to the fact that practically all the available space in existing buildings is occupied.

The building depression general throughout the country left its mark on The Bronx as well as the other Boroughs of the city, otherwise The Bronx's industrial growth probably would have reached even a higher level.

With the loosening up of the building materials market, and the cost of labor at something approximating antebellum proportions, The Bronx should see the erection of many modern industrial buildings, to take care of the businesses desiring to locate, and for the housing of which builders have notified the Board of Trade of their intentions to prepare.

The following is a tabulation of the new industrial organizations that have located in The Bronx during the past two years, classified in accordance with the plan of the State Industrial Commission, and each employing ten or more:

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS, MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES

[Record and Guide Quotations Are Accepted as Official by Building Material Exchanges.]

BUILDING activity within the boundaries of the Metropolitan district has quite evidently taken on a new lease of life. Reports from a variety of sources during the past week indicate a marked improvement in the general building situation and much hope has been expressed that the condition will be more than a transient one. The mental tone of the building industry is considerably brighter than it has been, induced no doubt by the number of large contracts recently placed for Government work and the disposition on the part of private concerns to make preparations for an early start of contemplated building operations.

Not for many weeks past has there been the number of new projects presented to the industry for estimates as have come out during the last week and the new contracts awarded within the same period involve a large total expenditure. The work now coming out is greatly varied in character and includes structures of almost every type and material. Individual operations of more than slight importance have recently been planned, and it appears now as though the coming months might witness a return of activity to the building and allied interests.

From a number of near-by suburban districts reports have come in of a large increase in the volume of small house projects and also to the effect that many multi-family dwellings were either in process of construction or being planned for an early start. Another phase of construction work that indicates renewed activity is those operations planned by towns and villages for local improvement. This work includes the building of roads, sidewalks, sewers, bridges and culverts and, according to the plans now under way, this type of construction will be an important factor in the building situation for the balance of the year, involving as it does the utilization of large quantities of materials and labor. In a number of instances the plans for these projects have been completed for a long time, but work has been held off for a readjustment of building conditions. Now they have become imperative as the health and progress of communities are involved and the work will be started as soon as contracts can be let and materials and supplies mobilized.

Government building operations continue without cessation and each week witnesses the Federal construction program materially extended. During the past week a number of large contracts have been entered into by the Federal authorities, many of which projects are to be erected within close proximity to this city.

The markets for building materials and supplies are well stabilized with prices generally firm notwithstanding a relatively slow demand for most lines of materials. Although recently there has been a slight increase in the volume of material orders for private building work the business directly traceable to Government building activity continues to dominate the material markets. At the present writing there is no apparent tendency to reduce or even to shade prices to any degree. The market for Hudson river common brick has recovered from its recent price slump and current quotations are now ranging between $9 and $9.50 a thousand, to dealers, in cargo lots alongside dock. Lumber is firm with an advancing trend and other building essentials are likely to maintain their present levels for some time to come.

The strike of the plasterers and plasterer laborers is still in force and there is no indication at this time that the employers will accede to the demands being made by the strikers. There is no great amount of work being held up by the strike and it might be some time before matters are settled.

Common Brick.—Although the Hudson River common brick market is relatively quiet for this period of the year, the past week was an improvement over the previous one in both the number of arrivals and sales made. During the week nearly seven million brick have come into the wholesale market and the sales for the period were considered as being satisfactory in view of the general conditions governing building construction. At this writing there are more than five million brick unsold on barges in local waters, in addition to those now unloading at dealers' docks and other distributing points about the Metropolitan district. At up-river yards there is a total of more than three hundred and fifty million brick still under sheds and which will be available for any demand that occurs during this season. Owing to the curtailment of manufacturing both by Federal order and also that made essential by the scarcity of fuel, labor and the other difficulties, manufacturers have stiffened their prices and the ruling quotations at present are $9 to $9.50 a thousand. Manufacturers will undoubtedly endeavor to hold to this figure and unless it can be obtained will hesitate about sending more of their product into the market. There are a number of inquiries now coming from Federal sources for common brick to be used in the construction of both housing and shops and the manufacturers are looking to considerable business from the Government. There has been no change in the Raritan situation. Manufacturers have made no effort as yet to start production.

SUMMARY.—Transactions in the North River brick market for the week ending April 26, 1918. Condition of market: Demand improved; prices higher. Quotations: Hudson Rivers, $9.00 to $9.50 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 17; sales, 16. Distribution: Manhattan, 4; Brooklyn, 1; New Jersey points, 8; Astoria, 1; New Rochelle, 1; outside, 1.

Structural Steel.—Aside from the orders for fabricated material coming from Federal departments or from contractors having important Government contracts, the market for structural steel has been quiet during the past week. Private building, although indicating an increase of activity, is not the type of construction requiring structural steel in any great amount and the larger operations that have been recently planned are being held in abeyance until the general building conditions are more certain. Within the past few days there have been some fairly large tonnage contracts placed for Government building operations, but at points outside of the Metropolitan district. The railroads have come into the market for rails and bridge materials and orders for additional cars also have been recorded. The requirements of the Shipping Board for plates and shapes for shipbuilding purposes are rapidly growing and a large percentage of the present activity of the steel industry is devoted to business of this character. Mill shipments of fabricated materials are still being quoted at the Government control figure of 3.195c. New York.

Lumber.—During the past week there have been no marked developments in the lumber situation and the market conditions are practically the same as those which have maintained for the last two or three weeks. Prices for both hard and soft woods continue firm and with a steadily advancing tendency for those kinds and grades in which the stocks in the hands of the dealers are low. The demands for lumber, particularly Southern pine, are brisk and increasing with each week. Almost the entire volume of this business is coming from Government sources and the end of the demand is not in sight. From certain sections reports are current that the transportation situation has somewhat improved, but they are yet a long way from being entirely satisfactory. There is considerable congestion in the local freight yards and there is a scarcity of available cars to handle the shipments that the mills are ready to make. Coastwise shipments are also slow, owing to the difficulty of obtaining bottoms for this traffic. At the present writing there is no outlook for materially changed conditions in the market for some time to come. Federal requirements remain the dominating feature of trade and will undoubtedly continue so for the balance of the war. Requirements for building operations, aside from Government work, while improving somewhat, are not up to expectations, but manufacturing consumers are still in the market with considerable strength.

Wire Products.—During the past week the orders placed by the Government completely overshadowed all other forms of activity in this market. The Pittsburgh Steel Co. obtained a single order for 40,000 kegs of wire nails. Another large order of prime importance was the one for 60,000 tons of barbed wire for shipment to Italy, the deliveries to extend throughout the balance of the current year. This order was divided, the American Steel & Wire Co. taking 25,000 tons, the Pittsburgh Steel Co., 18,000 tons, the Jones & Laughlin Steel Co., $9,000 tons; the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., 4,000 tons, the Gulf States Steel Co., 2,000 tons and the Kokoma Steel & Wire Co., 2,000 tons. Reports from the mills indicate that the domestic demand for wire and wire products as being fairly heavy with the mills sold up to July 1. Prices are firm at the Government control figure.

Window Glass.—Business in this line continues to fall off with the passing of each week and the prospects for the balance of the season are not of the brightest. But a small volume of business is coming from new building projects, although orders for glass to be used in alteration jobs are fair. At the monthly meeting of the Eastern Glass Association, held Wednesday, there was considerable discussion in regard to the shortage of labor at production points, and also the difficulty of obtaining raw materials. Men are constantly shifting to other kinds of work at better wages and supplies needed by the manufacturers are being commandeered for Government use. As a consequence the glass production for this year will be very small. There have been no changes in the schedule of manufacturers' discounts for window glass, but plate glass prices have been advanced ten per cent.

Cast Iron Pipe.—Although there is only a small volume of new business coming into this market from municipalities at the present time, there are large orders in prospect. Numerous plans have been made within the past two weeks for extensive municipal operations requiring a large total tonnage of cast iron pipe and it is expected that bids will be asked within a short time. Private buying has improved somewhat, but is still below normal in volume. There is a continuation of buying by the Government for supplies needed in extensions to training camps and cantonments throughout the country. Cast iron prices are unchanged.

TESTIMONIAL DINNER TO JOHN P. LEO

New Chairman, Board of Standards and Appeals,
Guest of Honor of New York Society of Architects

Chairman of the Board of Standards and Appeals, John P. Leo, was the guest of honor at a dinner tendered him last night at the Aldine Club, 200 Fifth avenue, by the New York Society of Architects. John P. Everett, Esq., legal adviser to the society was the toastmaster, and about one hundred members and guests of the society were present. The dinner was all that could be desired and a particularly interesting feature of the affair was the presence at the board of Hon. Rudolph P. Miller, for many years chairman of the Board of Standards and Appeals. In his address Mr. Leo said:

"Since assuming office I have tried to systematize methods and expedite the matters coming before the board. I am convinced that the board is a court of equity rather than one of law and that common sense and good judgment should be the keynote of all rulings.

The result of this is that attorneys and others cite legal opinions and quote the law only as it applies to the case at issue.

"When I took hold there were 1,255 resolutions that had never been published as required by law, and of this number 1,197 had never been even written. Up to April 22 we have succeeded in cleaning up 58, all of which have been written and printed, in addition to 113 back cases written but not printed. Every resolution adopted since I took hold has been written and printed and we are clearing up the zoning law cases and will have every one of them out of the way in two weeks.

"Instead of putting the minutes of the Thursday meeting in the Bulletin every two weeks or two weeks after the meeting, we have been printing them the same week, thus gaining one week on the resolutions and minutes instead of losing time as in the past."

New York Realty Leader Highly Honored

Alfred E. Marling Elected President of the Chamber of Commerce—His Many Activities in Business and Philanthropic Work.

ALFRED E. MARLING, president of the real estate corporation of Horace S. Ely & Company, was on last Thursday afternoon elected president of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York at its 150th annual meeting. This is one of the most distinguished offices that can come to any resident of this state. Mr. Marling has been vice-president of the Chamber for two years, and in elevating him to the presidency the organization honored a man held in high esteem in commercial circles of this city and in the real estate business, in which he is an active and conspicuous figure. Mr. Marling succeeds Eugenius H. Outerbridge, and assumes the duties of an office occupied during the many years of the existence of the Chamber by distinguished men. The term of office is two years.

ALFRED E. MARLING,
Of the Real Estate Firm of Horace S. Ely & Co., President of the Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York was founded April 5, 1768, and is therefore one of the oldest organizations in the city. It comprises in its membership representatives of the government, commerce, industry, military and the press. Its object as set forth in its charter is "to carry into execution, encourage and promote by just and lawful ways and means such measures as will tend to promote and extend just and lawful enterprises." It has a membership limited by its charter to 1,500 resident members, which includes the most distinguished business men of New York. It has also 250 non-resident members, and owns the fine building at 65 Liberty street.

Mr. Marling entered upon his new duties at once. His introduction into office came at the close of a very strenuous month as chairman of the Real Estate Division of the Liberty Loan Committee.

Alfred E. Marling was born in Toronto, Canada, in 1858, the son of Rev. Francis H. and Marina C. Marling. He was educated at the Collegiate Institute, Toronto. On January 10, 1884, he married Harriett W. Phillips, and resides at 35 West 47th street. He began his career in the real estate business with Mr. Horace S. Ely on October 1, 1877, and in 1894 formed a partnership with Mr. Ely under the firm name of Horace S. Ely & Company. Upon the death of Mr. Ely Mr. Marling became president of the corporation.

Mr. Marling has for many years been active in the affairs of the Y. M. C. A., and was chairman of the 23d street branch for a long period. He became a member of the main organization and at once took a leading part in its business. It has been said that the three most active organizations in the world are the Catholic Church, the Standard Oil Company and the International Committee of the Y. M. C. A. Of the latter Mr. Marling has been chairman since 1911, succeeding Dr. Lucien C. Warren, who held the office for fifteen years. It is an established rule in the organization that the tenure of office of the chairman of this committee depends upon the activity of the occupant, and the members of the committee expect to have Mr. Marling as their chairman for many years to come.

He has served as a member of nearly every important committee, and has given his time and money unstintedly in consultation and for service. His father was a pastor and association leader in Canada, having been chairman of the first meeting called to organize the Montreal Y. M. C. A. in 1851.

This was the first association in North America. A few years later his father removed to Toronto, where he was intimately connected with the early work of the association. It is said of Mr. Marling that he was cradled with the association movement. He was a boy member, an adult member, a director and has been in close sympathy with the State Committee, and for twenty years he has been a member of the International Committee.

The International Committee of the Y. M. C. A. is an elective body, chosen by delegates from all parts of North America gathered in convention. It is composed of one hundred Christian laymen working all over the country.

Notwithstanding the great demands of his real estate business on his time Mr. Marling never fails to visit his office at national headquarters daily, where he spends about one hour. During this brief period he frequently attends half a dozen committee meetings.

Mr. Marling is a leader in the Laymen's Missionary Movement and active as an elder of the "Brick Presbyterian Church," New York. He is in touch with the world movement and is an active member of the Y. M. C. A. World's Committee in Europe.

He is a trustee of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, a director of the Fulton Trust Company, Hanover Fire Insurance Company, Plate Glass Insurance Company of New York, City of New York Insurance Company, a trustee of the United States Savings Bank, vice-president of the New York Juvenile Asylum, trustee of the Fifth Avenue Bank, a director of the Bond & Mortgage Guarantee Company, Columbia Trust Company, Bankers' Club and is a member of the following clubs: Union League, Metropolitan, Downtown, City, Republican. In politics he is a Republican.

Housing For Shipyard and Munition Workers

Government's Extensive Plans Rapidly Reaching Completion—
Applications for Contracts Will Now Be Considered

CONGRESS has passed, without a dissenting vote, the bill carrying an appropriation of $60,000,000 to provide housing accommodations for the workers employed in war industries, and it now remains only for the President to attach his signature to release this vast sum for the contemplated work. The plans for the major portion of this work have been perfected for some time, but work has been held up pending the passing of the measure providing the funds.

Last week the United States Shipping Board announced definite plans for seven gigantic housing projects, designed to supply necessary living accommodations for the shipyard workers and their families. These are to be located respectively at Camden, N. J.; Elmwood, Pa.; Newport News, Va.; Chester, Pa.; Bristol, Pa.; Sparrows Point, Md., and Wilmington, N. C. The total expenditure for these developments will exceed the sum of $10,000,000 by a considerable amount.

Probably the most extensive of the seven developments scheduled will be located near Camden, N. J., and designed for the accommodation of the mechanics employed in the plant of the New York Shipbuilding Company and also for those working in the yards of the Jersey Shipbuilding Company and the Pennsylvania Shipbuilding Company, at Gloucester, N. J. The plans for these dwellings have been prepared under the direction of Electus D. Litchfield, architect, 477 Fifth avenue, New York. The site for these houses is now being cleared, and the schedule of construction calls for the completion of the buildings within a period of ninety days from the time of starting actual structural operations.

This development will be known as Haddon Township, and about $2,500,000 will be expended for the building operations. In addition a vast sum will be spent for the erection of community buildings and sanitary appurtenances. The city of Camden, with which this new township will be incorporated, will expend a substantial amount of money for the construction of schools, fire houses, sewers and water supply lines. The Shipping Board will arrange separately for the construction of street improvements, sidewalks, playgrounds, parks and other modern city features, and will also plan for the extension of transportation lines to facilitate the traveling of the workmen between their homes and the shipyards.

A general contract for the erection of nearly a thousand dwellings at this location has been awarded to the Tidewater Building Company, of New York, at a cost averaging $3,000 each. These houses will be two stories in height, of various dimensions, according to the number of rooms each contains, and will be constructed for the greater part of brick. About three thousand workmen will be accommodated in this new community.

The project at Camden will be largely used as the model for a number of other extensive housing developments to be undertaken by the federal authorities and erected under the jurisdiction of the Shipping Board and the Emergency Housing Committee of the War Industries Board.

One of these—already started at Hilton, Va.—will cost approximately $1,250,000, and will include the construction of five hundred houses, costing about $3,000 each. This project is to house the workers in the plant of the Newport News Shipbuilding & Dry-dock Company, and is progressing according to plans prepared by Francis Y. Joannes, architect, 52 Vanderbilt avenue, New York. At this location the buildings will be varied in character and construction. They will include apartment houses, one and two family dwellings detached, semi-detached and in groups. Schools, theatres and other community structures will also be included in the scheme. Frame and brick construction is intermingled to give diversity to the appearance of the community. About one hundred acres of land has been secured, and this has been laid out in streets, parks and playgrounds. A general contract for the buildings has been let to Mellen & Stewart, Pittsburgh, Pa., and the work will be pushed to the utmost so that the rapidly growing number of shipyard workers may be accommodated.

In the Elmwood section of Philadelphia about one thousand houses for workmen employed by the American International Corporation at the Hog Island shipyards will be built from plans by Owen Brainerd, 52 Vanderbilt avenue, New York. These dwellings will cost between $2,000 and $3,000 each. They will be constructed of wood and brick and will vary, both in style of architecture and the number of rooms. The initial cost of this development will be in the neighborhood of $10,000,000. This operation also includes the construction of four hotels for single workmen, to accommodate a total of 2,000 men, and a contract has been let to William Crawford, 7 East 42d street, New York, for this work.

At Bristol, Pa., the construction of a model village for workmen in the shipyards is progressing under the direction of the Fred T. Ley Company, builders, 19 West 44th street, New York. The plans were prepared privately. It has been announced that the cost of the building operations at this location will exceed $2,500,000.

The Builders' Exchange of Newburgh, N. Y., recently resumed the discussion of the housing problem in that city. This subject received considerable attention last autumn, but a satisfactory solution did not present itself at that time. There is, however, an increasing need for the construction of houses for workmen in the new shipbuilding plants and other industries that are engaged in the manufacture of munitions for the Government. Although it is anticipated that the federal appropriations will assist in the furtherance of this plan, there is no doubt but that local capital will be called upon to subscribe heavily to the scheme, as the Government, where it undertakes housing for shipyard and munition workers, loans only a percentage of the amount required.

At Port Jefferson, L. I., another workmen's housing project is in process of formation. The Bayles Shipyard Company, Inc., H. M. Williams, president, 111 Broadway, New York, is having the preliminary plans prepared for providing about 1,800 workmen with modern homes. In the neighborhood of five hundred dwellings will be required for this development. This plan is wholly contingent, however, upon the receipt of financial aid from the Government, through the Shipping Board.

The Bureau of Industrial Housing and Transportation, 613 G street, Washington, D. C., is now ready to receive applications from builders and contractors for future consideration in connection with anticipated housing developments throughout the country.

Lexington Ave. Subway Will Be Opened in June

Lockwood Bill, Approved by the Mayor, Will Hasten Work on Other Sections of the Dual System

MAYOR HYLAN has approved the Lockwood bill, authorizing the Public Service Commission and the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to modify rapid transit contracts, and it is expected that Governor Whitman will sign the bill. This will pave the way for the completion of rapid transit lines which it is vital to the city to have in operation at the earliest moment.

As chairman of the Committee on Operation of the new Lexington avenue subway route, Public Service Commissioner Travis H. Whitney has expressed the expectation that the line will be ready for operation in June. This is the first line which will be opened, but it is expected, now that relief is possible under the provisions of the Ottinger bill, that contractors for other sections of the dual subway who have been delayed in their work will be able to complete other portions of the system this year.

The Commission has outlined the status of construction work, pointing out that $117,000,000 of work contracted for by the Commission was completed and in operation or ready for operation; that additional contracts had been let aggregating $60,000,000, under which $45,000,000 of work had been done, leaving $35,000,000 contract value of work to be done.

The question of the constitutional prohibition against extra compensation to a contractor has been given careful consideration by the attorney general and by counsel to the Commission, and it is believed that no difficulties on this phase of the case will arise.

This bill is meant to give the Public Service Commission and the city supplementary powers over the dual subway system construction contracts and provides that the Public Service Commission and the Board of Estimate may relieve the contractors building the new subways from the burdens placed upon them by the high costs of labor and materials, and to do whatever is best to complete the work as speedily

That arrangements will be made with the present contractors to complete the work at cost, with the understanding that the contractors will forego all profits, is probable. It is believed that this will be the cheapest and most expeditious way of getting the much needed lines in operation.

Survey of Housing and Industrial Facilities

BUILDING industries of New York, composed of various organizations representing building and real estate interests in New York City and vicinity, and organized a few months ago to keep track of the building, material and labor situation and their relation to the war, is arranging for a survey of warehousing, industrial housing and available workmen's housing in Greater New York. This survey will be made with the co-operation of a number of organizations affiliated with Building Industries.

The proposed survey is to determine just what available warehousing there is in New York City and what accommodations in tenements and apartments, at reasonable rentals, are available for workers in the industrial plants which are doing work for the Government in and about New York City.

This information, when ascertained, will be forwarded to the Federal Government and should serve as a guide to the authorities at Washington in their plans for various phases of war work. It will serve to determine what new housing of these two types is necessary, where it should be located and what structures, if any, are available for alteration so that time may be saved from constructing unnecessary new housing. The survey will be made in the various boroughs by the following organizations:

Manhattan—Real Estate Board of New York.

Brooklyn—Real Estate Board of Brooklyn, Chamber of Commerce of Brooklyn.

Queens—Chamber of Commerce of the Borough of Queens.

Richmond—Staten Island Chamber of Commerce.

The Bronx will probably be taken care of by the Bronx Board of Trade, but it is not yet definitely determined.

In the case of Manhattan, the island has been laid out in a number of districts, to be taken care of by members of the Real Estate Board of New York, and a similar procedure will probably be followed in the other boroughs by other organizations.

Those requested to make a canvass will be furnished with cards, showing precisely what information is required as to warehousing and tenements and designed to facilitate as much as possible the work to be done and the tabulation which will be subsequently necessary. These cards will be in the hands of the canvassers in a day or two, and it is hoped that the canvass will be completed by May 15.

In view of the importance of this work, both as a means of assisting the Government and of determining the resources and needs of New York City, it is hoped that those who receive the cards will be willing to provide the information in the shortest possible time.

Text of Bill Relating to Monthly Tenancy of Real Estate.

THE Ottinger bill, providing that an agreement for the occupation of real estate in New York City shall create a monthly tenancy unless the duration of the occupation shall be specified in writing and subscribed by the parties or their agents, has been signed by the governor. The bill was approved by the Real Estate Board. The text of the bill follows:

Section 1. Section two hundred and thirty-two of chapter fifty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act relating to real property, constituting chapter fifty of the consolidated laws," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§232. Duration of certain agreements in New York. An agreement for the occupation of real estate in the city of New York, [which shall not particularly specify the duration of the occupation, shall be deemed to continue until the first day of May next after the possession commences under the agreement; and rent thereunder is payable at the usual quarter days, for the payment of rent in that city, unless otherwise expressed in the agreement.] shall create a tenancy from month to month unless the duration of the occupation shall be specified in writing by the parties thereto or by their lawful agents.

§2. This act shall take effect immediately.

Real Estate Bills Signed By Governor Whitman

Laws Affecting Mortgages, Cemetery Lands, Acts of Trustees of Estates Are Changed—Direct State Tax Bill Approved.

(Special to the Record and Guide.)

ALBANY, May 3.—Governor Whitman has signed Senator Sheridan's bill amending the Real Property Law by providing that a petition for the discharge of a mortgage which cannot be produced or upon which the signatures are wholly obliterated need not show the name of the mortgagor or assignor.

The Governor also signed the Foley bill, another Real Property Law amendment, which provides that cemetery lands in which no interments have been made may be sold under execution for the satisfaction of a judgment, notwithstanding the prohibition against the sale or mortgage of cemetery lands.

The Nicoll bill, providing that a trustee under a will or deed of trust may convey or exchange trust property when the lands owned by the trustee or subject to the power of sale under the will and the adjacent lands to be acquired, have the same buildings or physically connected buildings located upon them, subject to the approval of the Supreme Court.

The direct state tax bill, carrying a levy of 1.06 and designed to raise $13,342,000, of which about 70 per cent. must be borne by New York City, also has been signed. The proceeds of this direct levy will meet interest requirements on state bonds and will form the contributions to the state sinking funds for the next fiscal year, commencing July 1 next.

Governor Whitman has set a hearing for Wednesday, May 8, upon the Mohansic State Hospital site bill. This measure, the upshot of the investigation made by a commission, headed by Senator George A. Slater of Westchester, to ascertain the effect of a state hospital on the Croton watershed upon the New York City water supply, provides for the establishment of a state reservation at Lake Mohansic, in the town of Yorktown. New York City property owners, through the Real Estate Board, the Merchants' Association and other agencies, for years have opposed the erection of a state hospital on this site, and in 1917 Senator Elon R. Brown caused an investigation to be made to ascertain the merit of such opposition. The Slater bill, recommending the abandonment of the hospital site and the substitution of a reservation, was the outcome of this investigation.

Savings bank representatives declared at a hearing before Governor Whitman on Tuesday that the approval of the Gibbs bill, which gives labor and material men a lien preference on buildings under construction, would impose a burden upon up-state banks, trust companies and building and loan associations and would discriminate in favor of similar institutions in New York City, to which the bill does not apply. C. A. Miller, representing the Savings Bank Association of New York State, said the savings banks and building and loan associations would be forced to retire from the building loan field if this bill were approved. The particular provisions of the bill to which the opposition of the banks was directed were those requiring a constant check upon moneys loaned in order to protect labor and material supply men.

Material furnishers and representatives of labor, the State Federation and its allied agencies gave their approval and support to the measure.

Among those who appeared in opposition to the bill were: Fenton M. Park, president of the New York Real Estate Association; Walter Lindner, of the Title Guarantee and Trust Company; Walter Stabler, of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company; Harry N. French, of the New York State Association of Builders.

Among those who favored the bill were: Henry W. Hill, former State Senator, of Buffalo; J. A. Mahlstedt, president of the Westchester Building Material Men's Association; Edward Schmidt, of Mineola; C. C. Harper, president of the Lumber Dealers' Association, of Rochester, and a group representing the State Federation of Labor.

Mayor Hylan has returned to Governor Whitman with his approval the Wagner war debt limit bill, which authorizes New York City, during the present war, to issue, not exceeding $15,000,000 a year, serial bonds and corporate stock in excess of the city debt limit. Such bonds and stock must mature within the period not exceeding the minimum usefulness of the public improvement for which issued.

The Mayor disapproved the Walker bill, authorizing the Board of Estimate of New York City, in its discretion, to direct that all or any part of the cost of opening, widening or extending a street to be used for rapid transit subway purposes shall be borne by the city at large. The bill also provided for the issuance of corporate stock to pay the cost of such improvements.

Among a large batch of bills which Mayor Hylan approved and sent to the governor was the Gilchrist bill, which provides that the board of revision and assessments may review awards for damages made by the board of assessors, and its confirmation of such awards is final; and requiring the comptroller to certify to the board of assessors the registration of contracts for street improvement work and authorizing the revision board to confirm the assessment at any time after the registration of contract.

Several bills providing pensions for city court employees, general sessions court employees, Queens street cleaning bureau employees, municipal court employees, municipal ferry and other municipally-owned utilities' employees were disapproved by the Mayor. The Nicoll bill, providing for a 10 per cent. increase for administrative employees in the New York County district attorney's office, was also vetoed by the Mayor.

A state commission to investigate the subject of retirement pensions, allowances and annuities to state and municipal officers and employees and to report to the next Legislature is created under the Lockwood bill, signed by Governor Whitman on Thursday. This commission, to be composed of the state superintendent of insurance, four members to be appointed by the Governor, and one member each by the temporary President of the Senate and the Speaker of the Assembly, is given an appropriation of $5,000 with which to prosecute its work.

The Governor also signed the Emerson bill, exempting from the manufacturing and mercantile corporations tax law corporations engaged wholly in the holding, purchase or sale of real estate for themselves, holding corporations whose principal income is derived from holding stocks and bonds of other corporations, and corporations liable to tax under Sections 184 to 189 of the Tax Law, inclusive, as well as banks, savings banks, title guaranty, insurance and surety corporations. This bill also provides that all other corporations, including foreign corporations doing business in this State, shall be subject to a minimum tax of not less than $10 and not less than one mill on each dollar of apportionment of face value of issued capital stock apportioned to this State.

Honor Flag for Contractors.

PROBABLY no better example of the enthusiasm engendered in industrial concerns and the individuals connected with them for the success of the Third Liberty Loan can be found than that displayed by the T. A. Gillespie Company, general contractors, and its affiliated organizations. A total of 10,254 men are employed by this concern and its subsidiaries and the amount subscribed to date is $632,300. Of the entire number of men on the pay-rolls, 9,180 individuals, or about ninety per cent., have bought Liberty Bonds.

Four of the affiliated companies, including the New York office of the T. A. Gillespie Company, have reached the 100 per cent. class in obtaining subscriptions from all of their employees. By the time the drive finally closes it is predicted that the total of bond subscriptions will be considerably increased and others of the affiliated organizations will have reported 100 per cent. of their employees subscribed.

Chairman Leo Says Zoning Law Will Be Upheld

Decision in Favor of Baron Astor on Madison Avenue Property Not a General Reversal of Policy Respecting Building Restrictions.

INTEREST in the decision of the Board of Appeals rendered last Tuesday to allow Baron William Waldorf Astor to build a seven-story business building on the west side of Madison avenue between Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth streets centered in the question whether this disposition of the old controversy indicated a reversal of the policy of the former city administration by the authorities now in office with respect to the enforcement of the provisions of the Zoning Resolution.

Two appeals were made to the Board of Estimate during the Mitchel administration for action similar to that asked for in the petition passed on this week. Both were denied, and the matter was then taken up with the former Board of Appeals, but without securing any decision.

In view of these facts and the influence the decision decision by the courts unless an injunction was granted stopping the work. The courts do not look with favor on such litigation where vested rights are concerned and where hardship is likely to result pending final adjudication."

Edmund L. Baylies, Esq., representing J. P. Morgan, the Murray Hill Association and the Flintrock Realty Company, of which Mr. Morgan is the president and largest stockholder, claimed that the Board had no jurisdiction, and further that the matter was before the Board of Estimate, a superior body. Baron Astor was represented by Henry W. Taft, a brother of former President Taft, and member of the law firm of Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft.

Mr. Taft said: "Property on the west side of Madison avenue has deteriorated because of the restrictions imposed. Many houses are idle and down at the heel, Peabody, Wilson & Brown, Architects.

BUILDING TO BE ERECTED BY BARON WILLIAM WALDORF ASTOR AT MADISON AVENUE, BETWEEN 35TH AND 36TH STREETS.

might have on future building operations within restricted areas, Chairman Leo was asked after the meeting if the action taken in this case was to be construed as the policy of the Board in future cases affecting the Zoning Law.

"On the contrary it is the intention of this Board to be more strict in these cases than ever," said Mr. Leo. "We will decide every case coming before us absolutely on its merits. If we think an injustice has been done to a property owner in a restricted section we will grant him the relief demanded. But we will have to be positively convinced that the relief sought is reasonable and that no injustice will accrue to those who oppose it."

As to the effect on the decision of the Board of an adverse report of the Board of Estimate, Mr. Leo said: "If the Board of Estimate holds that the property in question is within the restricted area, as we concede it is, and refuse to exempt it from the restrictions, our decision overrules the report. If, on the other hand, the report consents to a modification of the Zoning Law and removes the restrictions from the section in which the property is located, then it merely affirms our decision. In any case our decision stands. Nothing more remains to be done but to present to the Superintendent of Buildings an official copy of the decision of the Board of Appeals and without further detail a building permit must be issued.

"The whole question is subject to review by a court of law, but building operations could go ahead pending and the owners are compelled to accept temporary leases for their property since they cannot get permanent tenants, and all this is done to please some individual or group of individuals.

"I have filed with this Board the consents of property owners in the neighborhood, with the exception of Mr. Morgan and the Flintrock Realty Company, of which he is the head. This opposition is a movement to retard the improvement of New York real estate. On one side we have an owner who will not improve and the other side the largest owner of real estate in the City of New York, who wants to make improvements. The improvement of this property will mean an income to the city of $33,000 in taxes. Because of the restrictions placed on our property Mr. Astor has been able to swear off $284,000. At the present time the city is only receiving from this property $7,000. The improvement will cost about one million and the taxes will be increased by $26,000."

Mr. Baylies said: "This is a case of dollars against the home, not a fight between Lord Astor on one side and Mr. Morgan on the other. Astor wants the last farthing out of his property. I would respectfully suggest to this Board that it withhold its decision until the Board of Estimate report, now ready and awaiting only the signature of Comptroller Craig, is filed. I have a petition containing the names of 150 residents of Murray Hill who oppose the petition."

Real Estate Liberty Loan Drive Near $3,000,000

Mark Aimed at by Committee Will Probably Be Passed Tonight—
Brooklyn Makes Creditable Showing.

By ALFRED E. MARLING, Chairman.

TO one who has been privileged to take an active part in the Third Liberty Loan drive there have been certain clear-cut impressions made on the mind.

The first impression is that of the splendid unity and devoted spirit of all the teams. There is no room for a "slacker" in such a drive. I do not know that we had such on any of our teams. If we did they must have died by the way, for all those who were working under me to make this drive a success were what are popularly called "live wires."

The second impression is that the teams were not easily discouraged. They stuck steadily to the job through all the ups and downs of success and disappointment. If they found a man out they went again and again, illustrating the adage: "If at first you don't succeed try, try again."

The third impression is that of the friendly fellowship which was engendered by the campaign. There was a pleasant spirit of rivalry among the different teams, and yet no jealousies were aroused. Every man looked to doing the best he could for his own team; but, far more, for the success of the entire drive for the Real Estate Division. With such men, dominated by such a spirit, it is no wonder that our Real Estate Division went over the $1,800,000, which was set as our quota, and at the time of this writing we have reached the splendid figures of $2,600,000. We hope and we will strive to reach $3,000,000 before this article is printed in the Record and Guide.

It is fitting to say, in this little sketch of a month's work, that we received hearty support from the daily newspapers and from the organ of the real estate business—the Record and Guide. Without such support I do not believe it would have been possible to have secured the happy results.

THE Real Estate Division of the Liberty Loan Committee tendered a luncheon on last Tuesday to the captains and members of the ten teams comprising the Division. There was a full attendance when Chairman Alfred E. Marling called the meeting to order. Mr. Marling said:

"We have had nineteen days of the campaign. We were put in the baby class, the limit of which is two millions. At 12.30 today the total amount of subscriptions actually received amounted to $2,299,700. We are out of our minimum limit in Class C. The Liberty Loan Committee says we were second in our class on Saturday and today we stand first. The third day of the campaign, April 10, was our worst day, when we received but $9,300, and our best day was April 29, when the total amounted to $549,000.

"Out of a total of 1,021 subscriptions we have received 409 for fifty dollar bonds, and 251 for one hundred dollar bonds, a total of 660. More than fifty per cent. of the whole is represented by small investors, just as the Government requested. We must not stop now, however, until we reach the three million mark and go over it if possible."

Mr. Marling introduced Charles E. Mitchell, President of the National City Company, who said:

"A dollar taken from your pocket and transferred into an interest-bearing bond, backed by every resource of the National Government, is not a sacrifice. It is really only an act of self-interest. All the gold in the world piled up 'over there' behind our boys and our Allies would not win the war. But the money turned into things will win the war. In comparison to the sacrifices being made by our soldiers our sacrifices of a few dollars are very insignificant.

"Today civilization is with her back to the wall. We have neglected the warning, and the words of wisdom, and today we are behind in this great conflict. We must set our jaws to give up certain things and give those things to our Government."

Mr. Marling then suggested that an effort be made by those present to make the total subscriptions $2,500,000, and Albert Ashforth announced that as a result of Mr. Mitchell's address he would subscribe for an additional $75,000 of bonds. Other subscriptions were forthcoming and it was announced that the grand total was $2,573,000.

Laurence McGuire, President of the Real Estate Board, whose activity and enthusiasm throughout the campaign has encouraged the other members greatly, said:

"I am proud of the work this Committee has done. Mr. Marling has worked very hard. Let us try for five millions, instead of three millions. We saw the mothers in the big parade last Saturday and were touched by the Spartan-like courage they displayed as they marched along, some of them with their service flags carrying five, and six stars, and some of them with the silver star, denoting a sacrifice supreme. Yesterday we saw an even more pathetic parade. 'Pershing's Veterans,' boys of our own 69th, and we could see with our own eyes what they had to suffer and sacrifice. The more sacrifice we make now the less we will have to make later. I am proud of Mr. Marling and the work of this Committee."

There is not the slightest doubt on the part of the members of the ten teams that before the campaign ends today the sum aimed at will be reached and even exceeded. With a view to making certain that the maximum amount be subscribed, the captains and their teams are today going back over the same ground they have been covering for the past month, recanvassing the same friends, clients and others, endeavoring to persuade them to buy more bonds and to get those who did not subscribe to do so before the drive ends.

The subscriptions entered by firms represented on the several teams is highly commendable. A spirit of friendly rivalry prevailed throughout the campaign and in many instances captains and even team members personally subscribed large amounts so that their teams would make a good showing. Considering the very apathetic and dormant condition of the real estate business today, due to war conditions, the result of this first big undertaking in which the realty men worked as an individual unit, has been productive of greater results than the reaching of the maximum quota. It has resulted in bringing together in close intimacy the leaders of the real estate business in this city, cementing old friendships and the making of new ones; brought about a more close personal relationship between the men and, of paramount importance, has formed the nucleus for a similar organization when other loan campaigns are inaugurated. The experience gained in this campaign will be of great advantage in those to follow. There was some little disappointment up to last Monday in the showing made by the Brooklyn team, of which William P. Rae is the captain. Up to that day the Brooklyn team had only turned in subscriptions to the amount of $12,000, and Chairman Marling was very much disappointed.

Mr. Marling did not know at that time that the Brooklyn team was working just as hard and just as patriotically as their brothers in the big Borough. But when on Monday afternoon Captain Rae brought in his subscription list showing a total of $549,000, including a subscription of $200,000 from the Title Guaranty and Trust Company, the feeling of unrest was soon dispelled. Captain Rae and his team mates came in for a goodly round of applause from those present in the rooms of the Real Estate Board, when the Brooklyn figures were announced.

Up to 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon the grand total was $2,843,000, and there will be no let up until the campaign ends tonight.

Oversubscription to Loan by Building Trades

Quota of $5,000,000 Exceeded—Otto M. Eidlitz, Chairman, Congratulates Workers in Drive

By OTTO M. EIDLITZ, Chairman.

By telegraph to Francis H. Shinn.—The result of the Third Liberty Loan drive made by the Building and Allied Trades of New York City is far beyond my expectations when you consider the unfortunate situation existing in the Building Industry due to the war. I hope you will give my warmest congratulations to all the chairmen of each trade division and to each committee member for the remarkable showing that they have made, which was possible only through unrelenting energy and great personal sacrifice. The result is especially gratifying in that it exceeds the previous Liberty Loan canvass by nearly twenty-five per cent., thus proving that even under adverse conditions if there is a real patriotic desire to do, a surprising answer can be obtained. Will you also express to Mr. Landale and Mr. Sears and accept for yourself my keen appreciation of the efforts put forth to bring about this result, which has enabled the Building Industry once more to take its rightful stand in the foremost rank of those who regard their country as entitled to their first consideration.

SPLENDID and inspiring results have been achieved by the Building and Allied Trades Committee for the Third Liberty Loan, under the chairmanship of Mr. Otto M. Eidlitz, during the final week of the campaign. All of the lines affiliated with the building trades, through their respective Liberty Loan Committees, have graciously co-operated with the general committee in its effort to place the industry in the front rank in the records of the Advisory Trades Committee, and to prove that it can always be depended upon to support the Government when called upon. The results have been far beyond the hopes of even the most optimistic.

The building industry as a unit has experienced difficult times during the past year. Construction of a private nature, while not altogether stopped, has fallen far below the normal of past years. Practically the entire energy of the building trades has been devoted to the new phases of Government building. Notwithstanding the numerous deterrents to a high degree of general trade prosperity the structural trades have come to the fore with subscriptions to the third bond issue in a manner that unquestionably proclaims the patriotism of the industry.

From the records on file in the executive office of the General Committee, the various organizations that comprise the working field of this Committee have reported the following subscriptions to date:

Mason Builders' and Contractors' Association..	$865,500
Marble Industry: Tile, Grate & Mantle Association and the Mosaic Employers.....	151,000
Cut Stone Association and the Stone Setters..	72,500
House Movers' & Shorers' Association and the Hoisting Association	9,000
Architectural Iron Workers.....	72,050
Ornamental Bronze & Iron Masters and the Wire Work Manufacturers.....	101,750
Cement Workers	226,950
Composition Roofers and Waterproofers; Metal Ceiling Association; Roofers & Sheet Metal Workers; and the Metal Covered Door & Window Manufacturers	435,300
Iron League Erectors.....	289,150
Plasterers	37,200
Master Carpenters' Association; Local No. 1, and the Parquet Flooring Association.....	343,500
Lighting Fixture Association.....	785,700
Steam & Hot Water Fitters' Association.....	241,200
Painters and Decorators.....	151,700
Association of Metal Furring and Lathing Contractors	15,000
Plumbers	384,150
Elevator Manufacturers' Association.....	288,400
Investing Builders' Association.....	126,350
Mason Material Dealers' Association.....	225,500
H. W. Johns-Manville Co.....	300,000
Heat and Cold Insulation.....	21,250
Refrigeration	1,500

Total.....$5,144,650

By almost superhuman efforts during the past week the General Committee has turned in or has in hand subscriptions to the Third Liberty Loan totalling $5,144,650. At the commencement of the campaign the building and allied trades took as their quota the amount subscribed by the industry to the Second Liberty Loan, plus 22 per cent. additional. This brought the quota for the present drive to $5,000,000. By Thursday of this week the full quota had been attained, and the General Committee spurred the sub-committees to further efforts in order that the oversubscription might be as large as possible.

Many of the sub-committees have exceeded the amount of the quota assigned to them at the start of the drive. These have not stopped work, however, but have pushed on in their efforts to pile up important oversubscriptions for the credit of their organizations. Many have high percentages of oversubscriptions. Among the committees that have exceeded the allotment originally assigned are included: The Iron League Erectors, headed by Mr. Andrew J. Post; the Composition Roofers & Waterproofing, Metal Covered Doors and allied organizations, under the leadership of Mr. M. F. Westergren; the Association of Master Plumbers, Mr. Joseph H. Jasper, chairman; Mason Material Dealers, Mr. Frank E. Wise, chairman, and Elevator Manufacturers' Association, Mr. William G. McCune, chairman.

Neither in the first nor second Liberty Loan drives were the building trades combed so thoroughly as they have been during the campaign now rapidly drawing to a close, and it is extremely doubtful if at any time in the past history of building has the industry been so thoroughly solicited for any purpose. The results are apparent in the excellent total that has been rolled up by the various branches of the trade represented by the General Committee.

The trade unions affiliated with the building industry have responded to the call for subscriptions in a manner both heartening and assuring. Officials connected with these bodies claim that every building mechanic and laborer that has invested to the extent of at least $50 or subscribed to buy one bond has increased his patriotism 100 per cent. In the past labor unions have not generally been given credit for a high degree of patriotic virtue, but the history of the present campaign, in so far as the unions affiliated with building construction are concerned, will assure to the future a stronger attitude of patriotism than heretofore displayed. Bricklayers' local unions Nos. 37, 41, .. and .. have been effectually working in support of the drive for the Third Liberty Loan. Their leaders have co-operated with the General Committee, and the net results in actual subscriptions by union members have been most satisfactory. The unions connected with the tile and marble industry have also come to the fore in a gratifying manner, and important sales have been made to their membership. The meetings have been well attended and the enthusiasm reached a high pitch.

The meeting conducted by Post & McCord at the new shipyard under construction at Kearney, N. J., on the Hackensack Meadows, was well attended, and important sales were recorded. Many bonds were sold for cash and delivered as sold, the company having the certificates at the meeting. About $22,000 was obtained.

Department Rules for Making Tax Assessments

Instructions for the Information and Guidance of Deputy Tax Commissioners Issued by President Jacob A. Cantor.

FOR the information and guidance of the deputy tax commissioners in making assessments of real estate the Department of Taxes and Assessments has issued the following communication:

To the Deputy Tax Commissioners:

You should go about your work influenced by the sole desire to be just, both to the taxpayer and to the City.

It is true that the bonded debt is governed by real estate valuations and thus great care should be exercised in making reductions and also in raising valuations. In fact true values should be ascertained as nearly as possible and equality of taxation should be the leading feature. There should be no discrimination. The burden of taxation must be equally distributed. It may be difficult at times to determine values and in many cases it may be impossible to assess at what is termed "market value."

Section 889 of the Charter provides that it shall be the duty of the deputy tax commissioners to assess all the taxable property in the several districts that may be assigned to them and they shall furnish to the Board, under oath, a detailed statement of all such property, showing that said deputies have personally examined each and every house, building, lot, pier, or other assessable property, giving the street, lot, ward, block and map number of such real estate embraced within said districts, together with the name of the owner or occupant, if known; also the sum for which, in their judgment, each separately assessed parcel of real estate under ordinary circumstances would sell if it were wholly unimproved; and separately stated, the sum for which under ordinary circumstances, the same parcel of real estate would sell with the improvements, if any, thereon.

The value of any piece of property should never exceed the value of the land plus the cost of reproduction of the building.

In arriving at the value of property adequately improved the gross income and operating expenses should be taken into consideration and the net return should be capitalized at a fair rate of interest.

It is important and imperative for deputies to confer with each other in adjoining districts as to land values in order that there may be uniformity of assessment. In all cases where difficulty arises in making or changing valuations the deputy in charge should be freely consulted.

Careful consideration should be given to plottage, location, character of improvements, size of plot, adequate improvement, and, in certain sections, consideration should be given to the difficulty or ease in assembling plots.

When a parcel of land is too small to be improved with a suitable structure and is shut off from possible improvement with adjoining property due allowance should be made.

Great care should be given to added value for corner influence. No hard or fast rule should be applied in that it varies in accordance with location, adaptability to certain class of business and transit facilities.

Consideration expressed in conveyances is an important consideration in determining value if they are the result of private sale. Cases of foreclosures, sales to close estates or to apportion interests in estates cannot be deemed to be a fair criterion of value. Neither is one sale in a section a sufficient evidence of established values.

The average consideration expressed in a number of sales does not wholly determine value because there may be speculative conditions attached.

Mortgages and the rate of interest provided are important factors in computing values but not in every case, as sometimes mortgagees are compelled to add other securities in order to prevent mortgages being called.

Moneys loaned by savings banks and other financial institutions should be given careful consideration as evidence of value, as the law limits their loans to percentage of values.

Leases also are a very good indication of value and in such cases renewal clauses and terms are essential factors where the lessor pays the taxes; in fact, all the terms of a lease ought to be inquired into, but the better plan would be if possible to examine the leases themselves, and where the property is leased to one tenant that is also to be considered in connection with the value.

Under the Emerson Law, which authorizes certain machinery to be assessed as realty, you are hereby instructed to make a list of the machinery with value of each piece and how attached to the building or otherwise. Also to procure from the owner a list of the machinery which he claims is personalty and of that which he admits is realty. This is very important.

Consideration should also be given to the obsolescence of buildings.

The improved methods of buildings are such that an appropriate structure may now often be erected on modern plans for much less than it formerly cost for a building to serve the same purpose less efficiently. Under these circumstances an old style building in good repair can be worth no more than a modern building costing much less which serves the same purpose equally well.

It should be borne in mind that this very reduction in cost of construction often tends strongly to enhance the value of land.

When in doubt as to the assessment of costly buildings, or any buildings, or land, consult freely with the deputy in charge, who will obtain the advice of the chief deputy when necessary.

In assessing property which is exempt from taxation care should be taken to appraise both land and buildings as accurately as though they were taxable.

When there is reason to believe that any taxed property is entitled to exemption, the owner should be notified by the deputy directly or through the deputy in charge in order that a proper application for exemption may be made and the property exempted by the commissioners if the owner be entitled to such exemption. The law imposes the duty on assessors to refrain from taxing property entitled to exemption. A tax on such property is void. Uncollectible taxes are a nightmare to an administration.

Deputies in charge are instructed to give every possible opportunity throughout the year for deputies to spend their time in the field in order that they may be fully acquainted with land values and conditions in their districts. In order that deputies may have proper time for field study, deputies in charge are directed to instruct clerks to do all the clerical work that the time permits.

Consideration should be given to signs upon buildings which are used for advertising purposes. In all cases the value of same should be reflected in the valuation on land.

One of the difficult problems is the assessment of lots sold on the installment plan. A percentage of the price obtained for lots thus sold is regarded as the cost of making the sale. The market value of such lots is not the price paid to the developing company but the sum for which it could sell the lots within a reasonable time upon ordinary terms of payment. When lands of this character adjoin developed land, and streets have not been run through it, it should be assessed as much as the developed lots after deducting the expense of streets, sidewalks and other improvements. It is important also to consider as evidence of value the number of lots sold in proportion to the number of lots upon which buildings have been erected and occupied, the price of the unsold lots being proportionately higher than the first sold. Where part of the tract of land has been improved with streets, sidewalks, curbs and sewers the rest of the tract is improved in value.

The law provides that the assessment shall be made between the first day of April and the first day of October.

Architects Making Plans for Peace Time Work

Annual Meeting of American Institute at Philadelphia Emphasizes Need of Organization to Meet Demands of the Future

By C. H. WHITAKER

Editor of the Journal of the American Institute of Architects.

The fifty-first annual convention of the American Institute of Architects was held at Philadelphia on April 24, 25 and 26, the hall in the Art Club having been graciously tendered for the use of the Institute.

It was the first convention to be held since the date was changed from December to spring, the old officers elected at the last convention in Minneapolis having held office until their successors were chosen at this convention. Also there had been effected a voluntary agreement on the part of the chapters of the Institute whereby the usual number of delegates was reduced, each chapter having at least one, with additional delegates based upon their regular representation. That this facilitated the conduct of convention business may well be imagined, but it in no way appeared to detract from the interest of the meeting; in fact, no convention has ever had a more complete representation of chapters, only one being missed in this instance.

But while these aspects of the convention are interesting they shrink into nothingness when compared with the general character of the meeting itself. Routine business was disposed of in shorter time than ever before, and the convention settled down to the consideration of matters, which reflected the spirit of those changes which have come and are still on the way; in a word, this was above and beyond all other things a war convention, where men met upon high ground and with a new spirit.

In his opening address President Mauran reviewed the history of the relations of the architectural profession with the Government since the outbreak of war, and while he expressed regret at the slowness with which the Government had made use of the architect in its war-time planning and construction, he also pointed out the fact that a mobilization of resources cannot be made over night in a country such as ours, and that England had not perhaps done as well as we have done, since architects are daily finding increasing avenues of employment under the various branches of present-day governmental activities. It is perhaps well that the profession should come to a realizing sense of what has been done in this direction and remember that no government could possibly take over the whole of the architectural profession within a month after the beginning of war. On the whole, it may well prove that in the United States the Government was quicker to utilize the architect than was the case in either France or England, where the professions are more highly organized and more generally recognized by governmental authorities.

The report of the Board of Directors, read to the convention by Mr. William Stanley Parker of Boston, secretary of the Institute, followed the fine precedent set by Mr. Fenner last year. It presented to the convention, in a simple and concise manner, the results of the board's studies of the various Institute activities during the past sixteen months. In many cases a certain action by the board was suggested, and in every case, we believe, the convention accepted the board's suggestions. But there was no limitation placed upon discussion, and the president was careful to urge a full and free consideration of the reports of the several committees.

The treasurer's report indicated that the Institute's finances, although visibly affected by the war, were still in a healthy condition. It seemed very significant that even though a decline in membership might well have been looked for or expected the Institute, on the contrary, made a net gain of sixty-three members during the year.

How refreshing it was, as one looks back, to have been spared the usual tedious hours devoted to competitions, schedules of charges and kindred matters. It seemed as though every delegate welcomed the new order and eagerly awaited the disposition of the necessary routine, determined that all possible time should be saved for vital things. The first evening meeting given over to a discussion of registration developed into a hearty endorsement of the work done by the Committee on Registration during the previous year. The standard form of registration law was read and discussed and the subject referred to the Board of Directors, with authority to consider the standard suggested and to issue it as an advisory suggestion when it was ready so to do. It may be remembered that the Institute has never officially committed itself on this subject, holding the view that it was a case for local jurisdiction, each state being left to decide its own methods. But while the Institute as a whole still retains this point of view, it has now taken upon itself the task of promulgating a suggested form of law such as will not only serve to accomplish the primary result of safeguarding the public against incompetence, but will also offer a basis by which each state can bring its own law into harmony with those passed in other states, thus avoiding a condition where different standards might work a great hardship to both the public and the architect.

The great object, which should be sought through registration, is a higher standard of education for the architect. No one can for a moment dispute the desirability of this, or even its necessity, if the profession is to survive and play its part. Our whole educational system is a hodge-podge of bungling and juggling, in which the architect has fared no better than his brothers in other lines. We now see that this system must be revised to bring it into line with democratic tendencies, and that through some such revision there may come a method of education which will relate the student to the actual life going on about him in our democracy rather than cramming his trunk with a lot of archaic baggage which bears the labels of autocracy, aristocracy and plutocracy. The danger in registration laws lies in the possibility that while useful as safeguarding structural safety they may be pushed so far as to lay a restriction upon design; that they may fall into the hands of men who will proceed in their judgments upon the established order of things as expressed in styles and periods, and that they may thus be made to serve the disastrous purpose of stifling growth. Without any laws we have had enough of that, and let us thus be careful in such a registration law as we may recommend and in the administration thereof that we give every latitude to genius and ability to discover.

According to at least one of the newspapers of Philadelphia the most noteworthy act of the convention was its disposal of the great question of advertising. For several years this matter has been coming to the fore, and while one may well understand the importance which would be attached to the Institute's action in convention when looked at through the eyes of the press, the fact is that the real significance of what was done lies in another direction.

At the last convention there was appointed a special committee to consider and report to the board upon the specific aspect of advertising as covered in the Canons of Ethics, published by the Institute, and which contained the following: "It is unprofessional to advertise."

The report of the committee, which consisted of Mr. Thomas R. Kimball and Mr. John Galen Howard, was in every way a masterly summing up of the question at issue, which had resolved itself into a frank recommendation, on the part of the committee, that the canon above quoted be eliminated. In preparing its report the committee sent out a questionnaire to the other professional societies of the United States, from which it may be interesting to quote the following:

From the Canons of Ethics of the American Bar Association:

"The publication or circulation of ordinary simple business cards being a matter of personal taste or local custom and sometimes of convenience is not per se improper." The same authority calls it unprofessional to solicit business by circulars or advertisements or personal communications or interviews not warranted by personal relations, or to procure business through touters of any kind, such as allied real estate firms. The canon ends by saying "that such self-laudation defies the traditions and lowers the tone of this high calling and is intolerable."

In a special circular on ethics published by the American Medical Association appears this announcement: "The refraining from or the employment of advertising is the clearly defined difference between a reputable physician and a quack."

The code of ethics of the American Society of Civil Engineers reads: "To advertise in self-laudatory language or in any other manner derogatory to the dignity of the profession shall be considered unprofessional."

Based upon the answers received to its questionnaire, and upon the clear and logical deductions which resulted, the report of this committee may well stand as a notable contribution to the theory of the professional relation as well as to the subject of advertising. In urging the repeal of the canon the committee said this: "From the rulings governing other so-called professions and their apparent practices, may we not conclude that our own position on advertising is at least the most inelastic, if not the narrowest, of them all? And may we not fairly ascribe to this fact at least a part of the explanation which must account for the relatively bad showing in the proportion our membership bears to the profession at large, and possibly for the present average of Institute intelligence compared to what it might be if our doors were more widely opened and our angle of vision somewhat extended?"

All of which will perhaps be read by many to be a hearty endorsement of advertising by architects. On the contrary it is nothing of the kind. It is an abandonment by the Institute of a principle which came down through the traditions of the earlier days, and which had later developed into an impossible attempt to bring about taste and morality through legislation. The Institute does not urge its members to advertise, but it no longer says that it will punish them if they do. In that there lies the opportunity for the quack, the man who lacks taste, the architect who is determined to get work by no matter what means; but there also comes a recognition of the fact that punishment by law is not the best method of dealing with these practices. On the whole a long step forward has been taken by the Institute, much as it will be misconstrued by those who will think slyly to make a new opportunity for themselves.

On the afternoon of the second day the convention was given up to papers on the service and opportunities of the architect. These were delivered by Mr. Milton B. Medary, Jr., Mr. R. Clipston Sturgis, Mr. Elmer C. Jensen, and concluded with a brief survey of the building situation by Mr. E. J. Russell. Perhaps the impression created by these addresses could best be symbolized in a paragraph from the remarks by Mr. Medary, who said: "Let the little children born in airless and sunless rooms, growing up in congested surroundings, where every fine instinct must wither and die, be a challenge to the architects of communities where such things exist, and let us look for our reward in the hearts of the mothers of healthy children and in the appreciation of those who have been allowed to grow to manhood and womanhood in surroundings which permitted them to retain their self-respect and to preserve that dignity which belongs to them by right and not by patronage. From these we may expect a new point of view, and in them we may one day find that 'educated public' which we have so long talked about."

On the following day Mr. Frederick L. Ackerman of New York City emphasized this attitude of the architect toward his surroundings and the life of his day in an address, which he pointed out, in no uncertain terms, the real truth about the unpreparedness of this country as measured in social terms.

"Were our old pre-war methods really efficient?" said Mr. Ackerman. "Were we really organized for peace? We were not. We have developed an industrial system which, in the light of reason, has very little justification; and the root of the trouble is that we have become obsessed with the idea that the producing of things was in itself a complete justification of effort. * * * There is one tremendously important element missing in our program of preparation, and that element is the hope of labor for a better condition of peace. Make such a hope vivid to the men who work and American labor will become stable; ignore it and the restlessness will increase.

"Within our field of interest a vivid hope would be expressed in decent homes, in slumless cities—in a word, in an adequate environment. It is our problem; it is our obligation to make such a hope a reality. But to make this hope a reality we must extend our field of vision; the problem of housing and town planning must be conceived in broader terms; the mere ability to design pleasing cottages will not serve the purpose. Our narrowly conceived personal efforts or much heralded private enterprise will not serve, for we shall be confronted with a national problem involving international values.

"But what does this mean in definite terms of action? It means that we must establish totally new standards in the framing of legislation; that we must establish a complete new system of mobilizing credit. What is the sense of limiting the use of state funds to such fields of collective action as provision for the erection of poor-houses, houses of correction, jails and hospitals for the insane while we permit loaning corporations to use our collective capital in such a way as to develop the social, moral and physical diseases which fill these public-institutions to overflowing? It means that we must so organize the state that wealth, that capital, that credit shall also be used for the purpose of preventing those diseases."

In another address one of the speakers developed the relation of the Institute, as well as of all other professional bodies, to the democratic tendencies of the day. He pointed out the fact that the Institute must continually strive for a more democratic organization of the profession in the United States since no autocratic or aristocratic body can fit itself harmoniously into a system of life which is essentially democratic. He also drew attention to the tremendous development of the idea of the professional relation in war, since the Government is today making use not only of professional men of all callings, but has also called into its services all forms of industry and commerce, either through individuals or through associated groups, all of whom bear a professional relation to the Government. They are serving as advisors and not primarily as business men in pursuit of profits.

The same speaker also discussed the profession of architecture from the point of view of those who contend that in order to make architecture a commercial success it must be converted into a business. "I think the hope of democracy," said he, "lies not in the conversion of the professions into businesses, but in making business a profession."

These were the dominant notes of the convention. These were the ways in which architects were asked to survey themselves and their services—not in the light of pride and satisfaction, but rather in the light of humility and a wider look abroad upon the newer fields of opportunity which are arising all about them, and as well upon the long neglected fields which have cried out in their vain protest against a system of life which denied them any benefit of the very architecture which they were expected to admire and praise and clamor for in order that the architect might have his vanity satisfied and his income increased. It was a convention of self-searching, of consideration of the things which are fundamental to life and not transitory. It was a convention upon which war had also laid its hand, as one could discover who listened to the discussions and the papers and who valued the applause by the newer standard of values.

It concluded with a dinner at the Germantown Cricket Club, where the guests were addressed by Colonel Starrett, of the Council of National Defense; by Mr. Thomas Adams, of the Commission on Conservation of Canada; by Mr. Albert Kahn, of Detroit, and by the new president of the Institute, Mr. Thomas R. Kimball, who accepted his task with a few words of deep appreciation. Colonel Starrett narrated, in con-

Sales and Conveyances for the Last Three Months

FOLLOWING its usual custom, the Record and Guide prints herewith a table showing, by weeks, the number of sales reported in Manhattan and the Bronx prior to passing of title. The total number of conveyances in Manhattan and the Bronx is also given. These figures are arranged in such a manner that, at a glance, the statistics for the corresponding period last year may be seen. The totals show a decided recession in business closed, but this is in a measure accounted for by the fact that building is stagnated. Many sales predicated upon the erection of new structures are being held in abeyance, and this also holds true of leases which would, in the aggregate, involve large sums. The table follows.

Architects Plan Peace Time Work.

siderable detail, the various constructional activities of the Government in war time. Mr. Adams devoted himself to the question of housing as affected by social values and as a measure of war emergency, while Mr. Kahn dealt with the question of organization as affecting the successful practice of architecture.

The Philadelphia chapter of the Institute provided for the entertainment of delegates in a most hospitable manner. There were various delightful excursions about the historic city, a reception at Independence Hall, a visit to Hog Island and a journey to the home of Mr. Widener, where the visitors were permitted to see his pictures. In the room where the informal luncheons were provided each day the chapter had thoughtfully arranged for an exhibition of the work of Mr. Wilson Eyre, and this unique idea, which ought to be perpetuated at other succeeding conventions, was a source of continuous pleasure.

Altogether it was a successful convention in every way, and out of it many new shoots will reach upward and many roots grow stronger that the profession of architecture in this country shall be raised to higher levels of accomplishment and service.

The officers elected were as follows:

President, Thomas R. Kimball, Omaha, Neb.; 1st Vice-President, Charles A. Favrot, New Orleans, La.; 2d Vice-President, George S. Mills, Toledo, O.; Secretary, William Stanley Parker, Boston, Mass.; Treasurer, D. Everett Waid, New York City. Directors to serve three years: Richard Schmidt, Chicago; E. W. Donn, Jr., Washington; Robert D. Kohn, New York City. Director to serve two years: Ellis F. Lawrence, Portland, Ore.

Those advanced to Fellowship were: Louis Ayres, Charles Butler, New York City; James E. Allison, Los Angeles; E. E. Dougherty, Atlanta; A. C. Eschweiler, Milwaukee; Albert Kahn, Detroit; John P. B. Sinkler, Philadelphia; William L. Steele, Sioux City, Ia.

Zoning Law Will Be Upheld.

Mr. Taft exhibited the architects' drawing, showing the building as it will appear when completed. "The plans," said Mr. Taft, "call for a handsome seven-story modern structure, 120 feet high, which has been approved by the Superintendent of Buildings, and will be used for high-class business purposes.

"My client owns eighteen lots, ten of which are in the business district and eight forming the Madison avenue frontage, in the residential district. Under the Zoning Law we could erect an apartment house or hotel which are classed as residential buildings and might prove more obnoxious than a business building."

Fire Chief Kenlon, who is a member of the Board by virtue of his office, asked Mr. Taft if Lord Astor would be within the law if he erected a business structure one hundred feet back from Madison avenue and extending from Thirty-fifth to Thirty-sixth streets. He was answered in the affirmative.

Chief Kenlon then suggested that the Board proceed to vote on the appeal rather than go into executive session to confer on the several arguments.

Chairman Leo, in announcing the decision, said: "The parties concerned in this case are not to be considered. It is purely a case of what is the duty and the power of the Board. I hold that the Board has full jurisdiction under Section 20, but before taking a vote I recommend that the structure be erected in accordance with the following specifications: The building is to be not more than seven stories nor more than 120 feet high; it shall be faced with limestone or marble; that there shall be but one entrance on Madison avenue; that the balcony over the second story shall be in the same style of architecture as the rest of the front; that the parapet wall over the main cornice be finished in the same style, and that during occupancy only the windows on the ground floor shall be used as show windows."

These suggestions met with the unanimous approval of the other members of the Board, and a vote being taken the motion to grant the appeal was carried without a dissenting vote.

Overlooking a Vital Point

For several weeks newspaper readers have been surfeited with reports about Mayor Hylan's investigation of the Department of Health in this city. The Mayor has been severely criticised for what many regard as an attempt to inject more politics into the department, and numerous learned authorities on health problems have been aroused over the possible breaking down of desirable departments for the protection of health.

A great deal of interest to the people of the metropolis has been brought out in this connection. But one point which in many respects overshadows all others seems to have been lost sight of. That is the matter of the cost of the department. The taxpayers of the city have to foot the bills, but in none of the recent discussions does any one seem to have given a thought to them.

No intelligent, public-spirited citizen would have the Department of Health managed in any other way than to safeguard the health of the people. These citizens properly resent any attempt to break down the protection against disease which has been established by capable officials; but a vast number of them also object to the breaking down of the taxpayers into the bargain.

Federating the Building Interests.

Among the many important matters considered at the annual convention of the American Institute of Architects, held at Philadelphia last week, the national movement for the federation of the building interests is doubtless of the greatest general interest. The movement in this direction, which, as our readers will recall, was started last fall, was taken up by various Chambers of Commerce and builders' exchanges throughout the country, and was given added impetus by resolutions of various national organizations, including the National Builders' Supply Association, National Association of Builders' Exchanges, National Wholesale Lumber Dealers' Association, National Retail Lumber Dealers' Association, Indiana Limestone Quarrymen's Association, National Building Granite Quarrymen's Association, National Marble Association, National Association of Ornamental Iron and Bronze Manufacturers, and others.

A point having been reached where the desire for a comprehensive organization called for early expression, the logical leadership devolved upon the American Institute of Architects, at least to the extent of the initial operations. They are trained correlators and co-ordinators, familiar with every phase and factor of the industry. Their action in the present emergency will be looked forward to with high hope.

When it was suggested that the Institute would consider taking the lead in affiliating the various elements, letters and telegrams came to its officials, promising the active and hearty support of scores of large national organizations of material manufacturers and distributors, representing a large measure of business ability and financial strength.

A wonderful opportunity is here presented to the architectural profession, through its representatives, to construct something of lasting and very great value to the building industry and to the nation. The rough sketch and the materials are at hand, and willing workers stand ready to co-operate.

Putting It Up to New York as Usual

As the third Liberty Loan campaign comes to a close the usual disposition of some sections of the United States to "put it up to New York" is reflected in the press dispatches from Washington and other important cities.

There has been wailing and lamentation in certain quarters for the last ten days, based on the fear of critics that the great American metropolis would not "do its bit" in the matter of the third Liberty Loan. Early in the week there was sent out from Washington a semi-official statement, in which it was declared that "New York to date has proved one of the biggest disappointments of the campaign."

Every time any big undertaking confronts the United States there is a disposition, particularly in the South and West, to put New York in the "George" class and for leaders of thought in those sections to use early and often the expression "Let George Do It!" This disposition was much in evidence in both the first and second Liberty Loan campaigns, as it was in the Red Cross drive, the Y. M. C. A. drive, and other worthy and patriotic undertakings. Most New Yorkers have become accustomed to this disposition of other sections to put big tasks up to the metropolis.

Never heretofore, however, have other sections of the United States been quite so blunt in expressing their disappointment about the metropolis. Their criticism of what New York City has been doing is no more justified in the present instance than it has been on preceding occasions. The great metropolis has never yet failed the national Government in time of need, nor is it to fail in its duty now. When the records of the third Liberty Loan are closed there is every reason to believe New York City will have proven once again its right to hold its head high.

The current reports from various other sections of the country indicate that the western states especially are making a very fine record in the third Liberty Loan drive. This should be gratifying to the people of those sections just as it is gratifying to the people of the metropolis. It indicates that while from other sections there still comes the cry, "Let George Do It!" the people of those other sections of the nation are themselves waking up and showing a proper disposition to help New York City in carrying the burden.

There is glory enough for all sections of the country in participating in the Liberty Loan drive. New York City has shown no disposition to put the responsibility upon other sections of the country. But if other sections of the country have been aroused to their own duty through fear that New York City was lagging it is well.

Readers' Comment on Current Subjects.

Editor of the Record and Guide:

The value of real estate as it sways from the dominion of one nation to another with the tide of battle is one of the interesting war-time questions of appraising. A farm, a lot, a building or dock is not valueless because it is threatened with capture or demolition, although a structure, of course, has little value if and while it is within the range of present or prospective firing. An owner has no claim for compensation for damage by the firing, either of the enemy or friendly military forces; such losses lying where they fall, although governments often rebuild or restore such losses out of the indemnity money, if any is received. When buildings or other property are deliberately taken for military purposes by either friendly or hostile authorities the owner or occupant is usually given a receipt, which is the basis for the compensation claim. Whether the receipt or claim has value depends upon a variety of things. If the receipt was given by the friendly army the claim is collectable if the country has funds, provided the officer who authorized or gave the receipt acted within the bounds of his authority. If he did not then the claim is good as against such officer personally unless he is relieved of it by laws transferring the burden to the government.

In this country, in the absence of a special act of Congress on the subject, a military officer may not seize private property unless there is immediate, existing, impending and urgent reasons for seizure. The United States Supreme Court held, in the leading case of Mitchell against Colonel Harmony, which grew out of the campaign against Chihuahua in the Mexican War, that it was not sufficient to show that the officer used "honest judgment and took the property to promote the public service. He must show by proof the nature and character of the emergency." The court, by Chief Justice Tanney, cites the parallel case of Captain Gambier, who was ordered by Admiral Boscawen of the British navy to pull down a number of houses at Nova Scotia, where liquor was being sold to sailors. The owners of the houses sued Captain Gambier for the loss of their buildings, and the English courts decided that, though his act was for the good of the public service, it was an invasion of private rights without authority of law, and judgment was rendered against Captain Gambier for the value of the property destroyed.

When receipts are given by an enemy army their collection depends, so far as territory returned or relinquished is concerned, upon the terms of peace. Where the enemy buys or otherwise keeps the invaded territory such receipts are usually honored by the enemy country which issued them chiefly as evidence of their proposed good-will towards their newly adopted citizens. After our Civil War this Government sent agents through the South, locating and redeeming the receipts given by federal army officers for property taken and needed for military purposes.

In the present war large areas of farm land has been taken by the contending armies for line, feeder, support, supply, reserve and defense trenches and drill purposes, and large numbers of buildings of all kinds and docks and forests and swamps have been taken for various other military purposes. Much of the land within the area of actual fighting has been turned up to such a depth that it is unlikely that it can again be cultivated, at least not until some new method of reclaiming it has been found, or nature has again made it fit for vegetation. Some of this land is said to be so full of metal, fired into it or left on it, that it has value for salvage purposes, but a considerable portion of it will have no utility value for some time. The value of undamaged houses in towns near the front has materially changed because of the shifting of occupation and travel which will follow the end of the war. Any change in the position of the frontier line immediately changes or alters the condition of all frontier towns on both sides of the line, since it changes the means, or the location of means, of the population's livelihood.

Good sized towns in many cases have been reduced by battle until practically nothing remains of them. The lots in such towns, or rather former town sites, have value in proportion to the reasons which formerly existed for the preference of those sites for towns, and the certainty with which those preferences or others in their place will exist after the war regarded at the time of the appraisal. Not every town would be where it is or as it is if the town were entirely demolished and had to be rebuilt new, even if the source of its income and every other factor of town value remained unchanged. Another element is the complexity of re-determining property lines, many old towns having no records sufficiently detailed to be of much help.

A property is not necessarily valueless because it goes under the dominion of an enemy country. On the contrary, the loser is often so heavily penalized by indemnities that the owner sometimes profits by having his property fall into the hands of the victor who is to receive the indemnities. So strong is the force of habit and association that residents of a town curiously enough are as likely as not to continue to live in it notwithstanding many hardships and the change involved in becoming citizens of another country. Alsace and Lorraine are conspicuous in that the French nationality at heart of the inhabitants continues intense and unswervable after generations of separation, oppression and aggression.

A. W. WARNER.

THE citizens and taxpayers living on Bismarck avenue and adjacent streets, New Brighton, have sent the following petition to Borough President Calvin D. Van Name:

"We, the undersigned citizens, taxpayers and residents of Bismarck avenue and adjacent streets in the First Ward of the Borough of Richmond, New Brighton, Staten Island, as patriotic Americans, protest against the name of Bismarck being used as the name of an avenue or street in an American community.

"We therefore urge you to take immediate steps to have the name changed to Pershing avenue."

REAL ESTATE NEWS OF THE WEEK

Little Activity in Sales But Leasing Continues Good With Dearth of Available Space—Other Reports

THERE was but little doing in realty circles during the week in the way of sales, although as usual a few deals were put through. In the down town business section several sales were made of old buildings to be remodeled for business purposes by the new owners. Conspicuous in this list was the sale by Charles F. Noyes Company of the southeast corner of Broad and Front streets, known as 111 to 115 Broad street and 25 and 27 Front street, a plot comprising 5,000 square feet, which is improved with three, four and five-story loft buildings. The buyer is George Scandalis, a member of the firm of C. Platou & Company, exporters and importers. This property will be improved and occupied by the buyer.

A transaction involving properties in Brooklyn, Bronx and Manhattan was put through by Byrne & Bauman and includes apartment houses, lofts and office buildings and dwelling houses in the three boroughs. Leasing continues good and the brokers report a greater demand than there is a supply. The lease of the restaurant in the Lords Court building in Exchange Place only recently leased, to a banking firm attests the demand for office space in the financial district. There is a scarcity of apartments and many tenants were obliged to renew their leases and remain in their old apartments, even with increased rentals, because of the lack of suitable apartments, and the fact that there has been no new buildings of any account erected this year is taken as an indication that the customary migration of tenants from one apartment to another will not be of any magnitude this spring, as it has been in the past.

The same condition as to available houses and apartments that prevails in Manhattan and the Bronx prevails, as well in the other boroughs of the city. In Queens there is some little building going on, but apartments have been leased from the plans and there are no dwellings at all to be had. In Richmond, where vacant houses have been numerous in the past, there are no houses to be had and those rented recently were rented at greatly increased figures.

Reflecting the retardant effect of war conditions upon real estate transactions during the past three months are the mortgage tax receipts just announced for the last quarter by State Comptroller Travis. From January to April, $138,024.10 was paid to the State, compared with $277,161.33 for the corresponding period last year. These figures represent half the amounts collected, less the cost of collection. The law imposes a recording tax of .50 on every $100 worth of real estate mortgaged. The recording officer of the county where the property is located collects and pays over to the County Treasurer, who in turn remits half to the State, after deducting the collection expense. The State's share for the last fiscal year was $1,183,409.50, but for the three-quarters of the present year only $936,696.23 has been received.

The annual report just issued by the Bond & Mortgage Guarantee Company attests the value of mortgages on New York City real estate as safe investments. The report shows a combined capital, surplus and undivided profits of $11,458,000, which is larger than any other concern of this character in the country. In spite of the generally slowed up situation in realty, the company issued policies insuring $27,015,000 on properties valued by its appraisers at $45,930,000.

During the year the company acquired real estate amounting to $1,726,000. It sold at a net loss of $91,300, property foreclosed and valued at $1,691,000. Real estate now in possession of the company as a result of foreclosure or surrender of equities amount to $930,000 mortgaged for $406,500. 3,380 mortgages were canceled and 9,126, totaling $62,500,000 matured in the year and were extended by the holders for further indefinite periods.

LEGAL NOTES AFFECTING REALTY

Prepared by Committee on Real Estate Laws of
Real Estate Board, Samuel P. Goldman, Chairman

Action for Rent.

THE New York Court of Appeals holds, Fifth Ave. Bldg. Co. v. Kernochan, 117 N. E. 579, that eviction as a defense to a claim for rent does not depend upon a covenant for quiet enjoyment, either express or implied, but the rent is suspended because of total or partial failure of consideration. If an eviction, though but partial, is the act of the landlord, the entire rent is suspended, but if of a stranger by title paramount, the rent will be apportioned. A covenant for quiet enjoyment, either express or implied, is essential where eviction by title paramount is the subject of a claim for damages, but it is not essential where the tenant asserts a failure, either complete or partial, of the consideration for the rent. N. Y. Real Property, Laws 1896, c. 457, §216, now Consol. Laws, c. 50, §251, provides that a covenant is not implied in a conveyance of real property, whether the conveyance contains any special covenant or not, section 1 (now section 2), defines "real property" and "lands" as coextensive with "lands, tenements, and hereditaments," and does not include a chattel real. Section 265 (now section 240), provides that "conveyance" includes every writing except a will by which any estate or interest in real property is created, transferred, assigned, or surrendered, and the terms "estate" and "interest in real property" include every estate and interest, freehold or chattel, legal or equitable, present or future, vested or contingent. It is held that the prohibition of implied covenants is applicable only to conveyances of lands, and not of interest therein, or leases.

Building Restriction.

Residence property was subject to the restriction that no erection of any kind, except bay windows, verandas, porches, fences, or similar structures, should be erected on any part of the premises within 18 feet of the line of the premises. The Illinois Supreme Court holds, Wolf v. Schwill, 118 N. E. 414, that the erection of a wall upon a foundation 18 inches thick, extending 3 feet below the surface, supporting a wall 7 feet high, capped with cement blocks, and from 7½ to 8½ feet high, constructed in part of pressed brick, under a plan to convert the open space into a sunken garden, was neither a "fence or similar structure," but a violation of the restriction, which could be enjoined.

Passway an Implied Easement.

In an action in which the plaintiff claimed the right to use a passway over the defendant's land both by prescription and as an appurtenant to his land, it appeared that the passway was the only one from the plaintiff's land to the road, and had been used for many years after the common grantor of the parties conveyed land to the defendant and afterwards to the plaintiff. The Kentucky Court of Appeals holds, Skaggs v. Carr, 200 S. W. 27, that the passway was an implied easement appurtenant to the land. It was consistent with such an easement that at the request of the dependant, who desired to fence his land, the plaintiff placed bars and later a gate across the passway in the line fence. The easement could not be defeated by the defendant cultivating the way for one year or making immaterial changes in its location to suit his convenience; adverse possession for the statutory period would be necessary to extinguish it.

Specific Performance—Good Faith.

The purchasers of land who paid $100 down and agreed to pay $1,300 cash before a given date at a bank, did not appear at the bank on that date, but telephoned the bank and authorized it to draw a sight draft on them. It did not appear that the draft was to be used for the amount necessary to take up the seller's deed, nor that the proceeds were to be used for such purpose, nor that the bank was directed to use the proceeds for such purpose, or that the drawing of the draft had any connection whatever with the land transaction. The South Dakota Supreme Court holds, Keller v. Garneaux, 166 N. W. 305, that the buyers were not entitled to specific performance against the seller, who appeared with the deed ready to perform at the proper time, since a party cannot enforce specific performance of a contract unless he himself has first in good faith performed or offers to perform his part.

Broker's Commissions.

In an action for broker's commissions it appeared that in the plaintiff's office the defendant listed a house for sale, and a third party said, in the presence of both, that he could furnish a buyer if the broker would split commissions. The land was subsequently sold. The Iowa Supreme Court held, Home Securities Company v. Todd, 165 N. W. 204, that the third party was not a partner of the broker, and settlement with him was not a settlement with the broker.

Waiver of Fraud.

In an action for the balance unpaid upon a written contract for the sale of land the Iowa Supreme Court held, Scott v. Simons, 165 N. W. 161, that where the defendant entered into a written contract to buy land at $125 an acre, and later accepted a deed therefor at that price, and gave a deed of other land as part payment, he waived any right to rescission or to damages arising from fraud, which he discovered after the execution of the contract but before the exchange of deeds. The plaintiff had been the defendant's agent for the sale of land, but offered to make a trade with the defendant of some of his own land. It was held that the agency automatically ended and the relation ceased to be fiduciary, the plaintiff owing him no more duty than a total stranger.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

THE total number of sales reported and not recorded in Manhattan this week was 41 as against 39 last week and 36 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 59th street was 18 as compared with 14 last week and 13 a year ago.

The sales north of 59th street aggregated 23 as compared with 25 last week and 23 a year ago.

From the Bronx 15 sales at private contract were reported as against 7 last week and 8 a year ago.

Statistical tables, indicating the number of recorded instruments, will be found on page 587 of this issue.

Sale of Property in Three Boroughs.

One of the largest exchanges of the year was consummated on Friday of last week when Gross & Herbener, Inc., of which George Herbener is president, sold to Melville H. Bearns the two-story business building, containing stores and offices, at 3780 to 3796 Broadway, comprising the block front on the east side of Broadway, from 157th to 158th streets, the size of the plots being 200 feet on Broadway by 125 feet in 157th street by 75 feet in 158th street. In exchange the buyer gave the following parcels. The two-story taxpayer at the southwest corner of Broadway and 207th street, on plot 100x100 leased to one tenant, and known as the Arras Inn; the one-story taxpayer at the southwest corner of St. Nicholas avenue and 191st street, on a plot 100x103. This property is known as the Subway Building; 991 Third avenue, northeast corner of Fifty-ninth street, a five-story building, on plot 20.1x80, leased to one tenant; 322 Greenwich street, northwest corner of Duane street, size 20x50, a three-story building leased to one tenant; and 362 and 364 East 204th street, corner of Decatur avenue, a one-story taxpayer on plot 50x100; also the following Brooklyn properties: 211, 213 and 215 Atlantic avenue, northeast corner of Court street, three four-story buildings on plot 48.6x83; 69 Lafayette avenue, northwest corner of Elliott Place, a four-story building on plot 20x80; 577 Fifth avenue, southeast corner of Sixteenth street, a five-story building on plot 25x77; 5123 Third avenue, northeast corner of Fifty-second street, a three-story building on lot 25x100; 5502 Third avenue, southwest corner of Fifty-fifth street, a three-story building on lot 20x100; and 2957 Fulton street, a three-story building on lot 25x100. Byrne & Baumann were the brokers in the transaction.

Sale in Downtown Section.

Charles F. Noyes Company, and William A. White & Sons sold to George Scandalis for Charles Henry Phelps, administrator of the Estate of John G. Butler, 113 and 115 Broad street, including 25 and 27 Front street, a plot of about 5,000 square feet at the southeast corner of Broad and Front streets, improved with three four and five-story loft buildings. The property is valued at $100,000 and the transaction was for all cash. Mr. Scandalis is a member of the firm of C. Platou & Company, exporters and importers, who have large shipping interests and foreign connections. It is understood the property will be improved with the erection of modern loft and office buildings.

Charles F. Noyes Company has sold to Joseph F. Cullman for A. H. Mathews, representing the Manhattan Life Insurance Company, the seven-story office building 133-137 Front street, taking in the block front from Pine to Depeyster streets and covering a lot of about 5,000 sq. ft. The property was valued at $250,000 and the transaction was a cash one, no trade being involved. This is the third block front purchased by Mr. Cullman through the Charles F. Noyes Company. He has been one of the most active buyers of real estate in this neighborhood for the last three years. The building just purchased is known as the "Venezuela Building," rents for about $25,000 per annum, and is in a neighborhood that has recently become very active. It is one block from Wall street, where the Noyes Company sold a group of twelve buildings comprising the entire block front on South street from Wall to Pine, covering a plot of 22,000 sq. ft. for all cash, and more recently have leased the former Ward Line Building at Wall and Water streets to G. Amsinck & Co., and the 12-story Taber Building to the Pacific Development Co. Judge Henry W. Kennedy represented the sellers as counsel, and Goldsmith, Cohen, Cole & Weiss represented Mr. Cullman at attorneys in this transaction.

Washington Heights Sale.

QUERY DEPARTMENT

This department is intended to be of service to all interested in the real estate market, whether as broker, agent or property owner. The readers of the Record and Guide are invited to send in questions on matters pertaining to real estate, building and building management, though legal questions will not be answered in this column. Questions should be stated as fully but as briefly as possible so as to allow intelligent answers. Arrangements have been made through which the questions will be answered by a Committee of the Real Estate Board, including the following:

E. A. Tredwell, real estate broker.
Frederick D. Kalley, real estate broker.
Robert R. Rainey, real estate broker.
B. E. Martin.
William Douglas Kilpatrick, builder.
H. H. Murdock, architect.

Question No. 321.—Storm water flowing over a retaining wall to a court carries with it sand and sediment, stopping up court drain. Can property owner from whose land water flows be compelled to put in a ditch or gutter to carry water away to side along property line?

J. B.

Answer. No. 321.—Property owner can be compelled to take necessary measures to prevent the recurrence of matter above complained of, and may be held for damages, if any, for failure to do so, but he should be first notified in writing of the fact as his responsibility may turn upon the question of his knowledge of the facts.

What Bait Do You Use?

All builders of modern apartments and residences wire for electric light; but he who sells or rents first usually has some especially attractive feature to offer.

Why not make this feature an electrical one? An Electric Washing Machine or Vacuum Cleaner for the use of each tenant are suggestions.

Let us tell you of their many advantages.

Bankers Lease in Exchange Place.

E. H. Ludlow & Company and Pease & Elliman leased the ground floor space on the Exchange Place side of the Lord's Court building, occupied by the Lord's Court Restaurant, which restaurant was taken over a few months ago by Alfred C. Bunn. Mr. Bunn has disposed of the lease at a price approximating $100,000 to N. L. Carpenter & Company, bankers, who occupy ground floor offices in the Corn Exchange Bank building at William and Beaver streets. The transaction furnishes an example of the great demand for space in the financial district, and especially in the blocks adjacent to the junction of Beaver and William streets, where the marine insurance interests have centered. An extended lease has been given by the Lord's Court Building Company to Carpenter & Company at a rental aggregating about $250,000. The Corn Exchange Bank requires the space now occupied by Carpenter & Company, to extend their banking room, forcing the latter firm to seek quarters elsewhere.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS, MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES

RENEWED activity in private building construction has strongly marked the past week and there are prospects indicating that for the coming month or so at least, a considerable number of new structural projects will be brought out. Whether the working conditions at that time will permit the starting of these operations remains to be seen, but it is a hopeful sign at this time that there is a will to build notwithstanding the numerous deterrents to real progress.

Contracts for private building projects awarded this week represent a large total expenditure and the group placed under contract includes some structures of more than slight importance. The George A. Fuller Co. obtained a contract to build the twelve-story fireproof garage in 44th street for the Commodore-Biltmore Co., to cost approximately $400,000. The Hennebique Construction Co. will build the seven-story reinforced concrete storage warehouse in Jersey City for the Union Terminal Cold Storage Co. Marc Eidlitz & Son obtained a general contract for extensive alterations to the residence, at 30 East 36th street, for Junius S. Morgan, at a cost exceeding $100,000. Edward Corning & Co. will build the $250,000 building for the colored branch of the Y. M. C. A. in West 135th street. De Riso Brothers have the contract for the construction of the Elks' Clubhouse in Jersey City to cost more than $100,000. A number of other contracts of lesser importance have been let recently and quite a large group of new structures are being planned by prominent architects in the city. The majority of these will soon be presented for bids.

New large Government projects continue to figure prominently among the daily reports of projected construction work. The Federal program of military construction is steadily expanding and increasing in importance and is by long odds the most prominent factor in the present building situation, nationally as well as locally. The Metropolitan district has been especially benefitted by projects of this character which have been of material assistance in maintaining the stability of the building industry during the period when little building of a private nature was in progress.

The labor situation is generally reported as being satisfactory. The strike of the plasterers and their laborers is still in force, but this has not generally affected the building situation. Although building operations are relatively light there is no great number of building mechanics idle about the city. The numerous large Federal operations within close proximity to Greater New York, notably those at Colonia, N. J.; Pelham Bay, N. Y.; Mineola, L. I.; Garden City, L. I., and other locations nearby, and also the large volume of similar construction in progress within the city limits, have provided employment for many thousands of building mechanics and laborers that might have been idle otherwise. Then again industries engaged in the manufacture of munitions and supplies under Government contracts have been at a loss for help and these firms have absorbed a considerable percentage of building labor not otherwise engaged.

The markets for building materials and supplies are generally quiet, and while there is a fair volume of current business, the orders for the greater part are coming from contractors who have Government buildings under way. Orders for private building operations are light, but according to recent inquiries the market should soon pick up and remain active for the balance of the season. Prices are steady and but few fluctuations of any account have been reported.

Common Brick.—Although there is no material improvement in the Hudson River brick market so far as current demand is concerned affairs seem to be shaping up in a satisfactory manner and the dealers anticipate better times ahead. Prices are firm at $9 to $9.50 a thousand, and this level is likely to maintain for some time to come. The arrivals of the week have been up to the average for the past month and the sales likewise. There are rumors of important requisitions of common brick for Government building operations within the local district, but definite details of these operations are lacking at this time and dealers are unwilling to commit themselves as to the source of inquiry. The demand from private building sources is light but the inquiries are improving. The manufacturing situation is very quiet. Up to the present time but three or four of the Hudson River brickmaking plants have started operations this season and these are running at an extremely low rate of production. The balance of the plants have practically decided to hold off for a greatly increased demand for their product or better labor and fuel conditions. The plants that are working only mold brick in such quantity as they have fuel at hand to burn. It is the general impression that the total production of common brick in the Hudson Valley for the current season will be less than fifteen per cent. of the output of a normal year. The Raritan situation is practically unchanged. Although some of the plants are working, the production is small in comparison to former years, and then only rail shipments to New Jersey points are being made. No quotations for barge shipments are being made and Raritan brick is out of the market as far as New York is concerned.

SUMMARY.—Transactions in the North River brick market for the week ending Friday, May 3, 1918. Condition of market: Demand improved; prices unchanged. Quotations: Hudson Rivers, $9.00 to $9.50 a thousand, to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 18; sales, 27. Distribution: Manhattan, 6; Brooklyn, 7; Bronx, 2; New Jersey points, 8; Astoria, 2; outside, 2.

Structural Steel.—As a result of the request of E. H. Gary, president of the American Iron & Steel Institute, the steel mills have almost unanimously pledged themselves to concentrate on war work and to sacrifice, if necessary, purely commercial orders. The crisis is expected to be over, however, within two or three months at most, and then production for general consumption may be resumed. Although there has been some improvement in the demand for fabricated material to be used in private construction the requirements from Federal sources are paramount and dominate the market. Each day brings additional building operations into the military construction program and increases the demand for steel for war requirements. The work of the Quartermaster Department alone for the large warehouses scheduled for erection at a number of coast localities will require immense tonnages. The requirements for the buildings to be erected at the Bush Terminal, in Brooklyn, will be in the neighborhood of 15,000 tons of structural shapes, in addition to the steel reinforcement, as these structures are to be built largely of reinforced concrete. During the past week there have been a number of important commitments for military building operations, but these have been for points distant from this city. Mill shipments of fabricated material continue to be quoted at the Federal control figure.

Window Glass.—Trade in this line is exceedingly light and the prospects for improvement are not bright. Manufacturers are contemplating a further increase in prices to offset the increased production and boxing costs. The output for this season will be very small in comparison to former years and it is estimated that at the present time only about one-quarter of the plants are in operation. Many plants that have been running at reduced output have shut down owing to the constantly advancing cost of raw materials and the transportation difficulties. Up to the present writing there has been no change in the schedule of manufacturers' discounts. At the conference of the Glass Manufacturers' Association held at Atlantic City, N. J., this week a number of questions affecting the glass making industry were considered and plans were discussed to provide for any emergency that might occur.

Lumber.—The local market for lumber products has been quiet during the week and although there is an increasing demand for materials to be used in the construction of frame buildings in the suburbs, the volume of business is not up to the anticipations of the dealers. Government demands continue heavy and there is likely to be a continuation of this type of activity for the balance of the year at least. Prices are generally firm and in certain lines important advances have been announced. These have been caused by the short stocks in the hands of the local merchants and the difficulties experienced in replenishing supplies. The transportation situation is still unsatisfactory, although some improvement is noticed. There is a shortage of cars at shipping points and considerable yard congestion locally.

Lime.—The market for this material is dull and although prominent manufacturers report a fairly active demand on contracts, the requirements for building purposes are light and likely to continue so for a long time to come. The lime producers are devoting the major part of their energies to the market for chemical and agricultural lime, the demand for these grades being exceptionally heavy. Building lime prices are firm and, according to recent advice, not likely to be revised for a while.

Cast Iron Pipe.—Notwithstanding the fact that the Government is still in the market for cast iron pipe for use in extensions to cantonments, training stations and other projects of a similar nature, this business only represents about 10 per cent. of the orders now being placed. Municipalities have come into the market for large tonnages to be used for public improvements and private buying is fair. Prices are unchanged from the Government control figure: 6 in., 8 in. and heavier, $55.35, and 4 in. $58.35, New York.

Wire Products.—Government requirements continue to dominate the market for these products and the mills are taxed with orders both for nails and barbed wire. Although some large orders were placed lately for these materials for military purposes there are others of equal volume to be distributed very soon. Private demand is fairly active and the producers are generally sold up for months in advance with prices firm.

Linseed Oil.—There is a scarcity of this product and deliveries from crushers are anything but prompt. The demand for oil has not increased but the lack of seed has curtailed production to an alarming degree. The crushers are unwilling to book orders for early or future delivery owing to the uncertainty of seed arrivals from Argentine.

Building Statistics First Quarter, 1918.

Comparative statistics of building and engineering operations in Ned York State and Northern New Jersey, from January 1 to May 1, 1918, show that contracts for new work to the value of $89,988,000 were placed during the period, according to the F. W. Dodge Co. This shows a slight falling off from the figures for the same period one year ago, when the contracts awarded amounted to $95,475,000.

During April, 1918, the total number of buildings for which contracts were awarded or work actually started in the New York territory were 1,281, costing approximately $42,721,000. Government buildings figured prominently in the contracts of the past month, yet the showing of private work is considerably better than was anticipated.

Paving Contracts Awarded.

Bids for granite block and sheet asphalt paving, and for sewer construction in the Borough of Manhattan were opened by Borough President Dowling on April 17 and 19. There were forty-four bidders for eleven contracts. The lowest bids submitted and contracts awarded were as follows:

Sheet Asphalt—21st street from 8th to 10th avenue, Cleveland Trinidad Paving Company, $27,998; 33rd street, 7th to 8th avenue, Cleveland Trinidad Paving Co., $14,175.80; 41st street, 8th to 11 avenue, Davney Asphalt Company, Inc., $41,559; 43d street, 8th to 9th avenue, Sicilian Asphalt Paving Co., $14,368.50; Horatio street, W. 4th to Hudson street, Sicilian Asphalt Paving Co., $6,279.50; 49th street, 9th to 10th avenue, Cleveland Trinidad Paving Co., $14,344.30.

Granite Block—2 Warren street, Broadway to Church street, Astoria Contracting Co., $12,396.33; 4 Trinity place and Church street, Morris to Vesey street, Astoria Contracting Co., $78,072.53; 21st street, 10th to 11th avenue, Casper Helbock, $20,042.50.

Plans for Park Avenue Apartment.

J. E. R. Carpenter, architect, 681 Fifth avenue, has practically completed the plans for the twelve-story apartment house to be erected at the southwest corner of Park avenue and 82d street for the 950 Park Avenue Corporation, owner and builder. This structure will occupy a plot 100x100 feet and will be similar in construction and appointments to that group of handsome structures erected on Park avenue within the past three years. Thomas J. Bird, 30 East 42d street, is the engineer for structural steel. This project will cost in the neighborhood of $500,000. The architect is ready for estimates on separate contracts and it is expected that active construction will shortly be started.

George A. Fuller Co. Obtains Contract.

A general contract has been let to the George A. Fuller Co., 175 Fifth avenue, for the construction of a twelve-story brick, steel and reinforced concrete garage, 150x200 feet, at 323 to 333 West 44th street, running through to 322 to 334 West 45th street. This building is for the Commodore-Biltmore Co., Inc., John McE. Bowman, president, and will be used to house the cars used by the chain of large hotels under the control of Mr. Bowman. The plans for this project were prepared by Warren & Wetmore, architects, 16 East 47th street. The cost will be approximately $400,000.

New Building for Hospital.

Crow, Lewis & Wickenhoefer, architects, 200 Fifth avenue, Manhattan, have completed the plans and specifications for the three-story brick hospital building to be located in the north side of Schermerhorn street, 222 feet east of Court street, for the Brooklyn Eye & Ear Hospital. This structure will have ground dimensions of 35x109 feet and will be fireproof throughout. The cost is estimated to be in the neighborhood of $200,000. According to the present plans estimates upon construction will be called for about May 15.

Projected Brooklyn Apartment.

Plans have been completed by Slee & Bryson, architects, 154 Montague street, for a four-story brick multi-family dwelling, to be erected on the south side of Eastern Parkway, 146 feet west of Franklin avenue, Brooklyn, for the Hampton Building Co., 350 Fulton street, Brooklyn, owner and builder. This building will occupy a plot approximately 80x109 feet and will provide accommodations for a total of thirty-eight families in suites of three, four and five rooms, with baths. The cost of construction will be in the neighborhood of $100,000.

Contract for Storage Building.

The Hennebique Construction Co., 1170 Broadway, Manhattan, has obtained the general contract for the erection of the seven-story reinforced concrete cold storage building at 145 to 147 13th street, Jersey City, N. J., from plans by J. G. Glover, architect and engineer, 222 Navy street, Brooklyn. This building will have ground dimensions of 100 x100 feet and will be owned and occupied by the Union Terminal Cold Storage Co., 12th and Henderson streets, Jersey City. Work will be started immediately.

Debt Limit Dooms Municipal Ownership

Senator Elon R. Brown Makes Public Figures Showing Actual Financial Condition of Principal Cities of New York State

(Special to the Record and Guide.)

ALBANY, May 8.—As a basis for the commencement of work by the Argetsinger Municipal Ownership Investigating Commission, which is to inquire into the whole question of municipal ownership and report to the next Legislature, Senator Elon R. Brown, president pro tem of the Senate, has turned over to the Commission an analysis of the financial conditions of the cities of the State. This analysis was prepared as a result of the demands of New York City and several up-state legislators for the enactment of municipal ownership laws at the last session of the Legislature. It is an effective reply to these demands, presenting the cold figures which in practically every instance indicate the absolute futility of municipalities attempting to take over public utilities.

The potential margin of debt-incurring capacity of New York City, according to this tabulation, which has just been made public, is $102,958,766; of Buffalo, $29,793,442; of Niagara Falls, $6,014,402; of Schenectady, $5,753,870; of Troy $3,441,583.

The cities whose debt incurring capacity is given below are centers where municipal ownership has become a matter of every-day agitation, communities represented by mayors and legislators who favored on the floor of the Legislature the adoption of a state-wide municipal ownership bill.

It has not been announced as yet when the Legislative Commission will formally commence its hearings. The belief is that the preliminary work will keep the experts busy until the summer months, at which time the Commission will be ready, the preliminaries having been disposed of, to inquire directly into the feasibility of the municipal ownership schemes laid before the Legislature by Senator Wagner of New York City and Senator Thompson of the Niagara-Orleans district.

The Brown analysis is here given in full:

Mayor's Tax Committee Files Its Report

Nathan Hirsch, Chairman, Sends Proposals to Mayor Hylan for Providing Additional Revenue for the City

ELEVEN important recommendations designed to alleviate the present burden on real estate through the provision of additional sources of revenue and the institution of far-reaching reforms in the administration of the city government have been prepared by the Sub-Committee on Additional Sources of Revenue of the Mayor's Committee on Taxation and the Investigation of Mortgage Loans, Nathan Hirsch, Chairman.

These recommendations were decided upon as the result of a careful study of and were adopted at a recent meeting held at the call of Bryan L. Kennelly, who is Chairman of the Sub-Committee. The other members include Charles Partridge, William C. Bergen, George Adrian and William Randolph Hearst.

The proposed reforms were submitted to the Mayor purely as recommendations, with the suggestion that public hearings be held for general discussion on each specific recommendation at the earliest possible time.

The following recommendations were submitted to the Mayor:

1. That immediate steps be taken to abolish the present Court House Board; that instead of the erection of a Court House on the expensive site which has been purchased, two stories be added to the present Court House in City Hall Park, the interior modernized and the exterior of the building sandblasted, and a new building be erected on the site of the present old brown stone structure used by the City Court to conform architecturally with the present Court House.

2. That all unused property of the city be sold, if possible; if this is not possible at this time, that the ground be rented under long-term leases on a basis whereby taxes are to be paid by the lessee in addition to the rental. The new Court House site would be available for this purpose, inasmuch as there is no sales market for the property at the present time. This land should be rented on ten or twenty-one-year lease terms, with the privilege extended to the tenant of buying the property at a stipulated price at any time during the term.

3. That all professional and business men gaining their livelihood in New York City should be licensed and a moderate yearly license fee imposed.

4. That all City Dock rentals be investigated by a special Committee appointed by the Mayor and that all leases or rights of the city with regard to water front privileges be sold at public auction or through sealed bids.

5. That there be a consolidation of all City Departments effecting real estate; that the Fire Prevention and Tenement House Departments be merged with the Building Department, the Committee feeling that under present conditions the Building Department is capable of attending to all the work now being done by the Fire Prevention and Tenement House Department.

6. That the Building Department and Architectural Staff of the Board of Education be transferred to the supervision of the Building Department, provision being made; however, for the appointment of an inspector representing the Board of Education to see that all contracts and plans are properly carried out.

7. That push carts be removed from the streets of New York generally or that they be grouped in certain localities so as not to interfere with the rentability of stores in the neighborhoods where they have been congregating.

8. That as a substitute for a personal tax which heretofore has not been satisfactorily collected the following income tax be imposed:

One-fourth of one per cent. on incomes of married persons, amounting to $1,200 or more.

One-half of one per cent. on incomes of unmarried persons, amounting to $1,200 or more.

One per cent. on incomes of persons, amounting to $10,000 or more.

Two per cent. on incomes of persons, amounting to $20,000 or more.

9. That a yearly license fee be collected on all horse and motor trucks and automobiles, the amount of fees to be determined by the weight of these vehicles.

10. That all city employees be residents of the City of New York.

11. That all church properties and real estate belonging to charitable institutions not used by them for church charitable purposes be liable for taxation.

Concrete results of the campaign that the Mayor's Committee on Taxation and the Investigation of Mortgage Loans has been carrying on in the interests of property owners, threatened with the calling of loans, are being reported by Nathan Hirsch, the Chairman, who stated yesterday that the efforts of the Committee along this line have been attended with success.

Mr. Hirsch made public the following letter from Chamberlain Alfred J. Johnson, as evidence of the changed feeling which is becoming apparent in the relations between lender and owner, as far as city and state-owned mortgages are concerned:

May 2, 1918.

Mr. Nathan Hirsch, Chairman,
Mayor's Committee on Taxation,
Municipal Building.

My dear Mr. Hirsch:

About two weeks ago you requested me to discontinue the action to foreclose the mortgage held by the Chamberlain as Trustee of Court & Trust Funds, on property located at ———, owned by ———, assigning as a reason therefor that as Chairman of the Mayor's Committee on Taxation, you had occasion from time to time officially to request mortgagees to refrain from foreclosing mortgages during the period of the war or at any rate until such time as money became more plentiful.

I directed the Deputy Chamberlain to take up the question of discontinuing this particular action with Mr. Stevens, a representative of the State Comptroller's office. As a result thereof the Deputy Chamberlain informed me that Mr. Stevens is inclined to your way of thinking.

I have given this matter serious consideration and have decided to discontinue the action, as you requested.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) A. J. JOHNSON, Chamberlain.

The Mayor's Committee on Taxation and the Investigation of Mortgage Loans was appointed early in Mayor Hylan's administration and the report now filed is the result of several months' investigations.

Torrens Title Bill Signed by Governor Whitman

Files Opinion Declaring That Sufficient Notice and Hearing Are Provided to Constitute Due Process of Law

(Special to the Record and Guide.)

ALBANY, May 9.—Governor Whitman has signed the Youker bill amending the Real Property Law in relation to the registration of titles to real property under the Torrens Law. In a memorandum accompanying his approval of the measure the Governor says:

"At a hearing which I held upon this bill, two of the principal arguments advanced against the bill were, first, that certain of its features were unconstitutional; and, second, that the official examiners of title were to be appointed by the registrars or county clerks, instead of by order of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court:

"I have referred the bill to the Attorney General for his opinion on the constitutional questions, and he advises me:

"Altogether in my opinion there is sufficient notice and hearing provided by the bill to constitute due process of law, at least the court and not myself where a minimum of notice is being approached should take the burden of deciding just the length of notice and nature of notice which divides adequate and reasonable notice from inadequate notice."

"In regard to the second objection: The official examiners of title are to be appointed by the registrars or county clerks after they have been admitted as such according to the rules prescribed by the Court of Appeals; and if the Court of Appeals deems it advisable, it can require that the official examiners be appointed after obtaining an order from the Appellate Division showing their qualifications.

"The appointment of official examiners by the registrars or county clerks for the purpose of having a disinterested official examiner of titles, and not one retained by one of the parties.

"It is urged by those favoring the bill that the present system of registering land titles is cumbersome, and although this bill may contain some objectionable features, it will, if it is held constitutional by the Court of Appeals, give great relief to the owners of real estate.

"For these reasons the bill is approved.

"(Signed) CHARLES S. WHITMAN."

Explaining the provisions of the bill, Assemblyman Youker said:

"The passage of this bill is the consummation of a fight started four years ago by John J. Hopper, then Register of New York County, to secure a workable Torrens law. It is a distinct victory, for the bill gives New York State a better procedure for the registration of titles than any other State has. The procedure is modeled after the Massachusetts law, which was also the model for the U. S. Government acts.

"These amendments were passed over the united and persistent opposition of all the title companies of New York City, who succeeded in eliminating from the bill only one proposed amendment to the present law. This had to do with limiting the liability of the county with respect to the assurance fund. This is not essential to the success of the law. In all other jurisdictions the assurance fund has been more than ample. It has been a distinct asset to the community. The average payments from the fund has been less than one per cent. of the accumulations.

"The only purpose of the assurance fund is to protect unknown parties who might have some interest. The possibility of such claimants is extremely remote. The owner in his premium payment contributes to take care of any such claims.

"The owner is not interested in the fund because the Supreme Court by a judgment of the court grants him a certificate of title which no one can attach. There is no going back of the owner's certificate or title. This is the great advantage of a title registration over title company insurance.

"Under the bill as passed the initial registration can be had within thirty days, the ordinary time required for closing a title, whereas formerly it took three months or more.

"The official fees for the first registration will be about one-half the present cost of a title insurance policy. Subsequent transfers will cost only three dollars each, about what it costs to record a deed, while with a title company a property owner has to pay half rates over and over again whenever a new policy is issued.

"The Burlingame-Youker bill was introduced at the request of the Torrens Title League of the State. This league has a membership of eight hundred active property owners. Its officers are: J. Clarence Davies of Bronx County, President; John J. Hopper of New York County, Treasurer, and Walter Fairchild of New York County, Secretary and Counsel.

"The Registers and County Clerks of New York who were sponsors of the Sheridan-Coles bill are prepared to cooperate in the registering of titles as soon as the bill is signed by the Governor.

"This law will enable property owners in New York City to free themselves from the grip of the title companies, who will doubtless continue their opposition by attempting to defeat its use. The registering of titles is not only a public function, but also is now made practical. Every property owner will find it to his immediate advantage to avail himself of the benefits of this law."

Register James A. Donegan, who, in conjunction with the other recording officers of the counties in the City of New York, has urged the passage of the Youker bill, amending the land title registration of "Torrens" law, announces that his office is equipped for the transaction of business under the amended act, which has just been signed by Governor Whitman. Under the new law the registration of land titles can be made at moderate expense and in a short period of time, unless there is contested title.

In an ordinary case, there is no considerable expenditure necessary for the services of a privately employed attorney, who has only to prepare the initial petition to the court and attend to the formal entry of the order of registration. The official fees for the registration of a $10,000 property, including the examination of title, the publication of notice, and the payment of insurance might not exceed $60, unless there are minors interested, when the cost may be $15 greater, or unless additional publication is required by the court.

Register Donegan hopes for a large increase in the number of applications for title registration under the new law.

Trustees May Invest Funds in First Mortgages

Governor Whitman Signs New Law Legalizing Investment in Certificates When They Cover Unencumbered Real

(Special to the Record and Guide.)

ALBANY, May 9.—The Gilchrist bill providing that trust funds may be invested in parts of mortgages held by trust companies and title guaranty corporations was approved by Governor Whitman. The purpose of the bill is explained in a memorandum filed with the Governor's approval of the bill. The memorandum follows:

"This bill amends Section 111 of the Decedent Estate Law and Section 21 of the Personal Property Law, the amendment to each act being identical.

"The sections amended provide for the investments which may be made by trustees and other fiduciaries. The amendment to each section is similar in form.

"The amendment provides that, in addition to the investments now authorized for fiduciaries, they may invest in shares or parts of bonds and mortgages which themselves are authorized investments for trustees, and that the shares in which such investments are made shall not be subordinate to any other shares, and shall not be subject to any prior interest therein. It is further provided that the bond and mortgage and the insurance policies, guaranties of payment and other instruments and evidences of title relating thereto, shall be held for the benefit of the persons interested in the security, by a trust company or title guaranty corporation organized under the laws of this State.

"Under the terms of this bill, it is required that the fiduciary who invests in these securities, receive the legal title to his part of the mortgage, and no trust or other interest can intervene between the legal title of the investor and the ownership of the security. It follows, therefore, that the person investing, under the terms of this bill, having legal title to his part of the security, can enforce it substantially as if he were owner of the entire security. If there be default, he can sue for foreclosure without the intervention of a trustee; he can invite the holders of the other interests to become co-plaintiffs with him; if they do not join him as plaintiffs he can, under the provisions of Section 448 of the Code of Civil Procedure, make them defendants; or, if they are numerous, under the same section of the code he can sue in his own name in his own behalf and of all others similarly situated. Thus, the fiduciary who invests in this security is not impeded in enforcing it. If, upon a sale under foreclosure, the property be bought in by the plaintiff or any of the holders of the coordinate interests, they must, as matter of law, hold the property, not only for their own benefit, but also for the benefit of the other coordinate interests.

"The experience of the title insurance companies and mortgage guaranty companies is that trustees have sought this form of investment in mortgages. It frequently happens that trust funds are not large enough to take an entire mortgage on large units, which are the safest because they affect the most modern buildings and the best constructed buildings.

"At the same time, if trustees could make these investments, large sums of money would be available for mortgage investments which now are not so available. This would be very desirable.

"For the above reasons, the bill is approved.

"(Signed) CHARLES S. WHITMAN."

In the present condition of the investment market it has become difficult to finance the larger real estate operations because the number of investors and institutions able or willing to make large loans is very limited. During the continuance of the war and while Government requirements are so great it will become increasingly difficult to place large real estate mortgages.

The enactment of this new law creates the opportunity of dividing such mortgages into parts or shares that are legal investments for trust funds, thus considerably broadening the market for such mortgage certificates. Trust funds may now be invested promptly in guaranteed mortgage certificates in any amount without the usual delays and loss of interest incident to finding single mortgages for funds awaiting investment.

Several of the title and mortgage companies of this city have already introduced mortgage certificates with their guarantee of the payment of principal and interest, so that they are well known to the investment public. The New York Title and Mortgage Company is issuing a pamphlet giving full text of this new law.

New Liberty Bonds Sold on Stock Exchange.

THE first sale of the new 4¼ per cent. bonds of the Third Liberty Loan on the New York Stock Exchange yesterday morning was at a price nearly a point below par. About fifteen minutes after the opening, the first sales appeared on the ticker, $307,000 bonds at 99.10, and $100,000 at the same price. The bonds were admitted to the list yesterday after payment by the banks of the 5 per cent. initial instalment. Later they sold at 98.50.

By midday, the price had fallen to 98½, on transactions of nearly $3,000,000. The decline continued in the later trading, falling to 98.40.

The Stock Exchange Committee on Securities has ruled that the bonds may be dealt in only "cash or regular way," that is, they must be paid for and delivered the same day or on the following day. All purchasers are instructed to demand delivery of the bonds, and to report to the Exchange any failure of a broker or brokerage house to make delivery.

This was the first time that an initial sale of war loan bonds on the Exchange had been below par, although the first loan, on the first day of trading last June, sold as low as 99.96. On that occasion the bonds were sold "when issued," which meant that the seller was not obliged to make immediate delivery, but might wait until he had received his bond from the Government. The Second Liberty Loan did not go below par on the first day of trading, which was October 29, 1917. On November 10 the bonds sold at 99.98.

With delivery required not later than the day following the sale, present dealings in the Third Loan are restricted to the bonds actually bought for cash and received by the purchaser over the counter during the campaign. Only about $135,000,000 of the bonds were sold in the New York district in this way during the campaign.

Conference of Transfer Tax Attorneys.

WILLIAM A. McLOUGHLIN, Deputy Collector of Revenue at Washington, opened the yesterday's session of the conference of transfer tax attorneys and appraisers, in the Woolworth Building, with a paper on the "Federal Inheritance Tax." He said that under the latest law the net estate of all residents and non-residents in the United States was subject to this tax. The law varied from those of the several States in that it had a grading scale running from 2 per cent. on an estate of $50,000 to 20 per cent. on an estate of $5,000,000 or more.

Charles L. Burrill, State Treasurer of Massachusetts, made an address on the general income tax in that State, which imposes a tax on the net income of firms and corporations. He said that last year the State had received $11,750,000 from that source. One good effect of the law was to uncover tangible assets that heretofore had escaped taxation. He said that it also reduced the rate on real estate.

Jacob A. Cantor, president of the Department of Taxes and Assessments of this city, spoke on "Taxation."

Fine Hotel Structure to Replace Old Murray Hill

New Project Sequel of the Merger of Bowman and Bates Interests —Great Addition to the Grand Central Zone.

NEW YORK is soon to have another hotel which, in architectural importance, in the number of rooms and in the magnificence and comfort of its appointments, will make it one of the greatest and probably the leading structure of this character in the world.

This is the most interesting phase of the merger of large hotel interests announced early this week. The projected hotel will replace the Murray Hill Hotel, Park avenue and 40th street. The merger brought into combination the interests of John McE. Bowman and B. L. M. Bates, and will place under one management the Biltmore, Manhattan and Commodore, the latter now under construction, and the Belmont and Murray Hill.

The hotel building, now scheduled to be erected on the site of the present Murray Hill, will overtop all other buildings in the Grand Central Terminal zone, and will be the second tallest building in the city, the Woolworth Building being the only higher tower.

According to the proposed plans the new Murray Hill Hotel will be thirty-two stories in height, and the main portion will be surmounted by a beautiful tower, topped by a temple that will be used as an observatory. This building will be architecturally one of the most striking of the many beautiful structures in this city and will be a distinctive and compelling note in the sky-line.

There are to be five floors below the street grade, which will connect with corresponding floor levels in the Belmont. Central kitchens, lighting, heating laundry and ice-making and refrigerating plants are to be established. Subways will connect the new hotel with the Belmont, Biltmore, Manhattan and Commodore hotels and the Grand Central Terminal.

The main structure above the fourth floor will be in the form of an "H," and the tower will rise from the shoulder of the "H." One of the special features is the size of the rooms, which will be extremely large for a project of this nature. A large proportion of the rooms will have a southern exposure, more than eight hundred windows facing in this direction. Every room in the building will be an outside one and each will have a private bath. Restaurants will be located on the ground and on the top floors. Plans for an extensive roof garden are being made. The proposed ballroom will be second in size to that planned for the Hotel Commodore, which will be the largest hotel ballroom in the world.

The tower will be used to provide accommodations for a number of prominent New York clubs, which will be in a position to enjoy all the privileges and luxuries of hotel living without the necessity of maintaining costly separate establishments.

Included in this great project will be all of the numerous features to be found in modern, first-class hostelry and also a number of specially attractive ones that will be unique to this building.

The preliminary sketches only have been made for this project and it will likely be some time before the final working plans and specifications will be developed. According to the generally upset building situation, the difficulty of obtaining needed structural steel and other building commodities, and the Federal disposition to curtail non-essential building operations during the war, the time for starting construction is indefinite.

The name of the architect and further details of his operation will be announced later.

MAGNIFICENT HOSTELRY TO REPLACE MURRAY HILL HOTEL IN TERMINAL ZONE.

Realty Board's Golf Tournament Next Thursday

Spring Handicap to Be Played at the Greenwich Country Club—
Many Entries and Prospects Are for Spirited Contests

THE Spring Golf Tournament of the Real Estate Board of New York will be held at the Greenwich Country Club, Greenwich, Conn., on Thursday, May 16. Besides the usual prizes offered, there will be a "Guest Special."

At present there are 70 entries, and the prospects are that the entries will reach 100. The players will be divided into three classes and prizes will be awarded as follows:

The President's Cup is for the lowest net score for 18 holes, all classes competing, and must be won twice. Presented by Laurence McGuire:

Class A—Best gross, 18 holes; best net, 18 holes; best gross selected, 36 holes; best net selected, 36 holes.

A special prize presented by A. B. Ashforth for the best 36 holes net. Must be won twice:

Class B—Best gross, 18 holes; best net, 18 holes; best gross selected, 36 holes; best net selected, 36 holes.

A special prize presented by Harold C. Richard for the best 36 holes net. Must be won twice:

Class C—Best gross, 18 holes; best net, 18 holes; best gross selected, 36 holes; best net selected, 36 holes.

Edward D. MacMannus Memorial Cup for the best 36 holes net. Must be won twice. Presented by Mrs. Edward D. MacMannus.

All 18-hole prizes will be based on the first round played, so that the morning score of those playing both morning and afternoon will be the one considered, and anyone playing during the afternoon only, may compete for any of the 18-hole prizes in various classes.

In selected score competition, one-half of handicap will be used; all other competitions full handicap. Only one prize will be awarded to any one person. The charge, including greens fee and lunch, will be $5. Luncheon will be served from 11:30 A. M. to 2:30 P. M. It is requested that entries be made promptly, as there are many arrangements which it is necessary to make, including the arrangements for caddies, lunch, etc.

Should there be any surplus after meeting expenses of the Tournament it will be turned over to some War Charity to be selected by the Board of Governors. An endeavor will be made to prevent congestion by starting certain players at the first tee and others at the tenth tee. Play will start at 9 A. M. Players who wish to play two rounds are advised to take 8 A. M. Express.

The Golf Committee is as follows: Richard Collins, Chairman; John M. Stoddard, Edwin E. Zittel, John F. O'Reilly, H. C. Richard, Edgar A. Levy, William L. DeBost, John H. Hallock.

The entries are: Laurence McGuire, H. J. Sachs, J. C. Davies, C. G. Moses, Eugene Moses, G. Kuehne, G. R. Davis, R. Marston, R. Collins, F. H. Birch, W. P. Belknap, Percy R. Iseman, H. G. Streat, R. C. Faber, E. Sniffin, William L. DeBost, F. R. Wood, D. G. Scott, J. M. Stoddard, George F. Handel, A. S. Ridley, Edwin Goodman, W. H. Class, J. S. deSelding, Edward Wise, David Bandler, F. M. Zittel, E. E. Zittel, John Palmer, A. B. Ashforth, Leo M. Klein, Samuel Jackson, Gustav Hafner, Leo Steinfeld, F. S. Bancroft, Morgan R. Howe, Randal H. MacDonald, Major A. White, William H. Winters, F. G. Hobbs, J. W. Ahern, O. A. Woodruff, Edgar A. Levy, John W. O'Connor, F. F. Turrell, J. W. Page, William H. Quinlan, H. A. Frey, Alfred E. Taylor, Argule R. Parsons, J. Irving Walsh, W. W. Crabb, M. Rock, C. Kelsey, W. W. Shackford, John H. Hallock, F. B. Small, William C. Lester.

Urges Uniform Fire Protective Measures

National Association Adopts Suggestions for Laws and Regulations for the Saving of Life and Property

THE National Fire Protection Association, at its annual meeting, held in Chicago this week, called attention to the unusual hazards to life and property created throughout America by the world war. These hazards demand the utmost vigilance and initiative not only from those in authority, but from the private citizen as well. Every individual should consider himself a fire warden of the nation at this critical time.

In its warfare against the needless sacrifice of human lives and property by fire the association advocated the following measures:

1. The adoption by municipalities of the Standard Building Code of the National Board of Fire Underwriters to the end that fire-resistive building construction may be encouraged, the use of inflammable roof coverings prohibited, adequate exit facilities from buildings assured, and interiors so designed and fire-stopped as to make easy the extinguishment of fires therein.

2. The adoption by all states of minimum building requirements for the protection of state and county hospitals, schools, asylums and similar institutions outside city limits and of small communities in which the establishment and enforcement of a building code is impracticable.

3. The enactment by each state of the fire marshal law, advocated by the Fire Marshals' Association of North America, to the end that official investigation may be made of the causes of all fires, preventable fires may be eliminated by public education and the crime of arson stamped out.

4. The adoption of the association's suggested ordinance providing for the systematic inspection of all buildings by city fire marshals or local firemen to insure the vigorous enforcement of rules for cleanliness, good housekeeping and the maintenance of safe and unobstructed exits, fire-fighting apparatus and other protective devices.

5. The enactment of ordinances similar to that of Cleveland, Ohio, fixing the cost of extinguishing preventable fires upon citizens disregarding fire prevention orders, and a more general legal recognition of the common law principle of personal liability for damage resulting from fires due to carelessness or neglect.

6. The wider general use of the automatic sprinkler as a fire extinguishing agent and life saver and the more general adoption of the fire division wall as an important life-saving exit facility.

7. A careful study of the technical surveys of cities, made by the engineers of the Committee on Fire Prevention of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, covering the items of water supplies, their adequacy and reliability, fire department efficiency, fire-alarm systems and conflagration hazards, and of the possibility of co-operation among neighboring cities through mutual aid and the standardization of hose couplings.

8. The adoption of the association's suggested laws and ordinances for state and municipal regulation of the transportation, storage and use of inflammable liquids and explosives.

9. The universal adoption and use of the safety match and legislation prohibiting smoking in all parts of factories, industrial and mercantile buildings except in such fireproof rooms as may be especially approved for the purpose by fire departments.

10. The education of children and the public generally in careful habits regarding the use of fire.

11. The co-ordination of all these activities, through a central administrative officer or body of the state or city having primary jurisdiction, for the purpose of promoting uniformity of action and efficient co-operation.

To Open New West Side Thoroughfare This Year

Letting of Varick Street and Seventh Avenue Paving Contracts Last Stage of Work on Important Business Street

ALLOWING even for war time disappointments, another main artery for vehicular traffic in lower Manhattan is scheduled for completion before the end of the present year. One of the two final contracts for repaving of the widened and improved Varick street has already been let and the other will be awarded about June 1. There are specifications in both contracts providing for the turning over to the City this year as a completed highway both Varick street and the extended Seventh avenue, which will tap the new Varick street and serve as a connecting link between the "feeder" streets of the lower West Side and the upper west section of the Borough.

Bids for the repaving, regulating and grading of Varick street from Leonard to Carmine street were opened on May 3. Seven contractors submitted estimates, the lowest of which was that of the Asphalt Construction Company, which offers to do the work for $229,060.60. The contract will be awarded within a few days. Granite block dressed so accurately as to provide a noiseless surface will be used. A similar pavement will be laid under the terms of the second contract from the junction at the south end of Seventh avenue at Carmine street to the old Seventh avenue at Greenwich avenue. These two contracts will provide for the pavement of a total of 8,600 running feet, and the work is to be entirely cleaned up, including new sidewalks, removal of encroachments, new curbing and the new granite pavement within 150 days.

The new Varick street is to have a width of 100 feet, with a 60 foot vehicular roadway and 20 foot sidewalks on either side, as against a width of 60 feet in the old Varick street with a 30-foot vehicular roadway. The extended Seventh avenue is also to be 100 feet in width. Two car tracks will be retained in the stretch of Varick street extending from Carmine to Canal street, but between Carmine street and Greenwich avenue, a distance of 4,800 running feet, or nearly one mile, there will be no tracks.

With the completion of this new artery for vehicular traffic, the westerly section of lower Manhattan will be as well provided for from a traffic standpoint as the easterly section has been since the opening of Lafayette street. The new Varick street will be well able to absorb and digest practically all of the vehicular traffic that now clutters Hudson street and flows through Canal street to and from Broadway. The new highway is only four blocks from the North River piers and reaches into the heart of the wholesale produce and supply district and the big food storage warehouses.

"Broadway and Hudson street should be materially relieved by the throwing open of the widened Varick street at the close of the present year, and I intend to see to it that there is no delay in bringing about the long sought relief," Borough President Dowling said yesterday, in talking of this new traffic highway. "Property values should greatly increase all along Varick street and fronting on and adjoining the new extension to Seventh avenue. As a result of the completion of this big improvement I know that many of the estates that have holdings in that territory, which in the past have been made up largely of old fashioned peak roofed dwellings, intend to improve their properties without delay. I know that two of these large estates, one of them being the Trinity Corporation, are now negotiating with big contractors for the construction of modern warehouses along Varick street. I feel that the property value there will increase more rapidly than along the widened Lafayette street, which for some time did not feel the effect of the roadway change.

"At the present time, however, some idea as to what the widening of Lafayette street has made from a traffic standpoint may be gauged from the fact that a recent count of vehicles taken at Canal street, between 8 o'clock in the morning and 6 o'clock in the evening recorded a total of 3,706 vehicles southbound and 3,155 vehicles northbound. An estimate of the tonnage of these vehicles as taken by traffic experts placed it at 14,500 tons.

"The density of traffic across Canal street at Lafayette street may be gauged by the fact that a recent count showed during nine hours of a business day 3,800 vehicles eastbound and 4,100 vehicles westbound, of an estimated tonnage of 18,000. Much of this traffic swung to and from Canal street at Hudson street and at Broadway, although a considerable amount, of course, was bound for the Hudson River piers.

"The opening of Varick street under its new conditions will mean that this congestion along Broadway and Hudson and Greenwich streets will disappear to a large extent."

Clarence J. Ramsey of the Real Estate firm of Cruikshank & Company, who represented several hundred property owners in this section in the matter of having the City assume the cost of the improvement, when asked as to the probable effect the improvement would have on realty in this section said:

"Seventh avenue north of Fourteenth street, and particularly north of Thirty-second street, will be greatly improved. The new street south of Carmine street and adjacent territory thereto will also be improved, but the district between Eleventh and Carmine streets, which is cut through the Ninth Ward, will not be improved, for the reason that in making this improvement many pie-shaped and gore lots were left and the fact that adjacent to the Seventh avenue extension many buildings of value will be destroyed before land values will increase.

"It is doubtful if any such increase will offset the value of the buildings to be torn down. Therefore our opinion is that the territory between Eleventh and Carmine streets will be in comparison the same as the territory on line of the New Bowery and New Chambers street, both of which thoroughfares were opened many years ago, leaving gore lots similar to present-day conditions in the Ninth Ward on line of the new Seventh avenue.

"New Bowery and New Chambers street properties have not increased in value and the only improvement on the gore lots has been rag shops, boot black stands and express offices."

The Seventh avenue and Varick street improvement involves an outlay of between nine and ten million dollars. It was started about five years ago, the main reason for it being the building of the Seventh avenue subway line.

Because of the fact that the improvement is intended to relieve the traffic conditions that are expected naturally to arise from the opening of the Seventh avenue subway, the property owners in the affected district felt that they should not bear the expense, certainly not all of it, but demanded that it should be made either a matter of general assessment as a subway charge or should be borne in the main by the Borough of Manhattan.

Since the work was first started properties have been taken by the city, many buildings have been demolished and some parcels, as Mr. Ramsey says, have been greatly reduced in size. The streets have been torn up and some properties remain untenanted and some parcels ruined. The owners have received nothing from the city as yet.

The Real Estate Board of New York, through Laurence McGuire, president, called a meeting at the Board rooms, 217 Broadway, on March 21, to discuss the subject of assessments for the extension of Seventh avenue, and about one hundred persons attended. Many of those present represented from one to two hundred persons, so that the number of persons actually represented was very large.

Edward P. Doyle presided at the meeting. A committee of five was appointed by the chairman to draft a bill which would readjust the assessment so as to place it either entirely on the city or to readjust it more equitably as between the property owners and the city. This committee was composed of Edward P. Doyle, chairman, Laurence McGuire, president of the Real Estate Board, William Crittenden Adams, Adam Weiner, N. L. DeBost, J. Irving Walsh and Charles E. Duross.

A bill embodying the relief sought was drafted and introduced in the Senate by Senator Walker and a similar bill was introduced in the Assembly, and both bills passed. Mayor Hylan vetoed the bill last week precluding the possibility of any relief to the taxpayers in this section, this year.

Realty Team Work Won Excess Over Loan Quota

Friendly Rivalry Enabled the Real Estate Men to Lead in Class C as They Did in the Second Loan

THE Real Estate Division of the Liberty Loan Committee exceeded by $1,581,200 its quota as fixed by the committee, and by $581,000 the quota fixed by the division, receiving subscriptions totaling $3,584,200 and leading Class C in the third loan as it did in the second loan.

To achieve this splendid result meant persistent activity on the part of every member of the ten teams appointed at the beginning of the drive. While the total amount of subscriptions turned in by the teams varied, yet the fact that one team made a better showing in its returns than another should not be taken as a criterion of better qualifications of the members of the team or an indication of greater activity because some of the teams were assigned to sections where money is scarce and where great difficulty was experienced in securing applications at all.

A spirit of friendly rivalry existed between the teams throughout the campaign, but at no time was there any feeling of jealousy manifested. All felt that they were working for one cause and the success of one or more teams contributed to the success of the whole object.

On the afternoon of Friday, May 3, the teams assembled at the rooms of the Real Estate Board, set aside as the headquarters of the division. Chairman Marling announced that he was especially anxious that all subscriptions be reported and that there be no holding back for a grand finish on Saturday.

Reports of team captains made the total for the day $156,050, making the grand total $2,879,100. With but one more day in which to work the teams were urged to greater effort, with three millions as the goal, and when on Saturday afternoon the teams met for the last time the total for the day was $561,400, making the grand total $3,440,500. On Monday subscriptions continued to trickle in from various sources, and it was decided to keep the headquarters open until Wednesday, although Mr. Carleton, who was loaned to the division by the Liberty Loan Committee, returned to his duties as a bond salesman, and Chairman Marling consented to look after the clean-up work of the division. On Tuesday evening the grand total reached $3,581,750, or $1,581,750 over and above the quota of the division.

In honor of the success achieved a member of the Board—John Howes Burton—has designed an honor flag, which the division is entitled to, and this will be conspicuously displayed in the rooms of the Real Estate Board as an evidence of the patriotism of the members of the real estate fraternity in this city.

Among the subscriptions received on Saturday, the closing day, were $100,000 from Robert E. Dowling, for the Adams Express Building Company; $140,750 from Cornelius G. Kolff, captain of the Richmond Borough team, which collected 10 per cent. of this borough's subscription—$5,000—from Dr. Charles V. Paterno; $29,000 additional from William P. Rae, for Brooklyn's team; $86,000 from DuBois & Taylor, collected on Washington Heights, and $100,000 from Lewis H. May, of the Rockaway team, for the American Equitable Assurance Company.

Chairman Marling, when asked about the campaign, said: "Every man in the division is entitled to great credit. I could not single out any one man or group of men for special mention. Some of the teams made a better showing than others, but this was due to conditions existing in the territory in which some of the teams worked. For instance, one man makes one call and secures a subscription for $200,000; another man makes fifty calls and gets subscriptions for $50,000. Which one of the two do you think worked the hardest? Well, that's just the situation. The man who brought in the largest amount did not necessarily represent the man who worked the hardest by any means.

"Just to give you an idea of how the subscriptions came in I have compiled the following figures, and they speak for themselves: Total amount of subscriptions actually turned in, $3,584,200; total number of contributions entered on the cash book of the committee, 2,033. The actual number of subscriptions, however, is larger because the Brooklyn and Staten Island subscriptions were credited in total and not in separate items."

Denial of Six Cent Fare Cripples Trolleys

Upstate Roads Seek Relief from Commission by Applications to Issue Bonds—No Motion for Rehearing Before Court of Appeals

(Special to the Record and Guide)

ALBANY, May 8.—Evidence is accumulating of the necessity of an increase in fares on local trolley lines to six cents. Within the past week Manager Hewes of the Albany Southern Railroad appeared before the public service commission, upstate district, in an appeal for permission to raise the rates on this line in Hudson, and during his argument pointed out that unless some measure of relief was granted the possibility of the road going into the hands of a receiver was not remote. He referred to the Catskill Traction Company, which recently was sold, to be scrapped as an evidence of the necessity of an increase.

Following closely this petition came an application from the New York State Railways for permission to negotiate a loan from the War Finance Board not to exceed $1,500,000, for five years or less, upon such conditions as the board would prescribe. Another application by the same railway sought permission to issue $2,230,000 4½ per cent. bonds. These applications are the direct result of the issuance of a writ of prohibition by the Court of Appeals, restraining the public service commission from passing upon the application of this company for permission to increase its fare in Rochester to six cents.

Although it was announced several weeks ago that the General Committee of the Street Railways of the State was about to apply to the Court of Appeals for a réargument of the six-cent fare case, up to the present no such motion has been made. This is the information given out at the Court of Appeals.

Governor Whitman has signed the Lawson bill, abolishing the Brooklyn grade crossing commission and transferring its duties to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment.

Governor Whitman has also signed the Slater bill, providing for the establishment of a State Reservation on the site of the Mohansic State Hospital. The approval of this bill culminates a long fight against the erection of this hospital, which the various civic organizations in New York City claimed would operate to pollute the city's water supply. The governor gave a hearing on the measure on Wednesday and shortly afterwards signed the bill.

Building Trades Loan Committees at Luncheon

Celebrate Oversubscription of $1,481,000 and 26,956 Individual Bond Sales—G. de B. Greene Congratulates Workers

As a fitting wind-up of the campaign to put over the recent bond issue members of the Building and Allied Trades Committee for the third Liberty Loan were the guests at a complimentary luncheon given at the Hotel Biltmore last Thursday afternoon. Included in the list of guests were the officers of the committee and the chairmen, vice-chairmen, secretaries and publicity members of the separate Liberty Loan committees representing the various branches of building endeavor included in the General Committee. About seventy-five were present.

Mr. Cecil D. Landale, of the Advisory Trades Committee, in charge of the drive for building trades, presided and acted as toastmaster. At the guests' table were seated Mr. G. deB. Greene, Chairman of the Advisory Trades Committee of the Rainbow Division; Mr. Bertram Sears, Mr. Francis A. Shinn, Mr. M. F. Westergren, Mr. Albert Wahle, Mr. John I. Downey and Mr. J. H. Jasper.

Owing to the extreme pressure of affairs at the national capital Mr. Otto M. Eidlitz, Chairman of the Building and Allied Trade Committee, was unable to be present, and in his opening remarks Mr. Landale read a letter from the Chairman, received Thursday morning, regretting his inability to be present and complimenting the officers and members of the committee for their hearty support, close co-operation and splendid effort all through the period of the drive. Mr. Landale also took the opportunity to personally thank the members of the committee for their part in making the record of the building industry in the campaign the wonderful success it was, and assured all that it had been a pleasure and honor to have been associated with the industry, so pleasantly, during the drive.

Mr. Shinn read the final statistics in connection with the drive, showing that a total of $6,481,600 had been subscribed. This is an oversubscription of $1,481,600 beyond the quota allotted to this industry. In all a total of 26,965 individual subscriptions were obtained, which averaged $240 each.

Following is the complete list of the sub-committees, the amount each obtained and the number of individual subscriptions represented:

Mr. Greene stated that the building industry had every reason to feel proud of its record, and that the lessons learned during the campaign would be of infinite value in the loan drives that surely are to come. "The information acquired, the experience gained and the splendid results achieved are now a decided asset to the Government," said Mr. Greene.

Among the sub-committees that obtained bond subscriptions in excess of their allotments included those under the respective chairmanships of Messrs. Walter Reid, Jr., Benjamin Traitel, Lincoln Peirce, Alfred Daybill, C. A. Fullerton, F. G. Webber, M. F. Westergren, Andrew J. Post, John I. Downey, Albert Wahle, W. H. Curtin, Max Baumann, J. H. Jasper, William G. McCune, Edgar A. Levy and Frank E. Wise.

During the entire period of the Liberty Loan drive the committees representing the various branches of the industry made excellent use of unique ideas and clever schemes to augment the sale of bonds. The meetings conducted at many of the large building operations underway in Greater New York and vicinity are worthy of more than passing mention. These gatherings were a potent factor in influencing the sale of Liberty Bonds to mechanics and workmen engaged in the work of building, and as the general success of the drive was not only dependent upon obtaining the $3,000,000 minimum asked by the Government, but also to have the greatest possible number of individual subscribers, so these job meetings largely assisted in the wide distribution of small bonds to workmen obtaining moderate wages.

Upon numerous occasions recently men prominently identified with the building trades have stated that the wide distribution of bonds among mechanics and laborers was one of the best signs of the ultimate success of the campaign and that the patriotism of the individual purchaser expanded materially with the ownership of a Liberty Bond or the pledge to pay for one.

Boards Differ on Murray Hill Question.

SUSTAINING the contention of Edmund L. Baylies, representing J. P. Morgan and the Murray Hill Association before the Board of Standards and Appeals last week, the Board of Estimate and Apportionment has handed down a decision refusing the application of Baron William Waldorf Astor for a removal of the restrictions provided in the zoning resolution against business on the block front on the west side of Madison avenue, between Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth streets.

Borough President Frank L. Dowling, Chairman of the City Planning Committee, said at the meeting of the Board of Estimate last week: "If zoning resolutions imposed by the Board of Estimate can be upset and defied at will by the Board of Appeals this board might just as well abandon its attitude of jurisdiction over the character of buildings to be erected in various parts of the city."

Chairman Leo of the Board of Standards and Appeals is still of the opinion that his board has power in such matters given it under paragraph 7, Section C, of the Building Zone Resolution, adopted by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment July 25, 1916, and reading as follows: "The Board of Appeals, created by Chapter 503 of the Laws of 1916, may permit the extension of an existing or proposed building into a more restricted district under such conditions as will safeguard the character of the more restricted district."

Although a verified copy of the board's decision has been delivered to Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft, of counsel for Baron Astor, no application has been made to the Superintendent of Buildings for a building permit.

It is probable that the courts will be called upon to decide whether the Board of Estimate or the Board of Appeals has jurisdiction in similar cases of this character.

Getting At the Facts About Municipal Ownership.

The municipal ownership of various public utilities was a topic of wide discussion at the recent session of the State Legislature. While several organizations and some public men of more or less standing have been advocating municipal ownership for years the subject gained wider attention at Albany this year than during any previous session of the Legislature.

This was due in part no doubt to the fact that New York's new mayor, Mr. Hylan, has taken advanced ground in favor of the municipal ownership of various public utilities. Mayor Hylan did not succeed in accomplishing anything definite through his efforts at Albany this year, but his pilgrimages to the capital city did spur the municipal ownership advocates to renewed efforts.

The leaders in the Legislature, notably Senator Brown, the president pro tem, wisely decided to favor the creation of a commission to investigate the entire subject. This commission, of which Senator Arget-singer of Rochester is chairman, is already at work getting together facts and figures about the financial condition of the various municipalities of the state. This, of course, is vital ground-work for the investigation, and the commission will begin its public hearings later on.

To the people of New York City the agitation for municipal ownership is fraught with far-reaching consequences. The subject is full of dynamite. It is one of the many agitations which appeal to a certain class of politicians. The constant demand of Socialist and other agitators for municipal ownership has made an impression on a very considerable number of citizens who are thoughtless or ignorant, or both.

The time has come when in all seriousness the thinking people of New York must take up this agitation and treat it in a sane and vigorous manner. The first step in this direction is the getting together of all the facts which will shed light on municipal ownership. The next step is to get these facts before the people.

The Record and Guide, which purposes giving the widest publicity to the work of the Municipal Ownership Investigation Commission, presents elsewhere in this issue a special article from its Albany correspondent giving a statement of the financial condition of all the cities in the State. This statement will prove indispensable to all students of the future work of the Municipal Ownership Commission and is well worth preserving for future reference.

New York's Answer to Critics.

Various messages have reached the Record and Guide commending its editorial article in last week's issue under the caption "Putting It Up to New York as Usual." In that article the disposition of other sections of the country to criticise the New York district in the Liberty Loan drive was resented as not only unfair to the great metropolis, but also as unjust, like so many other outside criticisms of New York and New Yorkers.

The figures from the third Liberty Loan drive show that the New York district did its duty magnificently, as it always does in patriotic undertakings of a national character. The figures show that the metropolis deserved no such criticism as was made during the drive.

It is intensely gratifying to all good citizens that the third Liberty Loan attracted subscriptions of approximately four billions of dollars, although three billions was the amount offered. The New York district has come to the front with more than one billion dollars of subscriptions. Our people, in other words, have taken one-fourth of the total subscribed in the entire country.

That is a magnificent showing, but it has caused no surprise to those who are well informed about New York and its way of doing big things. The critics of the metropolis have not been heard from since the drive ended last Saturday night, and it therefore seems probable that they have no intention of apologizing for their hasty and unjust criticism.

The incident is not without its lesson, however, for it may teach some of the misguided critics of the metropolis to find out hereafter what they are talking about before they start talking.

In this connection the Record and Guide extends its congratulations to the energetic managers of the Real Estate and of the Building Trades committees in the Liberty Loan campaign. The real estate workers turned in subscriptions of $3,600,000, and the building trades returned a total of nearly $6,500,000. These figures show how splendidly the leaders in these fields did their share toward the magnificent result which the New York district attained.

It should also be borne in mind that what the New York district has just done in the Liberty Loan drive constitutes only one phase of its current activities in support of the National Government. Financial experts calculate that before the end of June this district will pay to the Federal authorities at least one billion dollars in the form of income, surtax and excess profit taxes.

While only estimates can yet be made as to the stupendous total which the New York district will pay, some leaders in the financial district believe that the total may run between one and a half and two billions of dollars.

Readers' Comment on Current Subjects

Editor of the RECORD AND GUIDE:

I desire to congratulate you not only upon the appearance, but the contents of the recent issue of your publication, and especially upon the presentation of the magnificent and timely article of Mr. Herman de Selding in your issue of March 23 on "The Harbor of New York and Its Influence on the Commerce of the

The effect of that article from a man of the standing of Mr. de Selding among the business interests of the metropolis must be far-reaching and of great value to the city, and I have appreciated it so much that I have sent him a congratulatory letter.

HENRY A. MEYER, Second Deputy Commissioner, Department of Docks & Ferries.

Editor of the RECORD AND GUIDE:

I wonder if it has occurred to the title, mortgage and Insurance companies to make a well-advertised announcement that they will withdraw from the market all real estate obtained recently under foreclosure owing to improving conditions and better renting demand?

Would not this be bullish and supply the leadership the market needs? Creating a better feeling will produce more buyers than their present campaign of forcing sales at low prices.

This suggestion is offered as a possible solution of a serious question.

Real Estate Men Organize For Red Cross Drive

Week's Campaign to Raise a Million Dollars to Start May 20—

William L. De Bost, Chairman of Committee

THE Real Estate Division of the coming Red Cross Drive has been well organized and all of the real estate offices in the Borough of Manhattan have been notified by the Committee to get ready for an active campaign. As this is the only Division that will represent real estate, the Committee are hoping for a ready response and the same cooperation in this drive that they have received in all previous drives. With reference to the work the following statement has been issued by the Chairman of the Real Estate Division:

"You are, of course, aware that during the week commencing May 20, 1918, there is to be the second American Red Cross Intensive Drive for the purpose of raising upwards of $100,000,000.

"So that everyone in the United States will be covered, a most careful plan of organization has been adopted by the Red Cross headquarters. In this plan, the Real Estate Interests in New York are to be covered by the Industrial Division, of which Mr. Charles A. Coffin is General Chairman.

"This Division has asked the real estate profession to organize and to cover two distinct items in this drive—first, all employees in the real estate offices, and, second, all employees of these real estate offices in the various buildings under their management in the Borough of Manhattan. This is not to be interpreted that we are to cover the tenants in the buildings or the tenants' employees, as this will be fully covered by a Committee in charge of the house-to-house canvass. I have appointed Committees who will be in charge of each Division, the Building Employees' Committee and the Real Estate Staff Committee. Both of these Committees will have a representative call on you for your assistance and will outline the method of this canvass to you.

"Everything that the real estate profession have been asked to do has been most successful. We must not fail this time, as this is the only organization that will represent real estate in this drive.

"I feel that we can count on your liberal financial support and cooperation in covering the territory outlined.

WILLIAM L. DE BOST,

"Chairman, Real Estate Division, Industrial Branch, Borough of Manhattan."

In preparation for the American Red Cross campaign to raise $25,000,000 in New York and $100,000,000 in the United States, a "get together luncheon" of team captains and other executives was held at noon yesterday in the Hotel Biltmore. Every section of the city was represented, more than 100 heads of teams being in attendance.

Walter Stabler, chairman of the committee in charge of the drive, which begins May 20 and continues for a week, explained the plans for a house-to-house canvass, and said that in addition there would be more than 500 booths placed at railroad and ferry stations, banks, and at the principal hotels. Already more than 1,000 women had, he added, pledged their services for the work of managing these booths.

E. P. Goodrich, director of the work, said that the city had been divided into districts and that no one would be overlooked. He explained that a double checking system had been installed at the headquarters of the committee, 1 Madison avenue, so that when a canvasser called and found no one at home or was asked to make another call a notation would be made and another solicitor would follow up the call.

The ratio of New York's contribution is based upon New York's record in the drive of a year ago, when the city's contribution was $24,300,000.

The drive in this city will start with a parade, in which there will be seventy bands of music, the New York Guard, the police, men from the naval training stations, and even airplanes. This parade will be one of 1,500 other similar demonstrations to be held on the same day in various parts of the United States.

Eighty-five per cent. of the New York contribution toward the first campaign was received from a comparatively small number of contributors, many being firms, foundations, and corporations. It is planned in the coming drive to make a wider appeal for smaller contributions from persons of modest means in this drive.

New York's contribution in 1917 alone paid for all Red Cross relief work in the entire world with the exception of France, Poland, and Russia," the association says. "Of the $24,300,000 subscribed and pledged it is remarkable that only three subscribers repudiated their promises to pay."

REAL ESTATE NEWS OF THE WEEK

Several Important Sales on Riverside Drive and Washington Heights—Leasing Continues Good

DOWNTOWN business properties figured largely in the sales of the week, although some movement was noted on Washington Heights, the Bronx and on Riverside Drive, where there has been more or less activity of late in spite of the somewhat backwardness of the realty market. The sale by Frederick Brown, operator, of a plot at the south corner of 146th street to Anthony Campagna, President of the Lucania Realty Corporation, involved the exchange of property in the Bronx. It is understood that the new owner will erect a new type of apartment house on the Riverside Drive property.

The sale of the block front of three six-story apartments on the east side of Haven avenue, 178th to 179th street, was another transaction of interest and was the third of a series of exchanges in which the same property figured. In the downtown section the old Lorillard property on West Broadway that had been in the Lorillard family for three quarters of a century and was originally the old tobacco and snuff factory of the Lorillard Company means the improvement of this site with a modern business structure to replace those destroyed by fire some time ago. Continued speculative interest in well-located upper west side residential properties was a feature of the week's sales. Frederick Brown, operator, purchased from the Sigerts Realty Company the six-story elevator apartment known as the St. Regis at the northwest corner of Broadway and 152d street. This house accommodates forty-eight families and has a rent roll of about $35,000.

Interest centers in the sale of a new six-story American basement residence at 18 East Seventy-second street by Charles E. Danforth to Alfonso P. Villa, a raw silk merchant, who will make it his future home. Mr. Danforth acquired the property about two years ago through William B. May & Company and rebuilt it for his own occupancy at a cost of about $100,000. The house is one of the finest in the district, contains two electric elevators and has been held at $250,000.

The sale of 544 to 556 West 158th street to Melville H. Bearns increases his holdings on Washington Heights to 200 feet on Broadway, 125 feet on 157th street and 225 feet in 158th street. The new purchase involves a six-story apartment house having seven apartments on each floor and a two-story and basement business building containing stores and offices.

The United States Government figured in the leases of the week, having taken over for use as a barracks the former home of the Raquet and Tennis club at 23 to 31 West Forty-third street. Aside from some minor changes to provide the necessary dormitories, the building will not be altered. Accommodations for 1,000 men will be provided in this building when completed.

Leasing continued good in all parts of the city and in the residential sections especially, the demand for apartments far exceeds the supply. Many business leases were consummated involving in some instances aggregate rentals running well up in the hundreds of thousands. With the Third Liberty Loan now out of the way, it is expected that there will be a renewal of realty activity on the part of the brokers who have been devoting their time for the past month to rolling up a big subscription to the loan through the Real Estate Division of the Liberty Loan Committee. It is a generally accepted idea nowadays that the broker must go after business rather than sit in his office and wait for clients to come in. One well-known broker remarked this week that the day is gone when real estate can be sold over the counter and that the successful broker is the one who, having property to sell, goes out and finds a buyer, just as does a salesman sell his goods by drumming up trade.

LEGAL NOTES AFFECTING REALTY

Prepared by Committee on Real Estate Laws of
Real Estate Board, Samuel P. Goldman, Chairman

Easements—Light and Air.

WHERE the owner of two adjoining city lots, one vacant and the other occupied by a building, leases the latter by an instrument containing the usual covenants for quiet enjoyment, no right with respect to light or air is held to arise by implication, and the tenant cannot enjoin the erection upon the vacant lot of a building which, by completely obstructing the windows on one side of the leased property, will seriously interfere with the benefit he would otherwise obtain from it.—Anderson v. Bloomheart, 168 Pac. 900.

Liability for Loss by Fire.

In an action by the tenant of a dwelling house to recover from the landlord the value of household goods burned when the house was destroyed by fire, which it was alleged resulted from the landlord's negligent failure to repair a defective condition of the premises according to his contract, the Kansas Supreme Court holds, 165 N. W. 867, that it devolved on the plaintiff to prove that the fire resulted from the defective condition and failure to repair, and as no evidence was offered to show what caused the fire, the action must fail.

Construction of Lease.

A landlord gave a receipt reciting that it was in full payment of the rent of a store room for three months, that it was agreed that the rental for the next three months would be a certain sum, and further agreed that if the tenant elected to continue occupancy beyond the second three months' term it should be at a monthly rental for the ensuing six months, payable monthly in advance. In an action for rent the Colorado Supreme Court holds, Moore v. Denver Pub. Co., 168 Pac. 630, that the lease on the election of the tenant to continue was for the period of six months, and when the tenant vacated at the end of the second month of such period, he was liable for any loss incurred during the remainder of the six months' period.

Action for Rent.

The New York Appellate Division holds, Schechter v. Cornwell, 167 N. Y. Supp. 331, that a defense to an action for rent, that owing to insufficient heat and water supply the premises became untenable, as a result of which a member of the tenant's family became ill and the defendant's subtenant refused to occupy the premises or pay him rent, to the damage of the defendant in a specified sum, does not set up a counterclaim for damages by reason of breach of covenant of lease.

Broker's Commission.

The Oregon Supreme Court holds, Columbia Realty Inv. Co. v. Alameda Realty Co., 168 Pac. 64, that a broker's contract for commissions, to be paid on the basis of 20 per cent. of the selling price out of the first moneys collected from the sale of lots, entitling the agents to retain out of each payment collected such amount as was then due and payable, but not otherwise, entitled the broker to commission, not at all events, but only out of a specific fund. And a promise to pay a broker commission out of a specific fund, to be collected by him, is enforceable only on allegation and proof that the fund named is adequate for the payment demanded.

Renewal Clause of Lease.

If lessees failed to procure expert advice as to the legal effect of the renewal clause of the lease, and rested content with the lessor's version thereof, honestly made, it is held that they cannot be heard to complain, in their action for reformation, that he was mistaken, and that they misunderstood the legal import of their contract. Under the circumstances, all negotiations merged in the written instrument. Clauses in leases providing for a renewal for a specified time from expiration on terms impliedly the same, and clauses providing for continuance of the tenancy after expiration of lease, and containing a definite method whereby the terms for continuance are to be determined, if the parties fail to agree, are enforceable. The renewal clause of a lease, providing that the lessee had the privilege to renew the lease for the term of five years upon the expiration of the contract, "upon terms then to be mutually agreed upon," was unenforceable and void for indefiniteness, being nothing more than a consent to make an agreement five years from its date, if the parties could or would. Moran v. Wellington, 167 N. Y. Supp. 465.

Enlist to Save and Serve.

The Realty War Savings Committee, Laurence McGuire, chairman, A. N. Gitterman, secretary, has perfected a plan for distributing the pasters designed to stimulate sale of War Saving Stamps. These are gummed and will be used by real estate offices as pasters on the backs of envelopes, rent receipts and other matter which is distributed to the public. These pasters are to be sold to board members at $5.00 per 1,000 and subscriptions for the pasters in these and larger lots is solicited. It is proposed also to distribute them among Real Estate Associations throughout the country. The committee has arranged for one million of these pasters, and in order to make this country-wide distribution possible, is making a charge only slightly above actual cost.

It is taken for granted that every member of the Real Estate Board will use the pasters and to this end will forward subscriptions promptly to Secretary Gitterman at the board rooms.

QUERY DEPARTMENT

This department is intended to be of service to all interested in the real estate market, whether as broker, agent or property owner. The readers of the Record and Guide are invited to send in questions on matters pertaining to real estate, building and building management, though legal questions will not be answered in this column. Questions should be stated as fully but as briefly as possible so as to allow intelligent answers. Arrangements have been made through which the questions will be answered by a Committee of the Real Estate Board, including the following:

- E. A. Tredwell, real estate broker.
- Frederick D. Kalley, real estate broker.
- Robert R. Rainey, real estate broker.
- B. E. Martin.
- William Douglas Kilpatrick, builder.
- H. H. Murdock, architect.

Question No. 322.—I quote from a contract of sale: "All personal property appurtenant to or used in the operation of said premises is represented to be owned by the seller, and is included in this sale." Do the awnings, screens, etc., of a two-family house in question, even though taken down for the winter, come under this clause? The seller is asking for an allowance for the awnings, etc., and my contention is that the awnings, screens, etc., are included in the price stated in the contract. Can you give us the answer? C. O.

Answer No. 322.—If the awnings and screens were specially made for or fitted to the premises, and connecting rods, bolts or other means of attachment are permanently fastened to the building, they are included in the contract. If they are not specially fitted for or attached to the premises and can be as readily used for any other building (like adjustable window screens) they are not included in the contract.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

THE total number of sales reported and not recorded in Manhattan this week was 33 as against 41 last week and 31 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 59th street was 11 as compared with 18 last week and 14 a year ago.

The sales north of 59th street aggregate 22 as compared with 23 last week and 17 a year ago.

From the Bronx 18 sales at private contract were reported as against 15 last week and 9 a year ago.

Statistical tables, indicating the number of recorded instruments, will be found on page 618 of this issue.

The Value of a Name

Every business man seeks to establish his product, his trade-mark or the quality of his services, and uses publicity to create a demand for them, recognizing the demand thus created as a valuable and very definite asset of his business.

He also understands that after this demand is created, competition obliges him to constantly defend this asset and perpetuate this demand aside from his desire to increase it.

In some lines the name or trade-mark thus established is regarded as equivalent in value to the total capital investment and good will of the business.

In these times, manufacturers are apt to overlook the necessity of constantly maintaining this value, on account of their inability to keep up normal conditions, and their failure to consider the high rate of depreciation that occurs due to the forgetfulness of the public in all matters that are not vital to their own interests.

Our English cousins are solving the question by continuing their announcements in the press, and incorporating the phrase:

“Deliveries made after the war.”

Evidently they appreciate the value of a name.

The following emphasizes the same point in another way:

“One of the best things that has come to my attention recently was the statement that Henry Ford, a rather well-known and comfortably-fixed citizen of Detroit—now that he is embarking in the Tractor business—finds himself legally restrained from calling it the ‘Ford Tractor’ because a small municipal concern was smart enough to copyright that name.”

quire. Every indication is that eventually 54 and 56 Water street, just purchased, will be added to the building, and thus a floor area of 20,000 square feet secured on each floor, with the main portion of their building running along Water street and removed from the annoyance of the elevated railroad which passes through Pearl street. Old Slip is one of the widest thoroughfares in the financial district and the plot acquired is near the Coffee and Cotton Exchanges, and near all financial interests, and in the heart of the shipping district.

Sale on Washington Heights.

Melville H. Bearns has increased his holdings on Washington Heights by purchasing from the Gross & Herbener Operating Company, 544 to 556 West 158th street, a six-story elevator apartment house having seven apartments on each floor and occupying a plot 100x100. The parcel at 552 to 556 is a two-story and basement business building containing stores and offices on a plot 50x100. These properties adjoin the block front on the east side of Broadway from 157th to 158th streets, which Mr. Bearns purchased last week. His holdings at this point now measure 200 feet on Broadway, 125 feet in 157th street and 225 feet in 158th street. Byrne & Baumann was the brokers in the deal.

Riverside Drive Plot in Trade.

What is considered by realty interests an important deal on Riverside Drive, which forecasts the erection of a tall apartment house, was closed on Friday last by Anthony Campagna, President of the Lucania Realty Corporation, who purchased from Frederick Brown, operator, a plot 58.10x102 feet at the south corner of 146th street. In part payment the buyer gave an excavated plot of about eight lots at the northwest corner of Cauldwell avenue and 156th street, in the Melrose section of the Bronx, 200x117.6xirregular. Mr. Brown acquired the Riverside Drive plot last month in a trade for the Highcliff Apartments, 177th street and Audubon avenue. It is understood that Mr. Campagna will erect a new type of apartment house on the Riverside Drive site. The Cauldwell avenue plot was acquired by the Lucania Realty Corporation last year as part of the purchase price in the sale of the Shoreview, 448 Riverside Drive. Slawson & Hobbs were the brokers in the transaction.

Sales in Lenox Hill District.

Demonstrating again the steady interest which is being manifested in high class private houses in the blocks near Fifth avenue was the sale on Thursday of two Lenox Hill residences. The five-story, modern dwelling with elevator at 21 East Eightieth street, formerly the home of the late Mrs. Anson W. Hard, was sold by the executors of the estate, W. R. K. Taylor and Augustine J. Smith to a client of Pease & Elliman for occupancy. The house which adjoins the home of Henry W. Robbins is in the same block with the dwellings recently acquired by Frank W. Woolworth for the occupancy of members of his family. The house was assessed at $85,000, but has been held at $110,000. The reported consideration, however, was somewhat below the holding figure. Negotiations were also completed for the sale of the four-story residence at 21 East Seventy-sixth street on a lot 19.6x102.2 between Fifth and Madison avenues. The property was owned by the Farmers Loan and Trust Company as trustee of the estate of Samuel Callaway, and has been held at $75,000. Pease & Elliman also negotiated this contract.

Outsider Buys at Foreclosure.

M. Morgenthau, Jr., Company succeeded in disposing to an outsider a property which was sold by them at public auction under foreclosure proceedings on Thursday. The property was 567 Seventh avenue, an old four-story building on lot 19.9x60, located about 59 feet north of the northeast corner of Seventh avenue and 40th street. The property was sold by order of Samuel B. Hamburger, referee, in proceedings brought by the East River Savings Institutions, which had claims aggregating about $33,000. Bidding started at $32,500 and after recording twenty-seven bids from four bidders, Mr. Morgenthau sold the property at $35,000 to Edward Berger, the Sixth avenue pawnbroker. Mr. Berger said that he bought for investment and would pay all cash for the property. It was the consensus of opinion in the auction room that he had bought a bargain.

Sale of Block Front on Heights.

Charles Kimmelman has acquired from Charles Hoffman and Gerson Robson, three six-story apartments on the east side of Haven avenue, 178th to 179th streets. The block was first sold for the Lucien A. Duburnet estate by S. & J. Albert and James V. Graham to the Aires Corporation for cash. The same brokers with Jacob Gelot then exchanged it for the Aires Corporation with Hoffman & Robson, who gave in part payment the seven-story loft building on plot 50x150 irregular at the northeast corner of First avenue and 31st street. Subsequently Hoffman & Robson resold the Haven avenue block for cash to the present owner, Charles Kimmelman. The Haven avenue property was improved in 1915 by the Nevah Construction Company, Joseph Reiss, president, which sold it to Lucien A. Duburnet in June, 1917.

Sells Six-Story Residence.

Charles E. Danforth has sold 18 East Seventy-second street, a new six-story American basement residence, to Alfonso P. Villa, a raw silk merchant, for cash for his own occupancy. William B. May & Company negotiated the sale. Mr. Danforth acquired the property about two years ago through the same brokers from Felix Warburg, and rebuilt it for his own occupancy at a cost of over $100,000 from plans by Beekman & Nash. The house, which is one of the finest in the district, contains two electric elevators and has been held at $250,000.

Old Lorillard Property Sold.

Charles Laue, the operator, has purchased from the estate of Louis L. Lorillard the property at 387 and 389 West Broadway, running through to 73 and 75 Wooster street, between Broome and Spring streets, with a frontage of 55 feet in each street and a depth of 200 feet. The buildings were destroyed by fire some time ago, and the purchaser plans to erect a new structure on the site to be leased for the occupancy of one tenant. Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company, was the broker in the transaction. The property, which has been held at $50,000, has been in the ownership of the members of the Lorillard family for more than seventy-five years and formerly was utilized as part of the old Lorillard tobacco and snuff factory.

Operator Buys St. Regis Apartment.

Through the sale of the six-story elevator apartment house known as the St. Regis at the northwest corner of Broadway and 152d street, Frederick Brown, the operator becomes the owner of one of the best paying business properties in the district. The house, which covers a plot 100x150, carries an annual rent roll of about $35,000 and accommodates forty-eight families and contains two stores. Julian T. Saxe was the broker in the transaction, which was negotiated on an all-cash basis.

Sell Fourteen Brooklyn Flats.

Levy Bros. have just closed a transaction of large dimensions. They have sold fourteen six-family double flats, erected by them, seven covering a plot 200x100 on Grant avenue between Liberty and McKinley avenues, and seven covering a similar plot on Lincoln avenue between the same streets. They have taken as part payment the business building occupied by the Bedford Stores and known as 1065 and 1067 Broadway, Brooklyn. Considerable cash passed in the transaction, which involved about $300,000.

RECENT LEASES.

Drug Dealers Lease in Front Street.

Charles F. Noyes Company has leased at an aggregate rental of about $50,000 for Joseph F. Cullman to W. A. Williamson, 26 to 30 Burling Slip, a four-story building with a street frontage of 67 feet. The building will be extensively remodeled for strictly office purposes from plans of John H. Knubel, and will be known as the "Williamson Building." Mr. Williamson, at the head of Williamson & Company, brokers and dealers in drugs and chemicals, has secured this location because it is close to the new home of the National Aniline Company, which has just taken a lease of the former W. J. Matheson building at the northwest corner of Burling Slip and Front street. Other large chemical and drug firms have recently purchased or leased premises in the same neighborhood through the Noyes Company. This is one of twelve buildings sold by the Charles F. Noyes Company in the same block, and the rental shows an increase of 55 per cent. over the rental paid when Mr. Cullman purchased the property from the Haines Company only a few years ago.

Lease Old Dennett Place.

As a result of negotiations just completed by Rice & Hill, Dennett's famous Scriptural Restaurant in the Potter building, Nassau and Beekman streets, recently closed up after twenty years' occupancy, is to have a new occupant. For the O. B. Potter Properties, Inc. (Frederick Potter, president; Clarence H. Kelsey, treasurer), Rice & Hill have leased to the Silver Lunch Company the stores, 143 and 145 Nassau street and 6 Beekman street, together with the basements and including the large basement under the immediate corner of Nassau and Beekman streets, and the store at 37 Park Row, recently occupied by a jeweler, and connecting with the Nassau street stores. The term of the lease is for ten years from May 1, 1918, and the rental approximates $200,000. After extensive alterations by the tenant the space will be occupied as a branch of its chain of stores throughout the city. It is interesting to recall that this store was the first one of its kind opened in New York by the late Mr. Dennett, where the plan of trusting customers was adopted and where the basis of his immense fortune was made.

Conditional Leasing.

M. & L. Hess, Inc., subleased for the Lindeman & Sons Piano Company, the eight-story building at 599 to 603 Eleventh avenue, at the southwest corner of Forty-fifth street, for a term at an aggregate rental of $100,000. The lessee is the Republic Storage Company a newly-formed corporation which will use the building for storage of leaf tobacco. As a condition of leasing these premises it was necessary to find a new location for the piano company and the brokers procured the six-story building at 8½ to 12 Jones street from the Greylock Building Company, represented by the West Side Savings Bank. This building contains about 45,000 square feet and was leased for a term of years at an aggregate rental of $125,000.

New High Record Rental.

The importance of the commercial value of real estate in the Forty-second Street district was emphasized on Thursday when Douglas L. Elliman & Company closed a deal involving the corner store in the former Renaissance Hotel at the southeast corner of Fifth avenue and 43d street, which has been remodeled into an office building. The National City Company, a subsidiary of the National City Bank, has leased space 24x100 and will pay at the rate of $40,000 per annum or about $16.70 per square foot, and this it is believed establishes a new high-record rental for Fifth avenue. The lease is for twenty years and the aggregate rental is about $800,000 for the term.

Lease Old Club House.

The United States Government was in the leasing market this week and leased the building formerly occupied by the Raquet and Tennis Club at 23 to 31 West Forty-third street for use as barracks. The building, which was vacated by the club recently for its new home occupying the block front on Park avenue, Fifty-second and Fifty-third streets, is a three-story structure, heavily constructed in Romanesque style covering a plot 200x100 feet. No alterations are planned excepting such minor changes as will be necessary to fit up dormitories which are calculated to accommodate approximately 1,000 men. It was leased at a nominal figure by the syndicate managers of the club.

Warehouse Leased.

Alexander A. Koswick leased for a term of years, to the American Chewing Gum Company, the warehouses formerly occupied by the Southern Trading Company on Eleventh avenue, near Thirty-second street, at an aggregate rental of $150,000. BLISS TALKS

"We make a point of the fact that our houses are kept vermin-free by Bliss Exterminator Service."

The well-known Real Estate firm of Nassoit and Lanning mentioned the above fact in one of their recent letters to us. They—as well as a large number of other firms in the same business—realize that Exterminator Service is an essential in attracting the right class of tenant and in keeping him when secured. Let us give you a demonstration—free—and explain to you just why "Bliss Service Satisfies."

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS, MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES

ALTHOUGH there is practically no possibility that private construction work on a large scale can be resumed until the present war is over, the announcement that a new hotel, claimed to be the largest in the world, will be erected in the Grand Central Terminal zone, has acted as a powerful stimulant to the building industry. This immense hotel project is a direct outcome of the merger of large hotel interests consummated early this week and involving some of the most prominent hostellers in this country. Reports that building projects of this character are now under consideration and that active construction will be started just as soon as circumstances and conditions permit is the tonic the building situation requires to restore vitality to the industry.

The drive for the Third Liberty Loan has ended and the building trades have every reason to be justly proud of the remarkable showing made by their craft, individually and collectively. The final results have clearly demonstrated that no matter how adverse the conditions may be the structural trades are to be depended upon. In the campaign just recently concluded the building industry has proved beyond peradventure of a doubt that whenever the call comes for patriotic service the reply will be most convincing.

Although there has been somewhat of a falling off in the number of large contracts placed during the past week there has been a continuation of activity where small building operations and alterations are concerned. This latter phase of construction is now of paramount importance and, with the exception of Government building projects is practically all that is being done to any extent. Buildings, a number of which were formerly thought ready for condemnation, are being remodeled along modern lines. Newer structures are being altered to meet the requirements of the present for both commercial and industrial occupancy. In this manner great quantities of building materials and supplies and labor are being conserved for the more important structural operations that come directly under the jurisdiction of the Federal Government.

New Government building projects continue to be announced to the trade with remarkable regularity and the end of the program of large operations is not yet in sight. Almost daily Government departments responsible for the prosecution of the war realize the necessity of erecting additional buildings and providing other structural facilities for the handling and shipment of men, munitions and sustenance stores to the fighting fronts in Europe. The plans to greatly increase the personnel of the military establishment require that existing cantonments and training stations be enlarged and additional ones built. The authorities at Washington are preparing for a long period of warfare, and in order that the army and navy be kept up to the highest point of military efficiency, the increased building program has become of vital importance.

With the exception of a few lines the market for building materials and supplies has been quiet throughout the past week, with prices generally steady and firm at the levels that have now maintained for some time. There is a strong feeling, however, that the market has not yet reached its highest point as concerns material prices and further advances are looked for. Some lines have already announced that advances from the existing levels may be anticipated. There are numerous reasons given out for the proposed advances, the principal ones being scarcity of supply, curtailment of production by Federal orders and priorities, lack of adequate labor and fuel and generally advancing production costs. The demand is slow in the majority of lines.

Common Brick.—Business has been very slack in the market for Hudson River common brick. No new activity has developed and the inquiries for future requirements are extremely light. Although there have been persistent rumors of large Federal requirements in the brick line there has been no business reported from this source. The arrivals of new brick from up-river have been in fair volume and the sales have been slightly better than the number of barges arrived. Prices are firm at $9 to $9.50 a thousand, the level that has now maintained for some weeks. No particular activity in the Hudson River plants has been reported during the week. Brick manufacturers have not resumed production, although in normal seasons the yards start work early in April. The majority of the producers between Haverstraw and Mechanicsville have signified their intention of keeping their plants idle this season, owing to the inability of obtaining adequate labor and fuel and the low prices brick is now bringing in the open market. In almost every instance where the manufacturer has decided not to commence manufacturing the sheds are full of brick and shipments can be made as the demand requires. Some manufacturers are looking forward to export business and also to the possible large Governmental requirements.

SUMMARY.—Transactions in the North River brick market for the week ending Friday, May 10, 1918. Condition of market: Demand, fair; prices unchanged. Quotations: Hudson Rivers, $9.00 to $9.50 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 12; sales, 18. Distribution: Manhattan, 4; Brooklyn, 4; New Jersey points, 8; Yonkers, 1; Flushing, 1.

Lumber.—Virtually there is no change in the lumber market situation in either the wholesale or retail branches of trade. The demand for practically all kinds and grades of lumber remains steady and the principal problem of the producing and selling interests is that of transportation. Deliveries, where possible, are slow and the market is depleted in certain lines. The demand for lumber for building purposes is somewhat better than it has been for many months owing largely to the increased volume of suburban building construction. This phase of structural activity is making a much better showing than was thought possible early this spring and according to present reports from widely scattered districts, this character of building bids fair to continue for the balance of the season. The intense demand for small dwellings in good localities has boomed activity of this type. The lumber situation would be most satisfactory if the problem of early and adequate deliveries to distributing points could be solved. Prices are firm in all lines with the certain grades indicating a marked tendency toward further advances.

Portland Cement.—Manufacturers of Portland cement are generally well satisfied with the present situation. The demand is fairly brisk and mill shipments on contracts are heavy and likely to continue so throughout the current month. The recent advance in price stimulated the market to some extent and the immense volume of Government building in progress is making heavy demands upon the manufacturers and dealers. At the present time cement prices are firm at $2.55 a barrel, New York, but there is an undercurrent of feeling that this level is likely to be advanced.

Structural Steel.—The steel situation is now entirely dominated by the demands of the various Governmental departments for material required for the successful prosecution of the war. Private business is negligible and the outlook for increased activity of this character is not bright for the next three or four months at least. Local steel contractors have small stocks on hand for miscellaneous requirements, but it is extremely doubtful if large requirements, such as those for steel-frame structures, will be obtained for months to come. The Government must come first and private demands will be subservient to the more important requirements of the nation. Prices remain unchanged.

Window Glass.—Dealers in plate and window glass report that the demand is extremely light and the outlook is for a continuation of the condition for some time to come. Manufacturers are generally operating on a greatly reduced schedule of output and are experiencing difficulties in turning out what they are producing owing to the inability to obtain raw materials, labor and the difficulties attendant upon shipments to jobbers. While there have been no changes in the schedule of discounts up to the present writing, there have been numerous rumors that advances are likely to be made and without further notice to the trade.

Hydrated Lime.—The market is practically without activity of any sort, current demand is negligible and inquiries for future deliveries are few and far between. According to prominent dealers there are no bright spots in the situation at present and the outlook for the coming months is anything but satisfactory. No improvement in the demand is anticipated until there is a greatly increased volume of private building prevalent. Prices at the present writing remain unchanged, but owing to the recent advance in freight rates there is every probability that hydrated lime prices will be increased proportionately.

Sand and Gravel.—The market situation as applied to these commodities is unchanged and business continues in practically the same volume as has maintained for the past month or more. The movement of these materials is generally free and considered as a whole the condition is satisfactory. Sand prices are firm at $1.25 a cubic yard. The gravel situation is unchanged. Government demands, requiring approximately eighty per cent. of the output, takes precedence, but there is a fair amount now available for general building purposes. Gravel prices are strong at $2.00 a cubic yard to dealers.

Trap Rock.—The demand is strong and the outlook for a continuation of excellent business is considered good by the local dealers. Prices are firm at $1.95 a cubic yard, New York, for ¾ in. and $1.85 for 1½ in. The steady growth in the popularity of reinforced concrete as a medium of construction and more particularly the immense requirements for the large Government projects in this locality have been of infinite benefit to this market.

Wire Products.—Manufacturers of both wire and wire nails have all the business they can possibly handle and many are behind in their deliveries on private contracts owing to the large volume of Federal business that has been placed with the mills and that takes precedence over orders for private consumption. The Quartermaster Department, New York Division, is in the market for 49,000 kegs of wire nails and 47,000 kegs in addition are desired for the general use of the army. These orders have not been placed at the present writing. Until further announcement, one hundred per cent. of the output of the wire mills will be devoted to Government requirements.

MR. GOLDWIN STARRETT, PROMINENT IN ARCHITECTURAL CIRCLES, DIES

ARCHITECTS and builders throughout the country as well as locally will feel keenly the loss of Goldwin Starrett, senior member of the firm of Starrett & Van Vleck, 8 West 40th street, who died after a brief illness of pneumonia, at his home in Glen Ridge, N. J., Thursday, May 9. He was forty-four years of age.

In architectural circles Mr. Starrett occupied a prominent position among the leaders of his profession, and among his friends and business associates was respected and loved for the many qualities that marked this man of unusual attainments.

While at dinner one evening at the Engineers' Club some gentlemen at the round table were discussing the apparent unwisdom of filling children's heads with fairy stories, because these filled ough. Among other architectural works resulting from his genius are numbered the twenty-one story building at 8 West 40th street, where his firm maintained offices, the Lord & Taylor Building on Fifth avenue at 38th street, the apartment house at the northeast corner of Fifth avenue and 63d street, recognized as being one of the most beautiful structures of its type in the city, the Berkeley Building, in 44th street and a number of modern school buildings in various locations close to New York.

Goldwin Starrett was a member of a family widely noted for its structural accomplishments. He was the brother of Col. Wm. A. Starrett, Construction Quartermaster General of the United States Army, in charge of the construction of army cantonments and chairman of the Committee on Building Construction of the Council of National Defense. Col. Starrett resigned from the firm of Starrett & Van Vleck to take up this important work for the Government. Paul Starrett, another brother, is president of the George A. Fuller Co., builders of national repute, and his brother Ralph is a member of the firm of Starrett & Goss, building contractors. Theodore Starrett, who died last October, was the founder of the Thompson-Starrett Co., and a man of countrywide prominence in construction circles. He was a pioneer builder of skyscrapers.

Goldwin Starrett was a chapter and institute member of the American Institute of Architects, a member of the Architectural League of New York and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. He is survived by his widow and two daughters.

Planning New Brooklyn Hospital.

Helmle & Corbett, architects, 190 Montague street, Brooklyn, are preparing the plans and specifications for the new building to be erected for the Williamsburgh Hospital, 342 Bedford avenue, James McGarvey, chairman of the Building Committee. The structure will occupy a plot approximately 126x150 feet at the southeast corner of Driggs avenue and South 9th street. The plans call for a building seven stories in height, fireproof throughout and constructed according to the most modern ideas of hospital convenience and sanitation. The cost of this project is estimated to be in the neighborhood of $350,000.

PERSONAL AND TRADE
NOTES.

McMann Supply Co., Inc., plumbing supplies, has recently moved from 56 Gold street to 319 Pearl Street.

Harde & Hasselman, architects, have moved their offices from 56 West 45th street to 331 Madison avenue.

Goodwin, Gallagher Sand & Gravel Co., recently moved its offices from 61 Broadway to 21 East 40th street.

D. C. Newman Collins, architect and engineer, has lately moved his offices from 29 Broadway to 14 John street.

Frederick W. Eisenla, architect, has recently moved his offices from 571 77th street to 650 68th street, Brooklyn.

Harby, Abrons & Melius, Inc., general contractors, have moved their offices from 30 East 42d street to 15 East 40th street.

Architectural Metal Works, Inc., announce the removal of its office and plant from 1192 Second avenue to 158 East 85th street.

Hoffman Specialty Co., Chicago, Ill., has recently moved its New York office from 71 Fulton street to 512 Fifth avenue. E. S. Storm, vice-president of the company, is in charge of the local office.

Kings County Lighting Co. announces that its employees have a one hundred per cent. record for subscriptions to the Third Liberty Loan. Ralph Elsmen, general manager of the company, was most their minds with unrealities and had a tendency to give them a disregard for truth.

Goldwin Starrett was sitting at the table and finally said that the reading of fairy stories to children developed their imaginations, and without imagination man could do nothing. Everything must be created in the mind and at the earliest moment a child must learn to make mental pictures, but whether or not the fairy story did take away temporarily the sense of truth, it certainly did build up the imagination, which was the most important working factor in the life of man.

The above is typical of the man—a sensitive, kindly, creative spirit—and made a lasting impression on all those sitting at the table.

Goldwin Starrett was born in Lawrence, Kansas, on September 29, 1874. He was a student of mechanical engineering at the University of Michigan and obtained his degree in 1898, after which he entered the employ of Daniel H. Burnham, architect, Chicago, who designed the buildings for the World's Fair in that city. During the time of his association with this noted architect, Mr. Starrett developed his talent for architecture to such a high degree that he became the intimate business associate of Mr. Burnham in the practice of his profession.

After leaving Chicago Mr. Starrett came to New York, where he became associated with his brother Theodore in the Thompson-Starrett Co., where he remained for five or six years. In 1908 he founded the architectural firm of Starrett & Van Vleck, and throughout his life continued as senior partner in that concern.

Prominent among the buildings designed and erected under the supervision of Mr. Starrett is the large office building, at the corner of Court and Remsen streets, Brooklyn, conceded to be the finest office building in the Bor-enthusiastic when it was reported that the employees had demonstrated their Americanism in such concrete form.

Walter A. Fairervis has been appointed advertising manager of the Kings' County Lighting Co., Brooklyn, and has started an educational campaign in interest of the consumers. Mr. Fairervis was formerly associated with James A. Donnelly, New York, and before that was connected with the Theodore Presser Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

Col. John Joseph Carty, attached to the Signal Corps, United States Army, has been awarded the Edison medal, it was announced recently, by the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. The award was made for Col. Carty's work in the science and art of telephone engineering. The presentation will be made at the annual meeting of the institute on May 17.

In Store for You

Great as our generating equipment is, we do not rely on this alone. We have in addition one of the most extensive storage battery equipments in the industry

Not only at Waterside but at our 32 substations there is sufficient storage battery reserve to carry our entire load during emergencies

In Case of Accident

this reserve automatically picks up the load and the service continues as steady as it was before

A provision like this is necessary in ordinary times. Today, when current demand is at war-time height, it is simply invaluable. Your neighbors know this and have taken advantage of it. Adopt today this service in store for you

Sub-Meters
An Asset or a Liability?

Hundreds of prominent concerns to whom we can refer you, employ us to safeguard their interests by having their sub-meters regularly inspected by us and account taken of their meter records.

It is essential that this precaution be taken—for sub-meters, like any other sensitive mechanism, are apt to get out of order.

Through our service you will obviate loss caused by under-recording. Many of the most prominent real estate firms in New York have selected us to save them money in this way.

Experts Tell How New Torrens Law Will Work

Registrars of Counties in Greater New York Preparing a Form for Registration of Titles.

THE Registrars of the five counties in New York City have agreed on a uniform fee and a standard form of petition for the search of titles under the Torrens law, recently enacted.

The scale of fees and form of petition have been submitted to the Supreme Court for adjudication. On property valued at $50,000 the fees would be as follows: Filing notice of petition, $1; publishing, mailing, and posting notice, $15; examination fee, $1 a thousand of assessed valuation, plus $10 expenses; assurance premium, $1 a thousand; first certificate, $5, resulting in a cost of $131 for establishing the original search on property valued at $50,000.

Every additional certificate of title issued on that property thereafter will cost $3, no matter how often title changes hands.

BY CYRIL H. BURDETT,

Vice-President New York Title & Mortgage Co.

THE Governor has signed the bill amending the Torrens Law of this State, and the public officials of the counties composing Greater New York, as well as the officers of the so-called Torrens Title League, are hailing the fact with elation, as paving the way for a general use of the Torrens Registration proceeding in passing titles in the ordinary course of buying and selling, and loaning upon, real estate. These gentlemen are the extreme advocates of the Torrens Title Registration System and are constantly attacking the good faith of everyone who fails to agree with them, although the latter are quite as good friends of this law as such self-elected advocates.

The Real Estate Board, through the chairman of its Torrens Title Committee, Professor Alfred G. Reeves, has always asserted a friendship with the law and sought to make it workable along practical lines and within constitutional limitations, as well as to popularize it among real estate owners, and the officers of title insurance companies on this committee have co-operated in all sincerity with the other members of the committee in acting for the best interests of those affected by the law.

The title insurance companies, being perhaps more familiar than anyone else with the workings of the law and its limitations, practical and constitutional, have given to the law of 1916 their approval, but have opposed the amendments now adopted because of the constitutional objections and because of the complete overturn of the method of service.

Assemblyman Youker is quoted as saying that the amendments were passed "over the united and persistent opposition of all the title companies of New York City, who succeeded in eliminating from the bill only one proposed amendment to the present law." This is hardly correct, because of the fact that we were able to eliminate from the bill, not only the very dangerous provision which put the county back of the Assurance Fund, irrespective of the amount paid in by the registered owners—which the Attorney-General held to be clearly unconstitutional, and were successful also in preventing the adoption of the amendment framed by the Assembly Committee, which extended recourse to the fund to all persons who should

Secretary of the Torrens Title League.

THE governor, on May 9, 1918, signed the Youker bill, amending the New York Torrens Registration law. The amendments constitute Chapter 572 of the Laws of 1918. By these amendments the New York law becomes very similar to the law of Massachusetts.

For the first registration the title is examined under order of court. This official examination is done by an examiner in the registrar's office, although the court may, in its discretion, if the applicant so requests, accept a report from a title company in lieu of the official examiner's report. A survey must be furnished by the petitioner.

The court sets a day when the petition will be heard and notices of the hearing are sent out by the registrar. On the return day, if no objections are found, the title is ordered registered. An assurance premium is then paid to the registrar and the owner receives his certificate of title. No appeal from the final order of registration can be taken after thirty days, when the certificate becomes conclusive.

To make application a petition must be made out, giving all the facts about the title known to the applicant.

The petition must be filed with the county clerk, who is the clerk of the Supreme Court, and at the same time a notice, stating that the petition has been filed, must be filed with the county clerk and also with the registrar. The court immediately enters an order, referring the petition to the official examiner to examine the title. The order also fixes the return day, and directs the registrar to give notice of the hearing. A form of notice of hearing is given in Section 386 of the law. At least twenty days' notice is required, and it is given by the registrar, who publishes the notice in a newspaper and within seven days send a copy of the notice by registered mail to each person interested and also posts it on the land at least fourteen days before the return day. From twenty to thirty days is required to put the proceeding through in an ordinary case.

Experts Tell How New Torrens Law Will Work

BY EDWARD POLAK,
Registrar of the County of Bronx.

THE three principal amendments to the Torrens law put forward at this year's session of the Legislature, by the County Officials Committee, were:

First: Making official examinations of title exclusively official.

Second: Provision to shorten the time and lessen the expense of the initial proceedings; which includes service by registered mail.

Third: The placing of the State (County) in back of the Assurance Fund.

While it is agreed that the law would work better as a business measure if all the proposed amendments had been adopted, certain improvements contained in the Youker bill, now enacted into law, when properly understood, will go a long way toward making the law workable and useful.

Most of the provision contained in the first proposed amendment to make the examinations of title really official, has been adopted.

The relation of the official examiner to the court and county officials has been established on a more logical basis. Under the old law, the so-called official examiner was selected and paid by the applicant, and his report upon the condition of the title had all the weakness which attaches to an ex-parte statement. Under the newly enacted law, the official examiner is appointed by the Registrar, after first having passed an examination given by the Court of Appeals and being admitted as an examiner by the Appellate Division. He reports directly to the court without private employment by the petitioner. Matters in question may be referred by the court to such an official examiner and he occupies a relation independent of any private interest, similar to that of a referee named by the court. The only exception is that of allowing title and abstract company reports to be accepted in lieu of referring the matter to an official examiner where the court, in its discretion, may permit it, upon the request of the petitioner. This latter provision is not as bad in its effect as under the old law which permitted the title company to be employed at any time. The companies must give guarantee bonds to the county insuring their work.

But that which is of greatest importance and which is the real basis of a workable law, is now accomplished, and that is a simple, shorter and inexpensive procedure is provided. The high cost of the duplicate action at law and the length of time required for the first registration was the chief reason for the failure of the law in the past.

The effect will be to make the proceedings approach more closely to the examination and certification of a title by an attorney or title company; while at the same time preserving the jurisdiction of the court over every detail and giving to the court the duty of finally passing upon all matters and adjudicating that the title is in the person to whom it is found upon examination to belong. Under this new law an ordinary title can be registered in time enough to permit a person holding a thirty-day contract to purchase land, to have his title registered.

After the petition has been filed and the matter referred to the official examiner, all the routine matters are attended to by the registrar's office, and the expense of mailing, service and publication of the notices, which should be between $20 and $30, is paid by the petitioner. He also pays the examiner's fee, which is $10 plus one-tenth of one per cent. of the assessed value of the property, which must be paid in advance to the Registrar. After the decree registering the title has been signed, the petitioner pays an assurance premium of one-tenth of one per cent. on the assessed value of the property, to the Registrar at the time the decree is presented to him for entry, together with a fee of $5 for the certificate of title.

Title company and Torrens fees follow:

Amount	(Original Issues)		(Re-Issues)
	Title Co. fees.	Torrens fees.	Title Co. fees.	Torrens fees.
$5,000	$85.00	$41.00	$51.00	$3.00
$10,000	115.00	51.00	69.00	3.00
$25,000	205.00	81.00	123.00	3.00
$50,000	320.00	131.00	189.50	3.00
$75,000	382.50	181.00	220.75	3.00
$100,000	445.00	231.00	252.00	3.00

This table will enable any person to figure the approximate cost on a valuation within the above amounts.

The above cost does not include the expense of a survey which must be furnished by the petitioner, nor the fee of an attorney, if the petitioner should employ one. This fee, however, should be nominal, as the work involved for the attorney would not be great.

Full particulars may be obtained by applying to the Registrar's Office in Bronx, New York, and Kings, and the County Clerk's Office, in Queens and Richmond.

By Walter Fairchild, Secretary of the Torrens Title League.

Examination of title, $10, plus 1/10 of 1 per cent. on the assessed value of the property; assurance premium, 1/10 of 1 per cent. of the assessed value; first certificate, $5; filing fees, advertising and serving notices, between $15 and $20.

Formula: For easy calculation take $2 per thousand on the assessed value of the property and add $31 and you will get the approximate cost of the initial registration. This is in addition to the cost of the survey, which the petitioner must furnish. These expenses are paid once only. Subsequent transfers cost $3, and to register a mortgage costs $1. All fees are paid to the registrar, who turns them into the city treasury. No assurance premium is required on transfers. The initial payment covers all future dealings.

Under the new law (Sec. 434) the registrar is authorized to have the necessary forms prepared and printed, to be furnished to applicants free of charge or at a reasonable cost. It is understood that these forms are now in process of preparation. The Torrens Title League, J. Clarence Davies, president; John J. Hopper, treasurer; Walter Fairchild, secretary and counsel, which has been active in passing the amended law, will advise and assist, without charge, any one who desires to register his title. Application for information may be made to the league at its office, 215 West 125th street, or to Walter Fairchild, attorney, 1 Liberty street.

The registrars are perfecting a form of application, the basis of which is the digest and form prepared by Walter Fairchild, which was offered by him to the registrars of the five counties in Greater New York. It is expected that this form will be ready for use next week.

World's Largest Building To Be Built Here

Government Signs Contract with Turner Construction Company for Big Army Supply Base

VERTOPPING, in both size and cost, all other active Government building operations within the boundaries of the Metropolitan district is the new Army Supply Base, to be erected at the southern extremity of the Bush Terminal area, in Brooklyn, at a cost exceeding $40,000,000.

Contracts for the work involved in this gigantic project have just been signed between the Turner Construction Company, 244 Madison avenue, Manhattan, and the War Department, Washington, D. C. The contract calls for the construction of a supply base for over-seas transportation to be erected on the property located between Second avenue and the pier head line, from 58th to 65th streets, South Brooklyn. Construction will be of reinforced concrete throughout, and will conform in general to other structures on the property.

The plans and specifications have been prepared by Cass Gilbert, architect, 244 Madison avenue, Manhattan, under the direction of Major-General Goethals, Director of Storage, Transportation and Purchase. The complete plans for this operation contemplate the erection of the largest building ever constructed in the world so far as any available information is concerned. Altogether in the neighborhood of 6,000,000 square feet of fireproof floor space will be accommodated under one roof. The building is to be approximately 1,000 feet square and from eight to nine stories in height, lighted on one street and three large courts.

In addition to the building, the plans include the erection of three double-decked steel, concrete and timber piers, 1,300 feet long and 150 feet wide, together with a lighterage pier of 1,350 feet by 70 feet wide, one story high. About thirteen miles of railroad track will be installed to serve this supply base, and one hundred and fifty elevators will be included to handle about 1,000,000 tons of goods to be stored. It is estimated that twelve eight-ton ships can be loaded in one day when the plant is working at its maximum of service.

The following comparisons will give a more definite idea of the magnitude of this operation: The building will have a floor area five times as large as that in the Equitable Building and will contain seven times the cubical contents of the Woolworth Building. The piers are larger than any built in New York Harbor at the present time and will accommodate the greatest ships in existence. The main warehouse will cover a space equal to the entire space occupied by the Natural History Museum Park, 77th to 81st street, Central Park West and Columbus avenue and will be eight stories in height, with basement over the entire area.

The contractors for this task expect to give the Government partial use of the building by the end of the current year and the entire project will be completed early next spring. About seven thousand mechanics and laborers will be engaged on this work when the job is progressing at full speed. Work has already been started.

In connection with the announcement of this most important Government building operation in this territory we print a table of other Federal building operations, both active and contemplated, located in Greater New York or in close proximity to this city.

National Organization For Building Industries

American Institute of Architects Issues Call For Convention on June 7 to Form Federation

SINCE April, 1917, when the United States entered the World War as an active belligerent on the side of the Allies, there has been a marked movement toward the federation and coordination of great industrial bodies. Almost every branch of industrial and commercial endeavor has combined its forces under centralized national organizations, thus placing their industries upon a sound war basis and arranging their affairs in such an orderly manner as to be promptly available to the Government when particular service or special advice is required for the successful prosecution of the military program.

Up to a few months ago, the building trades, one of the basic industries of the country, were unable to boast of no coordinated national body to safeguard their interests or to be of assistance to the Federal authorities in solving the numerous structural problems involved in the military preparations. Definite action has now been taken, however, and the American Institute of Architects has fittingly assumed the leadership in this movement that will undoubtedly have a far-reaching effect upon the welfare of the building interests throughout the United States.

A call for a national conference, having as its objective the coordination of building interests and the establishment of a national organization, has been sent by the Institute to the representatives of prominent national and local organizations affiliated with the building industry, the text of which follows and is self-explanatory:

"May 14, 1918.

"The American Institute of Architects believes the time has come when steps should be taken toward federating the whole building industry of the United States, in order that the Government may have the most intelligent support and powerful cooperation of all the interests involved.

"The war-time need of such action appears to be immediately imperative and it would seem that the first and paramount duty of the building industry is to place its knowledge, skill and equipment unreservedly at the service of the nation, involving as it does elements and factors of the widest diversification. That service can only reach its maximum of efficiency through intelligent adjustment of all the vital parts. The building industry also owes it to itself seriously to study from the broadest possible viewpoint the inevitable disorganizing influences of war which have already been felt, and through such study to determine what steps can be taken toward bettering conditions and minimizing any further unnecessary disorganization.

"With a view to the possible formation of a national organization, which might assume the burden of this tremendous undertaking, the American Institute of Architects accepts the patriotic duty of initiating the movement. To this task the whole building industry should subscribe. As a first step the Institute invites you to send a duly authorized and accredited representative to a conference to be held at the Engineering Societies Building, 25 West 39th street, New York City, beginning at 10 a. m. on June 7, 1918, for the purpose of discussing the situation and determining the method and providing the means whereby such an organization may be created. This invitation is being issued to national and important local organizations which represent the building industry, whether technical, manufacturing, contracting or labor.

"We will greatly appreciate your prompt notification of acceptance of this invitation and, at the earliest possible moment, the receipt of the name of the representative whom you will send.

"Please address all communications to the Executive Secretary, The American Institute of Architects, the Octagon, Washington, D. C.

"Cordially yours,

Organization For Realty Red Cross Drive

ARRANGEMENTS are practically completed for the campaign in aid of the Red Cross to be carried on by the Real Estate Board through a committee appointed by President Laurence McGuire and of which William L. DeBost is Chairman.

The headquarters of the committee will be at the rooms of the Real Estate Board and daily meetings will be held to receive the reports of the division chairmen and their teams and to discuss such matters connected with the drive as may be brought to the attention of the meetings. Mr. DeBost has named as his co-workers on the committee, division chairmen William Schackford of Daniel Birdsall & Company, Francis Guerrich of Horace S. Ely & Company, and there will be thirty men working under these division chairmen.

Assisting Mr. DeBost in the detail work of the drive will be Francis Bancroft of Pease & Elliman, who will serve in the capacity of vice-chairman and act for Mr. DeBost in his absence.

The committee will cover only the Borough of Manhattan and will conduct a thorough canvass of every real estate office and property managed by the various brokers in the Borough, including all the employees of such offices and buildings. The daily report of the workers will be tabulated as received and a report submitted to the committee at the close of each day.

Chairman DeBost said yesterday:

"We have planned to conduct a very strenuous campaign and will find the experience gained in the recent Liberty Loan campaign of particular advantage. Our teams will canvass thoroughly the entire Borough and will leave no stone unturned. The record made by the Realty Division in the Third Liberty Loan drive was a splendid one and we will use that as our guide in making this campaign.

"Every man on the several teams has been requested to get after subscriptions from the smallest to the highest amount and we are confident that our committee will make a very creditable showing."

Health Department's Heavy Cost To Taxpayers

Has Spent Thirty-six Millions in Twelve Years—Expenses Increasing More Rapidly Than Population

THE controversy which has recently arisen between Mayor Hylan and the officials of the Board of Health has served to draw public attention to the many activities of this department of the city administration, and to the rapidly increasing cost of these functions which the taxpayers are called upon to meet. The figures in the financial statements of the Board to the Comptroller's office for a number of years disclose the astounding fact that in the last twelve years the expenditures of the department have more than doubled.

In the same period of time the population of the city has increased about 42 per cent., which proves that the cost of running the Health Department has more than kept pace with the additions to the inhabitants of the city.

With the total budget of the municipality now considerably over two hundred millions a year and rapidly mounting, real estate owners are particularly interested in any light which can be thrown on the causes for the constantly growing burden which realty is forced to bear.

The last published report of the Comptroller shows that the budget has increased from $163,128,700 in 1910 to $211,114,136 in 1917. In eight years the increased expense of running the city rose nearly fifty millions of dollars, which gives some indication of why the tax rate went up from $1.75 to $2.02 per $1,000 in the same period. Every department of the city had a share in running up the enormous budget, and the increases in the Health Department have been especially striking.

The Comptroller's statements show that the expenditures of the Health Department since 1905 have totaled over thirty-six millions. By years the figures are as follows:

1906	1,889,189
1907	2,079,413
1908	2,507,212
1909	2,584,603
1910	2,804,976
1911	2,780,022
1912	3,073,242
1913	3,329,240
1914	3,223,820
1915	3,322,426
1916	3,645,735
1917	3,327,541*
	$36,331,297

*Appropriation in Budget.

In the last complete available statement of the Department, that for 1916, showing just show the expenditure of the large sums of money turned over to it by the administration is apportioned among its various bureaus there are nine general subdivisions of its activities, as follows:

General Administration	$320,333
Public Health Education	17,424
Keeping of Records	65,593
Child Hygiene	642,301
Preventable Diseases	588,646
Sanitary Inspection	347,439
Food and Drug Inspection	247,564
Laboratory Service	239,151
Hospital Service	1,177,280
	$3,645,735

In classifying the expenditures for the same year, 1916, the Department shows that $956,030 was applied to inspection service, and reference to preceding reports shows that the number of inspectors has increased rapidly in the last few years. Practically one-third of the total cost of the Department is for payments to inspectors. For the year 1916, according to the official reports, over a million dollars was expended for inspection service, largely in salaries. These figures are as follows:

Of this total nearly $600,000 was spent in the Borough of Manhattan alone. The number of inspectors is constantly increasing and the number of inspections is also growing larger every year. The total number of medical inspections in 1916 was 434,516, compared with 423,629, for the previous year, or an increase in twelve months of 10,887.

The figures for Greater New York are:

Inspection of school children	$375,330
General medical inspection	292,662
Inspection of institutions	27,442
Industrial hygiene, field inspections	5,816
Animal inspection	12,680
General sanitary inspection	173,546
General food and drug inspection	129,156
Milk inspection	68,554

Total$1,085,186

The activities of the Board of Health have been immensely extended since the consolidation of the five boroughs into Greater New York. Among the many new undertakings of the Department have been the extension of the system of school medical inspection; a more rigorous enforcement of the birth registration law; the establishment of sanatoriums for the treatment of tuberculosis; surveys of lodging houses for insanitary conditions and investigations of respiratory diseases.

Staten Island marsh lands have been drained in order to eradicate mosquitoes; milk supervision has been instituted, including the sanitary supervision of farms and dairies; tuberculosis clinics have been established, stereopticon exhibitions given in the parks, and the streets cleaned during a strike of the Municipal Street Cleaning Department.

During the four years from 1910 to 1914 eight bureaus were established by Dr. Lederle. The entire Department was reorganized and the following were formed: Bureau of General Administration; Bureau of Records; Sanitary Bureau; Bureau of Child Hygiene; Bureau of Infectious Diseases; Bureau of Food and Drugs; Bureau of Hospitals; Bureau of Laboratories.

The next administration, under Dr. S. S. Goldwater, added to the number of bureaus the following: Bureau of Public Health Education; Division of Industrial Hygiene; Division of Statistical Research.

This makes a total of eleven bureaus established in the five years from 1910 to 1915, each of which has a highly paid official in charge and a considerable staff of clerks and employees, thus adding greatly to the overhead charges of the Department.

Discussing the increased running expenses of the Department, Mr. Laurence McGuire, President of the Real Estate Board, in an address delivered before the Society of Medical Jurisprudence at the Academy of Medicine, December 14, 1914, said:

"It is the largest employer of physicians, surgeons and nurses in the city, and I am informed employs over 1,200 physicians. In the Bureau of Public Health there are 154 medical inspectors; in the Bureau of Infants' Milk Stations there are 23 medical inspectors; Bureau of Infectious Diseases, 74; and in the Bureau of Sanitary Inspection, 11.

"There are in addition 11 dentists, 15 veterinarians, two surgeons, 588 nurses, a great number of sanitary and food inspectors, chemists, bacteriologists, bacteriological diagnosticians and a pathologist, many clerks and stenographers.

"There are three captains of boats, 7 boatmen and deckhands, a number of pharmacists, 6 laboratory assistants and a dietitian. All these are in addition to the forces required in the regular hospitals.

"The justification for this enormous expense is the claim and popular belief that the Department has succeeded entirely by itself in reducing the death rate in the city. Credit unfortunately is not given the advance of modern science, or skill of outside physicians or to better housing facilities or the greatly improved means of living, all of which in some measure must be responsible for the lengthening of life, though I am informed that there is no betterment as to human life above the age of 40."

Since Mr. McGuire made these statements the number

Plans To Complete Queens Barge Terminals

Borough Officials and Chamber of Commerce Active in Preparation to Secure Benefits of New Waterway

IN the original plans for Barge Canal terminals within the territory of Greater New York, no provision was made for the establishment of terminals in the Borough of Queens. The Queens Chamber of Commerce called a special meeting to discuss the subject and a committee was appointed to confer with the State Engineer and with the Barge Canal Board with a view to having Queens included in the terminal area, and after persistent and consistent effort, during which numerous conferences were held, plans submitted, and locations discussed, the Board finally decided that Queens should have three terminals.

The first of these is located directly north of the Queensboro Bridge, having a frontage along the river of 681 feet, and a depth of 150 feet. To provide for this terminal it was necessary to amend the Map of the City of New York by extending North Jane street from Vernon avenue to the bulkhead line of the East River, and to acquire title thereto.

The Newtown Local Board passed a resolution to open North Jane street, and a map providing for this change is now before the Board of Estimate and Apportionment for approval and the proceeding cannot be advanced until this map is so approved.

The second terminal is located at Hallett's Cove, Astoria, and has a frontage of 450 feet in Hallett's Cove, extending back 50 feet to the Boulevard. The third terminal is in the Flushing River northwest of the Flushing Bridge with a frontage of 550 feet in Flushing Bay and extending back 450 feet to a public highway. The three terminals within the confines of Queens Borough cover an area of approximately ten acres.

Queens will benefit particularly by the opening of the Barge Canal. Each of the terminals is so located that any section of the Borough is easily within trucking distance.

Queens Borough is essentially a center of commercial activity and within a few years a large number of industrial enterprises have located there. Its extended water frontage affords commercial facilities of vast value, and the establishment of the three Barge Canal terminals opens up a new line of water communication at once economical and expeditious.

The three Queens terminals will provide distributing points for goods for manufacturers and shippers to all parts of the country, north, south, east and west, and provide employment for a great number of Queens residents in the handling of this vast tonnage.

Desiring to cooperate in every way with the State in hastening the construction of the terminals, the Borough officials have given much thought and effort to the matter of laying out the approaches to the terminals, the opening of the proposed new streets, the acquisition by the State of land needed, the drafting of plans and the drawing of maps so that the whole project was expedited in the minimum of time.

Pending action by the State Engineer on the construction of warehouses, and superstructures, cranes and other necessary equipment for these terminals, it is probable that arrangements will be made for the temporary use of suitable docks and warehouses pending the completion of the terminals themselves.

Edward Auderberg, Senior Assistant State Engineer, in charge of the New York City office, who has jurisdiction over Barge Canal terminals, buildings and the preliminary work thereof, said yesterday:

"The plans and specifications for Terminal Contract 42, which is the Bradley site, Long Island City, will be completed and ready for advertising about July 15; the plans and specifications for Contract 43, which is the Flushing Bay terminal, are now being prepared, and those for Contract 45, the Hallett's Bay terminal, will be advertised late in the fall.

"The action of the Board of Estimate on the proposed change of the Map of the City of New York, by the opening of the street leading to the Queensboro Bridge terminal, does not interfere in any way with the work of preparing the necessary plans and specifications for the advertising and letting of contracts for the construction of warehouses and other buildings. The title to the land is already vested in the State and it is only a matter of formality on the part of the Board of Estimate to approve of the proposed change."

The terminals in other parts of the city are in various stages of completion. At Pier 6, East River, the terminal is about 98 per cent. completed. This work is in the nature of reconstruction. The contract for construction of a superstructure and sheds at this pier will be given out in July. Pier 5, East River, is being used now, but there are some repairs to be made to the existing buildings and bids for the work will be opened on June 4. At the Greenpoint terminal the work is about fifty per cent. completed; at the Mott Haven, Bronx, terminal the work was about 57 per cent. completed on May 1st; at West 53d street the work is about 15 per cent. completed, and at the Gowanus Pier the work is about 20 per cent. completed.

Walter I. Willis, Secretary of the Queens Borough Chamber of Commerce, said yesterday:

"The location of three Barge Canal terminals in the Borough of Queens means much to this Borough. Naturally we expect great things as a result of the opening of these terminals, and what it will mean to the manufacturing interests of Queens can only be estimated. Aside from the economical feature of this Barge Canal with terminals in this Borough, the saving of time and labor are of considerable importance.

"We have figured that in some instances a saving of as much as twenty per cent. will be effected by the shipping of merchandise by way of the Barge Canal. It affords direct communication between Queens and all parts of the United States, a considerable part of the route being all water. We have plenty of vacant land here and expect that the opening of the canal will bring a great demand for sites here from manufacturing interests who will recognize, in addition to the other natural advantages of Queens as a manufacturing center, the economical and expeditious shipping and receiving of freight, which are the two essential points in favor of any manufacturing community."

The opening on Wednesday of the Barge Canal was effected without formality of any kind, but a more elaborate observance of the event will take place later, probably on July 4, the Legislature having made an appropriation for a celebration and authorized the Governor to appoint a commission to have charge of the affair.

On this commission the Chamber of Commerce of Queens will urge the appointment of a resident of that Borough and will take an active part in the celebration of the opening as a great State event generally and because of the location of three Barge Canal terminals in Queens, especially.

Traffic experts and engineers estimate the capacity of the new Barge Canal at ten million tons of freight annually, equivalent to half a million freight carloads. Control of the canal traffic was taken over by the Federal Government on April 17, in connection with the administration of all transportation lines.

Facts About Industrial Brooklyn.

THE following statement is issued by the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce:

Brooklyn, in its more than 870 plants, large and small, employs a total of over 200,000 horse power.

Brooklyn has invested in manufacturing business over $450,000,000.

Brooklyn industrial products are valued at $417,000,000 annually.

Brooklyn has nearly 900 miles of paved streets.

Brooklyn receives 165 new residents every day, 20 per cent. of whom engage in industrial occupations.

Brooklyn each week adds four new manufacturing plants to those already established and increases industrial investment at the rate of $25,000 per day.

Real Estate Board To Enlarge Its Organization

Plans Drive for New Membership to Strengthen It in Fight for Relief from Excessive Taxation.

THE Real Estate Board of New York is about to begin a campaign which should result in increasing greatly its value and usefulness and its capacity for serving the taxpayers of Greater New York. In response to an inquiry made by the Record and Guide an outline of the plan was given yesterday by Richard O. Chittick, Executive Secretary of the Board. Mr. Chittick said:

"It is true that the Real Estate Board is working out a plan for increasing its membership. All of the details of the plan, however, cannot yet be given. It is more important for the present to state briefly the reasons for the plan. If these are properly understood and appreciated by real estate owners the success of the plan will follow automatically.

"Real estate owners do not need to be reminded of the burden of taxation and other carrying charges which have hit real estate with cumulative force in recent years. A budget of $240,000,000 in 1918 and a tax rate ranging from 2.36 in Manhattan up to 2.46 in Richmond compels them to think very seriously.

"It is unnecessary to go into details about the cost of construction, the expenditures necessary under the building regulations and factory laws, increasing cost of insurance, etc.

"Another phase of the situation which is disconcerting to a degree is the pronounced tendency of some of our state and local officials to regard as subjects for governmental enterprise functions that are not properly so. Both in the State Legislature and nearer home the attempt is made with increasing frequency to saddle upon part of the community costs which should be assessed upon all of the community. Real estate carries practically all of this burden, both the legitimate and the ill-advised.

"All of this is entirely aside from the extraordinary direct and indirect costs of whatever kind which the war makes necessary and which, as just evidenced by a subscription of approximately $4,000,000 by the Real Estate Division to the third Liberty Loan, and in many other ways, are all cheerfully met.

"The carrying charges, which we can estimate fairly accurately, will increase next year; and there is no reason to believe that the other annoying features already referred to will not also be in evidence.

"Without piling up reasons it is plain that real estate owners have a colossal task before them if their holdings are to be much longer considered as assets instead of liabilities.

"The Real Estate Board has undoubtedly done a large service in the past four years. It has increased its membership from about 150 in 1913 to nearly 1,500 at the present time. It has expanded its machinery and increased its efficiency all along the line. Its policies are established. It occupies a secure place.

"But the demands are far greater than it can meet without adequate support. Already it is doing more for the real estate community than conditions warrant, for there are approximately 200,000 property owners paying taxes in New York City, which means that less than 1 per cent. are, through membership in the Real Estate Board, carrying the burdens of the whole. Real estate in Greater New York represents an assessed value of about eight billion dollars. The net revenue of the Real Estate Board should properly be regarded as the annual premium paid for securing the proper treatment of real estate. Looked upon in this light the premium is pitifully small considering the bulk and value of the property needing this form of insurance.

"In all seriousness the gravity of the conditions here referred to should secure cheerful acquiescence in almost any plan the Real Estate Board might present. The necessity is immediate for building up and supplying an adequate plant and machinery to do the work that it is imperative should be done—for analyzing local budgets; making proper investigations; protecting and promoting the welfare and interest of the Board's members; promoting and encouraging the enactment of proper laws; opposing and taking necessary steps to prevent the enactment of unjust and obnoxious legislation; securing an equitable and uniform system of taxation; advocating necessary public improvements and opposing unnecessary, extravagant and wasteful expenditures of public funds.

"These are the reasons for the Board's proposed plan. The plan itself may, for the moment, be summarized briefly. It embraces two features:

"First—The establishment of a Complaint Bureau to deal more particularly with all matters relating to departmental orders, to be equipped so as to investigate thoroughly conditions in specific buildings upon which orders are issued, and to make recommendations for the most economical carrying out of these orders where the orders are legitimate. For this special service a fee will be charged commensurate with the value of the services rendered.

"Second—The establishment of a class of Sustaining Members. There are hundreds of large corporations, estates and individuals whose holdings are numerous and represent large money value. Such corporations, estates and individuals are to be requested to make a specific annual contribution, bearing a proper relation to the interests which they have at stake. To repeat the simile of an insurance premium these contributions should be cheerfully made.

"This plan is being undertaken by the Real Estate Board in the full assurance that nothing short of a deliberate refusal to be forewarned or to appreciate the imperative necessity for guarding against the future will prevent its meeting with immediate success.

"It is perfectly obvious that if the work is not undertaken by the Real Estate Board it will not be undertaken at all, and it is quite as obvious that if the Real Estate Board is not properly supported by those who have so much at stake the Board cannot do the work.

"The plan here suggested has been presented to the Board of Governors and authorized by it at a recent meeting, and the work will proceed under the direction of Mr. A. C. MacNulty, Mr. E. P. Doyle and myself."

Conference by Taxpayers Called.

THERE will be a conference of the Presidents of Taxpayers' organizations at the rooms of the Real Estate Board next Thursday at 3 P. M.

The object of the conference, as stated by Edward P. Doyle, who has called it, is to consider proposed remedial legislation and to arrange for concerted action on the part of the taxpaying interests of the city to keep New York Safe for Life and Property.

Advocates Five Per Cent. Commission.

Editor of the RECORD AND GUIDE:

Will you please advocate in your columns the advisability of real estate agents in this city maintaining a standard rate of commission of five per cent. for the general management of properties?

As it is now, some agents will take over the management of real estate holdings at a commission as low as two per cent., while others accept the responsibility at two and one-half and three per cent., whereas if they would all cooperate with the one view in mind, that of charging the owners the maximum rate of five per cent., there would then be a chance for the agents to cover expenses and to make a small profit in their efforts in the owners' best interests.

With the shortage of help, and the necessary increases of salary, the agent of today is barely covering overhead expenses; hence the making of a demand for a standard rate of five per cent. commission for the general management of all real estate would relieve and better the condition of all agents, as well as rendering the greatest efficiency for the owner.

A SUBSCRIBER.

Peckham and Scott Tie for the President's Cup

Real Estate Golfers in Fine Contest at Annual Tournament for Benefit of Red Cross.

THE second annual golf tournament of the Real Estate Board of New York for the benefit of its Red Cross Fund was held on Thursday, May 16th, at the links of the Greenwich Country Club, Greenwich, Conn. The day was an ideal one for golf and there was a large attendance. Play started at 9 a. m. Buffet luncheon was served during the day.

The winners of the several classes, who may procure their prizes at the Board Rooms, 217 Broadway, are as follows:

The President's Cup, 18 holes net, all classes competing, resulted in the tie between W. H. Peckham, 101-20-81, and D. G. Scott, 97-16-81.

Class A—A. B. Ashforth's Cup, for the best 36 holes net, won by A. E. Taylor, 190-28-162.

Best gross 18 holes won by F. F. Turrell, 90.

Best net 18 holes tie between R. H. Macdonald, 95-13-82, and A. E. Taylor, 96-14-82, but as Mr. Taylor won the net selected the prize was given to R. H. Macdonald.

Best net selected 36 holes won by A. E. Taylor, 85-7-78.

Class B—Harold C. Richard's Cup, for the best 36 holes net, won by W. H. Peckham, 202-40-162.

Best gross 18 holes won by D. G. Scott, 97.

Best net 18 holes won by W. H. Peckham, 101-20-81.

Best gross selected 36 holes won by George F. Handel, 89.

Best net selected 36 holes resulted in the tie between E. Bass, 93-10-83, M. P. Collins, 91-8-83, and F. M. Zittel, 91-8-83.

Class C—Edward D. McManus Memorial Cup, for the best 36 holes net, won by B. M. Fellows, 209-48-161.

Best gross 18 holes won by J. J. Cavanaugh, 105.

Best net 18 holes won by B. M. Fellows, 107-24-83.

Best gross selected 36 holes won by W. W. Pellet, 96.

Best net selected 36 holes won by T. W. Wasson, 97-15-82.

The guest prize for 18 holes net was won by Morgan R. Howe, 92-23-69.

Health Department's Heavy Cost to Taxpayer.

of employees in the departments mentioned by him has been materially increased. Critics of the work of the Department have pointed out that in many instances people who are able to pay a physician have taken advantage of the services rendered by the Department and thus saved their pocketbooks at the expense of the public, and that one of the chief reasons why taxpayers have had their burden increased is on account of this indiscriminate use of the Department's medical staff, rather than the services of the family physician.

Adenoids have been removed, tonsils taken out, defective teeth attended to, weak ankles and fallen insteps rejuvenated and hair and scalp treatments given to any and all alike who applied, without, it is alleged, proper discrimination as to who was and who was not able to pay. Drugs, it is also declared, have been issued without charge, and examinations of blood corpuscles and sputa made, as a basis for physicians' treatment, at the expense of the taxpayers.

How much these activities of the Department have cost the citizens generally it is impossible to easily determine. Naturally, figures on the question are not obtainable at the Department except on an official investigation. It is evident, however, that the services of the Department which are most likely to be abused are the ones which are most indiscriminately distributed.

One of the characteristics of the Department of Health is its independence of the general administration of the city. In the first place it has the power to spend $80,000 more than its annual appropriation at any time and by a declaration of imminent peril adopted without the approval of the Mayor can, without special appropriation, spend any sums deemed by it necessary. The Board cannot be enjoined, as other departments of the city government can be, and no suit can be brought against it or its officials.

Even its membership is so divided that neither city nor State entirely controls it. One member of the Board is Health Officer of the Port of New York, appointed by the Governor; another, the Police Commissioner, and the third and executive member is the City Commissioner of Health.

New York is the most healthful large city in the world, and its citizens are justly proud of that fact. They are also exceedingly pleased with the location of the city at the mouth of the Hudson, on a low ridge of land which, with the river, gives the city an ideal drainage system; they revel in the ocean breezes which daily and nightly sweep over the city and purge its atmosphere of deadly gases and microbes; they admire its well paved streets and finely appointed buildings, which lend fewer lurking places for disease germs than is general in cities with millions of inhabitants, and they are born and grow up and thrive in a climate that is conducive to health and long life.

The question taxpayers ask is whether the low death rate is due to the tremendous expenditures of the Health Department, about which they know little or nothing except that they are increasing at a much more rapid rate than the population, or whether, under the disguise of a public benefactor, the Board of Health is spending money needlessly in salaries to doctors and nurses and wages to inspectors and in drug bills that should come out of the pockets of those directly benefited.

Annual Meeting of Society for Electrical Development.

THE annual meeting of the Society for Electrical Development, Inc., was held on Tuesday, May 14, at the offices of the Society in New York. James R. Strong presided at the meeting.

The election of directors resulted as follows:

For directors to represent central station interests, J. E. Montague, four years; W. W. Freeman, two years; E. N. Sanderson, one year.

For director to represent jobbing interests, Fred Bissell, four years.

For director to represent contracting interests, G. M. Sanborn, four years.

At the Board of Directors' meeting which followed the annual meeting, with J. E. Montague presiding, it was decided to continue the work of the society for another year upon the present basis and to conduct a "Convenience Outlet" campaign as suggested by the general manager.

The society will issue broadsides, booklets, folders, lithographed posters, etc., and will ask local committees to procure the co-operation of the entire electrical industry in educating the public to an appreciation of "Convenience Outlets" of all kinds, such outlets to be preferably on a separate circuit from the lighting. It is felt that the time is opportune for such a campaign when domestic servants are scarce and people have money to spend upon appliances, the proper use of which plays an important part in fuel conservation.

The following officers were elected:

Mr. Henry L. Doherty, President; Mr. Joseph E. Montague, Vice-President and member of the Executive Committee; Mr. Gerard Swope, Chairman of the Executive Committee. Mr. James M. Wakeman was reappointed General Manager and Mr. James Smieton, Jr., Secretary-Treasurer for the ensuing year.

Governor Clears Up Last of Legislative Bills

Signs Measure to Modify Pay-As-You-Go Policy and Vetoes Several Tax Measures.

(Special to the Record and Guide)

ALBANY, May 16.—Moved by the appeal of City Comptroller Craig that the Wagner bill, permitting New York City to issue, not exceeding $15,000,000, serial bonds or corporate stock annually during the war and for a year thereafter for certain public improvements is of vital importance to the city, Governor Whitman signed this measure, which is a modification of the so-called pay-as-you-go law. The governor acted in the closing hours of the thirty-day period, following a hearing upon the bill, at which Comptroller Craig and Senator Robert F. Wagner made strong appeals for its approval.

Opinion of the Governor follows:

"Concededly the city is free at the present time to provide for its rapid transit, its docks and its water supply without reference to the pay-as-you-go policy. These improvements can now be financed by the issuance of fifty-year corporate stock so far as its water supply is concerned, and so far as rapid transit and docks are concerned, to the extent that the borrowing capacity of the city permits.

"As to the construction of new schools, objections to the bill are urged upon the ground that on December 31, 1917, corporate stock or serial bonds had theretofore been authorized but unused for such purpose amounting to $13,936,438.64.

"Under the pay-as-you-go law the cost incurred for all non-revenue producing improvements authorized after January 1, 1918, must be met by budget appropriations and included in annual tax levies. This bill provides that the cost of such improvements shall be paid for during the life thereof, and extends such principle, in so far as the issuance of stock and bonds under this bill is concerned, to revenue producing as well as to non-revenue producing improvements.

"In the four years from January 1, 1910, to December 31, 1913, corporate stock and bonds amounting to $127,633,257 were issued for non-revenue producing purposes, making an annual average of $31,908,314. During the three years from January 1, 1914, to December 31, 1916, the annual average was $19,687,236. The minimum of $15,000,000 specified in the bill was suggested by the Legislature after an extended examination of all of the available information upon the subject. The city authorities claim, therefore, that this bill is a modification and improvement rather than a repeal of the pay-as-you-go policy.

"Authorizations under the existing law appear in the budget only after the contractor has performed the work for which the authorizations were made. Accordingly the budget part of outstanding authorizations, which on December 31, 1917, were $30,379,160.74, might be spread over a number of years.

"It is urged, however, that these authorizations are largely for purposes which require substantial modification or an entire substitution of new plans or location for the improvements for which they were issued, and that the present law precludes such substitution or new location and holds everything in check. The comptroller of the city, in a memorandum submitted in favor of the bill, states: 'That the debt-incurring power of the city on April 1, 1918, was $26,529,168.34; that if the present bill is signed this amount will be considerably increased by the rescindment of prior authorizations largely for public schools, which cannot be used for their original purposes because those purposes have been somewhat changed; that such appropriations will be rescinded, and that under the present law new appropriations could not be authorized, although it is desired to erect these schools in slightly different localities and of somewhat different style than heretofore specified.'

"This bill is endorsed by the bankers who supported the enactment of the pay-as-you-go law.

"For the foregoing reasons the bill is approved.

"(Signed) CHARLES S. WHITMAN."

Several bills of interest to real property owners in New York City were embraced in the governor's omnibus veto message. Among these were:

Senator Farrenkopf, providing that the holder of a tax lien may foreclose the same in the County Court of the county where the property is situated as well as in the Supreme Court.

Senator Farrenkopf, providing that the people of the state may be made a party defendant in an action to compel the determination of real property in the same manner as a private person when the real estate affected is situated wholly within first and second class cities.

Senator Knight, abolishing the distinction between tangible and intangible property for transfer tax purposes and providing that securities not otherwise taxable and kept within the state and cash on deposit or kept within the state by non-residents shall be construed as property within the state.

Senator Gibbs, amending the lien law by giving material furnishers and labor a preference over all other lienors on contract work outside of New York City.

First Mortgages On Real Estate as Investments

THE Advisory Council of Real Estate Interests has issued the following statement:

Secured incomes and speculative investments should not be confused even in war time.

We here refer to a distinction which is very clear and yet which is too often overlooked. Thus, although many of the transactions which make up the real estate market are investments of the speculative variety, the principal units of real property have been acquired for permanent income, and it has been estimated that over 60 per cent. of all real estate values in New York City are mortgages held by institutions and persons who desire an absolutely safe and permanent investment with a dependable return in interest. The speculative element in real estate is confined to equities, and the same condition exists with intangible securities as the value of stocks depends upon the equity above the bonds, and the stockholder takes his chances on business conditions and the ability of those who happen to control the respective corporations.

In the "American" of last Monday we find an interview with an unnamed banker, who advises that in order to participate in the speculative stocks at present quotations all permanent investments should be thrown over. Such advice naturally comes from a stock broker who overlooks his professional responsibilities. He fails to appreciate—first, that a mortgage investor is just the person who should be advised to keep out of the stock market because he is not equipped by experience or inclination for a speculative trader; second, mortgages cannot be paid without withdrawing capital from some other source, and therefore the amount available for stock exchange transactions is not increased; third, such private conversion of funds will directly conflict with the alleged desire of some institutions to enlarge their liquid capital by realizing on their real estate mortgages at par instead of recognizing the depreciation now common with other securities.

The Advisory Council of Real Estate Interests, through its representative membership in banking, as well as other lines of activity, has given this entire subject a large amount of study from the viewpoint of the general welfare, as well as that of the borrowers and lenders on mortgage security. The Council has discouraged every tendency to accept the short-sighted advice as given by the broker quoted.

Back Up the Real Estate Board.

Real estate owners and operators of the city should be greatly interested in the announcement made by the Real Estate Board, printed elsewhere in the Record and Guide, of the institution of a campaign for increased membership in this active organization, which is constantly and successfully working to advance realty interests under circumstances that have been growing more trying every year.

The Real Estate Board in four years has grown from a new and untried organization to a strong and vigorous one, and its record in support of measures benefiting real property and its activity in fighting inimical legislation and municipal extravagance is too well known to require more than passing reference.

It was one of the chief advocates of the Zoning Law and strongly backed the Save New York Movement. Under the able leadership of the present president of the organization—Mr. Laurence McGuire—it bore the brunt of the campaign to secure the passage by the Legislature of the Boylan Bill, which, if enacted into law, would have relieved real estate of a considerable part of the constantly increasing burden it has had to carry. The Board was nearly successful in getting this measure enacted into law. The fight must be renewed at the next session of the Legislature, and there is no other organization which can so successfully "carry on" in this matter as the Real Estate Board. It is of vital interest to every one of the more than 200,000 property owners in New York that the Board should be supported, and supported fully and whole-heartedly by personal contact with it and in money backing. The full plans of the organization for its drive will be awaited with interest, and the Record and Guide will gladly do its share in making it successful.

Mighty Poor Advice.

A great deal of adverse comment has been caused by an article in the New York "American" last Monday, which urged investors to keep out of mortgages during the war. Some anonymous banker, "head of a well-known firm," was given by the newspaper as authority for the article.

It is not surprising that the anonymous banker kept his identity a secret. The stupid advice offered in the article would make any level-headed man anxious to avoid responsibility for it.

Asserting the belief that no funds whatever should be invested in real estate at this time, the "head of a well-known firm" is quoted as making the astonishing statement that "it would appear that this is one time in the world's history when a renewal of mortgages can be considered bad business." Investment in speculative stocks was urged in the article as wiser.

How illadvised is such talk must be apparent upon even the slightest reflection. Nothing could be safer than good mortgage investments. Less money has been lost in that than in any other form of investment.

Mr. William P. Rae, President of the Brooklyn Board of Real Estate Brokers, expresses the resentment of that body in a letter to Mayor Hylan, declaring: "That portion of the said article referring to mortgages is prejudicial to every interest supporting our Government; against public policy logically, and in fact untrue, false and misleading." In the letter to the mayor the article also is condemned as unpatriotic, "an evident effort to disturb the public mind and unsettle established conservative investments."

Whoever was responsible for the "American" article offered some mighty poor advice. Most investors are too sensible to heed it, and the others should hesitate before deciding to follow it.

Convention of the Building Industries.

The American Institute of Architects has called a meeting of the various professions, trades and industries identified with the building business, to be held at the Engineering Societies' Building, New York, June 7.

The immediate purpose of the meeting is a conference to consider what can be done to organize the entire building industry and adapt its operations to war-time conditions.

It is essential that the industry shall have a definite understanding of the needs and the purposes of the Government in order that it may co-operate with the Government to supply those needs to the full extent of its ability.

It is also desirable that it may make clear to the Government the needs of the industry and to gain its co-operation—as far as the exigencies of war may permit—in the conservation of the industry.

The building industry is most fortunate in having within its ranks a body like the American Institute of Architects, thoroughly neutral and entirely competent to arrange the preliminaries for whatever organization may be deemed suitable.

The importance of making the gathering a thoroughly representative one is accepted by all parties in interest. It should include both national and large local associations—architectural and engineering professions, material manufacturers and distributors, contractors and labor interests—so that the industry may profit by a complete interchange of views. As whatever action may be taken will affect all, it should spring from united council.

Active co-operation of many interests is already pledged, giving assurance of a meeting truly representative of every section of the country and of every branch of the industry.

Such a meeting gives promise of such a complete interchange of opinions and statements of facts and conditions as clearly to warrant the attendance of every man interested in getting a nationwide view of the conditions affecting building industry.

Experts Tell How New Torrens Law Will Work.

fail to receive actual notice of the pendency of the action, but the Legislature also considered it only justice to the real estate public that, in the administration of the Torrens law, they should have the privilege of obtaining the very best service available, which was through the assistance of title insurance companies, so that under the bill as passed, upon request of the applicant, the Court may appoint a title company as official examiner in a Torrens proceeding.

It should be very carefully noted, in the memorandum which the Governor filed with his approval of the bill, that he quotes the opinion of the Attorney-General, to the effect that, although in his opinion, "there is sufficient notice and hearing provided by the bill to constitute due process of law, yet, where a minimum of notice is being approached, the court should take the burden of deciding just the length of notice and nature of notice which divides adequate and reasonable notice from inadequate notice." The advocates of these amendments have approached dangerously near the line of adequate notice, if they have not actually gone beyond the line, and no careful or conservative attorney will accept a Torrens title under this Act until the Court of Appeals has finally decided the question.

The Governor himself also had some doubt as to the constitutionality of the Act, as he uses the following language in the memorandum just quoted:

"It is urged by those favoring the bill that the present system of registering titles is cumbersome, and, although this bill may contain some objectionable features, it will, if it is held constitutional by the Court of Appeals, give great relief to the owners of real estate."

It will thus be seen that both the Attorney-General and the Governor, at the very outset, in the approval of the bill, throw doubts upon its constitutionality.

Under the Act of 1916, four of the five title insurance companies of Greater New York stood ready to guarantee titles coming through a registration certificate. Until the present Act, as amended, is construed by the Court of Appeals, it is doubtful if any of these companies will so guarantee.

A great deal has been said about the rapidity with which proceedings can now be brought and the small expense to the real estate owner. Attention has heretofore been directed to the inadequate equipment of the offices of the various county clerks and registers of this city for making such searches. This inadequacy will be a very important factor in the expeditious examination of titles and the correctness of the abstract. Personally, I do not see how anyone would be justified in relying upon the work which the registrars' and county clerks' offices will turn out. In most of these offices, searches would have to be made by the old method of digging out the chain of title, which, as every one knows, is a long and cumbersome procedure. The registrar's office of New York County, although it has what is called a "locality plant," in a test which was made as to 25 blocks, selected at random, failed to return an average of 38 per cent. of the instruments affecting the parcels in question and constituting a necessary part of the chain of title—hardly a reliable foundation upon which to base a Torrens title proceeding. Inasmuch as the Supreme Court of the State of Minnesota, in the case of Baart vs. Martin, reported in 99 Minn. 197, ruled that: "When a name of a claimant is known to applicant, he must be summoned, and an order of publication does not bind him," it undoubtedly would be held that a deed actually on the record constituted notice, which would require the making of the grantee in such deed a party to the proceeding, or the proceeding would be null as against him.

It therefore will be necessary on the part of any one called upon to pass a Torrens title to make an entirely separate examination and obtain a search by a title insurance company, in order to determine whether the Torrens proceeding is regular and valid.

In connection with the claim made as to the small expense incident to the initial registration of a title under a Torrens proceeding, there are a number of features which have been overlooked. In addition to making a search in his own office, the Registrar will be required to search in the County Clerk's office, in the United States Courts, in the office of the United States Loan Commissioners and in the offices of the Tax Collector, Comptroller and County Treasurer. He also will be required to make an inspection of the property to determine all existing easements which can be disclosed only by actual observation, and parties possessing such easements must be included in the proceeding, or it will be a question whether their rights are cut off. Who is to pay the expense of all this work? In connection with title examination by a title insurance company, this constitutes a very important part of the service, and makes up a considerable proportion of the expense. If this amount should be included in the charge of 1/10 of 1 per cent. of the assessed valuation plus $10, which is provided in the law, in many cases it will consume a very large proportion of the registrar's fee and the additional expense for examination and registration will be paid by the taxpayers of the City.

No one who is not thoroughly familiar with the work of title examination has any idea of the great amount of detail involved and the large number of persons who must be employed to investigate and attend to these details. All this takes time to correlate and prepare, so that all the information may be embodied in an abstract of title, the proper parties ascertained for the making of service, besides the preparation of the returns, making up the judgment roll and the passing upon the same by the Court. The mechanical work involved is a matter of no small moment, and the simplest title will require the work of a number of men many days to complete. Those who seriously believe that the registration of a title under the Torrens system can be accomplished in thirty days will be grievously disappointed when the actual results appear.

Assemblyman Youker is quoted as stating that this law will enable property owners in New York City to free themselves from the grip of title insurance companies, as though the people of this city were suffering in some way from the fact that they were dependent upon title insurance companies, and that title insurance companies were taking an unfair advantage of them. It is important that the City of New York should appreciate the fact that it is dependent upon title insurance companies—and will be so dependent for some years to come—for proper examination of titles and the making of accurate, guaranteed searches. This service cannot be performed by the public officials of New York City, and any legal proceeding brought to supplement the inaccuracies of such examination and searches will be futile.

The title insurance companies are great lending institutions and clearing houses by which the investor in mortgages on real estate is brought into contact with the real estate owners desiring loans. The title insurance companies, with their affiliated mortgage guarantee companies, have outstanding in guaranteed mortgages, at the present time, over $500,000,000. Practically all loans made on real estate in New York City are made either by title insurance companies directly, or are made by lenders who obtain policies of title insurance issued by these companies. All mortgages, whether purchased from title insurance companies or made under title insurance policies, are received by the lenders with full confidence that the titles are perfect, or, if found to be defective, that the title insurance companies will make good any loss. It will be some years before the same confidence is manifested by lenders toward loans upon Torrens title certificates.

REAL ESTATE REVIEW OF THE WEEK

Apartment Houses Figure in Sales and Exchanges—Leasing Continues Good—Taxes Slow Coming In—Other Reports

THE past week was not marked by the great number of sales recorded or the amount involved to any great extent, although there were several important sales consummated affecting property in Manhattan and the Bronx. Apartment houses figured in these transactions and several deals were involved.

The sale by the Mutual Life Insurance Company to Sonn Brothers, operators of the two eight-story apartment houses at the southwest corner of Central Park West and Eighty-eighth street was the largest in point of momentary consideration, while the sale of Fern Cliff and Fern Court, two apartment houses on Franklin avenue by the Ferncliff Building Corporation to Frederick Brown, operator, was another evidence of the activity of operators during these more or less dull times in realty.

Another sale involving apartment house property on West End avenue represented $550,000, the holding price, but the selling price has not been divulged. The Schuyler Realty Company, Harry Schiff, president, sold to D. Rush Stoddard the twelve-story apartment house at 947 West End avenue, facing Straus Square. This sale involved an exchange of a five-story apartment house at 110 East 116th street. Nassoit & Lansing were the brokers in the transaction.

A sale in which Manhattan and Bronx properties figured was consummated when Joseph Schwartz, president of the S. B. Building Corporation, sold to Adolph and Minnie Wolff the five-story apartment house with four stores, at the southeast corner of St. Nicholas avenue and 192d street, giving in exchange a five-story apartment house at 492 East Seventy-third street. This deal, which was negotiated by M. I. Strunsky & Company and H. F. Byrnes, involved about $260,000.

The sale of a Barclay street building to the tenant again demonstrated the trend toward the acquisition of commercial properties by business men, a development which has been one of the strongest features of the real estate market of late. George C. Engel bought the four-story building at 123 Barclay street, now occupied by him as a cold storage house and will continue to occupy it. Cruikshank & Company was the broker in the deal. Leasing continues good, however, and this department of the various brokers is kept busy. The demand far exceeds the supply of available space and several important leases consummated of late involved complexity of detail which, however, were adjusted to the satisfaction of all concerned.

The Liberty Loan and other war financing of late is given as the reason for the slowness of taxpayers in making their payments for the first half of the year. Comparison with other years show the falling off.

Of a total levy of $205,159,598, only $22,532,385 has been paid in since May 1, according to the Receiver of Taxes. Of the amount received only $14,096,634 was in payment for taxes due for the first half year under the option permitting payment in installments. This left $88,483,165 for the first half year's taxes, which must be paid by May 31.

LEGAL NOTES AFFECTING REALTY

Prepared by Committee on Real Estate Laws of
Real Estate Board, Samuel P. Goldman, Chairman

Necessity for Reformation.

A CONTRACT provided that the party of the first part agreed to sell and convey to the party of the second part certain described property, to be valued at a price therein specified and to be free and clear of all incumbrances except a specified mortgage, and that the party of the second part agreed to give in payment $1 in cash and property therein described, and also the sum of $1,740 on a specified date; the described property to be valued at a price therein fixed and to be free and clear of all incumbrances. In an action for damages for breach of contract of sale the defendant by cross-bill asked reformation of the contract. The Iowa Supreme Court holds, Lewis v. Woodbine Savings Bank, 165 N. W. 410, that the contract by its terms was a contract of exchange with an agreed difference in value to be paid, as distinguished from a contract of sale, and did not need to be reformed to show that it was a contract of exchange.

Covenants Running with the Land.

A covenant running with the land is usually, though not always, some covenant or promise of the grantor of the land, and inures, not only to the benefit of the grantee, but also to subsequent grantees or assignees of the title which passes by virtue of the conveyance in which the covenant is made. A covenant which does not so inure to the benefit of subsequent grantees and assignees is personal in its character, and no right to enforce it passes to a subsequent grantee by virtue of the conveyance of the property to him.—Iowa Implement Co. v. Aetna Explosives Co., Iowa Supreme Court, 165 N. W. 408.

Mortgagee in Possession—Accounting.

The Iowa Supreme Court holds, McQuire v. Halloran, 165 N. W. 405, that where a mortgagee in good faith entered into possession, he is, on an accounting, entitled to compensation for improvements placed on the land in good faith before suit. Interest should not be allowed for the period during which he himself was in possession of the land, but he should be charged with the annual rent thereof.

Misrepresentation.

The Iowa Supreme Court holds, Dimond v. Place River Land, Etc., Co., 165 N. W. 1032, that a purchaser may rescind for fraudulent representations and recover back the purchase price even if the land were of the value the purchaser contracted to pay for it.

Broker's Commissions.

A broker sought to recover for services performed in obtaining a lease of a building for the defendants and in securing tenants for it. The declaration was in two counts, the first on the account annexed and the second upon a quantum meruit. There was a verdict for the plaintiff, and the defendants excepted. There was some evidence that the plaintiff contracted with the defendants to procure for them a lease for a commission of $1,116.72, and two other leases to other tenants, one for a commission of $839.38 and one for a commission of $160; that these leases were obtained; that the plaintiff performed his part of the contract, and the defendant refused to pay him. Upon establishing these facts, the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Courts held, Wheelock v. Zenitas, 118 N. E. 279, that the plaintiff could recover on the account annexed. There was also evidence to show that the plaintiff agreed to secure the first mentioned lease for the defendants, but was not to receive the agreed commission of $1,116.72 until the premises were rented for "as much or more than you pay" the owner of the building, and that the plaintiff was to assist in securing a sublease for the defendants without compensation. It was the plaintiffs' contention that he fully performed his agreement and that the defendants refused and neglected to cooperate with him; that "if he had been let alone in the management of the estate and had a little cooperation from the defendants," the premises could have been rented for $25,000 a year. There was other evidence tending to show that the defendants, by their lack of diligence and failure to aid the plaintiff, prevented the estate from returning the amount stated. Upon these facts the plaintiff had the right to go to the jury on the quantum meruit and recover the value of his services. It was held that there was no error in refusing to order the plaintiff to elect upon which count he would proceed. The counts were not inconsistent and with the conflicting evidence on each count, it could not be known which view of the case the jury would accept. The defendants' exceptions were, therefore, overruled.

Surrender of Interest.

In action to determine the right in certain real estate the Utah Supreme Court holds, Budge v. Barron, 169 Pac. 745, that the defendant effectually surrendered and divested himself of his interest under his contract for the purchase of the land when, being in default in interest thereon, entitling the vendor to invoke its foreclosure clause, the plaintiff agreed to take it off his hands, reimbursing him for his payments thereon if the vendor would agree to eliminate a building restriction clause, and the defendant reported this to the vendor, and got him to issue a contract therefor to the plaintiff; writing not being necessary for surrender of the interest.

Party Walls—Repairs or Alterations.

Defendant removed soil supporting the party wall of plaintiff's building without plaintiff's consent and excavated to a depth of more than ten feet, causing the wall to become unsafe and dangerous, by reason whereof the superintendent of buildings obtained an order from the court, commanding that the wall be made safe, and pursuant thereto and by direction of the building department defendant entered on plaintiff's premises, but did the work in an unnecessary method, causing damage to plaintiff. The New York Appellate Division held, Wilson v. New York Telephone Company, 167 N. Y. Supp. 833, that its acts were not justified by the order of the court, or the authority given it by the building department, as its own act was the cause of the order that the building be made safe.

Specific Performance of Contract.

The Georgia Supreme Court holds, Barnes v. Cowan, 94 S. E. 564, that specific performance of a contract for the sale of land will not be decreed unless the land, which is the subject matter of the alleged sale, is clearly identified in the contract. A description in the instrument will be sufficient if by the aid of extrinsic evidence it can be definitely applied to particular land. As a corollary to this rule a description of land will not be sufficient if the instrument does not definitely describe the land or express data by which it might be definitely located by the aid of extrinsic evidence. A bond for title bound the obligor, on payment of described purchase money notes, to convey a definitely described body of land of irregular shape to the obligee or his assigns. It also contained a provision: "Seller of above described property agrees to give a deed to any number of acres on the payment of full pro rata part still due on said acres except frontage on Peachtree Road, which shall be 15 per cent. more per acre than the price being paid per acre for the whole tract." It is held that the stipulation "to give a deed to any number of acres" refers to the quantity of land for which the purchaser might demand a deed upon complying with the conditions as to payment, but does not describe any particular fraction of the land to which a deed should be made, or give any data from which any particular land might be located by the aid of extrinsic evidence. The writing did not purport to authorize the purchaser to designate particular portions of the land and demand deeds therefor upon complying with conditions as to payment, and no question was presented as to the effect of such a provision if it had been made. Applying the principles of law promulgated above it is held that the special provision quoted above from the bond for title is too indefinite for enforcement by specific performance.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

THE total number of sales reported and not recorded in Manhattan this week was 29 as against 33 last week and 31 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 59th street was 10 as compared with 11 last week and 12 a year ago.

The sales north of 59th street aggregate 19 as compared with 22 last week and 19 a year ago.

From the Bronx 22 sales at private contract were reported as against 18 last week and 9 a year ago.

Statistical tables, indicating the number of recorded instruments, will be found on page 650 of this issue.

Sales and Resales.

Frederick Brown resold the six-story remodeled dwelling at 13 East 67th street, known as the Hevers Chambers, to Mrs. Jessica E. Smith. Mr. Brown took over the property at foreclosure on Wednesday on a bid of $108,302. The property covers a lot 22x100.2, about 128 feet east of the Astor home, at Fifth avenue and 67th street. In exchange Mrs. Smith gave the four-story dwelling at 16 West 68th street, on a lot 18x100.5, and the three-story house at 129 East 47th street, on a lot 20x100. The 68th street property has been resold by Mr. Brown to a client of Henry E. Mowen, understood to be Misha Appelbaum, leader of the Humanitarian Cult. Mr. Brown also resold the 29th street house to Morris Wetzler. The various transactions were negotiated by Pease & Elliman.

Sale in Barclay Street.

The sale of a Barclay street building to the tenant, this week, showed the continued trend toward the acquisition of commercial properties by business men, a development which has been one of the strongest features of the real estate market within recent months. George C. Engel bought from the Almy Realty Corporation the four-story building at 123 Barclay street, on a lot 22.10x100, between Washington and West streets. The purchaser, who is the present tenant, will continue to occupy the premises with his cold storage business. The Cruikshank Company was the broker in the transaction.

Resale of Property Taken in Exchange.

The five-story building at 991 Third avenue, at the northeast corner of Fifty-ninth street, on a lot 20.1x80, opposite the big department store of Bloomingdale Brothers and which figured in a large exchange transaction recently has again changed hands; this time the buyer is Alfred L. Anderson, who bought from Gross & Herbener. The property is leased to one tenant until May, 1929, at $5,500 per annum. It was taken by the selling company recently in part payment for the block front on the east side of Broadway from 157th to 158th streets as published in the Record and Guide at the time. Negotiations are now pending for the resale of the parcel at the northwest corner of Greenwich and Duane streets, another of the properties taken by the Gross & Herbener Company in the same transaction. Byrne & Baumann were the brokers in all these deals.

Operators Acquire Apartments.

The Mutual Life Insurance Company sold to Sonn Brothers, operators, two eight-story apartments at the south corner of Central Park West and 88th street on plot 125x125 and assessed for $460,000, which will be altered and continued as apartments. The Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company was the broker.

Apartments Traded.

A small element of trade entered into the deal whereby a West End avenue apartment house passed into new ownership. The Schuyler Square Realty Company, Harry Schiff, president, sold to D. Rush Stoddard, who is in the shipbuilding business, the twelve-story apartment house known as the San Domingo, at 947 West End avenue, on a plot 75x100, facing Straus Square. The house, which stands on the site of the old Bloomingdale Church, is entirely rented, and has been held at $550,000. In part payment Mr. Stoddard gave the five-story apartment house at 110 East 116th street, on a lot 25x100. Nassoit & Lanning were the brokers in the transaction, Charles H. Bellows representing Mr. Stoddard as attorney.

Manhattan-Bronx Trade.

An exchange involving properties in Manhattan and the Bronx was affected on Tuesday when Joseph Schwartz, president of the S. B. Building Corporation, sold to Adolph and Minnie Wolff the five-story apartment house with four stores, on a plot 57.6x100, at the southeast corner of St. Nicholas avenue and 192d street.

The buyers gave in exchange 1520 St.

RECENT LEASES.

Louis Sherry Renews Lease.

Pease & Elliman, as agents for Mrs. H. Mortimer Brooks, obtained for Louis Sherry a renewal of the lease of 522 Fifth avenue, on a lot 22x125, for a further term of twenty-one years, with two additional renewal privileges for similar periods. The old lease, also for a twenty-one year term, expires October 1, 1918, and Mr. Sherry has the right during the new term of removing the present building on the site and erecting a modern commercial structure. The building is now used as a candy shop in conjunction with Mr. Sherry's larger establishment held under a lease from the Brokaw Estate.

Sale of Warehouses.

Charles F. Noyes Company has sold for John J. Burton to the Coastwise Warehouses for about $175,000, 466 to 470 Washington street, an eight-story and basement semi-fireproof building covering plot 70x124 x irregular, and containing about 65,000 square feet of space. The building is regarded as one of the best warehouses in the city, with automatic sprinklers, elevators and especially adapted for the storage business. In announcing the deal, one of the officers of the Coastwise Warehouses stated: "We have made this investment because we believe that there is a great scarcity of warehouse space. The property we have just purchased is within one block of the river and close to many of the important piers. It is one of the finest of the eight warehouses that we occupy, with carrying capacity of 350 lbs. to the square foot. The policy of our company will be to gradually purchase buildings suitable for our business, or take long-term leases under favorable conditions.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS, MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES

[Record and Guide Quotations Are Accepted as Official by Building Material Exchanges.]

DURING the past week new building projects of any description, other than those designed to supply Federal requirements, have been comparatively few throughout the Metropolitan district. Reports from authentic sources in suburban sections, and localities distant from the metropolis, however, indicate a continuation of building activity, which, while not comparable to that of normal times, is at least of sufficient volume to keep the structural trades at work. Owing to the recent rulings in regard to non-essential structural projects during the remainder of the war, private building operations are a negligible quantity. The only activity of this nature is in projects that were started some time ago and which are now approaching the finishing stages.

At the present writing there is more new activity in industrial construction than has been noticeable for some time, although this phase of building has for many months been second only to the immense structural operations under Federal direction. Recently the Governmental departments have been most active in the award of large orders and contracts for buildings, munitions, supplies and sustenance stores for the army and navy, and many of the producers of these commodities have found it expedient to expand their facilities and enlarge their plants to accommodate business of this character. Many of those concerns that, upon the commencement of hostilities in Europe, added materially to their manufacturing facilities to handle the orders emanating from the belligerents now realize that they have insufficient room to efficiently handle the immense contracts being placed by this country for war materials. These manufacturers are arranging for further extensions to existing factories and plants, and in a number of instances are preparing plans for entirely new structures, designed in such a manner as to be readily turned over to the production of commodities of peaceful times as soon as the present emergency is passed.

There has been no intermission in the announcements of large Government building operations. During the past week a number of gigantic projects have been brought out and others are being planned that will most likely keep the building trades at a high pitch of activity for months to come. Congress recently made available many millions of dollars for the rapid extension of the military and naval program. This will involve the extension of cantonments, training camps and stations, additional storage and warehouse facilities at a number of sea-coast ports, hospitals, and practically all of the buildings and equipment of a military establishment such as the United States is now engaged in perfecting. Contracts for the construction of many of these buildings, totalling millions of dollars, have been awarded within the past week or ten days, and the appropriation bills now before Congress will release additional funds for the furtherance of this important work.

One of the most important phases of building activity, particularly in the Borough of Manhattan, is the number of alteration projects, now underway or contemplated, that will transform old-fashioned private dwellings into bachelor apartments and studios or small apartments. During the past week or two projects of this character have been steadily growing in number, and it is an excellent sign of progress. Additional housing facilities have been sadly needed in this community, but the prohibitive cost of construction has effectively barred the speculative builders from starting projects they had planned. The number of additional housing accommodations that will be provided by the alterations of old houses into modern, small apartments will be greatly appreciated and rapidly leased by tenants who have been seeking homes, but who have despaired of acquiring them owing to the scarcity of apartment house construction during the past two years.

There has been practically no new activity in the markets for building materials and supplies. The slowing down of private construction has shut off orders from that source, and what business is current or in prospect is traceable to Government building operations or to the industrial construction that is indirectly a part of the war activity. Prices are generally firm and indicating added strength in some lines. Further advances are generally anticipated by the dealers in this market.

Common Brick.—The wholesale market for Hudson River common brick has passed through a relatively quiet week. Sales have been light and arrivals from up-river points somewhat below the average of the last three or four weeks. At the present writing prices are holding at $9 to $9.50 a thousand, with the top figure strong. According to a prominent manufacturer the producers are unsatisfied with the current price situation and there is a growing feeling that Hudson River common brick will shortly be advanced to $10 in the wholesale market. Inquiries are dull and the selling interests are looking forward to contemplated business from Federal sources. This business is expected to develop between June 15 and July 1, but there is no definite information now available as to the volume of demand. Manufacturing operations along the Hudson are almost negligible. One manufacturer stated that in his estimation only about five per cent. of all the brick-making machines in the territory were in operation. This means a very small production for this season, but with the reserves in the yards will be sufficient for all demands. The Raritan situation is unchanged and no quotations are being made for New York delivery.

SUMMARY.—Transactions in the North River brick market for the week ending Friday, May 17, 1918. Condition of market: Demand light; prices unchanged. Quotations: Hudson Rivers, $9.00 to $9.50 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 11; sales, 11. Distribution: Manhattan, 4; Brooklyn, 6; New Jersey points, 1.

Face Brick.—Notwithstanding the decreased volume of private building construction the manufacturers of face brick report trade conditions as fair. The fuel situation is somewhat improved and production is steadily progressing. Many of the face brick manufacturers have turned their plants over to the production of fire brick and acid brick, as the demand for both of these materials is steadily increasing. The rapid growth of the chemical industry has required an immense quantity of acid brick for lining retorts, and the steel industry is using a large amount of fire brick. The outlook for continued business from these sources is considered good at this time.

Lumber.—During the past week or so there have been practically no change in the conditions in any branch of the lumber trade in the Metropolitan district. There is a satisfactory demand both at wholesale and retail, but the transportation embargoes made effective recently have held up shipments from mill points and greatly reduced the stocks held in this territory. This condition has been responsible for the steady upward price trend noticed in this market and the general impression in the trade is that the top level of prices has not yet been reached and further advances are to be looked for at almost any time. Some of the local dealers are optimistic that transportation conditions will shortly improve and that it will be easier to replenish the stocks now sadly depleted. Although there is no present lumber famine it is no secret that the consumption of lumber at the present time is considerably in excess of the volume of receipts.

Structural Steel.—Practically no structural steel is available for private building projects because of the recent action of the fabricators in pledging their entire output for Government needs. There is a steadily growing demand for steel for Federal use both in manufacturing and in the erection of buildings in various part of the country. The only steel tonnage commitments of the past week were for Government projects located at some distance from the Metropolitan district. Quotations on mill shipments of fabricated steel are unchanged from the 3.195c. level that has now maintained for some months.

Cast Iron Pipe.—The fundamental difficulty of the manufacturers of cast iron pipe is in obtaining a sufficient quantity of pig iron to maintain their plants in anything like full operation. There is a considerable volume of Government business in the market and private demands have also been growing in importance. The City of New York is in the market for 400 tons of 8 in. and 12 in. pipe, bids for which will be opened May 20. Other municipalities are completing their plants for local improvements that will include a large quantity of pipe. Prices are unchanged at the Federal control figure.

White Lead.—The National Lead Company has announced a new schedule of prices for white lead and oxides. Only one price is now quoted. On purchases of 500 pounds and up to one ton the price of white lead is placed at $11.02½ per 100 pounds. On purchases of 2,000 pounds or more an additional 2½ per cent. will be allowed, which brings the price down to $10.75 per 100 pounds. These discounts take the place of the extra ¼c. per pound formerly allowed to buyers of round lots. However, there is no change in the manner of payment, this continuing on the basis of 60 days net, 2 per cent. on payments within 15 days.

Linseed Oil.—The scarcity of this commodity is steadily growing and the crushers are way behind in their orders. The prime reason for the condition is the difficulty of obtaining deliveries of seed from Argentine owing to the restricted use of tonnage for the transportation of this crop. There is sufficient flaxseed available but not enough ships to bring it into the country owing to the demands for vessels to transport foodstuffs from South America. The labor question is also a matter of extreme difficulty to the oil producers. Linseed oil prices are slightly advanced and other increases are likely before long.

Window Glass.—Conditions in this line are practically unchanged. There is a very slow demand for current building purposes and the future requirements are uncertain. Jobbers are buying only for immediate needs. Manufacturers are operating on a greatly reduced schedule of operations and it is more than likely that the blast will be brought to an end earlier this season than for many years past. Owing to the existing scarcity of glass in the local market there are firm predictions that prices will be considerably advanced. At the present writing, however, no change in the manufacturers' schedule of discounts has been announced.

Contract for City Residence.

William Crawford, 7 East 42d street, has obtained the general contract for the construction of a handsome five-story private residence at 21 East 70th street for Gustav Pagenstecher, 30 East 42d street, owner. The building will have ground dimensions of 22 x 76 feet, and will have a facade of brick, marble and granite, and will cost about $50,000. The plans and specifications were prepared by William J. Rogers, architect, 50 East 42d street, and the engineers for steam heating and electric installation are Clark, MacMullen & Riley, 101 Park avenue.

Plans for Large Garage.

Frank E. Vitolo, 56 West 45th street, is preparing the plans and specifications for a six-story fireproof brick and concrete garage, 100 x 129 feet, to be erected at 541 to 551 West Broadway. The owners are Cunco & Podesta, 73 Washington Square. This building will cost approximately $100,000. Plans will be completed soon, and the architect will call for estimates on separate contracts.

PERSONAL AND TRADE NOTES.

Frank J. McCabe, architect, has recently moved his offices from 461 Eighth avenue to 303 Fifth avenue.

George F. Pelham, Inc., architect, has moved his offices from 30 East 42d street to 200 West 72d street.

S. B. Eisendrath and B. Horowitz, architects, have moved their offices from 500 Fifth avenue to 18 East 41st street.

Young & Egan, Inc., lighting fixtures, have moved their offices and show rooms from 489 Fifth avenue to 21 East 40th street.

Henry Ives Cobb, architect, has moved his offices from 527 Fifth avenue to the Heidelberg Tower Building, Broadway and 42d street.

Robert L. Pryor, architect, has recently established offices for the general practice of his profession at 859 Broad street, Newark, N. J.

Charles Money, general contractor, has recently removed his office from the Vanderbilt Concourse Building, 52 Vanderbilt avenue, to 228 West 36th street.

Asbestos Protected Metal Company, Pittsburgh, Pa., has changed its name to the Aspromet Company. When this concern was established in 1905 its sole product was asbestos protected metal. At the present time the line handled by this firm includes a number of other building material specialties.

The Revolver Company has recently been organized, with offices at 387 Garfield avenue, Jersey City, N. J., to act as the sole selling agent for the New York Revolving Portable Elevator Company. The latter concern manufactures a line of portable and revolving elevators, tiering and case-lifting machines.

Carl W. Haefner, formerly associated with the Turner Construction Company, 244 Madison avenue, is now connected with Fay, Spofford & Thorndike, consulting engineers, Boston, Mass., as engineer in charge of the lines and grades in the construction of the new Government shipping terminal at South Boston.

H. F. Huber & Company, interior decorators, who occupy their own building at 13 East 40th street, have been forced to seek additional space in the adjoining Yale & Towne Building, 9 and 11 East 40th street, and at present occupy two entire floors in this structure. The rapid growth of their business has forced them to take a third entire floor in the Yale & Towne Building. Their previous location for over twenty years was on Fifth avenue, but they were the first to see the advantage of this new business location, and were followed by other large business firms like Arnold Constable, Sterling Bronze Company, etc. Messrs. Ewing, Bacon & Henry were the brokers in the above transaction.

New Yorker Who Handles Federal Housing

Otto M. Eidlitz and What Led to His Appointment as Director of the Government's Immense Task

THE enormous extent of the Federal building operations in the Metropolitan district, reaching into hundreds of millions of dollars, and exceeding in number and value anything in the previous history of the country, naturally directs public attention to the manager of these huge building projects. Confidence of builders and others interested in these large contracts has been inspired by the selection by the Government of Otto M. Eidlitz as director of Housing and Transportation of the Department of Labor, through which channel the national housing program is operated.

It will be generally conceded that the firm of which Mr. Eidlitz is the head, is one of the leading concerns, if not the foremost, in the building line in this city, as is proved by the importance of the structures erected under its management during the last few years.

Although the appointment of Mr. Eidlitz was made some time ago, the results of his labors at Washington are only now becoming apparent in the constantly increasing number of large government projects that are being announced daily. His activity at the National Capital preceded his appointment to his present position.

In October, 1917, Mr. Eidlitz was called to Washington by Daniel Willard, Chairman of the Advisory Council of National Defense and headed a committee of five appointed by Secretary of War Newton D. Baker to investigate the restriction of output of war materials, due to the lack of housing for industrial workers. After the report was handed in, on November 12, 1917, the Secretary of War asked him to take up the question with the various departments of the Government and to see whether the lack of housing could be remedied through existing laws or through existing contracts. On February 12, the matter having been referred to the Secretary of Labor, Mr. Eidlitz was appointed Director of Housing and Transportation of the Department of Labor to investigate and provide the necessary housing for industrial workers producing materials and supplies for the army and navy.

This appointment made him at once the most prominent man in the building fraternity in the United States. Mr. Eidlitz attained the enviable position he now occupies by the studious application of his talents for organization and his sustained efforts to improve the welfare of the building interests, which he has served faithfully for many years. In these efforts he has been assisted by his knowledge of human nature.

The son of Marc and Mathilde (Sohr) Eidlitz, Mr. Otto Marc Eidlitz was born in New York City, September 18, 1860. He received his early education in the public schools of this city and in the College of the City of New York. Later he entered Cornell University, from which he was graduated in 1881 with the degree of B.C.E. His degree of C.E. was awarded in 1890. He married Miss Anna May Thomas, of Youngstown, Ohio.

Mr. Eidlitz became associated with his father in the building business in 1881 and was included in a partnership in 1884, under the firm name of Marc Eidlitz & Son. In 1888, upon the withdrawal of his father from active participation in the affairs of the business, Mr. Eidlitz became the head of the organization which has consistently developed and expanded in scope and influence.

For many years the career of Mr. Eidlitz has been marked by the recognition of his diligent and faithful service to the industry of which he is a part. His wide experience and capability and his reputation for fair-minded justice has brought him into unusual prominence upon numerous occasions when expert opinion and matured advice were required to settle some question of importance to the building industry.

Mr. Eidlitz is one of the important factors in many of the controversies that are constantly arising between the employers and workers in the building trades, and frequently has been called upon to settle debated points that have stood in the way of an agreement being reached. His advice and counsel have been taken without question by either side.

Drafting Form For Torrens Law Application

Committee of Recording Officials Will Define Procedure Under New Statute

AT a conference of the five recording officers representing New York, Bronx, Brooklyn, Queens and Richmond counties held at the office of Register James J. Donegan to discuss the Torrens law the question of a method of procedure under the new law was discussed at length and also the matter of a uniform form of application for registration.

Register Polak of Bronx county presided at the conference and because of his familiarity with the law, having been active in having it introduced in the State Legislature and finally passed in both Houses, was able to outline the workings of the new law and to make valuable suggestions to the members of the conference.

It was finally decided to leave to a sub-committee the task of drafting a form of application for registration and this draft, when completed, will be submitted to the five recording officers for approval and then to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court for adjudication as provided in Section 434 of the law.

The sub-committees having the drafting of the forms in charge is composed of James P. Davenport, representing the Registrar of New York County; A. E. Crowley, representing the Registrar of Bronx county, and E. Weaver representing the County Clerk of Queens county. This sub-committee has held several sessions this week and expect to complete their draft by the first part of next week and present it to their superiors for examination and approval. The draft will then be submitted to the court and an early opinion asked for, as applications for registration under the Torrens law are already being filed in the various counties.

The first instrument filed under the new law was that of Walter Fairchild of No. 1 Liberty street, who is secretary of the Torrens League. Mr. Fairchild acted as attorney for former Register John J. Hopper in a lis pendens against Edson P. Gilson, John N. Woodfin, Charles A. O'Donoghue, Charlotte A. Hopper and the People of the State of New York. This lis pendens was filed in both the County Clerk's office and that of the Register, and covers property in 134th street, 125 feet east of 12th avenue.

New York Architects in Annual Convention

APATRIOTIC enthusiasm was the keynote of the eleventh annual convention of the New York Society of Architects, held last Tuesday afternoon in the Engineering Societies Building, 29 West 39th street. A large number of members were present to greet the president at the opening of the session. Owing to the war-time conditions, the annual banquet and theatre party, usually important functions in connection with this convention, were dispensed with but the omission of the social features failed to detract interest from the meeting.

It was quite evident that the war and the Red Cross drive were of paramount interest to all present and almost all of the speakers alluded to the present conditions and the great part the architects and builders of the nation were playing. The society as a unit pledged its services to the Government "to be used in any manner deemed most effective for the successful prosecution of the war." The society also voted to give the sum of $100 from its treasury funds to the National Red Cross drive.

Among those who spoke at the convention were Hon. John P. Leo, Chairman of the Board of Standards and Appeals; Hon. T. J. Drennan, Fire Commissioner; Hon. W. E. Walsh, Superintendent of Buildings, Manhattan; Hon. P. J. Reville, Superintendent of Buildings, the Bronx; Hon. Albert E. Kleinert, Superintendent of Buildings, Brooklyn; Hon. Frank Mann, Tenement House Commissioner; Dr. William F. Doyle, Chief of the Fire Prevention Bureau; Major John P. Everett, counsel of the society, Mr. John H. Scheier, and Mr. Edward W. Loth, architect, of Troy, N. Y.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Mr. James Reily Gordon, president; Mr. Adam E. Fisher, first vice-president; Mr. Edward W. Loth, second vice-president; Mr. Henry Holder, Jr., treasurer; Mr. Frederick C. Zobel, secretary, and Mr. Henry Werhlin, financial secretary. Mr. John H. Scheier was re-elected a director.

Contractors Figuring on Big Federal Projects

FEDERAL building projects continue to occupy a prominent place in the structural news of the week.

There are a number of important operations now out for estimates for which contracts will shortly be awarded. These buildings will all be erected within the territory adjacent to Greater New York and will undoubtedly have considerable effect upon the general building situation in this district.

Bids are being taken to close 11 a. m. Monday, May 27, for a coaling station to be erected at Constable Hook, N. J., at a cost of approximately $130,000. This structure will be for the use of the Navy Department and will be erected under the direction of C. W. Parks, Chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks. Estimates are also being taken to close June 10, for the construction of ten hollow tile and concrete magazine buildings at Lake Denmark, N. J., for the same department. This work will cost in the neighborhood of $300,000.

May 31, at 11 a. m., bids will close for the construction of a swimming pool, to cost about $125,000, at Pelham Bay Park, and to be used by the naval men in training at that station. All of these projects will be erected from plans prepared in the Navy Department.

General contractors have been invited to submit estimates for the construction of nurses' homes at Fort Hamilton, N. Y., Yaphank, L. I., and Tenaflly, N. J., respectively. These structures will be built under the jurisdiction of the National Red Cross Society from privately prepared plans. The buildings are to be erected from a standardized plan and will be of frame, one story and mezzanine, 30x85 feet.

Numerous large operations have been announced within the past week for which the plans and specifications are now being prepared. Among these are numbered the contemplated loading plant to be built in New Jersey, the exact location of which will be announced later. This structure will be constructed under the direction of Lieutenant Col. R. C. Marshall, Jr., U. S. N. A., and will cost in the neighborhood of $2,000,000.

Effect of Salary Increases for City Employes

Board of Aldermen Proposes Measure That Will Send Tax Rate Above Constitutional Limit

ALDERMAN MULLEN has introduced in the Board of Aldermen a resolution providing for the following increases in salaries:

For employees receiving $1,000 yearly, or less, 20 per cent. increase.

For all employees receiving over $1,000 yearly and not over $2,000 yearly, 10 per cent. increase.

In the preamble to this resolution, attention is called to the fact that Governor Whitman has just signed a bill automatically increasing the salaries of all State employees receiving $2,000 yearly, or less. With reference to salaries of city employes the practice generally in past years has been for the Board of Aldermen to originate the matter and for the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to agree to the proposal, thus letting the responsibility for the additional cost to the taxpayers rest upon the shoulders of the Aldermen.

The following statement has been prepared by the Budget Committee of the Real Estate Board, of which Laurence McGuire is president:

"As New York City pays 71 per cent. of any direct State tax this automatic increase of State salaries will add largely to next year's city budget.

"The Governor approved twenty-one bills increasing the salaries of county officials in the City of New York, or providing new pension funds, although he was requested not to do so by the Mayor. These increases being mandatory will also add to next year's budget.

"Last year while the budget for 1918 was being prepared the Real Estate Board directed the chairman of its budget committee to say that the Board would not object to any increase of salary where the recipient received less than $2,500, and had earned an increase for efficient and honest service. The Board, therefore, is not opposing this contemplated increase, realizing the great increase in the cost of living, but suggests that the method proposed is unfair and impolitic.

"Horizontal increases of salaries are always detrimental to discipline and good service, as the worthy and faithful employee sees the unworthy and faithless employee receiving the same consideration that he does.

"This question of increases of salary, where deserved, and to which no objection is made, is not, however, the important question.

"The City budget of 1918 was nearly $240,000,000, necessitating a tax rate of from 2.36 to 2.46. We are told by the Comptroller that there must be an increase next year of 32 points, because of certain items left out of last year's budget, by the previous administration, and because of the deficit in the operating expenses of transportation lines in which the City is a partner.

"This addition of 32 points alone would make the tax rate in the Borough of Richmond, next year, 2.78 or a few points beyond the constitutional limit of taxation, which is 2 per cent., exclusive of the debt service, allowing 70 points for debt service.

"The credit of the City is already overstrained and there are many who are well informed who believe the City has exceeded its debt limit. What would be the effect of any attempt by the City to levy and collect a tax in excess of the constitutional limit? What would be the result if the City should find itself unable to meet its budget obligations?

"No new sources of revenue have been provided and the city cannot increase assessed valuations of real estate. Last winter when the Real Estate Board introduced a bill which would have permitted the taxation of the billions of personal property in this city, the administration opposed it.

"It is in consequence absolutely certain that there must be radical economies in the expense of City government, although such economies cannot be in the line of reducing salaries. Useless and unnecessary functions of government must be abolished or held in abeyance until after the war, and unnecessary places be abolished, such as secretaries to commissioners or to deputy commissioners. Needless deputies should be dismissed. Unnecessary exempt positions should either be abolished or their incumbents be given the work now done by civil service employees.

"The Mayor's Committee on Taxation has recommended the abolition of the Court House Board and the consolidation of city departments affecting real estate, and the transfer of the Building Department of the Board of Education to the City Building Department. All of this would result in saving a great deal of money for the City. Desirable economies in the Department of Health and the Department of Charities have been effected and the activities of both of these departments could be materially lessened without in any way affecting the really valuable work they are capable of accomplishing.

"Such economies should be accomplished before radical increases are made. A horizontal increase such as is contemplated would add at least $10,000,000 to the budget and 13 points to the tax levy.

"The personal service item in the budget amounts to $120,000,000. This, of course, includes street cleaners, firemen, police and employees of the Board of Education. The budget of 1918 provided for increases to 35,802 city employes in amount $3,094,173.22.

"If the resolution of Alderman Mullen, who is a member of the majority, became a law 26,746 employees receiving less than $1,000 yearly and about 30,000 receiving between $1,000 and $2,000 yearly would receive increases. Most of these employees received an increase last year. We would then have a budget for 1919 approximately:

Present budget	$240,000,000
Items left out by previous administration....	9,000,000
Subway deficit	15,000,000
Increase in debt service through increased rates of interest and normal growth.....	2,500,000
Increase in State tax—estimated.....	2,000,000
Increase in salaries.....	10,000,000

"If there is no increase in the assessed valuation of real estate this would mean an increase in the tax rate of 45 points, making the tax rate for 1919 at least 2.91 in the Borough of Richmond, the highest, and 2.81 in the Borough of Manhattan, the lowest. Such a tax rate would not only be confiscatory but would be beyond the constitutional limit of taxation.

"The Board realizes thoroughly the present condition of affairs, the great increase in the cost of living, and the tremendous competition for capable and efficient men. It is unfortunately true, however, that municipal salaries once raised are extremely difficult to reduce and the burdens now imposed might continue long after the war. Is it, therefore, too much to ask that some temporary sacrifice be made by municipal employees at this time? All other citizens are compelled to make similar sacrifices.

"This whole matter must emphasize the fact that new sources of revenue are imperatively needed and that the Real Estate Board's position last winter was right."

Planning to Relieve Real Estate Taxpayers

Financial Needs of the City Being Investigated and Additional Sources of Revenue Sought

ARE public credit and private property being injured by the chaos in the methods of providing city and State revenue? What is the extent and kind of relief which should be granted by the Legislature?

These questions indicate in a general way the field of work recently undertaken by the Committee on Taxation of the Advisory Council of Real Estate Interests. The committee includes: Albert G. Milbank, Chairman; Alfred E. Marling, President of the Chamber of Commerce and Chairman of the Advisory Council, also Chairman of the 1916 Mayor's Committee on Taxation; John J. Pulleyn, President of the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank; Robert E. Simon, President of the Henry Morgenthau Company; Robert Walton Goelet, Walter Lindner, Esq., counsel of the Title Guarantee & Trust Company, and Leo Day Woodworth, Secretary of the Advisory Council.

Yesterday Mr. Milbank stated that the financial needs of the city and State governments were being compiled; that the tax burden of the community is being investigated according to present plans of administration; that the steps for providing additional revenue and generally revising the tax law are being considered both for the city and for the State at large.

The attitude of this tax committee, and also of the Council, on the question of new sources of revenue is indicated by the following memorandum just submitted by Mr. Milbank:

"Aside from real estate taxation, it is assumed that there are only three other general sources of revenue: Personal property; a State income tax, and the so-called Abilities Tax. For the reason that experience in New York and elsewhere has repeatedly shown the futility of the personal property tax, it was decided to eliminate this possible source of revenue from the proposed scheme of taxation. Every attempt at personal property taxation has either defeated its own purpose by driving this form of property out of the tax jurisdiction or has been allowed to become wholly ineffective through non-enforcement. Also there is such a widespread objection to the listing feature that there is no likelihood that the New York Legislature would adopt it.

"A State income tax on general lines indicated in the bill prepared but not introduced by Senator Mills would effectively reach the income from personal property and in a much fairer way. The chief objection to a State income tax is based on the idea that no State should under existing conditions interfere with the Federal Government's dependence upon this source of revenue. In view of the relation of real property to city credit, and in view of the fact that the constitutional limit on real estate taxes will shortly be reached, and in view of the further fact that the income tax rate under the Mills plan is so low as to be almost negligible as contrasted with the Federal rates, it would seem as if this idea should be favorably considered.

"The remaining major source of revenue, the Abilities Tax, was tentatively approved on the basis outlined in the report of the Marling Committee as a measure peculiarly adapted to conditions existing in New York City.

"We do not propose to overlook the fact that our lawmaking bodies must be given sufficient income to cover necessary expenses. We hope to evolve a program which will include a proper limitation of the tax rate on realty, believing that the public interest will be served thereby. To meet these two points and yet to compel the utmost economy on the part of public officers presents an intricate problem for which the answer must be found.

"Owners and lenders, both individuals and corporations, must take a new and deep interest in these questions of government and of public finance. Piecemeal legislation can no longer be tolerated, and the Advisory Council has undertaken to frame a revenue plan which will be both reasonable, adequate and equitable as to all citizens and property interests, and which will warrant their hearty support."

Should mortgage investments be made or continued during the war?

"Most certainly," was the reply yesterday by a well-known member of the Advisory Council of Real Estate Interests.

"Your question cannot be answered in the negative. A negative reply would be weak because too general. Without discussing the subject in detail, I would mention that large numbers of investors who do not have entire latitude in the choice of their investments. Thus, a trustee, or, a fiduciary institution, does not and may not seek investments with a speculative feature. He is, under the law, compelled to observe 'safety first' and is restricted in his choice of securities. For him the mortgage, for say from three to five years, at the rate now obtainable on conservative valuations based on the present market prices of New York realty, it seems to me is the wisest kind of investment. Whether the war lasts a year, or two or three years, he is assured at least of the safety of his principal, even though dollar value be influenced by inflation. That is to say the value of the dollar he receives at the due date of his mortgage may not be as great as the value of his dollar at the time he lends, but in all events he receives in return, almost certainly, the number of dollars he invested."

The general attitude of investors is that the value of mortgage investments has not even been challenged and that war conditions make them all the more necessary.

"We cannot accept the advice of a stock market operator for investors who desire safety and a reasonable return on their money," says Cyrus C. Miller, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Advisory Council.

New York's Great Red Cross Drive

NEW YORK City's contributions to the Red Cross war fund at two o'clock yesterday had reached a total of $23,600,334, it was announced at that hour at the close of the luncheon of the Teams Committee of the local campaign at the Chamber of Commerce.

One of the first announcements made at the noon luncheon, and one that aroused a great demonstration, was that of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who reported to the corporation team that the contribution of the Rockefeller Foundation to the war fund of the American Red Cross would be $3,000,000.

This gift carried the total of pledges secured in New York well over the $20,000,000 mark, even before the day's reports from the team captains had been received.

This city's contributions have been rolling in at the rate of almost $5,500,000 a day, and if this average is maintained throughout the remaining days of the campaign, which ends next Monday, it will mean a total at the end of from five to ten millions in excess of the $25,000,000 which was apportioned to this city as its share of the whole fund of $100,000,000 sought from the entire country.

Brooklyn has the most complete terminal plants in existence.

Brooklyn has 56 miles of improved water front and 144 miles to be completed.

Brooklyn, in one year, produces more manufactured goods than Pittsburgh and Minneapolis added together.

Smaller Net Returns From Apartment Houses

Higher Taxes and Greater Operating Costs Reduce Profits from High Class Buildings

RECENTLY there was presented to readers of the Record and Guide the statistics for ten office buildings in the financial district of the city which showed conclusively that while gross rentals of these buildings have been increased 5.32 per cent. for the eleven months ending March 31, 1918, over the same period in 1917, the net income had declined 3.38 per cent., due to the large increase in operating expenses and taxes. The figures were given to justify the contention of real estate men during the last session of the Legislature that realty was being unduly burdened and that unless relief from the constantly mounting taxes was granted by the passage of the Boylan bill limiting taxes on real estate to $1.75 per $1,000 the chief asset of the city would suffer severely.

In furtherance of the same cause there are given below the figures relating to the income and expenses of typical apartment houses of the best class on the East and West Sides of the city in the exclusive residence portions. Five of the apartments are on the West Side and three are on the East Side. As in the article on office buildings only new and high class apartments were taken for the purpose of analysis. And as before the figures are exact, obtained from the owners or managers of the properties, and can be relied on in every particular. The names and locations of the buildings are not given for obvious reasons, but could be obtained by officials of the State or City governments if an investigation was set under way for the purpose of thoroughly establishing the facts.

The statements turned over to the Record and Guide by apartment house managers disclose the identical condition of affairs that was shown existed in the financial status of office buildings. While rentals have advanced the net incomes have declined. The operating expenses of apartment buildings has not increased quite so much as was shown to be true of office buildings. The expense of the latter class of structures had advanced 28.4 per cent. in the last year, while the cost of running the apartments has advanced on the average about 16 per cent. in two years.

But rentals of apartments have gone up about seven per cent. in two years to an increase in office rents of five and a quarter per cent. The greatest difference exists in the net income, the apartments showing up with greater reductions in this item than do the office buildings. It was shown that the net income of these latter had declined 3.38 per cent. but the West Side apartments show a loss in net of 17.4 per cent. and on the East Side of 6.8 per cent.

The statistics are the best answer to the recently inaugurated crusade against landlords, who are unjustly accused of profiteering by people who have not taken the trouble to get the facts bearing on the question of the justice of increased rents.

The following are the figures for five West Side apartments:

Comparative statement of Rentals, Operating Expenses and Net Income of Five Apartment Buildings on the West Side—1914-15 vs. 1916-17.

	October 1 to September 30.			Increase or Decrease*	Per Cent.
	1914-15	1915-16	1916-17	in two years

Net income.....	$65,570	$72,690	$54,145	*$11,435	*17.4

*Decrease.

It will be noticed that several items of expense show decreases over two years ago indicating that a great effort was made to keep down the outlay in anticipation of an unfavorable showing.

It was not possible to carry all the items of expense separately owing to the different systems of bookkeeping, and a number of items are grouped under the head of miscellaneous, which also includes interest payments.

The statement for the three buildings on the East Side follows:

Comparative statement of Rentals, Operating Expenses, and Net Income of Three Apartment Buildings on the East Side—1914-15 vs. 1916-17.

Net income	$477,000	$510,000	$444,000	*$33,000	*6.8

*Decrease.

One of the interesting factors in any survey of this question of the inability of the landlord to shift the constantly increasing expense, due to higher taxes among other things, to the tenant is the fact that the average term of apartment house leases is three years.

In neither of the statements printed above does the very large increase of taxes this year show. The management of the East Side apartments included in their statements figures to show the increase in this item of taxes for the present year. In the table above the tax payment for last year is given as $173,565, while for the present year at the rate of 2.36 the amount that will have to be paid will be $201,780, an increase of $28,215 or 16.2 per cent.

Returns of the East Side apartments for the five months from October 1 last year to February 28, 1918, indicate a considerable increase in other items of operating expenses. Coal payments for this period in 1917 aggregated $12,276, while for the five months ending February 28 last, they were $21,024. The payrolls also increased from $36,903 during the first five months' period to $44,079 during the last five months.

One of the interesting features of the analysis is that in the East Side buildings the coal used fell off in the number of tons but increased in actual cost. The figures are: Tons of coal used from April 1, 1916, to April 1, 1917, 6,156 tons, costing $30,693, while from April 1, 1917, to April 1, 1918, there were used only 5,088 tons at a cost of $35,481.

The figures as a whole present an eloquent argument in favor of remedial legislation to enable real estate owners to receive a fair return on their investments.

Realty Board's Tennis Tournament.

THE Real Estate Board's spring tennis tournament will be held at the West Side courts, Forest Hills, Long Island, on Tuesday, June 11, at nine o'clock. This hour has been set in order that the tournament may be completed in one day. The events will be singles classes A and B, and doubles classes A and B. Entries will close on Friday, June 7.

Members of the Real Estate Board of New York and their office associates are eligible for competition in the tournament and the entrance fee will be $2, including singles and doubles. A luncheon may be obtained at the West Side club house on the grounds at a nominal cost.

The committee in charge is composed of Herbert R. Houghton, chairman; Vasa K. Bracher, Wallace J. Hardgrave, E. K. Van Winkle and E. A. Tredwell.

To reach the courts take the Long Island Railroad from Pennsylvania station, 7th avenue and 33d street, to Forest Hills. Trains leave 8.17, 8.36 and 9.00, or motor by way of Queensboro Bridge.

Realty Men and Builders in Red Cross Drive

Teams Organized Under Chairman William L. De Bost, Paul Starrett and John I. Downey

THE Real Estate Division of the Red Cross campaign, working directly under the Chairman of the Industrial Division, started on Monday morning to raise not less than $50,000 as realty's addition to the $25,000,000 fund to be raised in the Metropolitan district as its quota of the total amount.

Chairman William L. DeBost and Vice-Chairman Francis Bancroft were at headquarters, the rooms of the Real Estate Board at No. 217 Broadway, bright and early Monday morning to instruct the members of the two teams organized to canvass the Borough of Manhattan. To the team of which Mr. Francis Guerlich of Horace S. Ely & Company is the division chairman, was assigned the task of canvassing the employees of every real estate office in the borough. Mr. Guerlich selected as his assistants or division committeemen F. M. Perry, W. S. Dennison, T. Foster Gaines, L. P. Wood, J. L. Tonnelle, Jr., H. G. Derby, Hugh H. Rainey, F. G. Sherrill, C. B. Best, Guy P. Murray, Fred Stuart, Edw. M. Livingston, W. C. Steinkamp, George C. Ponter, Benjamin Mordecai, W. C. Speers and E. Bert Brady.

Division Chairman William Schackford of Daniel Bird-sall & Company selected as his aides Frank Lord, A. C. Mitchell, Chester Byrnes, J. S. Maxwell, W. C. Lusher, A. E. Ashley, W. H. Class, R. D. Whiting, H. A. Frey, J. Irving Walsh, W. S. Redelsheimer, C. R. Schlies, Edwin Zittel, J. W. Hahner, C. T. Coley and E. C. Ohl.

Mr. Schackford's team was assigned to collections from employees in buildings managed by the various real estate offices. Very little cash was handled except in cases where subscribers ordained to pay their full subscription at once.

Vice Chairman Bancroft said: "With a desire to have a definite goal toward which to work we fixed our quota at $50,000 and I am confident that we will not only reach this figure but go far over it. The men are all working faithfully and conscientiously, giving their entire time to the work of canvassing, neglecting their personal interests in doing so."

The total amount pledged up to yesterday afternoon was $12,360, representing 775 individual subscriptions or pledges.

DURING the drive for the Third Liberty Loan the building industry of Greater New York established a record for patriotism and efficiency that it is trying to equal in the present campaign for funds to be used in extending the work of the American Red Cross Society. Following as it does the recent loan campaign the difficulties encountered by the committees in charge have been numerous, but the hopes of the building fraternity are high and their will determined to make the best possible showing for this most worthy purpose.

As in the Liberty Loan drive the building trades have been thoroughly canvassed by Red Cross committees. Two general committees are in the field, the first, under the leadership of Mr. Paul Starrett, president of the George A. Fuller Company, is soliciting subscriptions from the office employees and the workmen on the jobs. The Board of Business Agents has notified all unions affiliated with the building industry that it is desirable for the mechanics and laborers to make their contributions to their respective paymasters, this afternoon, immediately upon receipt of their wages. A large sum is anticipated from this source.

The second committee is canvassing the corporations and firms connected with the building industry and is working under the chairmanship of Mr. John I. Downey, who is the representative of the American Red Cross Society for the building trades. The committee under Mr. Downey has been making calls all week upon the employers and the outlook is for a large total subscription.

The first Red Cross drive was highly successful from the standpoint of the building trades, the sum of $111,000 being collected. Owing to the numerous recent demands for funds from various patriotic societies, coupled with the drain on the trade for the recent Liberty Loan, not quite such a large subscription is anticipated, but both committees are working to the utmost of their abilities to equal this figure if possible and the results to date justify the optimism of the respective chairmen.

Taxpayers Associations To Get Together

AN organization of business and taxpayers' associations was formed this week at the Real Estate Board rooms, 217 Broadway.

The following statement was given out:

The meeting was held for the purpose of organizing the 69 taxpayers' associations and the 123 business men's organizations of the city, that there might be concerted action toward keeping New York City safe for life and property.

The deficit in the operation of the transportation lines in which the city is a partner will this year reach the sum of $15,000,000. The Public Service Commission and the operating companies think that this deficit should be met by a slight additional fare.

The city administration says it should be paid entirely by the property owners of the city, and should be included in the annual tax levy. The great city departments having to do with social service have doubled their expenses in seven years and now a department of foods markets has been established with almost unlimited power to spend money to buy and store food for the poor. This has been done in violation of the Federal prohibition against the hoarding of necessities of life by either individuals or corporations.

The tax rate in 1907 on a full valuation of real estate for the Borough of Manhattan was 1.48. In 1918 on the same valuation the rate is 2.36, and it cannot possibly be less than 2.73 in the same Borough in 1919 unless the most radical economies are effected. This rate would take almost fifty per cent. of the average net return on real estate.

This organization will oppose every demagogue who for vote-getting purposes, supports socialistic measures, except such as are necessary for the Federal Government in the conduct of the war, and will resist with all its strength the doctrine that the community is obligated to the individual beyond giving him the protection necessary to make life and property safe, and to carry on capably and honestly such functions of government as can best be performed by the community as a whole. It will also teach with all its power and force the opposite direction that the individual owes everything, even life itself, to the community.

The following Committee was appointed to effect organization:

Max Just, Taxpayers' Alliance, Bronx.

G. F. H. Bohlen, 18th and 21st Wards Taxpayers' Association.

Henry Bloch, 12th and 19th Wards Taxpayers' Association.

Theo. F. Krekeler, United Property Owners' Association.

Peter P. Cappel, West Side Taxpayers' Association.

George H. Stege, Receivers' and Distributors' Association.

W. D. Carroll, Claremont Taxpayers' Association.

Frank Demuth, West Side Taxpayers' Association.

John W. Paris, Queens Real Estate Exchange.

Edward P. Doyle, Taxpayers' Alliance, North Shore, Borough of Richmond.

The following Committee was appointed to attend the conference of farmers' organizations at Albany, June 7 Edward P. Doyle, Frank Demuth, George H. Stege, G. F. H. Bohlen, Theo. F. Krekeler, Max Just.

Coney Island's Board Walk May Now Be Built

Will Make Resort Second Only to Atlantic City and Rapidly Improve Real Estate Values

WHAT is believed to be the last obstacle in the way of the realization of what has been for years the dream of property owners at Coney Island was removed when Chapter 506, of the Laws of 1918, was written into the statute books.

This chapter, known as Assembly bill Number 759, was accepted by the Mayor on April 25 last, and was approved by Governor Whitman on May 7, and became operative immediately. The act authorizes "the commissioners of the land office to grant and release to the City of New York certain lands under water in the Atlantic ocean in the boroughs of Brooklyn and Queens; to provide for the protection of adjacent uplands, the improvement of such lands under water and uplands and the acquisition of property for any such purpose, by such city, and to prescribe the method for defraying the cost."

The plan to transform Coney Island into a second Atlantic City had its inception in 1908, when the Local Board for the Bay Ridge district, Borough of Brooklyn, adopted a resolution, inspired by the West End Improvement League, in a petition reading: "As Coney Island is the playground of Greater New York and vicinity, the city should use the natural advantages of the place by conserving the rights not only of the property owners but of those who visit the resort in the summer months. It is impossible to reach the ocean front except at the foot of three streets, between Ocean Parkway and West 37th street, or even to Coney Island Point, a distance of about 1.5 miles."

This resolution was presented to the Board of Estimate and referred to the Chief Engineer of the Board, who reported back on November 6, 1908. A public hearing was held on December 4, 1908, at which a large number of property owners were present and favored the plan. The matter was then referred to a committee composed of the Comptroller, president of the Board of Aldermen, and the president of the Borough of Brooklyn. The committee was discharged on February 25, 1910. On May 13 of that year by resolution of the Board of Aldermen, the matter was again referred to the same committee with a recommendation that it be investigated.

The report of the Chief Engineer stated that such an improvement is not recognized by the charter as one within the city plan, unless considered a part of the street system. This would mean the laying out of a street for pedestrians well outside of the high water line. He stated further that the proposed walk would have a total length of 9,500 feet and would include within its lines portions of Steeplechase park, at West 17th street, Dreamland pier, and what is known as "Iron Pier."

He figured the cost if constructed of steel and concrete at $775,000, or if of timber about $570,000 and recommended that the proposition be treated as a local improvement and the entire cost assessed on the locality, but suggested that a bigger and better improvement would be an ocean beach for the free use of the public to be paid for by the city as a whole.

In the plans submitted to the Board of Estimate provision was made for a walk beginning at the foot of Ocean parkway and skirting the beach at a distance of several hundred feet beyond high water, the street to be sixty feet wide, while West Fifth, West 21st, West 23d, West 25th, West 28th, West 30th, West 32nd, and West 35th streets were to be extended to it at a width of 30 feet, the outer walk itself turning into the beach on lines coincident with those of West 37th street as extended.

The Department of Docks and Ferries reported that land grants had been given affecting about one-half the total length of the proposed walk and the Tax Department reported that assessments covered the land under water with the upland.

Because of these conditions the Chief Engineer was unable to secure or make any estimate of the value of the property needed, and in transmitting this information to the Board of Estimate stated "its commercial value is probably small, but if acquired by condemnation the expense to the city might be as great as the estimated cost of construction."

The report further set forth that the effect of such a walk upon the bathing beaches would be serious, as the surf would be broken and would give a shut-in appearance. This would apply to the beach in front of the public bath houses built by the city. Such a walk would increase the value of property in its rear very much, since crowds would flock to the various resorts located on this property.

In urging the construction of the board walk by the city, the West End Improvement League, of which W. C. Canny is president and James A. McDonald secretary, set forth the fact that such a walk would prevent the construction of a private walk contemplated by certain property interests, and also the extension of buildings into the ocean to connect with the private boardwalk to the hindrance of the general public.

Because of the inability of the Chief Engineer to straighten out the tangle in the titles of property within the area needed for the improvement, and at the suggestion of the Corporation Counsel to whom the whole matter was referred for adjustment, legislation was decided upon as the only logical and expeditious solution of the problem. Now that the law has been written into the statutes, nothing remains but to await the time when conditions are again normal.

BY CHARLES R. WARD, M.M.E.N.Y.,

Chief Engineer, Topographical Bureau, Borough of Brooklyn.

The importance of the improvement of Coney Island shore for the benefit of the public must necessarily continue to attract attention until it shall have been improved, thereby transforming Coney Island into the finest and most popular summer resort in the world, which nature intended Coney Island to be. It has the advantage of being located within the limits of the metropolis of this country and is accessible by the new subways from every part of the Greater City.

Brooklyn is very fortunate in her location and has many water front advantages, including the ocean front at Coney Island. This beach is visited by millions of people each year. The white sandy beach should never be given up, for it can be maintained under the most adverse conditions. The people of this city, and particularly those of the borough of Brooklyn, would be remiss beyond expression were they to neglect or lose interest in the establishment of a public seaside park along this stretch of water front. It is difficult, therefore, to forecast the ultimate future of Coney Island shore, as anything short of a great, popular, public, seaside resort.

The preservation of the beach and its free use by the public for healthful recreation is obviously a consideration of the first importance.

The most important proposition now pending for Coney Island is the proposed boardwalk. I believe that this improvement will undoubtedly do more to change the character of Coney Island and advance realty values than all other improvements combined. A boardwalk already extends for a considerable distance along the shore front of Coney Island. It was built at private expense by the property owners for the purpose of benefitting their property.

The proposed construction of the boardwalk dates back to the first year of consolidation, when the Board of Public Improvements took up the matter with considerable vigor, not only favoring the boardwalk, but also a water front park. In 1908 the matter was again favorably considered, but no action was taken other than referring it to a select committee for further investigation. On May 13, 1910, the Board of Estimate and Apportionment appointed a special committee, consisting of the Comptroller, president of the Board of Aldermen and the president of the Borough of Brooklyn, to report upon a proposed boardwalk, extending from Brighton Beach to Norton's Point.

Since then the project has been growing in popularity, and the committee appointed in 1910 held many conferences with interested persons representing local associations and property holders. The adoption of the plan enlarging Seaside Park, including the "Dreamland" property, has given the boardwalk proposition increased impetus. It now seems a necessary part of the shore front development.

One of the greatest obstacles in the way of the boardwalk and seaside park has been the many buildings and other structures along the beach. Some of these now extend beyond high-water mark and others are even beyond low-water mark, with the water at all times under or around them. It is, however, only fair to state that some of these structures were erected on what was originally upland, but by erosion the water has come up to them.

The status of these buildings and other structures beyond the high-water line has been the subject of much controversy. The right to erect structures beyond the high-water line is based, largely, upon grants of land under water issued by the Commissioners of the Land Office of the State of New York. There are twenty-six of these grants, issued between the years 1881 and 1904; one-half of these were issued in 1897. It may be interesting to note that up to the year 1897 there were no obstructions to the free passage of the public along the beach, at least between high and low-water marks, from the Concourse lands to Norton's Point. It was soon after this date that the obstructions began to appear, in some places by the erection of new buildings and in others by the natural working back of the water line to the older structures. The grants of the land under water as issued by the Commissioners of the Land Office were for the purpose of commerce, by the erection of docks thereon, or for the beneficial enjoyment of the same by the adjacent owners. Also for the erection of jetties, bulkheads, etc., for the protection of the beach. A number of the grants reserved to the public the full and free right, liberty and privilege of entering upon and using so much of the lands granted as lie between high and low-water marks. There are also a number of grants which contain no reservation at all.

About six years ago the Attorney General, in the name of the People of the State of New York, brought action against the Steeplechase Park, Joseph Huber, and others, to determine the right of the people to the free and unobstructed use of the land between high and low-water marks. This case was carried through the State Court of Appeals. The final decision contains many points of interest to engineers having to do with the development of water front property. It is believed that this decision has helped clear the way for definite action in the matter of the proposed boardwalk and seaside park. Judgment was first obtained at the Supreme Court by which it was ordered that the defendants, the Steeplechase Company, Joseph Huber, and others, "are enjoined from maintaining certain structures, and also that suitable means be provided for the free passage under pier and walk, and over jetties, etc."

An appeal was taken from said judgment to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, where the judgment was unanimously affirmed on January 6, 1915. An appeal from the decision of the Appellate Division was carried to the State Court of Appeals, where the case was decided in July, 1916.

The Attorney General has had surveys made of the present high-water line and the location of the existing structures for the purpose of removing illegal encroachments. There are so many angles from which the subject of shore front improvement must be viewed that each angle must be solved in working out the correct solution of the problem.

The proposed boardwalk will be 60 feet wide, except between Ocean Parkway and Stillwell avenue, as proposed to be extended, where the width will be 120 feet. Its length, including the approaches to the recreation piers as planned, will be 11,360 feet. It will be supported on creosote piles not less than twelve inches in diameter at the cap and sunk in the sand at least twenty feet, located nine feet center to center transversely and about twenty feet longitudinally. The superstructure is to be of selected yellow pine, properly creosoted, with twelve-inch by twelve-inch transverse girders, supporting four-inch by twelve-inch longitudinal floor beams, spaced on two centers, upon which will be laid two-inch by six-inch floorings.

A suitable galvanized iron pipe railing will be provided for both sides of the walk. The approaches from the streets on the north and to the beach on the south will be made by easy inclined ways and stairways. The elevation of the floor of the boardwalk will be fourteen feet above mean high water level.

At Ocean Parkway and West Fifth street it is proposed to build recreation piers six hundred feet long and sixty feet wide on top. They are to be built six inches higher at the center than at the sides. The outside slopes are two to one, and are protected at the footing with piles. The top of the piers will be twelve feet above mean high-water mark and will be connected with the boardwalk by an approach of the same type of construction as the walk. Under the approach to the piers there will be timber groynes, and at the ends of the piers will be arranged three landings for large boats.

At the time of the original application for this improvement I figured that the entire improvement, exclusive of the acquisition of land not already vested in the City, could be accomplished for less than $1,300,000, the estimated cost thereof being as follows:

3,210,000 cubic yards of sand fill @ $0.10.....	$321,000
11,360 linear feet of boardwalk and approaches to recreation piers @ $23.70.....	269,232
12 stone jetties @ $26,500.....	318,000
1 sea-wall and stone jetty at West 37th street..	30,000
1 sea-wall and stone jetty at East 5th street....	73,000
2 recreation piers (Ocean Parkway and West 5th street) @ $110,500.....	221,000
5,120 linear feet of timber groynes @ $10.....	51,200

Total $1,283,432

Under present conditions material and labor prices would be considerably increased, but as there is little likelihood of the work being started at least until after the war conditions may again be normal and these prices be something near right. It is likely that the property owners at Coney Island will take the initiative and begin the preliminary work now that the law permits the city to acquire the titles.

Assuming a value of $4,000 per lot, the 84 acres of reclaimed and new beach, amounting to about 1,830 city lots, will have a land valuation of $7,320,000; 16 acres, or about 349 city lots, controlled by private interests, will have a valuation of $1,396,000, and will add materially to the tax revenue. It will, therefore, be seen that the value of the land thus reclaimed will be more than five times the estimated cost.

One of the questions upon which it has been difficult to reach an agreement with the various interests has been the location of the boardwalk—whether inland of the present high-water line, or over the water at a sufficient distance out to avoid interference with any of the present structures along the shore. This difficulty has been overcome in the present plans by locating the boardwalk outside the present high-water line and by the system of groynes to build out the beach, thus avoiding taking any valuable buildings. The entire scheme will tend to a general increase in the value of Coney Island realty, which means a corresponding increase in tax revenue, and the city, the public generally and the property owners will reap untold benefits through the completion of the improvements.

The city will profit by the increase of about 68 acres in its park land and beach, by additional tax revenues from the 16 acres of beach controlled privately, by the general increase of the taxable values throughout the entire section, by revenue from concessions along the beach and walk, and by rentals for the boat landings on the recreation piers.

The public generally, numbering millions of people, who visit the resort every year will have superior and adequate accommodations for bathing and recreation. The piers and boardwalk will afford a magnificent promenade along the ocean front without any obstruction to its views and breezes.

The property owners of Coney Island will then have a legitimate chance to emulate the example of the municipality by the erection of better and more permanent structures on their land, and the transient population, which must surely increase when the five-cent fare rate to the seashore becomes effective, will make their investments at once lucrative and productive.

The encroachments of the ocean upon the shore have wrought havoc in the past at each succeeding storm. Protection from its ravages becomes a public necessity. I believe that now is the proper time to take a definite stand on this proposition, that a bigger, a brighter and a better Coney Island may be assured to the people of the city.

New York's Importance in Ship Building Industry

Survey Suggested to Disclose the Resources and Requirements of the Port—Post-Bellum Work of Great Magnitude

BY WILLARD REED MESSENGER.

THE shipbuilding industry of the United States, on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts and on the Great Lakes, including metal and wooden vessels and composite metal and wooden ships and concrete ships, has been stimulated to great activity at naval shipyards in the construction of war vessels and at the shipbuilding plants of private companies in producing freight carriers, oil tankers, mine sweepers, submarines and submarine destroyers, etc., with a few bulk freighters, lumber steamers and passenger vessels on the lakes.

At the outbreak of the war there were only about 20,000 skilled ship builders in the United States, producing but a few hundred thousand tons of shipping annually. The total gross registered tonnage of the United States was 8,600,000, with 3,000,000 of this on the lakes and 4,000,000 in the coastwise and gulf service, leaving only about 1,600,000 tons engaged in foreign trade as against the 22,000,000 gross tons of British shipping engaged almost entirely in foreign trade.

In order to meet our new requirements enormous forces of workers have been called from all sections of the United States—from the structural steel trades and the carpentry trades and allied industries—to join the growing army of ship builders, which is fast approaching a quarter of a million men, striving to produce an average of 500,000 tons of shipping per month, or 6,000,000 tons per year. Great Britain, by far the largest shipbuilding nation in the world, before the war was producing less than 2,000,000 gross tons annually, and considerably less since the war, so that the standard of production set for the United States is three times that of the greatest shipbuilding nation of the world in time of peace.

The necessity for speed in ship construction has created some difficult problems for the United States, in addition to the actual work of building vessels. One of these has been the problem of construction of entirely new shipyards, and another the construction of adequate housing facilities for the ship builders, and still another the problem of local transportation to and from the shipyards by trolley or special train or ferry night and morning in localities where the yards are not adjacent to housing facilities.

In connection with the construction of new shipyards it is important to note this involves many new problems, first and foremost being the most desirable location with respect to desirable water depth for launching; the assembling of materials, labor market, housing facilities, climate, etc. The character of materials and of labor required influence or should influence the location of shipbuilding plants. Thus from about 1800 to 1850, when the world's ships were wooden sailing vessels, the pine forests of New England and oak supplies of the middle Atlantic states enabled Maine to produce the best and cheapest vessels in the world. About 1850 the new type of iron ship and later the steel ship began to give England world leadership in ship construction, and shifted the shipbuilding industry in the United States to the middle Atlantic states, adjacent to iron and steel supply; but all during this period, from 1850 down to the present, when most American industries were increasing many fold, the shipbuilding industry increased slowly and amounted to only about one-tenth that of the British output.

Thus for half a century prior to 1905 there was no increase in the number of shipbuilding plants in the United States, but the existing plants were enlarged so that the output was increased gradually about four-fold and the invested capital about twenty-fold during that period. The waters of New York Harbor, through the natural evolution of the industry up to the outbreak of the war, had become the greatest single shipbuilding center in America, and today an enormous new drydock is being built in New York to accommodate the largest vessels afloat.

Since the outbreak of the war great stimulus has been given to the industry of the Delaware River. More than 40 per cent. of the vessels being ordered by the Emergency Fleet Corporation for our new merchant marine are being constructed on the Delaware, which now has eleven plants, with fifty-three ship ways being increased to 113. These plants have orders for 382 vessels, valued at half a billion dollars, with a total dead weight tonnage of 3,200,000 tons, 60,000 men being employed in their construction, with a payroll of $2,000,000 per week.

It is therefore apparent that shipbuilding is one of the industries which tend to concentrate in large units in order to produce the greatest economy in construction. Thus one of England's advantages in ship construction has been the fact that English yards on the Clyde, the Tyne and at Belfast construct five or ten steamers all alike, built at one time, whereas in the United States and also among European countries it has commonly been the practice to build one or two vessels at a time.

Thus England, through a gradual process of many years, developed what we have been called upon to create almost at once. For instance, Newcastle on the Tyne, prior to the war, built more shipping in a single year than the entire United States in the same time. Now that the United States is forced to engage in shipbuilding upon such a gigantic scale it is desirable that the entire subject be viewed from every standpoint and that the requirements and opportunities of the reconstruction period and world commerce after the war be considered.

Building Industries of New York is one of the organizations which has urged the importance of this subject, advocating that new shipyards be located in localities favorably situated for the supply of both material and labor and general economical construction of vessels in order that the United States after the war may be in a favorable position to compete in the shipbuilding industry of the world.

It should be borne in mind that while the shipbuilding industry of the United States is being tremendously increased, England's output has been greatly reduced and also that millions of tons of shipping are lost owing to the war and the outputs of other plants have been greatly reduced. Thus in Austria-Hungary, at the ports of Trieste and Fiume, British engineers who had assisted in the newer plants left at the outbreak of war. In Belgium after the war began shipyards and engine shops were used by the Germans for the manufacture of munitions of war. The shipyards of Italy, at Genoa, Naples and Venice, are insufficient to meet the requirements, and even in peace times produce but 5 per cent. of the British output. In France the yards of Marseilles, Havre and Bordeaux can be looked to for but a small contribution to the world's shipping tonnage requirements. Russia has naval stations at Sebastopol, on the Baltic Sea, and at Cronstadt, near Petrograd; but most of the merchant ships that have carried the commerce of Russia, Spain, Australia, all of South America and most of the foreign commerce of the United States have been built in the English towns of Glasgow, Donbartin, Sunderland, Newcastle and Dublin and the German port of Stettin.

With a constant view to producing the maximum tonnage in the shortest possible time and subordinating this to nothing else it will nevertheless be desirable for New York City, as well as the United States, to make a pretty careful survey and analysis of the entire shipbuilding resources and requirements of the world, not only to meet the present urgent and most important demands of war, but to co-ordinate this work with post-bellum requirements of the coming reconstruction period.

Landlords, As Well As Tenants, Entitled to a Square Deal

Spring house-cleaning has been accompanied again this year by that other customary spring outbreak, a demand by tenants for lower rents.

This year, as usual, the complaints of tenants are being aided and abetted by some of the more sensational of the metropolitan newspapers, which continue to show their unfortunate disregard for the interests of any except the complaining classes.

To judge from some of these complaints, one would get the impression that New York landlords as a whole are growing rich at the expense of their tenants, and that every time there is an increase in rentals the hard-hearted landlords are merely taking advantage of changing conditions to fatten their own bank accounts without justification.

It is human nature for tenants, no matter what may be their station in life, to get the best surroundings possible at the lowest rental they can find. But it is neither fair nor just for tenants, nor for newspapers, to assume that every time rents go up the landlords pocket the increase.

A good many who take a prominent part in discussing public questions have the utmost disdain for facts, and this seems to be the case again this year with many who have joined in attacking the landlords of this city because rentals are not lower than they are. Yet, every person who wants to be fair, either in discussing the question of rentals or any other important subject, should get the facts on both sides of the controversy before reaching a conclusion.

Tenants in this city do not have all of the arguments on their side, although many of them seem to assume that such is the case. Only recently the Record and Guide published an article showing that enterprising landlords who have invested their money in modern office buildings downtown are receiving a totally inadequate return from their investments. This fact was clearly demonstrated. The Record and Guide in this issue presents another article showing that what is true of many modern office buildings downtown also is true of new high-class apartments on the East and West sides of Manhattan.

A study of the article in this issue will show that, despite the efforts of landlords to hold down the expenses of their apartment properties, there has been an appreciable increase in the cost of maintaining these properties. It also will show that the rentals of these apartments have been increased by a much smaller percentage than have the expenses of operating them.

One does not have to be a profound student of current conditions to know the tendency toward increasing costs in all directions. To the constantly increasing cost of government, especially of city government, is due in a large measure the inability of many landlords to make their properties produce a fair revenue, even in the face of such increases in rentals as have been made during the last few years.

Landlords, as well as tenants, are entitled to a square deal, and the Record and Guide takes pleasure in calling attention to the fact that in this controversy there is much to be said on the side of the landlords as well as of the tenants.

Opening of the Barge Canal.

In the rush of war news, too little attention has been given to the recent opening of the Barge Canal which links, on a highly important scale, the Great Lakes and the railroads of the West with the Port of New York. It is proposed, perhaps on July 4, to have a formal celebration of this auspicious event. If the celebration is in keeping with the importance of this great new waterway, it will be an impressive affair.

New York City has shown, in favoring the construction of the Barge Canal, the broad scope of its vision. To provincial minds the Erie Canal has always been known merely as "Clinton's Ditch," an inefficient result of faddists' dreams, but this narrow view, be it said to the credit of our people, has never been held by New Yorkers. They have always realized the usefulness even of the old Erie Canal, and naturally they are wideawake to the importance of the new waterway just opened from the Great Lakes to the Port of New York.

The Federal authorities, sharing this broad view, have been prompt to take control of New York's fine new canal, and if they utilize it to its full capacity this waterway will be of vital aid in winning the war, and of tremendous utility in the years which will follow.

Can Always Count on New York.

Secretary McAdoo announced the other day that in response to the Treasury's invitation for subscriptions to three billion dollars of United States 4¼ per cent. gold bonds of the Third Liberty Loan there had been received subscriptions to the amount of $4,170,019,650 from about 17,000,000 subscribers. The Secretary expressed gratification over the fact that it proved the most successful loan the United States ever has offered, both in the number of subscribers and in the amount realized.

This splendid result, as Secretary McAdoo pointed out, was achieved notwithstanding the fact that the country has been called upon to pay since the Second Liberty Loan and including the month of June income and excess profits taxes to the amount of approximately three billion dollars, which will make a total amount turned into the Treasury of the United States from such taxes and the Third Liberty Loan of about seven billion dollars within that short period.

New York has furnished a very large proportion of the income and excess profits taxes, and yet the official figures on the Third Liberty Loan show that the New York district, which was asked to subscribe $900,000,000, turned in about $1,115,000,000 of the total subscriptions throughout the nation. The New York district responded with subscriptions exceeding a quarter of the total in the entire United States, and the percentage of its quota was 124.

The Record and Guide likes to emphasize these figures, because they demonstrate once again how splendidly New Yorkers always respond to the nation's call, and because they refute so effectively the criticisms of the metropolis which people in other sections of the country are so prone to make without justification.

Editor of the RECORD AND GUIDE:

Will you kindly inform me upon what principle you understand that appraisers now make their valuation of New York City property.

Are they supposed to value at what the property would now bring at forced sale, or at auction? Or at what the property ought to be worth between a willing buyer and a willing seller?

Is it your judgment that the chief appraisers in New York are at present undervaluing property?

M. BERKELEY.

[The law requires that property shall be assessed at its "full value." The rules of the Tax Department, printed practically in full in the Record and Guide of May 4 last, for the guidance of assessors, provides that the value of any piece of property shall never exceed the value of the land plus the cost of reproduction of the building—in arriving at the value of adequately improved property the gross income and operating expenses should be taken into consideration and the net return should be capitalized at a fair rate of interest. Records of the Tax Department in recent years show that the assessed valuation of a large number of plots disposed of at foreclosure sales was about 103 per cent. of the prices obtained at the sales.—Ed.]

Editor of the RECORD AND GUIDE:

The casualty insurance companies are busily circularizing real estate offices, and the offices of lawyers, doctors, etc., with printed statements to the following effect: "The law of New York State, under the bill signed by Governor Whitman, May 14, 1918, makes it compulsory for any one employing more than three people in any business—lawyers, doctors, banks, architects, commission men, all kinds of stores and all professional and commercial offices, etc—to insure their employees under the Workmen's Compensation law, or suffer arrest for misdemeanor, be required to pay a fine, and be deprived of the usual legal defenses."

Before the real estate men accept the insurance agents' statements as undistorted and conclusive—before they hand over hard-earned cash for unrequired policies—let your paper call attention to the opinion of Merton E. Lewis, Attorney General of the State of New York, rendered at the request of Governor Whitman, before he signed the bill, i. e.: "Workmen or operatives" specified in Group 45, added to Section 2 of the Workmen's Compensation law by Senate bill Int. No. 602, Prt. No. 1608, refers to employees who do manual labor, or are mechanics or artisans, and does not mean clerks or those engaged in professional work.

In the organizations affiliated with the building industry Mr. Eidlitz has been marked for especial honors at various times. He was the president of the Mason Builders' Association of New York, 1900-1904; and was the Chairman of the Board of Governors of the Building Trades Employers' Association, 1903-1905.

Governor Roosevelt appointed him a member of the Tenement House Commission in 1900, and in 1909 he was designated by Governor Hughes as a member of the Commission for Investigating Employers' Liability, Workmen's Compensation and Safety Appliances and the Cause and Effect of Unemployment in the United States.

Hon. Edward B. White, Chief Justice of the United States, Hon. Martin A. Knapp, Presiding Judge of the Commerce Court and Hon. Charles P. Neil, in 1912 combined in appointing Mr. Eidlitz as a member of the Board of Arbitration to settle the controversy between fifty-two railroads, east of Chicago, and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. In 1917-1918 he served as chairman of Liberty Loan Committees for the building industry.

During the period of his building career Mr. Eidlitz has been connected with the construction of some of the leading structures in this city. Among the notable buildings that have been erected under the direction of the firm of Marc Eidlitz & Son are included the following: The New York Clearing House, the office and banking buildings for J. P. Morgan & Co., Brown Brothers, the Chemical National, National Park, American Exchange National, Commonwealth, Bowery, Mutual and New York Savings Banks; the buildings for the Bankers Trust, Guaranty Trust and Brooklyn Trust; the Presbyterian, Orthopaedic, Roosevelt, Rockefeller and Ruptured and Crippled Hospitals.

The St. Regis, Belmont and Manhattan Hotels were also erected by this firm, as were the residences for Henry P. Davidson, Theodore N. Vail, Henry Phipps, Thomas F. Ryan, A. D. Juilliard, Bradley Martin, William J. Curtis and Sidney Dillon. Among the clubs and other public and semi-public structures erected under his direction are included the New York Yacht, Racquet and Tennis, Lotos and Yale; the Metropolitan Opera House, the New Theatre, the Ethical Culture School, the Institute of Musical Art, St. Bartholomew's Church, Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, and St. George's Chapel.

Mr. Otto M. Eidlitz is a Fellow of the Fine Arts Society and a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers and the American Society for Testing Materials. He is a member of the Executive Committee of the Civic Federation and of the New York Chamber of Commerce. He is also a member of the National Geographical Society, Metropolitan Museum of Art and the American Museum of Natural History.

He belongs to the Cornell University, Delta Upsilon, Lotos, Engineers, Transportation and New York Athletic Clubs and the Chelsea Plantation, South Carolina, and the Laurentian of Canada.

Real Estate Board, Samuel P. Goldman, Chairman

Regulation of Buildings.

RELYING on a charter provision conferring upon it the power "to regulate the height, construction and inspection of all new buildings" thereafter to be erected within its territory, the City of Bluefield, West Virginia, refused to give a lot owner a permit to erect a building on his lot, situated in the business section of the city, and fronting on one of its principal thoroughfares, on the sole ground of its character as to height, his purpose being the erection of a one-story building. By some regulation not fully disclosed in the pleadings the city endeavored to enforce its policy of prevention of the erection of buildings less than three stories high in that section, and refused the permit in pursuance thereof. The owner sought a writ of mandamus to compel issuance thereof.

Ordinarily such charter provisions confer power to limit or restrict the height of buildings, not to require it, as a means of promotion or conservation of the value of adjacent property or attainment of aesthetic ideals or purposes of the community or municipal authorities, and their justification and validity rests upon the police power of the state, under which the Legislature may directly or indirectly provide for the public health, morals, safety, convenience and prosperity.

Public safety from the danger of fire was the only ground upon which the city endeavored to justify and sustain its regulatory policy, and its position was held by the West Virginia Supreme Court, State v. Stahlman, 94 S. E. 497, to be well founded if the regulation had any reasonable and substantial tendency to promote safety in that respect. The exercise of the police power must have a substantial basis. The power cannot be made a mere pretext for legislation that does not fall within it. Classification of property and rights for rate regulation, taxation and the like cannot be made upon a mere arbitrary and groundless distinction between subjects. The same principle governs in the test of validity, applied to statutes and ordinances ostensibly passed and adopted for promotion of the public health, comfort and convenience. Its effect and its professed object must substantially agree and coincide.

"Artistic, civic and economic views of a one-story building between three or four story buildings, in a section in which, as a rule, only the higher structures are put up, severely condemn it; but certain obvious laws of physics effectually exclude the assumption that it is substantially conducive to danger from fire. Of course an open fire between tall buildings may be more dangerous, in the absence of resistance, than a smothered one; but a fire in a one-story building would not be an open one. It would be subject to the restraining influence of the roof and walls in a manner similar to that exerted by the walls, floors and roof of a higher structure. Besides a low building is more accessible to firemen than a high one. The combustible matter on which the fire feeds is all near the ground and within easy reach. Water may be poured directly upon it from the windows and roofs of the adjacent and neighboring buildings. Its low altitude decreases the danger to firemen and facilitates their work. There is nothing by which the fire can spread directly upwards—the direction in which it runs most rapidly—and the volume of combustible matter is smaller than that of a higher building. Any slight tendency of a one-story building situated between higher ones to danger by fire is manifestly outweighed and reduced to nothing by these obvious and commonly known principles."

The court held that the power and authority over the owner's property claimed by the city, if allowed by law, would be a serious restraint upon his right of use and enjoyment. It could not be imposed for the benefit of adjacent or neighboring property owners, nor could it be imposed to effect symmetry of the city, street or section, otherwise than under the power of eminent domain, allowing compensation, if at all. A peremptory writ of mandamus was therefore granted.

Mistake as to Boundary.

Where the owners of adjoining lots fell into error with respect to the true lines of one lot so that a building on the other lot was erected so as to encroach on it the New York Appellate Division holds, Belotti vs. Bickhardt, 167 N. Y. Supp. 19, that the doctrine of the practical location of boundary had no application to vest the encroaching owner with title to the land encroached upon; the parties not intending to have settled a doubtful boundary line as they did not know there was any question as to where the true line was. When the mistake was discovered the owner of the lot encroached upon, in a suit to recover possession of his land and compel the removal of the building, was held entitled to the rental value of the land considered as vacant property, and to no more. Even in an ejectment action he would not be entitled to the rental value of the building. Code Civ. Proc., §1533, provides that, in an action to recover real property, the plaintiff is entitled to recover as damages the rents or profits of the realty recovered for not exceeding six years, but the damages shall not include the value of the use of any improvements made by the defendant or those under whom he claims.

Dividing Broker's Commissions.

In an action for commissions it appeared that the owner of property contracted to pay the plaintiffs' 5 per cent. commissions for the sale of the property. The plaintiffs engaged the defendant to assist them, agreeing to give him three-fourths of such commission. The New York Appellate Division holds, Smith v. Goldsborough, 167 N. Y. Supp. 297, that the plaintiffs are not entitled to share in the further commission which the owner agreed to give the defendant, there being no partnership or joint adventure as between the plaintiffs and the defendant. Any attempted alteration after a sale of the contract between the plaintiffs and the defendant, fixing the proportion in which they should divide the commission for the sale being without consideration, would be ineffectual.

Building Restrictions.

The New Jersey Court of Errors and Appeals holds, Heyniger v. Levinsohn, 102 Atl. 631, that under charter authorizing and investing a company with power to incorporate into any deed made by it a clause forbidding the sale of intoxicants on the premises conveyed and to require any grantee to make and maintain such style and character of improvement as to the company might seem most expedient, the company could pass a general resolution or by-law containing the restrictions as to the use of the premises conveyed by it, and insert a covenant in the deed merely binding the grantee in general terms to abide by the by-laws, it not being necessary to insert the restrictions in the deed.

Agent's Liability to Principal.

A real estate agent was employed to procure an exchange of land for other real property. The agent had listed with him certain town property for exchange. He offered the town property to his principal in exchange for the land, and falsely represented that the town property was worth $1,500. That representation was believed and relied on by the principal, and the exchange was made. The Kansas Supreme Court holds, Luderman v. Koch, 168 Pac. 906, that the agent was liable to the principal for the damages sustained by him.

REAL ESTATE REVIEW OF THE WEEK

Several Important Sales Reported by Brokers—
Grand Central Palace Leasehold Sold—Other Reports

A REVIEW of the real estate market for the week shows several unusually large sales, and a healthy market in spite of the Red Cross drive, which is taking up the time and attention of many realty brokers and the people generally.

Paramount among the sales of the week is the purchase by a new organization of which Alfred I. DuPont is a stockholder, of the leasehold of the Grand Central Palace, occupying the westerly block on Lexington avenue, between Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh streets. The new organization takes over the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Exchange, which holds the lease of the building, and in the plan to provide a great market in New York for goods of foreign manufacture, the leasehold held by the exchange is particularly attractive since an act of Congress in 1912, makes the building a free port in itself.

In the Bronx the well known Eichler mansion at the southwest corner of Fulton avenue and 169th street, has been purchased by the Bronx Hospital to be converted into a high class hospital and dispensary to be occupied as such within two months.

One of the largest sales of waterfront property reported in some time was closed on Monday when the Ramberg Iron Works by its attorney Rodney T. Martinsen, purchased through the office of Joseph P. Day, a tract of land consisting of eight and three-quarter acres fronting on Buttermilk Channel (East River) at the foot of Coffey, Dykman, Sullivan and Walcott streets, in the Red Hook section of Brooklyn. The property was sold by Mr. Day for the receivers of the Atlantic Dock Company, and was held at $650,000. It is understood that the new owners will improve the property with dry docks, and other structures at a cost of over one million dollars.

Bronx taxpayers figured in the sales of the week when Alfred E. Marling and Walter C. Noyes as receivers of the American Real Estate Company sold to Frederick Brown, the operator, the two-story building at the southeast corner of Third avenue and 180th street, on a plot 96x126, and the one-story building containing eleven stores, adjoining the above property in 180th street. The S. Brenner Company negotiated this sale. Charles E. Rushmore added to his holdings by purchasing the five-story American basement dwelling at 44 East Sixtieth street. Mr. Rushmore owns the two adjoining dwellings at 46 and 48, thus giving him a plottage of 60x100. Pease & Elliman were the brokers in Ennis & Sinnott figured in another transaction involving a west side parcel. The five-story building at 443 West Thirty-third street on a lot 25x100 was purchased from Joseph Schwartz, who acquired the property last week from Jacob Hirsch in part payment for the apartment 1520 St. Nicholas avenue.

What may eventually prove to be a great shipbuilding project was the sale on Tuesday to the Federal Shipbuilding Company, of a tract of twenty acres on the west side of the Morris Canal, extending to the Hackensack River in the West Bergen section of Jersey City. The same company also purchased a tract adjoining, from George F. Gantz, of New York, for $36,000. The first parcel was purchased from the Jersey City authorities.

Options have been secured on eighty acres lying northerly of the above parcels and owned by various interests. When these titles are closed the Federal Shipbuilding Company will have one hundred acres comprising all the lands lying between the Newark and New Jersey railroad on the south, extending northerly to the Lincoln highway and from the west bank of the Morris Canal to the Hackensack river, together with the land under water.

week and several important deals were put through. As usual there was a greater demand for apartments than there is a supply, but some high class apartments in new buildings were leased at attractive figures and for long terms. In the downtown section a lease of especial interest was that of Snows Limited, exporters and importers, of the entire six-story building at 236 and 238 Spring street, from the Trinity Church Corporation. The lease is for a term of years and represents an aggregate rental of about $100,000. William A. White & Sons negotiated the deal.

Another lease of interest was that of the entire ground floor in the Builders' Exchange Building at 29 to 35 West Thirty-second street to the United States government for use as midtown ticket offices by the Pennsylvania, New York Central, Lackawanna, Baltimore & Ohio, Lehigh Valley and Erie Railroads. Edmond J. Loughran negotiated the deal and he also leased the entire ground floor in the Manhattan Life building at 64 Broadway, to the railroads for their downtown offices in the financial district.

In the Borough of Brooklyn selling has been very active, the three-story and basement houses being in great demand. The brokers of the borough report an unusually active market for such buildings and attribute the cause to the recent advance in rents "which is always followed," they say, "by a good market for such dwellings." In Richmond there has been a very active market for the sale of dwellings and several good sales are reported. The shipbuilding activity in this borough has created a demand for dwellings and the brokers have been unable, in many instances, to supply houses within the area covered by the shipyards.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

THE total number of sales reported and not recorded in Manhattan this week was 31 as against 29 last week and 24 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 59th street was 13 as compared with 10 last week and 10 a year ago.

The sales north of 59th street aggregate 18 as compared with 19 last week and 14 a year ago.

From the Bronx 22 sales at private contract were reported as against 22 last week and 10 a year ago.

Statistical tables, indicating the number of recorded instruments, will be found on page 682 of this issue.

Grand Central Palace Leasehold Sold.

An organization in which Alfred I. du Pont is a stockholder has purchased the leasehold of the Grand Central Palace, occupying the westerly block on Lexington avenue, between Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh streets, to provide a great market place in New York for goods of foreign manufacture. The new organization has taken over the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Exchange of New York, which holds the lease of the building, because the exchange, under an act of congress in 1912, possesses rights which practically make buildings which it controls free ports in themselves. The Grand Central Palace is a thirteen-story building, erected about eight years ago by the New York Central Railroad. It has a frontage 200 feet on Lexington avenue and about 400 feet on each street. In the present transaction the du Pont interests purchased the controlling stock in the association which controls the building, with a view to extending the buying organization's commercial interests for the stimulation of trade between the United States and the allied powers of Europe, Latin America, and the Far East. In addition to the Merchants and Manufacturers' Exchange and the New York Furniture Exchange, which are already tenants, the organizations to occupy the palace include the Allied Industries Corporation, the All-Americas Association, and the All-Americas Publishing Company. A large portion of the building will be devoted to a permanent exhibition and two upper floors are to be converted into club quarters. Eventually it is intended to use the Grand Central Palace as an international bazaar, but the reconstruction will be done floor by floor so that the present tenants may remain until the du Pont corporation requires the room. It was reported that other important properties would be taken over by the same interests.

Shipbuilding Company Buys Waterfront.

Title was passed Tuesday whereby the Federal Shipbuilding Company acquired from the Jersey City authorities a tract of twenty acres on the west side of the Morris Canal, extending to the Hackensack River, in the West Bergen section of Jersey City, and directly opposite its shipbuilding plant, which is located on the west shore of the Hackensack. The company also purchased a tract adjoining, 419 by 420, from George F. Gantz of New York for $36,000. Options have been secured on the remaining eighty acres lying northerly of the above parcels, which were obtained from Mrs. R. Louise Flaacke, the Vredenburg estate, the Standard Oil Company, and the Robert Davis estate. When these titles are closed the Shipbuilding Company will have 100 acres, comprising all the lands lying between the Newark and New York Railroad on the south, extending northerly to the Lincoln Highway and from the west bank of the Morris Canal to the Hackensack River, together with the land under water.

Sale of Waterfront Property.

One of the largest sales of waterfront properties closed for some time past in New York Harbor was announced on Monday by Joseph P. Day, who sold for the receivers of the Atlantic Dock Company a large tract of land consisting of eight and three-quarter acres fronting on Buttermilk Channel (East River) at the foot of Coffey, Dykman, Sullivan and Walcott streets, in the Red Hook section of Brooklyn. The property fronts 900 feet on the channel, opposite Governor's Island, and has an additional frontage of about 380 feet on a private slip of about 1,280 feet. In the immediate vicinity are the Erie Basin and the State Barge Canal. It is within the free lighterage limits and was one of the few remaining large waterfront plots in New York Harbor. The property was held at $650,000 by the receivers of the Atlantic Dock Company. The property was purchased by Mr. Rodney T. Martinsen, an attorney, who acted for the Ramberg Iron Works, which company operates a large ship repair plant at Imlay and Pioneer streets, Brooklyn. Mr. Day stated that it is the purpose of the purchaser to improve the property at a cost of $1,000,000 within the current year and it is to be used for drydocking, ship repairing and shipbuilding.

Syndicate Buys Opera House.

A syndicate in which George D. Grundy is the principal figure, has taken under a contract of purchase the Lexington Avenue Opera House erected by Oscar Hammerstein several years ago to share the operatic stage of New York with the Metropolitan Opera Company. The contracts were signed on Wednesday and unless something unforeseen happens the opera house will be taken over by the syndicate from the Manhattan Life Insurance Company, which had to take it over several months ago to protect a mortgage on the property. It is the intention of the purchasers to use the theatre for concerts, song recitals and orchestral performances, similar to those given at Carnegie Hall. A lease for a period of years has been made with the Chicago Opera Association for their season of grand opera in New York. It is the plan of the purchasers to give Sunday evening concerts with the leading artists in the country as soloists. Identity of the members of the syndicate other than Mr. Grundy could not be learned from Lewis & Kelsey, attorneys for the syndicate, who arranged for the purchase of the opera house property.

Investor Increases Holdings.

By the purchase of the five-story American basement dwelling at 44 East Sixtieth street, on a lot 20x100, Charles E. Rushmore, who owns the two adjoining dwellings at 46 and 48, including the southwest corner of Park avenue and Sixtieth street, now controls a plot 60x100 which he is holding for investment. The property has been held at $100,000. Pease & Elliman negotiated the deal.

Eichler Mansion Sold.

Jacob Siegel and Minnie Siegel Fahs sold to the Bronx Hospital the premises at the southwest corner Fulton avenue and 169th street, having a frontage of 218 feet on Fulton avenue and 145 feet in 169th street, on which is erected a large brick residence and frame residence. The brick mansion was built in 1888 by Marie Eichler, who occupied the same as her residence until 1899. This residence has been occupied by Jacob Siegel. Prior to the building of the mansion the frame house on the south end of the lot was occupied by

They are at present located in the neighborhood and have been for years back and will move into the new premises within the next sixty days. The brokers in this transaction are Richard Dickson and Alexander Selkin.

West Side Parcels Involved in Deal.

Ennis & Sinnott purchased from Joseph Schwartz the five-story building at 443 West Thirty-third street, on a lot 25x100, and later resold the property. Mr. Schwartz took the property last week from Jacob Hirsch in part payment for the apartment at 1,520 St. Nicholas avenue. The latter parcel was secured by him the day before together with the flat at the northeast corner of Davidson avenue and North street, and the tenement at 402 East Seventy-third street, in exchange for the southeast corner of St. Nicholas avenue and 192d street. It is reported that Mr. Schwartz has also sold the Davidson avenue and Seventy-third street property.

Bronx Taxpayers Change Hands.

Two valuable Bronx taxpayers were sold on Tuesday by Alfred E. Marling and Walter C. Noyes as receivers of the American Real Estate Company, to Frederick Brown the operator, in a cash transaction. The properties in the deal include the two-story building at the southeast corner of Third avenue and 180th street, on a plot 96x126 by irregular, containing seven stories on the grade floor and also the adjoining property in East 180th street, a one-story building on a plot 78x144, containing eleven stories. The combined parcels were held at $160,000. The S. Brenner Company negotiated the transaction.

To Build Cottage Colony.

What is regarded by realty interests as one of the largest transactions in vacant property in this city in many years is the sale of the old Schiefflin homestead property consisting of 113 acres of land, bounded by Laconia avenue, 231st street, Baychester avenue and Boston road, Bronx. The buyer is the Hebrew Orphan Asylum and it is understood that more than $2,000,000 will be expended in the development of a cottage colony. It was necessary to obtain the permission of the Board of Estimate to close at least twelve thoroughfares to consummate this deal. This permission was given. The property is one of the oldest holdings in the Bronx and was developed when that section was occupied by large estates. It was held at $200,000. J. Clarence Davies was the broker in the transaction.

Site for Hotel Commonwealth.

Announcement is made of the completion of the contracts to purchase from Robert E. Dowling and Franklin Pettit the entire block bounded by Broadway, 56th street, 7th avenue and 55th street, for the purpose of erecting one of the largest hotels in the world, to be known as the Commonwealth Hotel. The site consists of about thirty city lots, fronting approximately 200 feet in Broadway, 300 feet in 55th street, 350 feet in 56th street and 200 feet in 7th avenue. Plans have been completed by Starrett & Van Vleck and King & Campbell to erect a building thirty-four stories high and to contain 2,500 rooms. Robert H. Jones negotiated the transaction.

RECENT LEASES.

Leases Oakdale Hotel.

J. B. Orkin, dealer in cloaks and suits, at 25 and 27 West Thirty-fourth street, has taken a long term lease of the seven-story Oakdale apartment hotel, abutting, at 36 and 38 West Thirty-fifth street, and plans an important alteration to both properties. The lease, which was made with the New York Life Insurance Company, owner, is for a term of ten years at a total rental of about $250,000. The Oakdale is a seven-story building on plot 40x100. It is planned to connect the Thirty-fourth street building with the one on Thirty-fifth street, and establish in the latter the buying, receiving and delivery departments of the lessee in order to provide necessary traffic relief on the main thoroughfare. Mr. Orkin said that he will occupy the first two floors and store of the Oakdale and sublet the upper portion for apartments. Plans for the proposed changes are being made by Buchman & Kahn, architects. It is estimated that the changes will cost upward of $50,000.

Consolidate Ticket Offices.

A consolidation of mid-town railroad ticket offices was effected Tuesday through the lease of the entire ground floor in the Builders Exchange Building at 29 to 35 West Thirty-second street. The companies to occupy this space include the Pennsylvania, New York Central, Lackawanna, Baltimore & Ohio, the Lehigh Valley and the Erie Railroads. The floor is now occupied by the Brunswick-Balke-Callender Company, which recently renewed its lease, but consented to give up the space for the use of the Government. This company has leased for a term the ground floor at 39 West Thirty-second street. Edmond J. Loughran negotiated both transactions. The same broker leased the entire ground floor in the Manhattan Life Building, 64 Broadway, to the railroads for their downtown offices in the financial district. Jardine, Hill & Murdock, architects, have charge of alterations at both locations.

Trinity Church in Warehouse Lease.

Snows, Ltd., exporters and importers, having their principal offices at 17 Battery Place, have leased from Converse & Company for a term from Trinity Church the entire six-story and basement building at 236-238 Spring street running through to No. 27 Clark street. The lease is for a term of years and represents the total outlay in rent of almost $100,000. The tenants will alter the building to adapt it for a warehouse to take care of their rapidly increasing business. William A. White & Sons negotiated the deal.

Home for Russian Leader.

Wealthy Russians have taken a lease, with an option of purchase, of the four-story twenty-five-foot residence of Mrs. August E. Knopf, at 99 Riverside Drive, south corner of 82d street. According to an unconfirmed report, the house, which will be altered and furnished as a club, is to be the home of Alexander F. Kerensky, Russian revolutionary leader, during his stay in America. The residence has fifteen rooms and occupies a lot, 22.2x76.5.

Ticket Offices Closed.

By orders of the United States Railroad Administration the following offices, heretofore occupied as ticket offices by the various railroad companies, have been closed or will soon be closed, and the leasing of the several stores placed in the hands of a sub-committee consisting of H. A. Howarth, Real Estate Agent of the Long Island R. R. Co.; H. M. Andrews, General Land & Tax Agent of the Erie R. R. Co.; H. R. Wilson, Assistant General Land & Tax Agent of the New York Central R. R. Co.; F. A. Von Moschizker, Agent Real Estate Department, Pennsylvania R. R. Co., and R. D. Van Duzer, General Land & Tax Agent of the Lehigh Valley R. R. Co., who have opened a rental

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS, MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES

[Record and Guide Quotations Are Accepted as Official by Building Material Exchanges.]

CONDITIONS in the local building situation have undergone but slight change during the past week. Private building operations, other than alteration projects, are a negligible quantity and the most important factor at the present time involves those structures under way or contemplated for Government occupancy, and those being erected for industrial and commercial interests requiring additional facilities for handling war contracts, foodstuffs, or other purely essential construction.

There is an enlivened interest manifest in speculative construction which is most gratifying to the building industry. For many months this phase of construction has been neglected owing to the difficulty of securing adequate building loans and also by the high cost of materials and supplies. From the latter influence it is now conceded that no relief is possible for a long time, at least not until the war is ended and perhaps not for years afterward. With this fact in mind, and recognizing the great need for living accommodations in this city and surrounding sections, speculative builders have matured their plans and some have already started their buildings. Those who complete their structures during the summer will reap large benefits next autumn as their will be an unusually heavy demand for apartments in modern multi-family houses and the rentals to be obtained will be greater than those ever paid in the past.

The most important phase of purely private building construction at the present time is the alteration work now in progress, not only in Manhattan, but throughout the entire greater city. The fact that but comparatively few structures of any description have been erected during the past year has created a demand for space that is far in excess of the supply, and the owners of properties that might be improved by the expenditure of relatively small sums for alterations and repairs will be substantially repaid for any outlay they make in modernizing their buildings. Rentals are steadily advancing for almost every type of rentable space and the city abounds in properties that now only pay the carrying charges but which could be made to return excellent dividends if the owners could be made to realize the advantage of improving them.

The building material markets have demonstrated no unusual activity during the past week. The general volume of business is considered satisfactory under the circumstances and few lines, notably those supplying commodities for Federal building operations, are reporting good trade. Prices are firm in all branches and in some instances increases have been announced. The undercurrent of feeling still exists that the material price situation has not reached its high level and that before the summer is past structural commodity prices will be considerably higher than they are today in those lines that are not subject to Federal control.

Common Brick. Although the volume of sales is about similar to that of last week the situation in the market for Hudson River common brick is slightly improved. As predicted recently the wholesale prices of common brick have been advanced and the market is now firm at $10 to $10.25 a thousand, to dealers, in cargo lots, with manufacturers asking $10.50 for top grades. Although the latter price has not been obtained as yet, there is every likelihood that the market will soon advance to this as its level. Practically no new demand for general building purposes has developed during the week, but there is a feeling of confidence owing to the fact that some important Government contracts have recently been placed and which will utilize common brick in good quantity. No definite orders have been placed, but there is a feeling that before long orders from Federal sources will be coming into the market. The manufacturing situation in the Hudson Valley is very quiet, only a small percentage of the plants are operating and those which have started machines are working upon an extremely limited scale. The production in this section will be lighter than for many years past. The Raritan district is also almost inactive and what little brick is being made is going to New Jersey points. No quotations are being made on Raritan brick for New York delivery.

SUMMARY—Transactions in the North River brick market for the week ending Friday, May 24, 1918. Condition of market: Demand fair; prices advanced. Quotations: Hudson Rivers, $10 to $10.25 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 18; sales, 17. Distribution: Manhattan, 4; Brooklyn, 3; New Jersey points, 7; Staten Island, 1; outside, 2.

Structural Steel.—Aside from a few miscellaneous inquiries for small amounts of fabricated steel for building purposes there is practically no activity current in this line. All of the mills have pledged their entire output to Federal uses for the time being and local dealers and contractors are out of the market at this time. The condition has effectually held up a number of important building projects in the Metropolitan district for which plans have been completed for some time and which were fully expected to proceed. Owing to the present situation in the steel industry these structures are likely to be held in abeyance for some time, at least until the present emergency is passed and, as a matter of fact, they might not now be started until the war is finally ended. At the present writing the fabricating mills of the country have all of the business they are able to handle in the Government orders which are daily becoming heavier. The various departments of the administration engaged in constructive war work are steadily increasing their requirements and the full volume of demand is yet unknown. According to the report of the Bridge Builders and Structural Society for the month of April, sixty-four per cent. of the entire capacity of the bridge and structural shops of the country was contracted for. The total was approximately 115,000 tons or 30,000 tons more than the previous month. Mill shipments of fabricated materials are nominally quoted at the Federal control figure of 3.195c., New York.

Lumber.—Every effort is being made by the producers of lumber designed for Government uses to speed up their cutting to the greatest possible degree. Demands for ship timbers and other lumber required in the shipbuilding program are steadily increasing and other Federal requirements are also daily growing more insistent. One of the prime difficulties of the producers is the inability to obtain the labor needed in the woods and relief in this direction would be of the greatest benefit to both producer and Government. There is a slight local demand for lumber to be used in private construction, but the suburban districts report a fairly active demand from activity of this character. Manufacturing consumers in this territory are factors in the market and their wants are heavy, particularly for the production of materials and supplies designed for war usage. Lumber prices are well sustained in all branches of trade and there is a constant tendency toward further increases as stocks are depleted and dealers unable to replenish owing to the Federal priorities and other factors that enter into the local situation.

Window Glass.—Business in this line is practically dead, the manufacturers feeling the effects of the shortage of fuel and raw materials and the jobbers the lack of demand from building sources. Large building projects are extremely scarce and the bulk of the work now in progress is not consuming glass in any material volume. Orders for glass are only for immediate requirements or specific orders, but the low volume of production this season will have a tendency to keep glass prices at their existing high levels. With the advent of summer weather the factories that have been working will cease their operations for the season and it is generally considered that within the coming week or two the manufacturing for this year will be brought to an end. At the present writing the schedule of manufacturers' discounts remain unchanged but there is no guarantee as to the length of time existing prices will maintain.

Portland Cement.—The market for Portland cement is fairly active, and while Government demands largely dominate the situation there is a continued activity from private building sources that is most gratifying to the manufacturers. One of the most interesting operations recently announced was the mammoth structure of reinforced concrete to be erected for the Quartermaster's Department, in Brooklyn, by the Turner Construction Co. It has been estimated that this operation will require upward of half a million barrels of Portland cement. Other Federal projects are daily being announced that will likely tax the producing capacity of the cement mills for some time to come.

Wire Products.—All of the manufacturers of wire and wire products have pledged one hundred per cent. of their output to the Government as long as it is required and recently notified their sales managers not to accept new orders for either wire or wire nails while the present emergency maintains. The Railroad Administration is in the market for about 18,000 kegs of wire nails to be used in the construction of the wooden cars recently ordered. Stocks of both wire and wire nails in the hands of the jobbers are extremely light and the dealers are daily experiencing greater difficulty in obtaining renewal stocks from the mills. Practically all orders are subject to delays until Federal requirements are filled. Government control prices dominate all trade.

Cast Iron Pipe.—The market for this commodity is fairly active and there is considerable new business in prospect that will undoubtedly develop during the summer, but the manufacturers are hesitating somewhat about seeking trade in any great volume owing to the problems incident to obtaining pig iron for the production of pipe. Also the question as to whether the Government will put cast iron pipe on the preferred list is still unsettled. Plans for a large amount of municipal work have lately been perfected, but bids have not been called for owing to the uncertainty of delivery. Prices are unchanged from the Government control figures of $55.35 for 6 in., 8 in. and heavier and $58.35 for 4 in., New York.

Linseed Oil.—Crushers throughout the country are short of seed and are considerably behind in their deliveries on contracts. Dealers' stocks are low and there is likely to be a scarcity of this commodity for some time to come. Prices are firm and with an advancing tendency. The top of the market has not yet been reached according to the best informed.

Planning Hotel for Havana, Cuba.

Warren & Wetmore, architects, 16 East 47th street, Manhattan, are preparing the preliminary plans and specifications for a modern fireproof hotel to be erected on the Malacon, Havana, Cuba, at a cost placed approximately at $2,500,000. The structure will be located on a triangular plot and will be constructed of reinforced concrete, probably four stories in height. The project is backed by a syndicate of Havana and New York capitalists, care of Walton H. Marshall, Hotel Vanderbilt, Park avenue and 34th street, Manhattan. This proposed hostelry will be known as the Hotel Vanderbilt-Moro.

Contemplated Apartment Project.

The Absar Realty Co., Abraham Weismann, president, 919 Fox street, has recently purchased a large plot containing approximately sixteen lots in the south side of 192d street, between the Grand Boulevard and Concourse and Crescent avenue, the Bronx, and contemplates the improvement of the same by the erection of six high-class multifamily dwellings. The plans will probably be prepared by Charles Kreymborg, architect, 2240 Quimby street. This operation will involve the expenditure of about $625,000. Further details of this project will be available later.

Contract for Department Store.

R. S. Pollock, 118 East 28th street, Manhattan, has obtained a general contract for the construction of a four-story, fireproof brick and terra cotta department store building in West Front street, Plainfield, N. J., for Tepper Brothers, owners, 113 West Front street. The plans and specifications for this project were prepared by Wilder & White, architects, 50 Church street, Manhattan. The building will have ground dimensions of approximately 60 x169 feet and will be equipped with modern store conveniences. The cost is placed at $100,000.

Important Bronx Theatre Project.

Plans and specifications have recently been completed in the office of Wm. H. McElpatrick, architect, 701 Seventh avenue, for a four-story fireproof structure, 100x200 feet, to contain a theatre and stores. This operation is for F. B. Keith's N. Y. Theatre Corporation, Inc., Paul Keith, president, 1564 Broadway, and will cost approximately $400,000 to build. It is undecided when estimates will be called for.

Plans for Model Tenements.

Grosvenor Atterbury, architect, 20 West 43d street, Manhattan, is preparing the plans and specifications for two model tenements to be erected in West 22d street, Bayonne, N. J., by the Bayonne Housing Co., a corporation now being formed under the auspices of the Bayonne Chamber of Commerce. The details of construction are not available at this time and will be announced later. This project will cost in the neighborhood of $200,000.

PERSONAL AND TRADE NOTES.

Frank A. Rooke, architect, formerly at 489 Fifth avenue, has moved his offices to 15 East 40th street.

Fanning & Quinn, general contractors, have recently moved their offices from 104 West 42d street to 105 West 40th street.

Sidney F. Ross, architect, formerly located at 15 East 40th street, has moved his office to the Vanderbilt Concourse Building, 52 Vanderbilt avenue.

McLean Long, consulting engineer, has recently moved his offices from the Park Row Building, 13-21 Park Row, to the Equitable Building, 120 Broadway.

Electric Hoist Manufacturers' Association at its recent annual meeting elected the following officers for the ensuing year: F. W. Hall, Sprague Electric Works, General Electric Co., New York, chairman; C. W. Beaver, Yale &

Towne Mfg. Co., New York, vice-chairman; R. T. Turner, of the Shepherd Electric Crane & Hoist Co.'s New York office, secretary and treasurer.

Edward De V. Tompkins, consulting and constructing engineer, who has for the past seven years had offices at 17 East 38th street, has moved to Chicago to take the general agency of the Cement Gun Co., Inc., of Allentown, Pa., in charge of their Midwest Territory, with headquarters in the Fisher Bldg., Chicago, Ill. Building “The Commodore”

The Fuller Construction Company, in charge of this giant hotel project, is drawing on the Central Station for 1500 horsepower

This is because steel-erecting derricks, hod hoists, and air compressors must be operated swiftly and dependably. 16,000 tons of steel and its covering stone work must go up at a rate that can be relied upon

Great undertakings bring out great truths. The truth here is the need of Edison Service for every power requirement of modern consequence. It is building “The Commodore”. Let it build up your interests the modern way

TRADE AND TECHNICAL SOCIETY EVENTS.

NEW YORK BUILDING SUPERINTENDENTS' ASSOCIATION meets every Tuesday evening at 4 West 37th st.

TECHNICAL LEAGUE OF AMERICA holds its regular meeting the second Friday of each month. Oscar S. Teale, secretary, 240 Broadway.

The Value of a Name

Every business man seeks to establish his product, his trade-mark or the quality of his services, and uses publicity to create a demand for them, recognizing the demand thus created as a valuable and very definite asset of his business.

He also understands that after this demand is created, competition obliges him to constantly defend this asset and perpetuate this demand aside from his desire to increase it.

In some lines the name or trade-mark thus established is regarded as equivalent in value to the total capital investment and good will of the business.

In these times, manufacturers are apt to overlook the necessity of constantly maintaining this value, on account of their inability to keep up normal conditions, and their failure to consider the high rate of depreciation that occurs due to the forgetfulness of the public in all matters that are not vital to their own interests.

The following emphasizes the same point in another way:

"One of the best things that has come to my attention recently was the statement that Henry Ford, a rather well-known and comfortably-fixed citizen of Detroit—now that he is embarking in the Tractor business—finds himself legally restrained from calling it the 'Ford Tractor' because a small municipal concern was smart enough to copyright that name."

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF MECHANICAL ENGINEERS holds its monthly meeting on the first Tuesday of each month. Calvin W. Rice, 25 West 29th st, secretary.

AMERICAN SOCIETY FOR TESTING MATERIALS will hold its twenty-first annual meeting at Atlantic City, N. J., June 25-28, with headquarters at the Hotel Traymore.

NATIONAL HARDWOOD LUMBER ASSOCIATION will hold its twenty-first annual convention in Chicago, Ill., June 20-21. The headquarters will be located at the Congress Hotel.

NATIONAL LIME MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION, Fred K. Irvine, secretary, has postponed its annual convention until July. The date and details of this meeting will be announced later.

BRONX CHAMBER OF COMMERCE holds its regular meeting at Ebling's Casino, 156th st and St. Anns av, on the second Wednesday of each month. Secretary, Joseph M. Taylor, 593 St. Anns av.

BRONX BOARD OF TRADE holds its regular meeting on the fourth Wednesday of each month in the Board of Trade rooms, 137th st and 3d av, the Bronx. Charles E. Reid, secretary.

AMERICAN HARDWARE MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION will hold its annual convention at the Hotel Traymore, Atlantic City, N. J., June 11 to 13, 1918. F. D. Mitchell, secretary, Woolworth Building, N. Y. City.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF MASTER PLUMBERS will hold its annual convention at the Planters Hotel, St. Louis, Mo., June 4 to 6. A. A. Zertanna, St. Louis, National secretary.

CALENDAR

CALL OF CALENDAR.

The Clerk's Calendar will be called in Room 919, on Tuesday, at 3 o'clock sharp, and cases will then be taken from the General Calendar, and set down for hearing during the following week. Any requests for adjournment must be made when Clerk's Calendar is called.

The Clerk's Calendar consists of cases which are complete, but which have not yet been set down for hearing on a definite date. It is not to be confused with the Calendar, which consists of cases that have been definitely set for fixed days.

The listing of an appeal or petition in this Calendar is full and sufficient notice to all persons interested that such case will be heard on the date set and no adjournment will be allowed on the ground of ignorance of the date or of lack of due notice.

All hearings are held in Room 919, Municipal Building, Manhattan.

Realty Board Ready to Put Down Profiteering Offers Aid in Any Investigation Made by Board of Aldermen of Oppressive Rental Conditions.

VICE-CHAIRMAN MORAN of the Board of Aldermen has introduced a resolution which reads as follows:

WHEREAS, Statements and complaints are being made to the effect that the rents of apartments and flats in this city are being unduly increased, with a resulting hardship in many cases to an already overburdened citizenship; Therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Board of Aldermen hereby requests every member of this body to inquire into these conditions in his respective district, and also calls upon the citizens of the city to communicate any information they may have concerning rent profiteering to the Aldermen of their district to the end that this board may be in a position to determine the necessity of an official investigation by the Board of Aldermen into this important subject.

Several persons have expressed concern over this proposal, and have coupled it with a more or less sensational campaign being made by an afternoon newspaper against so-called rent profiteering.

The resolution was considered at a meeting of the Board of Governors of the Real Estate Board of New York, held on Tuesday, May 28, and it was decided to notify the Board of Aldermen that if a committee should be appointed to investigate rent conditions the Real Estate Board of New York would be glad to co-operate to the fullest extent.

In relation to this matter the following statement was issued by Richard O. Chittick, Executive Secretary of the Real Estate Board of New York:

"The Real Estate Board of New York in offering its co-operation to the Board of Aldermen had a very definite object in view. Rents have increased in the past few months. In some cases the increase is slight; in many it represents only a return to the rates obtainable at an earlier period; in some cases the increase has been considerable. There may, of course, be individual cases where the increase has been too great.

"But well informed persons do not believe that rent profiteering exists to any appreciable extent. It is well to know that the operating expenses of buildings, just as in other lines of enterprises, have increased greatly. Recent investigations, applying to office buildings and apartment houses, have shown that while gross incomes have increased the increase in operating expenses has left a margin of profit about what it was before the rents were raised.

"What the Real Estate Board of New York wishes to make sure of is that any investigation should be thorough and impartial so that the resulting report may be based on actual facts. If there is any extensive rent profiteering the Real Estate Board of New York is as anxious as any one else to bring it to light. If there is not, the impression already created in the public mind that there is should be removed."

men, said yesterday: "I was inspired to introduce this resolution in the board because of the many complaints received by President Smith, myself and other members of the board from people in all parts of the city who charged landlords with profiteering and demanding an official investigation.

"I am in the real estate business myself and therefore know just what the condition is as regards realty. Of course some landlords have raised rents for the purpose of profit. I know of an instance where a man had his furniture in storage because he was unable to secure an apartment in which to live. Apartments are mighty scarce these days and tenants know this. The man in question approached a certain landlord and offered him fifteen dollars more for one of his apartments than the landlord was receiving. The latter by various means succeeded in compelling the tenant of the apartment to vacate and at once leased it to his friend at the increased rental. The landlord then went among his other tenants, told them that he was receiving forty dollars for the apartment just leased as against twenty-five previously and demanded and received increases from the other tenants of from five to twelve dollars an apartment.

"As a real estate man myself I know pretty well what it costs to own and maintain property these days, so that I would hesitate to bring about an investigation of a charge of profiteering which is too broad in its scope, but after consultation with President Smith it was decided to put the matter up to the individual aldermen, let them make investigations in their own districts, receive complaints and affidavits and then present them to the Rules Committee for action if such complaints warrant such action."

A representative of the real estate firm of Cruikshank & Company of 141 Broadway, which manages many estates, said: "Profiteering? Why owners are lucky nowadays if they are able to keep their properties going at all. Take the cost of coal. It is hard to get and when we do succeed in getting any we must pay an increased price and pay extra for hauling it from the yard to the property. Where it used to cost seventy-five-cents for a pane of glass it costs today nearly four dollars by the time it is in, and it is hard to get at any price. Labor is high and the class of labor we are compelled to accept is far below the standard.

"Wages were never higher for elevator operators, engineers, firemen, janitors and others, and it is mighty hard to procure help at all.

"Everything pertaining to the maintenance and upkeep of property has advanced, and if the landlord asks the tenant to bear just a little bit of the increased cost he is accused of profiteering. We are not brokers, we manage estates and are in a position to say authoritatively that landlords are facing each month a deficit and the increase in rentals is only to help keep this deficit down."

Chairman John P. Leo of the Board of Standards and Appeals who has built many apartments and tenements in New York City, said: "I own twelve apartment houses on Washington Heights and any man who will take them off my hands will forever have my gratitude. My income from these houses do not begin to meet the expenses of maintenance. The cost of everything entering into the upkeep of a house today is higher by several hundred per cent. what it was two years ago. Help is hard to get and when we do get it we must pay high wages. The man who owns property today is up against it. Taxes are the least of our troubles. I know a man who owns an apartment house with twelve families in it and last year he had a deficit of two hundred dollars. That doesn't look like profiteering, does it? I raised the rents in my houses last fall and I expect to raise them again next fall, but not to increase my profit but to keep down the deficit."

Albert T. Ashforth of Ashforth & Company said: "Tenants nowadays are aware of the cost of maintaining a building. In their own business they know that everything has gone by and so they realize that the landlord must ask higher rents. For this reason many tenants are buying the buildings in which they are located. Then they will know just what their overhead is going to be, and however business is they will have the assurance of a home and not be concerned about increased rentals."

Charles W. SchutENDORF of the real estate firm of The Cornell Real Estate and Auction Agency, Stapleton, Staten Island, the oldest real estate firm on Staten Island, said: "Staten Island property was never so popular as it is today. We have few houses to rent and little to sell. The demand for houses and apartments far exceeds the supply, and even where we have increased the rentals the tenants have willingly paid, knowing that they could not better themselves. Increased income does not mean increased profit or any profit at all. Where we have increased rents it was because of the tremendous increase in operating expenses and houses that rented two years ago for twenty-five dollars a month are now bringing in forty and fifty, but the owner's profit has not increased in proportion."

M. Just, who is the owner of considerable property on Washington Heights, as well as a real estate broker, said: "I will give you one specific instance. I have a building at 5000 Broadway with eighty-four families in it. I had to raise the salary of the superintendent from $65 to $90 a month, the fireman from $18 to $45, the porter from $20 to $40 and three elevator men receive $45 instead of $30 as heretofore. The mortgage on the property fell due this year and I had to pay off $10,000 and the new mortgage makes it conditional that I pay off $2,500 every six months.

"We haven't raised the rents very much, so far only from $2 to $5. Coal that used to cost us $4.25 a ton now costs us as high as $10 a ton. When it was scarce last winter we had to pay for hauling it and very often it was dumped on the sidewalk in front of the property and we had to pay men to shovel it into the cellar. Seventy-five tons a month is the consumption in many of my houses. Taxes show an increase of 32 points on an investment of $235,000 or about $900 increase.

"The only advantage we now enjoy in owning property is that we manage to keep our houses rented and there is less space to rent. All material has increased in price, shellac that we paid ninety cents a gallon for now costs $3.30, painters who received $3.50 a day now receive $5, plumbers receive $8 instead of $5.50 and carpenters receive $6 instead of $4.50 a day."

The figures given by Mr. Just are supplementary to and confirmatory of statistics already printed in the Record and Guide.

What Realty Men and Builders Did for Red Cross

WITH over $35,000 cash already in hand the Red Cross Committee of the Real Estate Board, of which Mr. William L. DeBost is the chairman, is confident that the staff imposed quota of $50,000 will not only be reached but exceeded.

Many of the members of the two division teams have not yet turned in their subscriptions although they have reported their pledges.

The reason for the delay in making returns is that in many instances subscribers expressed a desire to pay their pledges in full. Many of these subscribers are employees of buildings managed by the realty firms which act as collectors and received their salaries monthly.

It is gratifying to the members of the teams, the chairman and vice-chairman and the two division chairmen, that nearly one hundred real estate firms returned subscriptions from every member of the firm, employees and others, putting such firms in the one hundred per cent. class.

While the chairman, vice-chairman, division chairmen and members of the teams worked hard in this drive soliciting the real estate offices and buildings under their charge, special credit for energetic and efficient work should be given to Miss Clarisse Spencer DeBost, daughter of Mr. W. L. DeBost, who volunteered her services as secretary to the committee and has been at the headquarters, the Board rooms of the Real Estate Board, 217 Broadway, every day since the opening day, receiving returns, answering telephone calls, tabulating the reports and counting the money turned in. The total amount received up to four o'clock yesterday afternoon was $35,799.25, representing 4,100 pledges, DISPITE the numerous recent calls for the expenditure of funds in the purchase of Liberty Bonds and for welfare work in connection with the part the United States is playing in the world war the recent campaign to provide a war chest for the National Red Cross fully demonstrated that Americans are to be thoroughly depended upon at all times to do their utmost for a worthy cause.

The building fraternity, notwithstanding the existing low status of structural activity, came to the fore again in a manner most gratifying to the chairmen of the two committees in charge of Red Cross collections from the building trades.

Mr. Paul Starrett, president of the George A. Fuller Company, and chairman of the committee which solicited subscriptions from the office employees and mechanics and laborers, engaged in the construction of buildings, reports a collection that totals approximately $25,000. The final returns have not all been made to date, and the total may possibly exceed this figure.

Mr. John I. Downey, chairman of the committee soliciting subscriptions from the firms and corporations identified with the building business, was able to report a total of $67,000 collected from the building trades. The showing made by both divisions of the building industry is considered quite remarkable under the circumstances, and exceeded by a considerable amount the predictions of the early days of the campaign. The net result is most satisfactory, and proves again the patriotism and spirit of the building industry and the individuals affiliated with it.

Zoning Law Should Pave Way for Other Reforms

Robert E. Simon Points Out Advantage of Restricting Population in Overcrowded Neighborhoods

By ROBERT E. SIMON.

THE situation arising out of the attempt to change the Zoning Law on Madison Avenue, affecting the property of Baron Astor, has renewed attention to the value of this law affecting properties in Greater New York. Never before in the history of this City has a restrictive measure of so radical a nature, affecting real estate, received so nearly the unanimous approval of the real estate interests of this City as did this law. Now that it has been in effect sufficiently long to give it an opportunity to be thoroughly tested, it still has the approval of a vast majority.

It is impossible to enact constructive legislation of this character without hurting some individuals, but when a law is for the best interests of the greatest number, the interests of the individual must be submerged, and if necessary brushed aside for the good of the many.

It is obvious to the close observer of the trend of values, that much of the depreciation which has taken place in the past decade has been due entirely to the lack of proper restrictive protection as to the character of improvements. Individual owners have completely ignored their civic duty and the rights of their neighbors, and have ruthlessly destroyed values by erecting stables, factory buildings or business buildings in the heart of residential neighborhoods, or have stolen the light by erecting tall buildings and depending upon their neighbor to provide it for them.

People who have erected or purchased homes with the hope that they could live there in peace and quiet for the rest of their days, have been driven out for no other reason than that buildings have been erected and occupied for purposes which have made the neighborhood undesirable for residential purposes. Owners of property on business thoroughfares have seen their values melt away, due to the needless over-production of stores, either by original construction or alteration of existing buildings on side streets and places where the only apparent incentive to a merchant to occupy the store is the low rent which the owner is compelled to accept in order to have his premises occupied, after having created an over production or constructed in an illogical place.

All of these conditions should be obviated by the Zoning Law, which now specifies the class of occupancy for the neighborhood and the light and area conditions, and to all intents and purposes guarantees such conditions for all time, unless it should be to the benefit of the majority to change the zoning, in which case the power rests with the Board of Standards and Appeals and the Board of Estimate and Apportionment.

In fact, the law as it stands is merely a step in the right direction; its scope should be enlarged; it should go still further. Not only should the character of the neighborhood be maintained, but the number of people permitted to live in any particular area should be limited in order, in the future, to prevent disastrous overcrowding which has taken place because of lack of restrictive laws in the down of buildings to make way for buildings of another past. The waste must be prevented; continued tearing type, while there is still unlimited vacant land available for improvement, is absolute waste.

Overcrowded neighborhoods are an expense to the community; they increase the cost of every branch of government and produce a lower type of citizenship. Given proper conditions under which to live in one's home, work in one's place of business, or to find healthful amusement in the open air, are absolute essentials to a happy and contented existence on the part of the masses. Whereas the function of the Government is not to interfere with legitimate private enterprises, a Government based on the foundation of the people, for the people and by the people, must necessarily have proper control of all phases of housing conditions for the benefit of the majority.

Even the most ardent enemy of this law, who is undoubtedly inspired by personal motives because of the effect that the law has on some particular piece of property which he owns, must admit that notwithstanding the fact that the individual may be caused to sustain a loss, the law is of a nature that is so obviously for the benefit of the many, that it justifies all public-spirited citizens to do all in their power to see that it is maintained, and to fight to the bitter end any attempt to break its spirit.

Plans for Alleviating Housing Shortage.

DEFINITE action toward the alleviation of the industrial housing shortage is now being taken by the Emergency Housing Committee of which Mr. Otto M. Eidlitz is the chairman. Government funds for the purpose are now available.

New York and the territory adjacent are to be materially favored in the respect of additional housing accommodations for the workers in the shipyards and the factories and plants making munitions and supplies under Government contract. At distant points in New York State and in commonwealths adjoining numerous housing projects are being planned for and there is every likelihood that the majority of these will be the work of prominent Metropolitan architects, and erected by building concerns with headquarters in this city. Furthermore, a large number of the contracts for materials and supplies to be used in connection with the prosecution of this construction will be purchased through the New York markets.

Among the projects that are now being considered by the Emergency Housing Committee are included those at Phillipsburgh, N. J., and Elizabeth, N. J. One million dollars will be the sum expended in each instance. The details of these projects are not yet available and the name of the architects who will prepare the plans have not been announced.

The Bay Ridge section of Brooklyn is badly congested by workmen from the shipyards and munition plants located in the Bush Terminal area and relief is requested from the Government. At Port Jefferson, L. I., similar conditions exist owing to the rapid growth of the ship-building industry at that location and it is expected that some steps will be taken to provide funds for the construction of necessary dwellings at that point.

According to the present schedule of the Emergency Housing Committee $1,000,000 will be expended at Watertown, N. Y.; $1,000,000 at Niagara Falls, N. Y.; $500,000 at Utica, N. Y.; and $250,000 at West Troy, N. Y., for the construction of workmen's houses. The architects for these projects have not been announced although some tentative plans have been prepared. The City of Buffalo has requested the assistance of the Government in caring for its workers and it is anticipated that before long the Housing Committee will add this city to its list of locations of housing projects.

Official Procedure Under the Torrens Law

Register Donegan Gives the Departmental Regulations Fixed By the Five County Registrars.

By JAMES A. DONEGAN,
Register of New York County.

AN examination of the first land title to be registered under the amended Torrens act in this state has been in progress this week. The petition was filed by John J. Hopper on May 20, and the matter was referred by Justice M. Warley Platzek to Michael H. Wolfe, official examiner of titles, attached to the registrar's office.

The property described in the petition is on the south side of West 134th street, beginning 125 feet east of Twelfth avenue, and has a street frontage of fifty feet. It has been owned by Mr. Hopper for about thirteen years. Service of the notices of hearing has already been begun by the Registrar. The hearing is set afor June 21.

The Land Registration Act is included in the Real Property Law, many sections of which were amended this year. Under the laws existing for ten years it was necessary for a person desiring to register the title to his land to make an application to the court for leave to begin a suit. That preliminary application might be contested and the questions involved litigated to such an extent that in at least one proceeding nearly two years elapsed without the suit having been brought to issue. After leave has been obtained from the court to begin the action for registration the matter proceeded with all the deliberateness attached to an equity suit, so that it was impossible to obtain the registration of a land title within a time anywhere near that usually allowed for the closing of a title in ordinary real estate transactions.

Under the present law the procedure has been so far simplified that a title which is not complicated by conflicting claims may be registered within one or two months.

THE PROCEDURE.

The proceeding for registering a title to land is begun by the preparation and filing of a petition by the owner of a fee estate or of some right in land, by the person who is in possession, or who has a contract with the owner of the fee for the purchase of the land. A person who has the power of appointing or disposing of a legal estate of land may also begin the proceeding. The fact that a mortgage or other lien upon the land exists is not an objection to bringing real property under the title registration system.

A summary of the contents of the petition is to be found in Section 379 of the Real Property Law as amended by Chapter 572 of the Laws of 1918. The recording officers of the five counties of Greater New York have taken up the matter of preparing a uniform form of petition. The statute provides—Section 434—that the registrar of any county is authorized to have forms prepared and printed for various papers required by the law. It has been the design of the recording officers that a form should be secured which might be used in any county so as to prevent confusion among owners desiring to register their titles. With the form of the petition carefully prepared an owner might be able to fill out, without the aid of an attorney, the blank spaces in the petition, or if he desires the services of an attorney the attorney's charge would not be great.

The petition, when completed, is to be verified by the petitioner in the same way as the complaint in an action. It is then presented to the Supreme Court, which is required immediately to refer the matter to one of the official examiners of the county, appointed by the registrar of the county from among those who have been licensed after examination under the rules of the Court of Appeals. If no official examiner has been appointed in any county the court may name an attorney to act as official examiner of title, or, if the petitioner desires, the court may accept a report of title made and certified to by a title insurance company, accompanied by a guarantee policy.

At the time of the filing of the petition the petitioner should present a survey of the property, made by a competent surveyor, or he may present such a survey, after the filing of the petition, to the official examiner of title to whom the registration matter has been referred. The requirements as to a survey are contained in Section 381 of the Real Property Law as amended in 1918. It is suggested that it would be well to have the survey in all cases filed with the petition in order to prevent uncertainty or delay in the action of the examiner of title, who is required to refer to this survey.

There should be filed, at the same time with the filing of the petition, a notice of its filing and of the pendency of the proceeding. The notice of pendency should be filed both with the county clerk and with the registrar of the county when the registrar is not at the same time the county clerk.

The order of the court referring the matter to an official examiner of title will direct the registrar to give notice of the hearing upon the petition to the parties named therein, and to such additional persons as are named in the preliminary report of the official examiner of title. There is provision for a waiver of service in certain cases, but as there seems to be some uncertainty as to the extent of the application of the waiver provision the recording officers have not recommended its use.

Upon the entry of the order referring the matter to an official examiner and giving directions to the registrar the duties of the recording officer and of the official examiner begin at once. The official examiner has first to prepare a preliminary report, giving the names of the persons who should be made parties to the proceeding, in addition to those named in the petition, if any such additional parties are found. The preliminary report is designed to establish the sufficiency of the parties who are to be served by the registrar. The official examiner proceeds forthwith to examine the title and investigate the facts stated in the petition or otherwise brought to his notice. Meanwhile the registrar has duties to perform in giving notice of the hearing on the petition for title registration to all the persons who appear from the petition and from the preliminary report of the examiner of title to have any interest whatever in the property and the owners of the surrounding contiguous properties. The people of the State of New York must also be served through the attorney-general; any persons who have filed cautions against the registration of the property are also among those on whom service is required, and there must be a general service by publication on "all other persons, if any, having any right or interest in or lien upon the property affected by this proceeding or any part thereof."

The notice which the registrar is required to give is of three kinds: (1) There must be actual notice to all owners who appear to have any interest in or claim to land included in the petition and to all adjoining owners, as well as to every party to the proceeding whose address is known. The service on such persons is by registered letter mail, demanding a return. The service by mail must be made by the registrar within seven days after the publication of the notice in the newspaper. (2) A notice of hearing, fixing the time and place at which the petition will be heard, is to be published by the registrar in a newspaper published in the county in which the land is situated. (3) The registrar must also cause a notice of the proceeding and hearing to be posted at least fourteen days before the return day in a conspicuous place on each parcel of land affected by the proceeding. The return day of the notice must be not less than twenty days nor more than sixty days after the date of the publication. The registrar is required to certify to the court on or before the return day that he has served the notice as directed by the court by publishing, mailing and posting upon the land. The expense of publishing, posting and mailing is to be borne by the petitioner.

Upon the return day, named in the notice of hearing, there should be presented the examiner's report of title. The requirements as to that report are contained in several sections of the amended Real Property Law. A form of examiner's report was included in Section 434 of the Real Property Law until the amendments of 1918 were adopted. The new provision is that the examiner's report shall be in a form to set forth the matters required by the Real Property Law. A form of the examiner's report may be prepared by the registrar subject to revision by the court. A form for the examiner's report of title has been prepared, designed to be uniform in all the counties of Greater New York, and upon its approval by the court copies will be open for inspection at the offices of the various registrars.

The application for a guardian ad litem for any infant defendant must be made upon or after the return day of the notice. Default of any persons who have failed to appear in answer to a service of a notice of hearing may be noted on the return day, and upon a report from the guardian ad litem an order may be entered immediately upon the examination of the official examiner's report of title. The court is not bound by the examiner's report of title, but may make any further examination or give further directions to the official examiner.

If any objection is made by any person claiming an interest in the property the case must be tried at a special term. If there is no objection the court enters the final order, directing that the title be registered in accordance with the facts found by the official examiner or by the court upon consideration of the official examiner's report.

The registrar, upon receiving the final order of the court, enters upon books in his office prepared for that purpose a statement of the ownership of the property as decreed by the court. The owner receives a duplicate of the certificate of title, which is a copy of the original entered on the books of the registrar, showing the ownership of the property, with any statement of the mortgages or liens to which the title is subject. The owner's duplicate certificate or a certified copy of the certificate may be received in evidence in the courts of the state, and is prima facie evidence that the provisions of the law have been complied with. No action or proceeding can be commenced to set aside any final order or judgment of registration after thirty days after the final order was entered. The owner who receives the registered title, unless he has committed fraud or was cognizant of fraud by another in the registration, cannot be deprived of the ownership of the registered property, even if it should subsequently appear that some person had a valid claim to some interest in the property. The claimant must have recourse to the insurance fund while the registered owner remains in undisputed possession of the property.

A transfer of registered property may be made by the act of the owner in bringing his duplicate certificate to the registrar's office with a deed to the new owner. There need be no delay in new owners receiving a certificate, as it is not necessary to record the deed, but only to file it; and the new owner may be assured that there are no liens or charges against the property except those which are entered upon the original certificate. Any judgment against the former owner in a state court does not affect the title to the registered property unless a transcript of the judgment has been filed with the registrar and entered against the particular property to be charged.

The giving of a mortgage upon registered property is equally easy with the transfer, and the whole transaction may take place in a few hours.

One of those who has inquired recently at the registrar's office concerning proposed registration of title is the owner of a contract of purchase of a piece of property. The amended law makes it easier for a person intending to purchase a piece of property to have it registered than was the case under the old law.

Among those who may apply for the registration of a title is the owner of a contract for the purchase of land, and he may file such contract, properly acknowledged, with his petition, and the proceeding will progress as if he were already the owner of the property. He should, however, receive his deed before the final order registering the title is entered and then registration will be in the name of the holder of the contract.

Under the old law a person having a contract to purchase land could not proceed with the registration of the title without the consent of the owner of the fee. Under the law as it stands at present a person intending to purchase land upon making the usual contract will not have to wait until he becomes the full owner of the property, but may arrange for the closing of the contract at a certain date and immediately receive a registration certificate, thus obviating the necessity of a search by a title company or private attorney. The present provision will probably frequently be taken advantage of by those desiring to purchase and wishing to avoid the expense of a title policy.

In the case of a recent inquiry at the registrar's office it was found that the cost of the examination of the title and its registry under the Land Title Registration Law would only be about one-half of the fee asked by the title company. The title company charge was said to be $115.00, while the cost of registration, exclusive of a survey, would be less than $60.00. The cost of a survey would have to be added to the charge either in the case of a title company or a title registration.

The Torrens act provides that some one part of the Supreme Court and some one judge of the court shall be especially assigned to take charge of land registration matters. The justice of that part is made the adviser of the official examiner of the title in matters which may require advice or direction. The Supreme Court rule as to the designation of a title part and of a judge who is to act in title registration matters is not generally known to the profession, as few registrations have been had in recent years. A part of Rule 16 of the Special Term rules of the First Department affecting the "Title Part" is as follows:

"An application for registration of title to real property made under the Real Property Law (Chapter 52 of the Laws of 1909) must be made at Special Term, Part 2, of the Supreme Court, which is hereby designated the "Title Part" of the said court under Section 371 of the said act, and the justice of the Supreme Court, from time to time assigned to Part 2 of the Special Term, is hereby designated as the justice to have general supervision and control of the business coming under the said act in the County of New York, and all applications to register title to real property under said act must be returnable at said Title Part, Special Term, Part 2, of the Supreme Court."

Inquiry at Part 2 of the Supreme Court disclosed that there was no such part as the "Title Part," but a perusal of the rules revealed that provision had been made for such part but had never been put in force. Men who are familiar with realty and the various methods of procedure customary in the recording of instruments, when asked about the section above referred to, admitted that they were not familiar with it, and were surprised to learn that provision is made for the designation of a justice to preside over the "Title Part."

In a communication to the Record and Guide Mr. Walter Fairchild, of the Torrens Law League, says:

"In your issue of May 24 appeared a letter from Cyril H. Burdett, vice-president of the New York Title & Mortgage Company, warning the public against using the amended Torrens Law. The letter may mislead persons not familiar with the subject that I ask the privilege of your space to point out a few of the points as to which Mr. Burdett is in error.

"Mr. Burdett is wrong when he says that the attorney-general preferred not to pass upon the question of the constitutionality of the law. As a matter of fact the attorney-general took up specifically four or five questions raised by the title company opponents and gave his opinion in support of the law in every case. I enclose a full copy of the attorney-general's opinion.

"Mr. Burdett fails to state that the procedure in the law as amended is the same as Massachusetts has had for twenty years without loss. The United States Government adopted the same procedure for the Philippine Islands and Hawaii fifteen years ago. Thousands of cases have been tried and no criticism even has ever been brought forward by any one.

"Mr. Burdett repeats an old slander of his that the locality plant at the register's office is 'unreliable.' He fails to state that his own company for four years last past has discontinued keeping up its own plant and uses the register's office plant exclusively for searches continued after May 1, 1914.

"Mr. Burdett says that a 'judgment in a Torrens proceeding is not conclusive.' In this Mr. Burdett sets himself against the law of the state and against the decisions of the highest courts of Massachusetts, as well as the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States.

The main points in Attorney-General Merton E. Lewis' opinion, which was addressed to Franklin B. Lord, counsel to Governor Whitman, follow:

"The more important of the amendments are opposed as unconstitutional. For instance, that amendment which seemingly provides for a default judgment to be entered without any investigation of the title by the court. Lines 12-16 on page 33 read:

"Default shall be noted on the failure to appear of any of those on whom the notice of hearing has been served, and upon petition to the court a final order of registration may be entered at once on the failure to appear and object of all persons so served."

"I think the above provision does not intend that titles be registered without judicial investigation. If all parties default a petition for the final order registration must still be made to the court, and §391 (page 40, line 21) provides with reference to this final order of registration:

"No final order or judgment of registration shall be made unless the court is satisfied that the title to be registered accordingly is free from reasonable doubt."

"Furthermore it is the duty of the court to find in whom the title or any interest in the property is vested. It might find the title vested in one of the defaulting parties, in which event, of course, the title could not be registered in the name of the petitioner. Note the language of §390 (page 38, line 15, etc.):

"In any proceeding under this article the court may find and decree in whom the title to or any right or interest in the property or any part thereof is vested, whether in the petitioner or in any other person, and may remove clouds from the title, and may determine whether or not the same is subject to any lien or incumbrance, estate, right, trust or interest, and may declare and fix the same, and may direct the registrar to register such title, right or interest, and in case the same is subject to any lien, incumbrances, estate, trust or interest may give directions as to the manner and order in which the same shall appear upon the certificate of title to be issued by the registrar, and generally in such a proceeding the court may make any and all such orders and directions as shall be according to equity in the premises and in conformity to the principles of this article."

"The above provisions necessitate, in my opinion, an examination of the title in every case by the court and prevent a registration in the name of a petitioner who is not the owner, even should all parties served with notice default in appearance.

"The second objection pertains to the substitution of service by registered mail in place of personal service and the publication of the notice of hearing in a newspaper, a provision which might be complied with by the publication of the notice but once in one newspaper.

"It is true that the bill does provide for service of notice by registered mail, but it is unnecessary to decide whether the use of such form of service only is constitutional (though I believe it is) for the reason that the question whether all necessary parties have received actual notice, so far as possible, is for the court, and it may require personal service of the notice if it deems such service desirable (page 20, lines 11-23; page 14, lines 24-26; page 19, lines 13-26; page 20, lines 1-10; page 32, lines 9-15). On page 32 last referred to appears the following language:

"The registrar shall also, within seven days of the publication of said notice in a newspaper, cause a copy of said notice to be sent by registered letter, demanding a return, to every party to the proceeding whose address is known. The court may also cause other or further notice of the petition to be given. The court shall, so far as it considers it possible, require proof of actual notice to all adjoining owners and to all owners who appear to have any interest in or claim to the land included in the petition. Notice to such persons by mail shall be by registered letter, demanding a return. The registrar shall also cause the notice of such proceeding and hearing to be posted, at least fourteen days before the return day, in a conspicuous place on each parcel of land affected by the proceeding."

"The word 'owners' (line 12) seems to have been

Hospital Building Survey by Realty Board Men

Committee Appointed to Help Government Officials in Providing Accommodations for Wounded

OUR soldiers have been in action in the trenches in France, and wounded men are being sent back to America to be cared for. In order that this work may be carried on with the greatest efficiency it has been deemed necessary to acquire, as soon as possible, hospital space within the boundaries of Greater New York or in close proximity to this city for the accommodation of at least fifty thousand wounded soldiers and the doctors, nurses and orderlies who will have charge of the work.

For some time Colonel H. H. Rutherford and Major E. J. Barrett, of the Medical Department, United States Army, have been in this city making a survey of available buildings and sites for hospitals. In order that these officers might have the assistance of men most competent to advise there has been formed an unofficial committee of members of the Real Estate Board of New York, under the chairmanship of Mr. Pell Thompson, who will conduct a survey covering every part of the city and will make recommendations as to the suitability of the buildings offered.

The committee that will make the survey comprises a number of prominent real estate and brokerage firms in the city. These firms will act as district captains and will become the clearing houses for information obtained within the districts they serve. The committee comprises: Pell Thompson, chairman; F. R. Wood, secretary; Goodwin & Goodwin, Cross & Brown, Pease & Elliman, J. Clarence Davies, William P. Rae, Duross Company, Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company, Spear & Company, Charles F. Noyes Company, Joseph P. Day, H. J. Sparks, Porter & Company, Thomas P. Graham and H. H. Murdock.

In order that no available structures may be omitted from the survey the entire city has been districted and will be thoroughly canvassed. The individuals and firms in charge of the canvass will act as team captains and will make their reports to Mr. Richard O. Chittick, executive secretary of the Real Estate Board of New York. All real estate brokers within these various districts, or individual property owners who have buildings that might be converted for hospital use are strongly urged to report to the respective captains with complete data regarding the buildings without delay.

Following are the boundaries of the districts and the captains of each: Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company, Broadway to the North River, Battery to 14th street; Duross Company, Broadway to North River, 14th street to 34th street; Cross & Brown, 34th street to 59th street, Fifth avenue to North River, and also Queens Borough and Williamsburgh; F. R. Wood, W. H. Dolson Company, 59th street to Harlem River, Eighth avenue to North River; Charles F. Noyes Company, Battery to Grand street, Broadway to East River; Spear & Company, Grand street to 14th street, Broadway to East River; H. J. Sparks, 14th street to 34th street, Broadway to East River; Pease & Elliman, 34th street to 96th street, Fifth avenue to East River; J. Clarence Davies, the Bronx; William P. Rae, Brooklyn, and Joseph P. Day, outlying sections of the city, New Jersey, etc. Thomas

P. Graham and H. H. Murdock are serving in an advisory capacity.

Structures considered most adaptable to use as military hospitals are large loft buildings of modern fire-proof construction and equipped with all of the latest improvements and conveniences. They must be supplied with ample elevator service and also means of fire protection. Automatic sprinkler systems are not mandatory, but are highly desirable as adjuncts to the fire protective and fighting apparatus.

Preferably the buildings should be so located that two or three may be acquired in close proximity to each other, and they should also be within easy distance from the waterfront in order that wounded soldiers may be cared for with the minimum of re-handling in transportation. The space required for the care of a single patient, including all necessary equipment and nursing facilities, is approximately two hundred square feet, and this fact should be borne in mind when consideration of available structures is being undertaken.

The Medical Department of the United States Army for some time has had under consideration the acquisition of large structures, such as hotels, apartment houses, office buildings, or any other similar type of building wherein the partitions may readily be removed and the floors thrown into large open spaces designed for use as wards, the prime idea back of the present requirements being to handle just as many patients as is possible with the minimum amount of obstruction and confusion.

In selecting and listing properties for military hospital purposes the real estate brokers and individual owners of available structures must bear in mind the fundamental physical requirements of a modern military hospital unit. There must be easily available buildings or quarters for nurses, doctors and orderlies. There must be sufficient space adaptable for kitchens, pantries, operating rooms, laboratories, dispensaries, pharmacies and also room for the storage of equipment and supplies. The ambulances must be housed in nearby garages and quarters will be required for ambulance drivers. These auxiliary buildings may not be required for these specific purposes, but their convertibility must be taken into consideration when listing available properties.

It is manifestly not the intention of the Federal Government to disturb any existing industry or business in locating its hospitals in this city, particularly those that are executing contracts for the Government or working for the welfare and health of the community or nation. It is most essential, however, that the Medical Department obtain its full requirement of hospital space within the shortest possible time so that no unnecessary suffering and transportation of wounded American soldiers be entailed.

The authorities have no desire to use harsh measures in obtaining the needed facilities. They fully expect every individual owner of property that could be converted to hospital usage to come forward loyally and make the offer. This is a patriotic service of the highest calibre.

Real Estate Men Volunteer for National Service.

THE National Association of Real Estate Boards, composed of "Realtors"—men possessed of an expert knowledge of handling all realty problems—and numbering on its rolls some nine thousand business men, have volunteered to serve all departments of the Government without charge during the war.

William M. Garland, of Los Angeles, Cal., is president of the association, and is now in Washington completing the work of the organization and will remain until every detail is completed. In the several departments where the service of this association has already been utilized, notably the office of the Alien Property

Custodian, the Quartermaster's Department of the army, the Shipping Board and the Bureau of Housing and Transportation of the Department of Labor, these men have saved hundred of thousands of dollars in appraisements on realty and space desired by the Government. Committees of "Realtors" will be stationed throughout the country, ready to serve all departments of the Government, by saving millions of dollars of excess profits in the sale or leasing of property.

An invitation to become affiliated with the association has been extended to the Real Estate Board of New York, but no action has yet been taken.

Real Estate Must Have Relief.

In the various suggestions that are being made to provide additional revenue for the city so that real estate may be relieved of part of its excessive burden the attitude of the Real Estate Board of New York that the surest way of providing new sources of revenue lies in the taxation of personal property is worthy of most serious consideration.

The steady decline in the tax receipts from this class of property from over thirteen million dollars the first year of the consolidation of Greater New York to less than six millions for the tax year of 1918 is not proof of the falling off in the amount of personal property in the city, but of lax methods in its listing for purposes of taxation.

In the same period of time the assessments on real estate in the consolidated city have increased until they are practically four times as great as twenty years ago. It is unreasonable to believe that personal property has not also increased correspondingly in value.

Real estate interests believe that if a systematic effort should be made to tax the great amount of personal property that now undoubtedly escapes the vision of the assessors a large amount of revenue could be derived from this source instead of a constantly diminishing fraction of the receipts of the city treasury, provided that the tax be kept at a low rate.

There need be little fear that owners of taxable personal property will remove their residences or their holdings from the state to evade such a tax. In the first place they live in New York because it is the metropolis of the country and affords them business and social connections they cannot get anywhere else, and any removal of personal property to other locations would subject it to taxation at a much higher rate than is proposed by New York real estate men.

The success of the federal income tax is neither an argument that this method of taxation is a better way of securing revenue than the taxing of personal property nor decisive proof that the income tax can be successfully applied to the problems confronting the tax officials of the five counties making up this city.

There will probably be no objection to a state income tax to cover state expenses; but if this kind of taxation were extended to cover the expenditures of this city there would arise the difficulty of adjusting the share of the income derived by the state to be awarded to the city to cover its budget. It is easily conceivable that continual disagreement and consequent instability in the city's revenue from this source would result. With a state income tax, however, to cover state expenses there would be considerable relief extended to real estate in this city because nearly 70 per cent. of state taxes are paid by this city.

But economists and tax experts have frequently pointed out that while in most other countries the income tax has superseded attempts to collect personal property taxes this form of tax is not particularly adaptable to state or local governments in the United States. To be effective an income tax must necessarily reach every source of income so that there can be no dodging. This is only possible when the tax officials have country-wide authority, as they do under the federal law, but could not possibly have if the system were applied to the state or county. Nor can the federal officials give to local tax assessors any information that would guide them in getting at taxable incomes.

What is necessary at the present time is not the projection of many theories into the field of desultory discussion, but the coming together of all those vitally interested in the tax questions that must be solved in the near future, and the resolving upon a definite program for action. In only this way can real estate be freed from the heavy incubus now resting on it.

Can't Be the City's Iceman.

Believers in orderly government will note with general satisfaction the decision of Corporation Counsel Burr terminating the ice controversy between former Governor Odell, the State Ice Comptroller, and Dr. Day, Commissioner of Public Markets. The corporation counsel holds that Dr. Day has no authority to purchase ice in Massachusetts and sell it to dealers in this city at four dollars a ton.

Where the ice comes from which Dr. Day proposed to sell, as also the price per ton, are beside the question. A broader issue than that was involved in the controversy.

A good many level-headed citizens are watching the progress of the plan to put the City of New York into the marketing business. The question of supplying ice is merely one of many phases of this plan. How far the city should go in the capacity of butcher, baker and candlestick maker for the inhabitants of the metropolis is a very serious question.

The cost of conducting the city government has been increasing by leaps and bounds, and hundreds of thousands of dollars of this increase can be traced to the assumption by the city of functions it formerly did not exercise. The proposition of having all the taxpayers act as marketmen for a part of the citizens undoubtedly appeals to a large class who contribute nothing to the city treasury, out of which the bills are paid; but the time has come when serious citizens must give greater thought to this questionable use of public authority.

Corporation Counsel Burr unquestionably is right in his interpretation of the law as it applies to Dr. Day's activities in regard to ice. It doubtless would be a good thing for the city at large if the corporation counsel's ruling in this instance could be extended to other commodities.

Landlords and Profiteering.

The prompt action of the Real Estate Board in offering its hearty co-operation in any investigation which the Board of Aldermen may desire to make into alleged profiteering of landlords is in line with what naturally would be expected from any representative body of business men with reference to similar charges reflecting on the commercial integrity of that particular business.

The building of apartment houses and renting them out to individual tenants is a business proposition pure and simple, and as such depends for its success upon the same principles that prevail in and control business generally.

Tenants are the landlord's customers and in common with men in other lines of business he must treat his customers honestly or his business will suffer.

There is no question that rents have been advanced, but that they have been unfairly increased is not borne out by the facts. Recent investigations made by the Record and Guide and printed in this newspaper with reference to the net returns of office buildings and apartment houses, show conclusively that the increased rents have not anywhere near kept pace with the greater operating expenses, including payments for coal, taxes and wages, all of which items are much higher than a year ago and considerably greater than before the war.

There are at least one hundred thousand real estate owners in this city, and some estimates have placed the total at double that number. A large part of these owners are also landlords, and their interests are affected by the same natural regulations that affect other business, notably the law of supply and demand. At the present time the demand for housing accommodations is greater than the supply, owing to the enforced falling off in building construction, and the landlords have the temporary advantage of being able to fill their buildings with tenants at fair rentals. This is not always, nor even generally, the case, as anyone with even a limited knowledge of conditions in the real estate world knows. Many buildings in both the financial and the residence districts have been carried at a loss for years, previous to the war, or paid only a very low rate of interest.

This factor of the large number of landlords makes "profiteering" practically impossible, because there is the same law of competition to regulate prices in the real estate business that there is in other commercial propositions. Landlords have formed no trust to boost prices, but they are competing with each other to get honest tenants, who will pay promptly and use the property leased to them with the same care that they would take if it was their own.

It is likely that in the great number of landlords throughout the city there are some who have taken advantage of the prevailing conditions to get larger profits out of their buildings than are justifiable, as there have been men in other lines of business who have been found out and punished for their undesirable practices. They should be brought to a realization of the fact that the people of the country generally, and of New York City particularly, are in no mood to put up with profiteering. The country is at war and every man should not only do his part, but is expected not to prevent any other man from doing his.

A profiteering landlord is not only not "doing his bit," but he is a deterrent to others who want to serve the flag, and is a delinquent of whom all in this patriotic city will be glad to be rid of.

The action of the Real Estate Board in offering to help unearth any of this ilk is in accordance with the high purposes for which it was organized.

Official Procedure Under the Torrens Law.

inadvertently used for the word 'persons,' but the meaning is not materially affected.

"While the wording of the statute, 'the registrar shall cause a notice, fixing the time and place at which the petition shall be heard, to be published in a newspaper published in the county in which the land is situated' (page 32, line 1), would sanction the publication of notice but once in one newspaper, the court, as hereinbefore indicated, supervises the necessity for further notice, and may order the same. I am of the opinion that this power of the court over the matter of notice removes all legal objection to the proceeding as offending due process of law.

"The third objection runs to the provision in §380 (page 17, line 23, et seq.), reading as follows:

"The order shall also direct the registrar to give such notice to such additional persons as the preliminary report of the official examiner of title shows should be made parties to the proceeding unless the petitioner shall file with the registrar a waiver of the requirement that any such additional persons be made parties to the proceeding and a request that such notice be given forthwith to the parties named in the petition. In case such waiver and request is filed the registrar shall give such notice only to the persons named in the petition as parties to the proceeding. In any event, however, the determination of the question as to sufficiency of parties and as to due service of notice shall be for the court, as herein provided."

"This, I am confident, in view of all the other provisions of the statute, does not mean that a petitioner will be able to have his title registered without notice to the proper parties. It is rather a method of saving time. The petitioner states whom he believes to be proper parties and asks that notice be immediately sent them. The petitioner does not await the examination of the title, taking the chance that all proper parties have been included in his petition. If the final examination of the title by the official examiner and by the court shows that the petitioner has omitted to state all the proper parties his papers must be amended, for the court will require the service of such persons; and the petitioner has not gained the time he expected. The court at all times has complete control over the subject of service of the proper parties (§380, page 20, line 11):

"By the statements of facts contained in said report of title, or by separate accompanying affidavits, or by any other additional evidence, if necessary; or by any or all of these, sufficient facts must be shown to satisfy the court that all owners and claimants of the property sought to be registered, or of any right or interest in or lien upon the same or any part thereof, who could be found by diligent inquiry, are duly and specifically named and made parties to the proceeding. The question of the sufficiency of the proof that all such owners and claimants who could be found by diligent inquiry are duly and specifically named and made parties to the proceeding and that they have been duly served with notice of hearing shall be for the court."

"Altogether, in my opinion, there is sufficient notice and hearing provided by the bill to constitute due process of law. At least the court and not myself, where a minimum of notice is being approached, should take the burden of deciding just the length of notice and nature of notice which divides adequate and reasonable notice from inadequate notice."

LEGAL NOTES AFFECTING REALTY

Prepared by Committee on Real Estate Laws of
Real Estate Board, Samuel P. Goldman, Chairman

Broker's Right to Commission.

IN an action against the agent of a land company which contracted to sell lands to the plaintiff, the petition alleged that at the time it contracted and received part payment the land company had no title to the land. It appeared that the contract declared that in the event the land described had been previously sold or was not then owned and controlled by the land company it should be void, and the advance payment returned. The Iowa Supreme Court holds, Johnson v. Shea, 166 N. W. 531, that the petition did not state a cause of action entitling the plaintiff, the purchaser, to recover from the agent the amount of the commission paid him by the land company out of the part payment, for under the circumstances, the land company, by entering into the contract and receiving a part payment, was not guilty of fraud, notwithstanding there was a failure of consideration entitling the plaintiff to recover the part payment.

Absolute Deed as Mortgage.

The New York Appellate Division holds, Thompson v. Lewis, 169 N. Y. Supp. 501, that a deed absolute in form, reciting indebtedness, conveying to two persons as joint tenants, as a part of the consideration for which the grantees delivered to the grantor an instrument reciting the conveyance and the indebtedness and reciting that the grantees would hold in trust until a certain date, and providing that, if the indebtedness were not then paid, the trustees should convey to the grantee at a certain valuation, which should not extinguish the debt, was a mortgage under Real Property Law (Consol. Laws, c. 50), §320, stating what instruments shall be deemed mortgages. The mere fact that the deed was not made to the creditor direct, but to her representatives, did not detract from its character of a mortgage.

A mortgagor cannot, as part of the transaction, make any agreement which will prevent a court of equity from recognizing and enforcing his right to redeem. And since the personal lien of a mortgage cannot be changed into a legal estate by any agreement that such result shall follow default in payment of the debt, a conveyance to the creditor by her representatives operated solely as an assignment of the mortgage. It was incompetent, in an action by the mortgagor to have the deed declared to be a mortgage, for the court to limit his right to 30 days after the signing of the judgment.

Fire Insurance—Recovery by Mortgagee.

A mortgagee sued to recover on an insurance policy issued to his mortgagor. The mortgage clause merely constituted the mortgagee an appointee to receive the proceeds of the policy for and on account of the assured, subject to all the terms and conditions of the policy. The mortgagor sold and conveyed the property, which act, by the terms of the policy, rendered it void. Application was made to the insurance company to substitute the purchaser of the property as the assured in the policy. The insurance company imposed reasonable conditions, which were not complied with until after loss had occurred, when the insurance company cancelled the policy, and returned the unearned premium to the mortgagor. The Kansas Supreme Court, in an action by the mortgagee on the policy, Longfellow v. National Fire Ins. Co., 170 Pac. 813, held that he could not recover. There is a clear distinction between the form of mortgage clause here used and the more modern form known as the union mortgage clause.

Possibility of Specific Performance.

The duty of specific performance, which courts of equity enforce, is a reciprocal one, and the maxim, "He who seeks equity must do equity," is peculiarly applicable; therefore specific performance will ordinarily be refused in favor of a party against whom specific performance of his obligations under a contract is for any reason impossible. Specific performance of a contract to exchange lands for certain other property, which obligated the defendants to assume mortgages on the lands they were to receive, will not be granted, where at the time of the rendition of the decree mortgages on the lands, which the complainant was to transfer, had been foreclosed and he had lost all rights therein; it being purely a question of surmise whether, if the defendants had complied with their agreement to pay interest on the mortgages, foreclosure could have been avoided.—Winston v. Brown, 247 Fed. 948.

Mutual Mistakes in Description.

It is well settled that where a deed describes the land conveyed by metes and bounds, and by mutual mistake of the parties covers land which the vendor did not intend to sell, nor the vendee to buy, the mistake will be corrected. Mutual mistakes occur generally in the description of property conveyed. To ascertain whether a mistake has been made in describing property in a deed, it is essential to know the intent of the parties, the one in selling and the other in buying, respecting the subject-matter of the conveyance, and, if the deed fails to express their intention, there is a mutual mistake, relievable in equity by way of reformation, where the proof is clear, convincing, and satisfactory.—Maxwell v. Wayne Nat. Bank, North Carolina Supreme Court, 95 S. E. 147.

Damages in Condemnation Proceedings.

In a railroad's proceeding to condemn land the petitioner produced seven witnesses, six of them farmers who, for farming purposes, valued one parcel of land at $400 an acre, and another parcel at from $200 to $250 an acre. The defendants' witnesses, mostly real estate men, placed the value of the land for subdividing and platting at from $1,000 to $1,200 or $1,500 an acre. The Michigan Supreme Court held, Chicago, D. & C. Grand Trunk Junction R. Co. v. Simons, 166 N. W. 960, that awards by the jury of $400 an acre for one parcel and $350 for the other were based solely on the value of the parcels for farming purposes, and that the owners had the right to have their damages assessed on the more valuable basis.

Rights of Vendor in Foreclosure.

Where time was not specifically made of the essence of contracts for the sale of land, after demand made by the vendor the purchaser should have been paid within a reasonable time, and, in the vendor's action for foreclosure of the contracts of sale, it is held, Potter v. Pigg (Cal.), 170 Pac. 1066, that he was entitled only to have foreclosure ordered conditionally on the failure of the assignee of the purchasers to make full payment in accordance with the contracts.

Actionable Misrepresentation.

The Washington Supreme Court holds, Starwich v. Ernst, 170 Pac. 584, that a statement that a two-story building was upon the lot, although not willfully false or made with intent to deceive the plaintiff vendee, amounted to actionable misrepresentation where part of the building extended into the street and the building gave rise to the major part of the purchase price and could not be used elsewhere without demolition or reconstruction.

Land Sold for Improvement.

The Washington Supreme Court holds, Vera Land Co. v. Metcalf, 170 Pac. 1012, that where a land company sold land to a promoter who agreed to make improvements, subdivide the land and reimburse the company from payments made to him by purchasers, and he defaulted, the land company, in the absence of collusion with him, was not liable for the fulfillment of his contracts with the purchasers.

REAL ESTATE REVIEW OF THE WEEK

Active Market in Spite of Short Business Week—Several Big Deals Consummated—Leasing Continues Good

IN spite of the fact that the present has been a four and a half day business week, brokers report a healthy market and some important deals were put through both in sales and in leases. Important in the sales of the week was that by the Randolph Walker Corporation of the twelve-story apartment house at 969 Park avenue to a New York City investor. The structure was built about two years ago and is fully leased. It was held at $1,150,000. Jesse C. Bennett was the broker in this deal.

Frederick Brown, the operator, purchased from the Estate of Louis A. Koelsch the six-story apartment house at the northwest corner of Broadway and 125th street on a plot 55x100. The house has accommodations for twenty-seven families and is assessed by the city at $110,000. Jesse C. Bennett was also the broker in this deal.

A sale of property on Washington Heights was consummated whereby the Mose Goodman Corporation sold the new five-story apartment containing stores to Frank Hilman. This deal represented about $200,000. The purchaser gave in part payment the flats and stores at the northwest corner of Houston and Goerck streets.

The sale by Pease and Elliman as brokers, acting for the Estate of Joseph W. Ogden, of the four-story and basement house at 33 West 57th street between Fifth and Sixth avenues, is another operation involving the conversion of an old residence into a business building. Within a short time not less than four other old residences on this block have been leased by the same brokers for trade purposes.

To meet demands occasioned by Government orders, the 233 West 25th Street Corporation has acquired from Ruth A. Wallace, the northeast corner of 54th street and Eleventh avenue, now occupied by a group of old frame tenements, and the same company has taken title to the adjoining five-story factory at 549 to 557 West 54th street. The new owners will improve the corner with a two-story fireproof factory, which has been leased from the plans for twenty-one years to the George W. Copp Company, manufacturers of automobile equipment, who have a Government contract. Cross & Brown negotiated this deal and also a recent sale of property at 233 to 243 West 25th street for the Title Guarantee and Trust Company to the same purchaser. These transactions involved about $450,000.

Leasing throughout the city continued good this week and several important transactions were closed. Probably the most important lease was that of the old Greenhut building known as "The Big Store" on Sixth avenue between 18th and 19th streets to the Medical Department of the United States, represented by Surgeon-General William C. Gorgas, for the duration of the war and one year thereafter, for use as a medical base for wounded soldiers from the front landed at Ellis Island. Only medical cases will be treated here, surgical patients being assigned to the more elaborately equipped hospitals at Lakewood, N. J., and on Staten Island. Joseph P. Day obtained the property for the Government from J. B. Greenhut, Inc.

The lease of a Greenwich street warehouse by Goodale, Perry and Dwight, acting for the Henry-William Company to Jarvis Stores, Inc., represented by William A. White & Sons, is another evidence of the recent activity in the sale and leasing of downtown property by large concerns. This property is a seven-story structure at 726 to 736 Greenwich street, southwest corner of Perry street, occupied for many years by Austin, Nichols & Company before their removal to Williamsburgh. A very gratifying feature of this lease is that it is for a long term of years and at a greatly increased rental over the previous lease.

REPORT TO STOCKHOLDERS.

Creditable Showing Made Despite War Conditions.

The annual report of the U. S. Realty and Improvement Company, which is printed herewith, will doubtless prove very satisfactory to the stockholders in that organization, and be a source of gratification to the president of the company, Mr. Laurence McGuire, under whose management during the trying period since this country entered the war, the company has made such a good showing. The report follows.

May 29, 1918.

To the Stockholders of the United States Realty and Improvement Company:

In accordance with the provisions of the by-laws, I submit herewith a report on the condition of the affairs of your company for the year ended April 30, 1918, together with a Consolidated Balance Sheet at April 30, 1918, and Consolidated Income Account for the year, these latter bearing the certificate of Lingley, Baird and Dixon, the company's auditors.

SUBWAY CONTRACTS.—Your company's contracts with the City of New York for the building of three sections of the dual subway system are practically completed. The estimated loss on these contracts at April 30, 1917, included in last year's report, was $2,954,000.00. With the work substantially finished and the greater part of property damage and other claims adjusted, the total loss is now estimated to be well within the amount heretofore set aside for completion. As an offset to this loss the company has substantial claims which will be duly submitted for settlement to the proper authorities repre-

The Fuel Administrator has apprised you of the coal situation. Will you have a sufficient supply to take care of yourself and your tenants? Perhaps not. Then you will look to gas for heating, as many thousands did last winter.

See that you have adequate gas piping to which Gas Heaters, Radiators and Gas Steam Radiators may be attached. Gas pipes should run to every room. Those gas pipes that caused trouble last winter should be put in good condition now, before there is a greater scarcity of labor than at present.

INCOME FOR YEAR.—The net income for the year amounts to $775,421.29, an increase of $282,029.52 over the preceding year.

PRODUCTIVE REAL ESTATE.—While the gross income from productive real estate shows an increase, taxes, operating and general maintenance cost have increased so rapidly that the net income has not increased.

Leases expiring at April 30, 1918, have been renewed at an increased rental, which will, in part, tend to relieve the constantly increasing cost of taxes and other operating expenses. Each year brings an increased real estate tax and it is generally conceded that some definite action must be taken in the near future to secure sources of revenue other than from real estate to meet the growing cost of State and municipal governments. When State and city taxation is more equitably distributed and cost of operating returns to a normal basis, rental values may be properly adjusted and the net income from productive real estate become much more stable.

UNPRODUCTIVE REAL ESTATE.—The cost of carrying the unproductive real estate reflects the abnormal increase in taxes, and were it not for the fact that one large property had been leased, the cost of carrying unproductive properties would have shown a further material increase. Owing to the unprecedented conditions it has not been possible to dispose of, or improve, any of these properties.

INVESTMENTS IN OTHER COMPANIES.—The return from investments in securities of other companies has been on the whole satisfactory.

GEORGE A. FULLER COMPANY.—The following is a summary of the activities of the George A. Fuller Company for the year:

Summary.

Government.. 1,066,054.85

Others 17,041,315.58

$38,621,370.43

Included in the above were contracts for the United States Government in connection with the war programme, amounting in all to $15,738,240.00. All of this work was done under a close margin. A similar amount of work for private interests would have undoubtedly resulted in a much larger net return to your company. Included in these contracts was one for the buildings of Camp Funston at Fort Riley, Kansas, which cost $7,843,000, including a fixed fee of $250,000.00.

I believe this to be the largest cantonment constructed for the Government, and cost the least per capita. It has been the purpose and desire of your company to execute for the Government all work at the least possible cost, and this policy of lending assistance to the Government will be continued.

I am pleased to report that the Government has evidenced in many ways its satisfaction with the results accomplished for it by your company.

The completion of the contracts for the Commodore and the Pennsylvania Hotels in New York City has been somewhat delayed because of Government war priorities covering structural material. The work, however, on these two contracts is now progressing favorably and no further serious delays are anticipated.

CAROLINA SHIPBUILDING CORPORATION.—In April the Carolina Shipbuilding Corporation, a new subsidiary company, organized for the purpose of building ships entered into an agency contract with the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation for the construction and equipment of plant, and building twelve 9,500-ton steel ships. The yard is at Wilmington, North Carolina, work on which is now under way. The contract price is $20,514,000.00, which includes a fixed fee and in addition a participation in any saving realized.

GENERAL.—With the completion of the contract for three sections of the dual subway system, that portion of the company's income which has of necessity been applied to meet the unfortunate losses occasioned will now be applicable to the betterment of the company's working assets and the reduction of its liabilities.

It is estimated that the income from the company's improved properties and investments for the current year will be sufficient to meet all charges, including interest on its debenture bonds.

With the additional work which may reasonably be expected to come to the George A. Fuller Company, your company should achieve a satisfactory result for the current year.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

THE total number of sales reported and not recorded in Manhattan this week was 22 as against 31 last week and 18 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 59th street was 12 as compared with 13 last week and 9 a year ago.

The sales north of 59th street aggregate 12, as compared with 18 last week and 9 a year ago.

From the Bronx 14 sales at private contract were reported as against 22 last week and 14 a year ago.

Statistical tables, indicating the number of recorded instruments, will be found on page 711 of this issue.

Federal Reserve Bank Buys.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York is going to have a building of its own. The bank has acquired property of approximately 33,000 square feet, comprising the entire block front in the easterly side of Nassau street from Liberty street to Maiden Lane. The cost of the property will be slightly less than $3,100,000, or about $93 a square foot, the price agreed upon being nearly $200,000 less than the tax valuation. The plans have not yet been drawn, and according to bank officials work on the new building will not start until after the conclusion of the war. At the present time the Federal Reserve Bank is housed in the Equitable Building, where it occupies a corner of the main floor, the whole of the twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth floors, half of the fifth floor, and a quarter of the fourth. The bank also occupies the entire building at 50 Wall street. The quarters of the bank have been greatly increased for the accommodation of the clerical forces required for Liberty Loan activities. The property acquired by the Reserve Bank has a frontage in Nassau street of 164¾ feet, in Liberty street of 235 feet, and on Maiden Lane of 269 1-6 feet. The street numbers of the properties are 28-50 Maiden Lane, 40-52 Nassau street, and 33-51 Liberty street. The previous owners of the property were the Mutual Life Insurance Company, the Lawyers Title and Trust Company, the Estate of William Ziegler, the Estate of William Ruhnstruck, and Joseph L. Delafield. The contracts were closed through the real estate firm of Horace S. Ely & Co. Messrs. George R. Read & Co. were associated with that firm as brokers in the acquisition of the Ziegler and Ruhnstruck parcels, the Ziegler Estate being represented by William Curtis Demarest and J. Curry Watson. The law firm of White & Case and the Title Guarantee and Trust Company represented the Reserve Bank in connection with the title examinations.

Sale on Eleventh Avenue.

The sale and lease of an Eleventh avenue corner were reported Friday, which will result in the undertaking of a large building operation to meet demands occasioned by Government orders. Ruth A. Wallace has conveyed to the 233 West Twenty-fifth Street Company title to the northeast corner of Fifty-fourth street and Eleventh avenue, 100 by 100.5, now occupied by a group of old frame tenements; also to the adjoining five-story factory at 549 to 557 West Fifty-fourth street, now used by the Henry Bosch Company.

The new owners will improve the corner with a two-story fireproof factory, which has been leased for a term of twenty-one years to the George W. Copp

Company, now on Fifty-second street, manufacturers of automobile equipment, who have a Government contract. The transfer and lease were arranged by the Cross & Brown Company. The same broker recently sold the property at 233 to 243 West Twenty-fifth street to the same purchaser for the Title Guarantee and Trust Company. These transactions involved in the aggregate about $450,000.

BROKERS ARE INVITED to submit high-grade improved property which may be leased or purchased at attractive prices.

Sale on University Heights.

Lorington Court, at 2226 Loring place, Bronx, located at one of the highest points in the University Heights section, has been purchased by Frederick Brown from the Loring Construction Company. It is a well constructed five-story apartment house having accommodations for thirty families, on a plot 79x127, irregular. The building yields $16,000 a year in rents and was held at $130,000. J. A. Ulanov negotiated the sale.

Schieffelin Estate Title Passes.

Title passed Tuesday for the sale of 103 acres of the Schieffelin Estate to the Hebrew Orphan Asylum. The property is located in the Edenwald section of East Bronx and has large frontages on the Boston Road, Laconia avenue, Baychester avenue and 231st street. The location is an ideal one for the purpose it is to be put to and was selected after the Site Committee of the Orphan Asylum had examined a large number of other properties in the Bronx. There is an elevation of 140 feet and an unobstructed view of the surrounding country; natural drainage; well wooded with fine old trees. Accessible to the Baychester avenue station of the New York, Westchester & Boston Railroad and the 225th Street Station of the White Plains Avenue Division of the subway. In order to consummate the sale and carry out the terms of the contract, some ten streets and avenues were closed by the City of New York, affording a plottage of about 90 acres in one parcel intact, so that the cottage plan contemplated can be carried out without streets intersecting and cutting through. Building operations will not begin until after the War. The Schieffelin homestead still stands on the property, but has not been occupied for some years. A farm of 193 acres was purchased in 1842 by Effingham Schieffelin, grandfather of the present sellers, Effingham L. Schieffelin, Clara B. Schieffelin and Lucy F. Schieffelin. The price paid was $350,000, all cash. J. Clarence Davies negotiated the sale.

Operator Adds to Holdings.

Frederick Brown, operator, purchased from William F. Connor the two five-story apartment houses at 558 and 562 West 189th street, covering a plot 100 by 100, between Audubon and St. Nicholas avenues. The properties have been held at $140,000. Nehring Brothers were the brokers in the sale, which was made on an all-cash basis. In the Bronx, he bought from the Loring Construction Company the five-story apartment house at 2226 Loring Place, known as the Lorington, on a plot 79 by 127 by irregular. The house overlooks the Hall of Fame and has been held at $130,000. J. A. Ulanov negotiated the sale.

Fifty-third Street Residence Sold.

W. B. May & Company sold for Francis L. Hine, the modern 25-foot, five-story residence at 38 West Fifty-third street. The property has been owned by Mr. Hine since 1907 and has only recently been offered for sale. The holding price was $100,000. The new owner, it is understood, will occupy.

Heights Property in Exchange.

Samuel Grossman and Weschler & Kohn and Max Silverstein, attorneys, sold for the Mose Goodman Corporation, Mose Goodman president, the northeast corner of St. Nicholas avenue and 191st street and 573 and 575 West 191st street, a new five-story apartment containing stores on plot 75x100, to Frank Hillman, who gave in part payment the northwest corner of Houston and Goerck streets, flats and stores on plot 50x68.86. The deal represented about $200,000.

Sell Park Avenue Apartment.

A feature of the week's realty market was the sale of the twelve-story fireproof apartment house at 969 Park avenue, by the Randolph Walker Corporation to a New York City investor. The structure which occupies a plot 140x100 is on the northeast corner of Eighty-second street, and was built about two years ago and is fully leased. It was held at $1,150,000. Jesse C. Bennett negotiated the sale.

Broadway Apartment Sold to Operator.

The six-story apartment house at the northwest corner of Broadway and 125th street, on a plot 55x100, has been sold by the estate of Louis A. Koelsch to Frederick Brown, the operator. The house has accommodations for twenty-seven families and contains three stores and is assessed by the city at $110,000. Jesse C. Bennett was the broker in the deal.

To Convert Old Residence.

Another of the fine old residences on Fifty-seventh street is to be converted for business use. The newest deal in that direction has just been closed by Pease & Elliman, as brokers, who sold for the estate of Joseph W. Ogden the four-story and basement house at 33 West 57th street, midway between Fifth and Sixth avenues. The house occupies a lot 25x100.5, and has been acquired by a well-known New York man who plans to alter it for business and hold the property as an investment. A number of other houses on this block have been claimed for business, the above brokers having recently rented 36, 44, 46 and 52 for trade purposes.

RECENT LEASES.Hotel Properties Leased.

Two hotel properties also figured prominently in Tuesday's business. The 4 East Fifty-sixth Street Company, representing Klein & Jackson, leased from William Baumgarten & Co. the Fifty-sixth Stret "L" of their property at No. 4, consisting of a six-story building on plot 40 by 80.5. The lease is for a period of fifteen years. Klein & Jackson plan to extensively remodel the property and connect it with the Hotel Langdon at th southeast corner of Fifth avenue and Fifty-sixth street, erected by them on land leased from Woodbury G. Langdon, and which they rented to Edward H. Chatillon. The addition will also be leased to Mr. Chatillon. It will provide forty additional rooms and the ground floor will be utilized for increasing the dining-room space. Baumgarten & Co. will continue to occupy the Fifth avenue portion of their property, next to the Langdon. In the other hotel deal it was learned that negotiations were pending for the long-term lease of the Hotel Glenmore, at the northeast corner of Seventh avenue and Fifty-fifth street, which is owned by the estate of John Hardy. The prospective lessee is understood to be the 859 Seventh Avenue Company, in which Alexander Pincus is interested. The Glenmore is an eight-story structure on a plot 50.5 by 100, which adjoins the Hotel Wellington.

Shipping Board Leases on Fifth Avenue.

Cushman & Wakeneld, Inc., have leased for the Park Avenue Operating Company, Inc., a large suite of offices comprising nearly the whole of the seventh floor of the Ziegler Building, 512 Fifth Avenue, to the United States Shipping Board, National Service Section. This section, headed by the Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton, working in conjunction with Mr. Charles M. Schwab, the Director General, is obtaining great encouragement from the shipworkers of the country whom they are addressing. Dr. Eaton has just returned from an extended tour of the shipyards with Mr. Schwab and Mr. Charles Riez, vice-president of the Emergency Fleet Corporation. The rent of the boards new offices is approximately $13,000 per annum. The Park Avenue Operating Company, Inc., were represented in the deal by Mr. J. Curry Watson.

Large Warehouse Leased.

Wm. A. White & Sons, in conjunction with Walter B. Olive, leased for the Henry-William Company, Edmund Coffin, president, represented by Goodale, Perry & Dwight, the seven-story fireproof warehouse at 126 to 136 Greenwich street, southwest corner of Perry street, to the Jarvis Stores, Inc. This building faces 136 feet in Greenwich street, and 122 feet in Perry street, and is one of the largest and most substantial warehouses in that section. It was occupied for a number of years by Austin, Nichols & Company, before their removal to Williamsburgh. The Jarvis Company about a year ago leased the seven-story warehouse at 610 to 612 Greenwich street, running through to 591-593 Washington street, and the acquiring of this new warehouse gives them two of the most desirable properties in the Greenwich section. The lease is for a long term, at a substantial increase over the former rental, and is but another indication of the activity in this general section.

Leases in Queens.

Kindel Bed Company of Chicago leased the entire building at Anabel avenue and Creek street, Long Island City, to Albert T. Otto & Sons, Inc., and it will be occupied for the manufacture of dress forms. The building covers a plot 100 by 254. The lease is for a long term of years at an aggregate rental of $500,000. This building was erected by the Degnon Realty and Improvement Company in 1916, and is one of a similar group now occupied by the Defender Manufacturing Company, Ward Stationery Company, the Studebaker Company, Brett Lithographing Company, and Rome Metallic Bed Company. M. & L. Hess, Inc., negotiated the lease.

Lease in Greenwich Street.

The Jarvis Stores, Inc., leased through William A. White & Sons and Walter B. Olive, from the Henry-William Company, Edmund Coffin president, represented by Goodale, Perry & Dwight, the seven-story warehouse at 726 to 736 Greenwich street, southwest corner of Perry street. This building faces 136 feet on Perry street. It was occupied for a number of years by Austin, Nichols & Co. before their removal to Williamsburgh. The Jarvis Company, about a year ago, leased the seven-story warehouse at 610 and 612 Greenwich street, running through to 591 and 593 Washington street. The lease just closed is for a long term of years at a substantial increase over the former rental.

Lease Greenhut Building.

Surgeon-General William C. Gorgas has rented for the use of the Medical Department of the United States, with the approval of the Secretary of War, the "Big Store" at Sixth Avenue, 18th and 19th streets, for the duration of the war and one year thereafter. Joseph P. Day obtained the property under such a lease for the Government from J. B. Greenhut, Inc. The property involved is the former Siegel-Cooper & Co. store, later Greenhut's, which was recently vacated when that business was dissolved. It is a six-story building, cover-

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS, MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES

[Record and Guide Quotations Are Accepted as Official by Building Material Exchanges.]

DESPITE the fact that Federal mandate has made it at least difficult, if not altogether impossible, for non-essential building projects of importance to proceed during the remaining period of the war, there is a fair volume of new construction in progress at the present time and every likelihood that numerous small structural operations will continue to be started without interruption. There is no existing ruling to the effect that construction must not proceed, only that priorities for materials and supplies will be withheld for projects that are not considered essential to the successful prosecution of the war. Owners and builders must assume all of the risks of starting work on non-essential operations.

Structural projects for which funds are readily available and for which materials and supplies may be obtained locally may proceed without interruption. It is work of this character that is now being planned and for which contracts are being awarded.

Important building operations requiring a large steel tonnage, or stone, brick, lumber and other materials in great quantity, transported from distant localities, either by rail or water, are the ones experiencing the effect of the recent ruling of the War Industries Board. The smaller projects, for which materials are to be obtained in the local markets, are going ahead. There is quite a mass of this type of construction now in progress or contemplated for an early start, and from all accounts this phase of building will most likely be active through the summer and coming autumn months.

One of the most hopeful aspects of the existing building situation is the number of small dwellings that are being erected in the outlying parts of this city and in the nearby suburban sections. The recent demand for small houses in good neighborhoods has been intense, and with apartment house owners in the cities steadily increasing their rentals for living accommodations there is a constantly increasing demand for private dwellings, both for rent and for sale. The "own-your-own-home" idea is rapidly gaining in popularity and force among the flat dwellers of this city, and one of the results of the existing mania of apartment house owners to advance the scale of rents will surely be the ownership of private houses, in the suburbs, by families that have never dreamed of living in any structure other than a city apartment house.

Although construction costs are admittedly high the present is generally considered a good time to build. According to the statements of those competent to judge building materials and supplies, labor costs, and all of the numerous factors that enter into the final cost of a residence are still increasing, and there is no prospect of a recession for many years to come. Many there are who predict that the cost of structural materials will never again return to the levels of the pre-war period, and even if they should that it would not pay to wait the necessary length of time. At the present time values for unimproved property in suburban and rural districts are only slightly advanced from those prices that were in effect a year or two ago, but values will most assuredly increase within the current year, and thus add considerably to the ultimate cost of construction.

With comparatively few exceptions the markets for building materials and supplies have been quiet during the past week. The tone of the market is firm, however, and many look forward to substantially increased business from federal building operations. Material prices are holding firmly at the high levels that have now maintained for a long time, and there is no disposition on the part of manufacturers or dealers to reduce them. On the contrary there is a strong effort to maintain the levels now in effect and, where possible, even to advance building commodity prices a notch or two. Current demand is almost uniformly quiet, and there are no immediate prospects of a revival of interest from sources other than those incidental to the vast federal building program.

Common Brick.—The wholesale market for Hudson River common brick has undergone but slight change since the last report. The demand is only fair and the inquiries comparatively light. Prices are firm, however, at the new levels established last week, $10 to $10.25 a thousand, with $10.50 being asked for top grades. There is feeling that the market is likely to advance before long. Manufacturing up-river is extremely light and the rainy weather of the past week almost stopped what little was in progress. The arrivals are relatively few but are sufficient to cover the demand and leave a slight margin in reserve. There is no labor to speak of available along the river and producers would be severely handicapped if they desired to increase their output for this season. The Raritan situation is unchanged. Manufacturing is progressing, but on a small scale, and no quotations are being made for brick deliveries in New York. The entire output of the Raritan yards is going to New Jersey points.

SUMMARY Transactions in the North River brick market for the week ending Friday, May 31, 1918. Condition of market: Demand fair; prices unchanged. Quotations: Hudson Rivers, $10.00 to $10.25 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 17; sales, 15. Distribution: Manhattan, 7; Brooklyn, 1; New Jersey points, 4; outside, 3.

Structural Steel.—Commitments of steel for building purposes are confined to structures being erected by the Government or incidental to military usage. There is quite some industrial building underway or contemplated, but the major portion of this work involved reinforced concrete construction. Federal requirements of fabricated material are large and steadily growing in volume and the mills will have all they are able to do even devoting their entire output to Government use.

Lumber.—The requirements of the Government remains as the dominant feature of the lumber situation and the demands for this product are steadily increasing. Orders for a considerable quantity in addition to car material orders have recently been booked. The North Carolina Pine Bureau lately received orders for approximately 10,000,000 feet, nearly one-half of which is for delivery at Norfolk and vicinity and the balance to be distributed to the Charleston, S. C., Navy Yard, Brooklyn Navy Yard and the plant of the Submarine Boat Corporation, Port Newark Terminal, N. J. The Southern Pine Emergency Bureau also received orders totalling almost 10,000,000 feet for distribution to various points where warehouse construction is under way or contemplated. Retail lumbermen from the Eastern section of the country were recently in conference with the War Industries Board. As a result of this conference dealers in New York will be paid $12.50, and in Philadelphia and Baltimore, $11.50 for material required by the Government. This represents an increase of $2 a thousand feet over former prices and is designed to cover all of the retailers' handling costs and allow a fair margin of profit. Locally the situation is unchanged. Demand is fair and prices exceedingly firm. There is still considerable difficulty in replenishing stocks owing to the congested traffic conditions and the car shortage.

Wire Products.—Interest in these commodities centers in the orders emanating from Government departments for wire and wire nails to be used for military purposes. There is an inquiry from the British Government for 50,000 tons of barb wire to be shipped soon as possible. The Federal Government is now taking almost one hundred per cent. of the entire output of the wire mills of the country and this condition is likely to maintain for the balance of the current year at least. Private consumers are obtaining but slight consideration under the circumstances and are only getting what the Government has no use for. Stocks of wire and wire nails in the hands of the jobbers are extremely low and prices are strong.

Iron and Steel Bars.—The entire output of the mills is devoted either directly or indirectly to the war-essential industries and no further orders are to be taken from any source other than Federal utilization. From this time forth the market will be limited to the requirements of the Government at the current quotations. Steel bars rolled from billets, 2.90c.; from old steel rails, 3c. Refined iron bars, 3.50c. at mill.

Linseed Oil.—Shortage of flaxseed both domestic and imported has created a scarcity of linseed oil. Fortunately the demand is not heavy or there would be considerable difficulty. Prices are firm and on the increase and from the trend toward further advances there is no present possibility of relief. The condition will maintain while there is a shortage of bottoms for the transportation of seed from Argentina.

Window Glass.—Business in this line is exceptionally quiet and no improvement in the situation is anticipated until there is a marked revival of building construction throughout the country. Demand from building sources is extremely light. Prices are firm, however, and it would not be a surprise if the schedules of discounts were revised and prices advanced. The manufacturers have practically ceased operations for the season and there is only a small amount of glass being held in reserve at the mills.

Sand and Gravel.—The market for these commodities is steady and the prices firm. The influence of the trend toward reinforced concrete construction is marked and is one of the important factors in the present strength of the sand and gravel situation. Sand is still available in almost any desired quantity, but gravel for private construction work is scarce, the Government demands are taking nearly the entire output. Current quotations, New York, are as follows. Sand, $1.25 a cubic yard and gravel, $2.00 a yard.

Portland Cement.—Conditions are generally considered satisfactory by both manufacturers and dealers. The demand for this commodity is strong. Naturally the orders for material scheduled for use in Government building contracts are the most important features of the current business, but there is also a favorable demand from builders having new contracts for industrial work. Present prices are likely to hold for some time.

Cast Iron Pipe.—Business in this line is dull and what activity is current is coming from Federal sources. Municipal and private buying has slowed down materially and no improvement is looked for at this time. Revised Federal prices are now effective: 6 in., 8 in., and heavier, $61.35 and 4 in., $64.35, New York.

Wm. L. Crow Co. Obtains Contract.

A general contract has been awarded to the Wm. L. Crow Co., 103 Park avenue, Manhattan, for the construction of a convalescents' home at the northeast corner of Jerome and McLean avenues, Yonkers, N. Y. This building will be two stories in height, with basement, 85x176 feet, and will be fireproof throughout. The owner is the Neustadter Foundation, Sidney Borg, 175 West 58th street, Chairman of the Building Committee. The plans and specifications were prepared by York & Sawyer, architects, 50 East 41st street, Manhattan. The building will cost in the neighborhood of $250,000.

New Building for Swift & Co.

The White Fireproof Construction Co., 286 Fifth avenue, Manhattan, has obtained the general contract for the construction of a five-story reinforced concrete cooerage shop and storage building to be located at the corner of Henderson and 9th streets, Jersey City, N. J., for Swift & Co. The structure will have ground dimensions of 100x150 feet, and will cost approximately $205,000. The plans for the project were prepared under the direction of A. E. Bump, architect and engineer, 60 North Market street, Boston, Mass. The contract calls for the completion of this building within twelve weeks.

Police Station Plans Approved.

The Municipal Art Commission has recently approved plans as prepared by Hoppin & Koen, architects, 4 East 43d street, for a new police station house for the 61st Precinct, to be erected at the southwest corner of Brook avenue and 142d street, the Bronx. This structure will be four stories in height, with basement and will be constructed of brick and granite. The cost is approximately placed at $125,000.

PERSONAL AND TRADE NOTES.

B. Hustace Simonson, architect, has recently moved his office from 315 Fifth avenue to 15 East 40th street.

Murphy Construction Company, general contracting, announces the removal of its offices to 10 Wall street.

Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co. have moved their showrooms from 29 West 32d street to 35 West 32d street.

Sussman & Sussman, electrical contractors, removed their factory and offices from 225 Lexington avenue to 8 East 31st street, New York City.

Chester H. Pennoyer recently became general sales manager of the National Conduit & Cable Company of New York City. He will devote much of his time to traveling in the Eastern States. Mr. Pennoyer is from Oakland, Cal.

Oliver E. Willis, formerly with the Vapor Heating Co., 597 Fifth avenue, has been commissioned first lieutenant in the Ordnance Reserve Corps and has been assigned to active duty with the American Ordnance Base Depot in France.

A. P. C. Schramm, for the last five years associated as chief engineer of the Klaxon Company, Newark, N. J., has established himself as a consulting engineer at 276 Canal street, New York City. His work embraces electrical, industrial and efficiency engineering.

Crane Packing Company has removed to larger quarters in the Park Row Building. Julian N. Walton has been appointed manager. A. W. Payne, connected for some time as manager of the New York district, has been made sales manager of the United States and Canada with headquarters at the home office in Chicago.

Hudson Iron Works, Inc., announce the removal of their plant and offices from 409 West 36th street to new headquarters at 33 East 12th street. Telephone, Stuyvesant 7751. This concern deals in structural and architectural ironwork and wire work of every description, and is in a position to give estimates and execute contracts upon short notice.

James R. McMann, formerly of McMann & Taylor, New York, has engaged in business, under his own name, as a dealer in pipe, fittings and steam supplies. Quarters have been opened at 56-60 Gold street, New York. Mr. McMann will have as associates Harry Muliken, formerly with McMann & Taylor for many years, and Philip Spiro, formerly manager of McMann & Taylor's export department.

If You Are Remodeling

Don't omit the one great factor that stands behind all effective improvement. Edison Service will insure your plans conspicuous success from every real estate point of view. Without it, mere rearrangement of spacing and modernized finish will count for little with the sort of tenants you are looking for

These people are looking first of all for reliable power service and light that can be depended on under all conditions. No man, if he knows it, is buying a good looking car with a defective motor

You can, to be sure, supply yourself with defective electric service. You cannot secure service of the Edison kind—limitless and dependable—but from the one source. Ask our engineers for the operating details

CALENDAR

CALL OF CALENDAR.

The Clerk's Calendar will be called in Room 919, on Tuesday, at 3 o'clock sharp, and cases will then be taken from the General Calendar, and set down for hearing during the following week. Any requests for adjournment must be made when Clerk's Calendar is called.

The Clerk's Calendar consists of cases which are complete, but which have not yet been set down for hearing on a definite date. It is not to be confused with the Calendar, which consists of cases that have been definitely set for fixed days.

The listing of an appeal or petition in this Calendar is full and sufficient notice to all persons interested that such case will be heard on the date set and no adjournment will be allowed on the ground of ignorance of the date or of lack of due notice.

All hearings are held in Room 919, Municipal Building, Manhattan.

Board of Appeals Has Power to Act in Zone Cases

Corporation Counsel Burr of Opinion Board of Estimate Has Delegated This Duty to It.

AN opinion rendered yesterday by Corporation Counsel William P. Burr may materially affect any action taken in the matter of the writ of certiorari directed to the Board of Appeals on the application of William Waldorf Astor for permission to erect a seven-story business building on his property, Madison avenue, 34th and 35th streets, which is returnable next Wednesday in Part 2 Supreme Court. Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft, representing Baron Astor, have asked permission from Justice Platzek to intervene in the case when it comes up for argument.

The opinion just rendered by the Corporation Counsel is rendered at the request of the City Plan Committee at the time of handing down its decision reversing the action of the Board of Appeals. The writ was asked for in view of the decision of City Plan Committee by Carter, Ledyard and Milburn, representing J. P. Morgan and the residents of Murray Hill, and the application was based on the assumption of the Board of Estimate that the Board of Appeals has no authority in such matters and that the Board of Estimate is paramount to the Board of Appeals in such cases.

The Corporation Counsel yesterday rendered his opinion to the Board of Estimate and is as follows:

June 7, 1918.

BOARD OF ESTIMATE AND APPORTIONMENT OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK:

I have received a communication from the Secretary of your Board, under date of May 3, 1918, a copy of which follows:

"At the meeting of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment on May 3, 1918, a resolution was adopted denying the petition of William Waldorf Astor, through his attorney, for an amendment of the building zone resolution, so as to change from a residence to a business district the property on the west side of Madison avenue between East 35th and East 36th streets, Borough of Manhattan. A similar petition by the same parties had previously been denied by the Board on May 4, 1917.

"On April 30, 1918, while the renewed application was pending before the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, the Board of Appeals adopted a resolution, a copy of which is enclosed herewith, permitting the construction of a business building in this block, thus nullifying the action taken by this Board on May 4, 1917, and rendering the subsequent similar action of the Board of May 3, 1918, of no force or effect.

"At the meeting of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment on May 3, 1918, the Secretary was directed to request the Corporation Counsel to advise as to the validity of the action of the Board of Appeals, in view of the pendency before the Board of Estimate and Apportionment of the aforesaid application for an amendment of the Building Zone Resolution, and the fact that this Board had, on May 4, 1917, denied a similar application presented to it by the same parties."

The Building Zone Resolution was adopted by your Board under the authority conferred by Sections 242-a and 242-b of the Charter. The latter section contains the provisions pertinent to the question submitted and under those provisions your Board

"may regulate and restrict the location of trades and industries and the location of buildings designed for specified uses, and may divide the city into districts of such number, shape and area as it may deem best to carry out the purposes of this section. For each such district regulations may be imposed designating the trades and industries that shall be excluded or subjected to special regulations and designating the uses for which buildings may not be erected or altered."

This action further empowers your Board to "supplement or change said regulations or districts," but, as a whole, it contemplates the establishment of fixed zones and regulations applicable to each unit of territory so established.

The same section of the Charter, by amendment introduced by Chapter 601 of the Laws of 1917, expressly authorizes your Board to delegate to the Board of Appeals the power to "determine and vary" the application of the regulations of the Building Zone Resolution "in harmony with their general purpose and intent and in accordance with general or specific rules therein contained."

The Building Zone Resolution, in Section 20 thereof, provides that

"Where there are practical difficulties or unnecessary hardships in the way of carrying out the strict letter of the provisions of this resolution the Board of Appeals shall have power in a specific case to vary any such provision in harmony with its general purposes and intent, so that the public health, safety and general welfare may be secured and substantial justice done."

And Section 7, subdivision c, provides that the Board of Appeals may

"subject to appropriate conditions and safeguards, determine and vary the application of the use district regulations herein established in harmony with their general purpose and intent as follows:

Permit the extension of an existing or proposed building into a more restricted district under such conditions as will safeguard the character of the more restricted district."

I have examined the proceedings heretofore had before your Board upon the petition of William Waldorf Astor, for an amendment of the Use-District Map so as to change from a residence to a business district the property mentioned in the foregoing communication, as well as the proceedings before the Board of Appeals on the appeal by said Astor from the refusal of the Superintendent of Buildings to approve plans for a proposed building on said land. The petition which was denied by your resolution of May 4, 1917, invoked your power to change the Use-District Map. The resolution is general in terms, merely denying the petition, but was adopted upon the report of the Committee on the City Plan, which report is significant not only of the intent and purpose of the Building Zone Resolution, but also of the conception of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment of the functions which it had delegated to the Board of Appeals. I quote the concluding paragraph of that report:

"There must be a boundary line between districts, and in a section like Murray Hill, where the difference in types of development is so great the determination of a boundary line between a residence and a business district presents peculiar difficulties. The petitioner asserts that he is the owner of a large plot of land in the block bounded by Fifth avenue, 36th street, Madison avenue and 37th street, and that the value of this plot is greatly reduced owing to the fact that the frontage on Madison avenue is placed in a residence district. Of course, in fixing boundary lines in carrying out a general zone plan it is impracticable to prevent such lines from cutting across the plottages of particular owners. In order that this should not work any unnecessary hardship in individual cases, the Building Zone Resolution provides in section 7, paragraph c, that the Board of Appeals may, in appropriate cases, after public notice and hearing, 'permit the extension of an existing or proposed building into a more restricted district under such condition as will safeguard the character of the more restricted district.' It would, therefore, be possible in case the petitioner desired to use his entire plot for a specific business use to request the Board of Appeals to authorize such use and such use could be so authorized if, in the judgment of the Board of Appeals, such specific use would not in fact injure the residential district.

"Your committee recommends that the petition be denied."

At that time the Committee on the City Plan was composed of the Mayor, and the Presidents of the five Boroughs, all of whom signed said report, and the resolution denying the petition was adopted by the concurring votes of all the members of the Board, except the Mayor, who does not appear to have voted.

It thus very clearly appears that the petitioner was remitted to his remedy before the Board of Appeals. This remedy he invoked by an appeal filed with the Board of Appeals on December 11, 1917, upon which he sought relief under subdivision c of Section 7 of the Building Zone Resolution. It appears that in February, 1918, the application to your Board for an amendment to the Use-District Map was renewed, and that thereafter the petitioner was pursuing two separate and distinct remedies, one before your Board and one before the Board of Appeals, up to the date of the disposition of the appeal before the latter Board.

Upon the renewed application before your Board, the Committee on City Plan and Public Improvements made a report upon which a general resolution was adopted denying the application. This report indicates that the Committee acted upon the same principle which governed the former Committee and was influenced by considerations which opposed the permanent change in character of the district. Prior to the action of your Board on this renewal application, the Board of Appeals on April 30, 1918, by resolution, after due notice and a public hearing as recited in said resolution, granted the relief sought before it on condition, "that the building shall not exceed seven stories nor one hundred and twelve feet in total height; that the three facades shall be faced, uniformly, with either limestone or marble; but there shall be but one entrance to the building on the Madison avenue front; that the balcony shown over the second story shall be constructed of material uniform with the rest of the facade; that the parapet wall above the main cornice of the building shall be designed to harmonize with the architecture of the three facades; and that during the occupancy of said building only the windows of the first story shall be used as show windows."

An analysis of the provisions of the Charter and the Building Zone Resolution, to which I have referred, satisfies me that the respective functions of your Board and of the Board of Appeals do not involve any necessary conflict of jurisdiction between the two bodies. The application for the amendment of the Use-District Map gave rise to the exercise of a power in your Board distinct from the power which your Board under the authority of the Charter had delegated to the Board of Appeals. An amendment of the Use-District Map by converting a residence district into a business district would establish what might be called a general provision of the Zoning Law and a zone of permanent character in which any kind of business authorized by the Building Zone Resolution might be conducted. By the amendment of the Charter in the act of 1917 the resolution seems to have recognized the wisdom and propriety of lodging somewhere, for the purposes of the administration and enforcement of the building zone resolution according to its spirit, the discretionary power to deal with specific cases surrounded by conditions under which a strict and literal application of rigid general rules might not comport with the spirit of the resolution and might work unreasonable hardship.

The Board of Appeals, by its action in the case in hand, did not change the use-district in any way. It permitted the owner of the land, part of which lies in a business district and part in a residence district, to extend into the residence district a business building proposed to be erected upon the whole plot; the land in the residence district consists of the block between 35th and 36th streets, fronting on Madison avenue; the blocks north and south are fixed by the building zone resolution as business districts, the Board of Appeals, in granting the appeal, annexed conditions to the extension which in its judgment are contemplated by the Charter and by the provisions of the building zone resolution. This action by the Board of Appeals came within the power delegated to it as already shown.

You will observe, therefore, that the Board of Appeals has not granted, in legal contemplation, what your Board had denied.

In view of these considerations I am of the opinion that the action of the Board of Appeals in granting the appeal in question is valid.

Assessed Valuations No Standard for Rentals

Taxes and Operating Expenses Have Increased, While Values Have Remained Stationary

IN view of the many proposals of city officials and others tending towards municipal ownership and operation of business enterprises now carried on with private capital realty men have been making an investigation into actual conditions of the finances of the city, which discloses the fact that while there is an apparent margin of eighteen or twenty millions of dollars available for additional obligations this margin is only apparent and not real.

In the list of bonds exempted from consideration in making up the debt limit there are securities amounting to millions of dollars which are not properly excluded.

If the city were confronted with a great calamity, such as fire or pestilence or any of the dangers consequent to war, it would have no debt borrowing capacity to provide for such contingency.

As far as taxation is concerned the city, in the Borough of Richmond, is already within twenty-four points of the constitutional limit of taxation, and is only to a small degree further removed in the other boroughs. The greatest economy is necessary in the management of the city's affairs and the utmost judgment exercised in expenditures of the city's moneys and in incurring any city debt for any purpose whatever.

This situation of affairs was clearly brought out in the investigation made by the Legislative Committee, of which Senator Brown was chairman, and the banking community insisted when loans were made in 1914 that the pay-as-you-go policy should be adopted. This was made part of the agreement with the city and was afterwards enacted into law. Last winter, at the request of the city administration, this was to some extent modified so that $15,000,000 a year of securities could be issued for certain specific purposes.

It is clearly impossible to keep on piling up the taxes on real estate to cover the greatly increased cost of running the extravagant city government. Attention of the readers of the Record and Guide has already been called to the relation between the increase of taxes and the cost of operating office and apartment buildings. Below are printed the figures, showing the assessed valuations and taxes for several years of a number of buildings of these two classes.

The taxes show tremendous increases, and it must also be remembered that interest rates have also largely increased and there is no longer any money available at less than 5½ per cent. and that most renewals of mortgages are made at 6 per cent. The Department of Labor, in a report made recently, shows that while housing costs have only increased 2.6 per cent. in the shipbuilding zone, of which New York City is a part, other expenses have increased from 50 to 100 per cent., and wages have increased about 30 per cent.

Those who have been criticising the increase in rents forget that every item connected with a building or of the care and management of a building has increased greatly. A plumber and his helper at $14 a day; carpenters at $6.60 a day; painters at $6.60 a day, are but a few of the instances which have gone to double the upkeep of all kinds of improved real estate. The wages of necessary employees, such as engineers, elevator men, cleaners, also show a much greater increase in proportion than almost any rent increase.

On a building assessed at $100,000, within a few years the taxes have increased from $1,510 a year to $2,840 a year. Interest has gone up from 4 to at least 5 per cent., which means an increase of $1,000; while the ordinary expenses for repairs and for services in the building is just double.

The following table shows the assessed valuations and taxes for the years 1916 and 1918:

*1917.

The tremendous increase in taxes can be easily seen. The tax rate in 1916 was 2.04 and in 1917 was 2.02, but in 1918 it was 2.36.

The tax on the Washington Building, therefore, in that year was $40,800. In 1918 the tax was $47,200, and in 1919 it would be not less than $55,600.

On the Bowling Green Building, assessed at $3,250,000, the tax in 1916 was $66,300; in 1917, $65,650; in 1918, $76,700, and will be in 1919 at least $90,350.

On the Adams Express Building, assessed at $6,625,000, the tax in 1916 was $132,600; in 1917 it was $133,825; in 1918 it was $156,350, and in 1919 will be at least $173,750.

The Equitable Building, assessed in 1917 at $20,000,000, the tax was $404,000; in 1918, assessed at $25,000,000, the tax was $590,000, and in 1919 the tax will be $695,000.

There has been no material decrease in assessed valuations, although, as the tax rate increases and the net returns grow less, the real value of the property must also grow less. What has been said in regard to commercial buildings applies equally to apartment houses. The assessed valuations have remained the same or have been increased, while the tax rate has increased from 2.02 in 1917 to an estimated 2.78 in 1918. The tax rate this year is 2.36. The comptroller estimates that there will be an increase because of large amounts left out by the Fusion administration and because of the estimated deficit in subway operation of $15,000,000 and because of the constantly yearly increases in the debt service, and this increase in the tax rate will amount to at least thirty-two points.

The apartment houses referred to above, like the one at 855-857 Seventh avenue, assessed in 1916 at $1,150,000, were assessed the same in 1917 and 1918, and yet in 1919 the tax rate will be at least seventy-six points higher than in 1917. This is equally true of 1728 Broadway, assessed each year at $680,000, and 249 West 44th street, assessed at $870,000, and 917 Seventh avenue, assessed at $1,100,000.

May Building Contracts in New York Territory

Principal Work Outside of Government Jobs, Which Totalled Over Forty Millions, Consisted of Alterations

NOTWITHSTANDING the fact that there has been a decided falling off in the number of new private building projects, there have been a considerable number of alterations, amounting in cost from $2,500 to $50,000 each. These have maintained a fair balance to the building industry. Federal building work, however, continues to be the most prolific source of business current at the present time and the program of military and naval building requirements is steadily growing in size and cost.

During May, contracts for building work involving a total of 1,239 separate operations and costing approximately $23,461,000, were awarded in the New York territory. This comprises all of New York State, New Jersey, north of Trenton, and southeastern Connecticut. Within the boundaries of Greater New York contracts were let for 371 residences at a cost of $2,110,000, 18 manufacturing buildings, costing $807,000, and a total of 161 contracts for miscellaneous building projects involving an expenditure in the neighborhood of $4,815,000.

During the month of May the building work on Long Island, exclusive of Brooklyn and Queens, included the award of contracts for eight dwellings costing about $97,000, two manufacturing projects at a cost of $164,000, and thirteen contracts for miscellaneous operations to cost approximately $255,000. In Northern New Jersey 105 contracts for new residences were let at a cost of $1,310,000, 26 manufacturing buildings costing $1,206,000, and 96 miscellaneous projects to cost about $3,837,000. The contracts for New York State, exclusive of Greater New York, amounted to 236 residences, costing $1,621,000, 50 manufacturing operations at a cost of $1,899,000, and 153 miscellaneous at a cost of $3,581,000.

In the New York territory military contracts to the number of 18 were awarded, costing $1,759,000. At the same time new operations to be erected under the jurisdiction of various Federal departments were announced, the total cost of which will exceed $42,636,000. The contracts for this work have not yet been awarded.

According to statistics compiled by the F. W. Dodge Company for April, 1918, it was shown that in the New York territory 34 contracts for multi-family dwellings were let, costing a total of $445,000. There were 42 bank and office buildings placed under contract, representing an expenditure of more than $586,000. The work of this month included 11 churches costing $290,000; 17 clubhouses totaling $874,500; 120 garages, $1,062,000; 3 hotels costing $84,000; 7 hospitals to cost about $246,000; 100 manufacturing plants costing approximately $2,668,000; 11 power plants costing $141,000; 22 stores at $129,000; 28 warehouses at a cost of more than $660,000, and 12 school buildings representing a cost of $133,500.

Government operations during April were heavy and included 64 contracts awarded and involving an expenditure of approximately $40,906,000.

Elevator Women Prove Satisfactory Help

VACANCIES in business and industry caused by enlistments in war service are being filled by girls, women, or men who have passed the prime of their lives.

Uniformed girls or women of maturer age now deliver telegrams, and attractive girls in khaki have replaced the carriage men at the entrances of some of the large department stores. Conductorettes have already proved their worth on the traction lines of the city, and the managers of these lines are making preparations to add materially to the number now employed. Prominent hotels have joined the list of adding uniformed women employees to their house staffs, and in every instance to date the female of the species has proved as efficient as the male.

Already some of the most prominent buildings in the city have passed the experimental stage in the use of women elevator operators, and have decided to employ them permanently for work of this nature. Major Bleeker, manager of the Singer Building, is using a staff of twenty-one young women to operate the cars in that structure, and their work is in every way successful. Even the elevator starters in this building are women, four being employed.

The Waldorf-Astoria Hotel has recently released fifteen male elevator operators to military service and replaced them with women, and the Hotel Claridge has been using women to run their elevators for some time. Many of the new office buildings in the city have placed young women in charge of the operation of elevators, and their work in every case is giving complete success. Up to the present time the managers of none of the buildings in which girl operators have supplanted men have received complaints from patrons or tenants upon the elevator service rendered, and in all instances the management have agreed that women are superior to men for work of this nature.

Mr. Raymond P. Roberts, secretary of the Building Managers' Association, and who has direct charge of the management of a number of office buildings in the city, has made an exhaustive study of the help situation as it applies to building management and he has come to the conclusion that for many kinds of work now almost exclusively in the hands of men women could be employed and men released for work urgently required to assist in winning the war.

In a recent statement to a representative of the Record and Guide Mr. Roberts made the assertion that in the buildings where he has tried women as elevator operators the experiment was entirely satisfactory, and that in future effort would be made to use only women for this work. Mr. Roberts said: "Women elevator operators are far superior to the ordinary run of male operators and appear to give satisfaction equal in every respect to the better class of men employed to run the cars in the highest class structures in the city."

As a general thing women who have replaced men in the operation of passenger elevators are subject to the same rules, discipline and conditions that apply to men doing the same kind of work. The hours of labor are identical and the relief periods of similar duration. Shifts are scheduled for overtime and holiday work, and the women have taken kindly to the conditions.

The rate of wages is also about the same. When starting the average building manager pays at the rate of $13 a week for the first month or while the operator is breaking in. After proficiency in running the car is obtained the operator is automatically increased to $14 a week. At the expiration of one year of satisfactory service the elevator operators are increased to $15 a week, which becomes the maximum wage for this class of work. This is about the average; some of the highest type of buildings may pay higher wages and others less. Women elevator starters, with increased responsibilities, are paid proportionately higher wages.

Much of the dissatisfaction of tenants in office buildings has been due to careless elevator service. Discourtesy, ill-kept uniforms, passing signal lights and many other infringements of discipline on the part of male operators have been a universal source of complaint of tenants in high-class office buildings, and managers state that all can be eliminated by using women instead.

Taxpayers Want Dyckman Street Trolley Line

Washington Heights Realty Men Organize to Prevent Cancellation of Contract for Its Building

AN indignation mass meeting will be held at the Claremont Theatre, Broadway and 125th street, the latter part of next week, probably Friday, June 14, at 11 A. M., for the purpose of denouncing the attempt of the Union Railway to obtain a cancellation of the contract to build a crosstown line in Dyckman street from the Broadway subway to the Dyckman street ferry.

Plans for this meeting are now well under way by a committee composed of representatives of various civic organizations, individuals and public officials in that section of the city, with Harvey N. Bloomer, one of the leading real estate brokers in the Washington Heights section and active in civic matters in upper Manhattan and the Bronx, at its head.

The committee is composed of J. Gardiner Smith, F. W. Clinton, Edward Koch, Dr. Charles V. Paterno, Jacob Axelrod, W. P. Sheridan, Reginald Pelham Bolton, President of the Washington Heights Board of Trade; Senator Edward J. Dowling, George Slawson, Cyrus C. Miller, A. C. and H. M. Hall, George W. Loft, President of the Dyckman Street Ferry Company, and representatives of the Astor Estate, North Side Board of Trade, West End Taxpayers' Association, Harlem Board of Commerce, Paterno Brothers, Slawson & Hobbs, Duff & Brown, Frederick Zittel & Sons and other organizations and realty interests in the Borough of the Bronx.

The railway company asked the Board of Estimate and Apportionment last week for a cancellation of the franchise to operate a traction line through Dyckman street from the Broadway subway to the Dyckman street ferry at 207th street, giving as the reason the high price now asked for steel, which would cost at the present time about $250,000. The company stated that it is not prepared at this time to spend so much money. It was further stated that steel rails now cost $68.50 per ton, whereas in peace time the same rails cost but $38.00 a ton.

Mayor Hylan referred the matter to the franchise committee of the Board of Estimate for investigation. This committee is composed of the Mayor, Comptroller Craig, President Smith of the Board of Aldermen, President Dowling of the Borough of Manhattan, and President Connolly of Queens.

At the time the railway company applied for this franchise the people of Washington Heights, the Third and Amsterdam Avenue Railway Company and the various civic bodies backed up the request, and were jubilant when the project was finally accepted by the traction company and they looked forward with anticipation to the day when the line would be opened, as it is of inestimable importance to persons living in the district or who desire to go from Dyckman street to the ferry, which runs to Interstate Park.

Former Borough President Cyrus C. Miller said yesterday: "This matter had been before the Board of Estimate and Apportionment for a long time, and the company was energetic in pressing for the franchise. My recollection is that the company stated that it had eighty-seven per cent. of the materials necessary for the work. This short line will be inexpensive to build, as the franchise permits the company to build and operate an overhead trolley for a period of years, instead of an underground trolley, which is more expensive. I joined with the company at the time in urging the granting of the franchise, and cannot see why the work should not proceed.

"I have favored the extension of trolley roads, as well as steam roads, in the Bronx, as we need more of them. This is a line which will be very useful to the Bronx, as it constitutes a line to the Dyckman street ferry. The Union Railway Company has a very valuable system in the Bronx, and it should be willing to take the lean with the fat.

Harvey N. Bloomer said: "We are determined that the railway company shall live up to its contract, and build the line under the terms which it has already accepted. We will appear at all hearings on the subject before the Board of Estimate and vigorously oppose the application of the company for the cancellation or even the modification of the terms of the present franchise.

"At the time the company applied for the franchise property in Dyckman street was at a standstill, but as soon as the franchise was granted there was a decided boom and real estate brokers used this argument to influence sales. Their clients, relying on the assurance that the opening and operation of the road would increase the value of their holdings, bought property and have held it since, awaiting the coming of the railroad. Now they are up in arms over the whole proposition and are putting it up to the brokers to fight against the revocation or cancellation of the franchise.

"Anticipating increased business because of the connecting trolley line the Dyckman Street Ferry Company, of which former Congressman George W. Loft is the president, expended over $30,000 improving its property, improvements that could well have been dispensed with if conditions are to remain as they are at present. In this fight we have the support of every taxpayer in the section, of every civic organization, realty interests and estates. We have been pledged all the money necessary to make a determined fight against what we consider a direct violation of our rights, and we propose to go the limit to compel the company to carry out to the letter the terms of the franchise they fought so hard to get and were so glad to receive at the time."

The construction and operation of this road will result in greatly increased realty values, owners will improve their properties and the City of New York will benefit by increased tax revenue. This argument will be advanced when the Franchise Committee of the Board of Estimate gives a hearing on the matter.

At the mass meeting to be held next week Harvey N. Bloomer will preside and addresses will be made by Senator Dowling, Arlington C. Hall, George L. Dawson and other prominent speakers, including members of the committee, representatives of civic bodies, public officials and representatives of realty interests, and it is hoped to have the members of the Franchise Committee of the Board of Estimate present and learn off hand just how the people in Washington Heights feel about this attempt to back down on a matter of vital importance to them.

Senator Dowling said yesterday:

"On December 8, 1916, I was present at a hearing before the then Board of Estimate of this city, which was attended by President Maher of the Union Railway Company, in connection with the application of the line for an extension of its route carrying the cars westward at 207th street and Dyckman street ferry. I recollect very well the argument then made, which in substance amounted to an appeal for an extended term so as to enable the Railway Company to earn sufficient money on its investment, and after the matter had been considered the Board of Estimate passed a resolution of considerable latitude which was thought at that time to be an unusual concession.

"Being within the precincts of my district, I am personally obligated to do everything in my power towards preventing the abandonment of the franchise, because I know that the extension is needed by the traveling public. To deprive those who seek the advantage of opportunity to go to the Palisades would inflict a hardship. What I cannot understand is why the Railway Company has waited as long as this without contracting for the necessary rails. It is, of course, generally known that the cost of steel has risen because of the great demands made by the Government. Yet I am of the belief that if the officials of the Third Avenue Railway Company and its associate line, the Union Railway Company, were disposed to go into the matter seriously means could be found so as to secure the needed steel and also at a price which would not be burdensome."

Methods of Taxation Studied by a Taxpayer

Senator Mills' Report Analyzed in an Effort to Arrive at a Solution of New York's Problem

By CLARKE G. DAILEY

Vice-President Alliance Realty Company.

THE State Auditor of Ohio in a letter to the Advisory Council of Real Estate Interests described New York's tax methods as "the most vicious form of single tax ever perpetrated on any people in America." He pointed out that in the census reports of 1916 New York obtained 73.6% of its revenue from taxes on property, whereas Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Cleveland, Baltimore, San Francisco, Cincinnati and Minneapolis derive but 60% of their income from property taxes. Business and license taxes were only 3.2% of the whole in New York, compared with 12.1% in Chicago; 8.4% in St. Louis, etc. Special assessments paid 11% of public revenue in St. Louis and Detroit, as compared with only 4.5% in New York.

The advancing tax rate has become such an onerous burden on real estate that real estate interests have been vigorously seeking for some relief. The writer attended a hearing at Albany on the proposed law to limit the real estate tax to a fixed rate. The legislators lent a sympathetic ear to all that was said by the representatives of real estate, but asked bluntly whence the revenue was to come if not from real estate. A revision of the personal tax was suggested, but the more this feature of the program was discussed the more hopeless it seemed. A low rate on personalty would not obtain sufficient revenue to be of any material help. A high rate on personal property has proven to be a failure and an abomination to all good citizens. It is evident that we must take steps either to cut down the size of the budget or introduce some constructive method of levying a tax which can be used to supplement the existing real estate tax.

It is hopeless to rely upon economies to save the real estate of New York. Economies must, of course, always be demanded and striven for, but in these war times we cannot expect any appreciable reduction in the total budget of the city and State and must indeed be prepared for further increases. The problem then becomes a search for other sources of revenue. Much has been written on this subject and innumerable suggestions made, but the most authoritative are those contained in the Mills Report made a couple of years ago. This report suggested either an income tax or a combination of personalty, business, license and habitation taxes. The writer believes the first named to be the simplest, most accurate and most equitable. The large income taxes levied and collected by the United States Government have opened our eyes to the fairness of this method of taxing and the practicability of its collection. Business and habitation taxes, based on rent paid at home or at the store or office, are crude and thumb-rule methods of arriving at a man's ability to pay. Much more accurate is the income tax bearing a positive sure relation to the actual net income of the corporation or man.

Simplicity in taxation is most important and a step can be taken in this direction by doing away with such taxes as the corporation, franchise and personalty taxes and levying only a real estate tax, an income tax and an inheritance tax and some minor taxes deemed desirable to retain. The people of this city would welcome some reduction in the number of reports now necessary to be made out during the year by corporations and individuals. If instead of the corporation report, personal tax report, franchise report, etc., the one income tax report made annually to the United States Government could be used as a basis upon which the State or city should levy its taxes, our citizens would be relieved from this multiplicity of reports. This does not mean that an attempt should be made to divert any of the taxes now going to the United States Government; but that the city or State should levy upon those living within or desiring the privilege of doing business within the State a tax based upon the report made to the Federal Government, which tax would be collected by the city or State's own officials. It would have nothing to do with the United States tax except that a sworn copy of that report would be used as a basis to compute the amount of the tax. The rate would, of course, depend upon the amount of revenue necessary to be raised in this way, the idea of the tax being primarily to relieve real estate, and incidentally to do away with the personalty tax.

The amount raised by the Federal Government in income taxes aggregates a total of such magnitude that if an additional tax were collected from the same individuals and corporations equal in amount to only say one-tenth of the tax now paid by them to the Government, it might be sufficient to accomplish the purpose and would occasion no great hardship upon those taxed.

The State taxes on corporations would also be abolished, as it would be simpler and more equitable to levy in lieu thereof an income tax on corporations based on their actual earnings and profits. There is a special reason why the inheritance tax should not be abolished. It occupies a field not reached by either of the other two taxes, i. e., an effort to minimize the handing down of wealth from generation to generation. Many who believe that a man is entitled to the enjoyment of all the wealth he can accumulate are willing to see some fairness in causing the benefits of the accumulation to cease in some measure with his life, and substantial inheritance taxes meet this issue in a way that income taxes and real estate taxes do not.

There is no doubt that the above system of taxation will make for simplicity, will tend to relieve real estate from further burdens, and will tax the individual or corporation upon the ability to pay. It is a fair system, for in the long run income is the best appraisal of one's net worth. Whether there should also be an excess profits tax is a detail which need not be considered at the moment. There may be some who will think that the income tax suggested above will be but another invitation to the legislators to spend money. Any new form of tax is open to this objection and all efforts should be concentrated on securing a fixed limit to the real estate tax, the new form of tax being offered as a constructive suggestion to supply the needed revenue. The enormous budgets of today must be raised from some source, and if the large incomes and inheritances do not pay a substantial part, then real estate must give up all hopes of salvation from the steadily increasing burdens of taxation.

War Convention of Builders.

THE general convention of architects, engineers, builders and manufacturers affiliated with the building industry, as recently called under the auspices of the American Institute of Architects for June 7, at the Engineering Societies Building, 29 West 39th street, New York City, has been postponed until June 14.

The purpose of this convention is to make a determined effort to find some plan upon which the construction and building material interests of the entire country can meet to lend complete coordinated assistance to the Government in helping to fit the complex building material and construction interests of the country into the war-winning program.

Facts About Queens.

Straus Sounds Warning in Public Utility Cases

Says Franchise-Granting Powers Must Not Cripple Transportation Companies During War

OSCAR S. STRAUS, Chairman of the Public Service Commission, has rendered an opinion in the application of the Third Avenue Railroad Company for permission to charge two cents for transfers, which calls attention of the public authorities to the importance of maintaining the transportation service of the city on an efficient basis during the war through the granting where necessary of proper application for emergency relief. His opinion is of the utmost importance in view of the demand on the part of the street car companies for a six-cent fare, and points out the necessity of the proper officials taking steps to mitigate existing evils.

Mr. Straus says:

"The difficulties of these companies as to franchise terms are of their own seeking. It is a matter of public recollection and record that the franchises were not forced upon reluctant and unwilling companies by rapacious municipalities which overpowered their capacity for resistance.

"The companies, at the instance of their boards of directors and high officials, sought these and similar franchises, fare limitations and all; they plotted for them, schemed for them, dickered for them, gave concessions and gained advantages, got something which they thought they wanted, something which they could capitalize and overcapitalize, long term rights to use and occupy pivotal streets and avenues of the world's richest city. They gained favorable terms and for the sake of them accepted some terms which have now proved unfavorable, at least temporarily."

The companies have no right, Mr. Straus said, to ask the Commission to relieve them from the temporarily unprofitable terms caused by the inelasticity of a franchise that they sought in order to obtain street rights deemed by them to be of "priceless value." He added:

"The city may be unqualifiedly willing that an increased fare on all surface and rapid transit lines shall be temporarily charged; it may be willing to consent to such an increase in return for terms and concessions of present or future public advantage, or it may not be willing to release the companies from their contract obligations at all. The matter of terms rests with the municipality, because the companies wanted the franchises so much that they bargained on the subject of fares and agreed to be ever bound by a five-cent limitation, at the city's option. When the franchise limitations no longer stand in the way the companies may come to the Commission for the fixation of a reasonable and adequate rate, notwithstanding statutory barriers."

As to the reasonableness of the request of the companies for increased revenues the Chairman of the Public Service Commission said:

"The public cannot afford to have public utility revenues so far depleted during an emergency period of several years that even after due allowance has been made for the fact that in times like these all individuals and corporations are having to bear a share of the common burdens. The conditions of public utility investment have become so unremunerative and unattractive as to make prohibitive the cost of money for new construction and to discourage capital from continuing in the public utility field.

"If transportation service in this city is to be continued on any efficient or enduring basis during the war and afterward the proper public authorities must squarely face and act upon their responsibilities for conserving the corporate income of essential utilities, even through the granting where necessary of proper applications for emergency relief during the war period."

"Practising Law" By Real Estate Brokers

CONSIDERABLE interest is being manifested by real estate brokers and persons affiliated with real interests, in the decision of the Court of Special Sessions, in the case of the People of the City of New York against the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, wherein it is charged by Charles L. Bowen, a member of the Bar Association of Brooklyn, that on January 24 the title company aforesaid "rendered and furnished legal advices and advice to deponent and to one Vincent L. Todaro, and furnished attorneys and counsel, and rendered legal services and assumed to be entitled to practice law in violation of the statute in such cases." The title company was held for trial at Special Sessions by Police Magistrate McGuire two weeks ago and the Court of Special Sessions after hearing the evidence in the case has reserved decision.

Magistrate McGuire in sending the case to Special Sessions held that any incorporated real estate agency or title insurance or mortgage company, or any other kind of corporation has drawn a contract or lease or mortgage deed, or other document required in the transfer, incumbering or letting of property, real or personal, has violated Section 280 of the Penal Law, and is liable to fine and imprisonment.

Numerous inquiries have been made by brokers and others to the Real Estate Board for advice in this matter, but in every instance the board has counselled the inquirer to consult his personal attorney. A similar case brought in 1915 against the same company and by the Bar Association of Brooklyn is now before the Court of Appeals for final decision, and this decision will determine whether the drawing of contracts, leases, mortgages, powers of attorneys, bonds, and other documents in common use in commercial, insurance, marine and all other brokerage transactions constitute violation of law if done by a corporation or any of its employees.

If it is, then the law has been violated thousands of times in the past and is being violated many times every business day in this city, and in nearly every other city, town and village in the State, in hundreds of real estate insurance and other brokerage and agency offices. The police magistrate on the trial of the previous action was inclined to hold that these acts of conveyancing that had admittedly been performed by the accused title company did not constitute "practising law" within the meaning of the statute, but he said he felt bound by the decision of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court in a previous prosecution of the same company for "practising law" in having prepared a bill of sale and a chattel mortgage. It is likely that at the next session of the legislature a bill will be introduced defining the meaning of "practising law" especially as applied to cases like the one at issue.

Facts Highly Desirable, No Matter How Obtained

If the "Tenants' League of Greater New York" is successful in its proposed movement to get President Wilson to "intervene in the high rental question," no more important nor clarifying action could be wished for.

An investigation of the actual conditions governing the raising of rents in this city in the last two or three years by competent and unbiased authorities would be welcomed by every real estate owner, because the result of such inquiry would be to place the cause of the trouble where it properly belongs—on extravagant city administration, in which constant efforts seem to be directed to finding new and unnecessary ways to spend the people's money. This has resulted in higher taxes, and the burden has been increased by the mounting expenses of operation of buildings, due to higher wages and increased costs of materials.

It is not likely that the Chief Executive of the Nation will consider it to be a part of his duties to look into what is purely a local matter. The conditions in New York are widely different from those in Washington, which led to control of rentals there, and which action may have accelerated the outcry against landlords here.

Washington is, in the first place, a comparatively small city, devoted exclusively to the business of the National Government. It occupies a restricted area, not densely built upon, and the population is in normal times small, with no rapid increases in numbers. In a day, it was invaded by many thousands of additional office holders and by an additional horde of office-seekers, by crowds of men seeking contracts and a great army of the merely curious. Naturally there was dense overcrowding, with all its attendant evils, which called for regulation that could only be enforced by the National Government, because it alone has authority in the Capital City.

In New York the stoppage of building operations has resulted in the taking up of the slack—the living quarters are fully occupied, but there is no overcrowding. Nobody is sleeping on the roofs or in cellars, or ten or a dozen in a room on camp cots, as is the nightly practice in Washington. There are accommodations even for the million outsiders who daily invade the city streets and dwelling places. They are paying war-time prices, but not extortionate rates, taking into consideration the true underlying causes. This fact is known to every well-informed man.

But if anybody wants to investigate the subject, well and good. And if President Wilson or anybody appointed by him can be induced to look into the question of rents, it may at least have the effect of getting before the rent-payers and voters the fact that until they compel real economy in city administration and abolish the notion that the municipality is an indulgent parent with cash to spare, rents will continue to go up.

Good News for Taxpayers

A ray of sunshine for the taxpayers of New York City is found in the news that Hon. Murray Hulbert, Commissioner of Docks and Ferries, has arranged to put an extra $165,000 in the city treasury through better leases for dock privileges.

Mayor Hylan, in a letter to the commissioner of docks, expresses pride and pleasure in this development. But the mayor's pleasure cannot exceed, even if it equals, the pleasure which the average taxpayer is bound to feel. The mayor's satisfaction may be attributed in part to the feeling that this is an achievement by his administration, and even if that be so he is justified.

The average taxpayer, however, is apt to regard the news in neither a personal nor a political sense. The average taxpayer is so unaccustomed to reading of steps to aid the city treasury that when such an incident develops in the day's news he is apt to regard it as a modern wonder, albeit with satisfaction. Regardless of what official may have produced the surprising development most taxpayers will be primarily interested in knowing that it has been done.

Commissioner Hulbert's welcome news to the taxpayers of the city is full of possibilities. Mr. Hulbert has succeeded in increasing the city's revenues, through nine dock leases, by about $150,000. It also appears that the commissioner has his eye on the newsstands, fruitstands and the bootblack privileges along the metropolitan waterfronts. In three of this latter class of leases he had increased the city's revenues by about $13,000 a year.

This is a good beginning. Only a few of the city's valuable dock privileges are involved in this report; but when Commissioner Hulbert can put an extra $165,000 into the city treasury through an even dozen of lease renewals, as he has done in this instance, he is pointing the way to much larger returns from many more of these dock privileges.

The Record and Guide hopes that Commissioner Hulbert will follow up his good work and will add many hundreds of thousands of dollars to the city's annual return from dock leases. This is a good way to meet a part of the enormous expenses of city government, and each extra hundred thousand dollars obtained in this way will relieve the taxpayers of a similar amount of the burden they are now carrying.

The Trend to Higher Fares

Beginning on Monday, it is announced, the fare on the Hudson tubes will be increased to ten cents for a ride in either direction. The present rate is five cents for passengers to or from downtown in Manhattan and seven cents for passengers to or from the uptown stations.

This means that there is to be an increase of 100 per cent. for a very large proportion of the seventy odd million passengers who use the Hudson tubes between Manhattan and New Jersey points. This increase in tube fares follows the action of the Federal Government in taking over control of the Hudson tubes along with the steam railroads. Passenger fares have been increased on the trunk lines, as well as within the commuting zone, and the increase to the Hudson & Manhattan Railroad Company is in keeping with the Government's policy.

The establishment of higher fares on the Hudson tubes should bring home to the members of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment the fact that there is a good deal of merit in the demand for higher fares on the transportation lines in Greater New York. Conditions of operation in the Hudson tunnels are no different than in the subways.

The cost of operating the Hudson tubes has undoubtedly increased in the same proportion as it has on the subway, elevated and surface lines. The subway deficit is mounting rapidly, and the one logical way to meet it is by authorizing higher fares on the transportation lines of the greater city. It is unfair to the taxpayers of New York to compel them to meet the subway deficit, and each week's delay in granting the relief to which they are entitled adds to the injustice.

No valid argument can be advanced in defense of the proposition that the taxpayers of this city should help pay the car fares of the millions who ride on the city's transportation lines. The people who ride should pay a fare high enough to meet the expense of hauling them. New York realty owners have too large a burden to bear without having this unjust charge added to their tax bills.

Readers' Comment on Current Subjects

June 6, 1918.

Editor of the Record and Guide:

In your last issue, following the article "Official Procedure Under the Torrens Law," is a communication from Mr. Walter Fairchild, Secretary of the Torrens Title League, in which he takes exception to the statements contained in my article appearing in the Record and Guide of May 24.

There is much in Mr. Fairchild's communication which needs no comment from me. There are three points, however, which I desire to clear up:

1. Constitutionality of the Torrens Law as amended. The governor, in his memorandum approving the Torrens Law amendments, quotes from the attorney-general's opinion as follows:

"Although in my opinion there is sufficient notice and hearing provided by the bill to constitute due process of law, yet where a minimum of notice is being approached the court should take the burden of deciding just the length of notice and nature of notice which divides adequate and reasonable notice from inadequate notice."

I leave it to the candid reader if this does not justify my statement that the attorney-general preferred to leave it to the courts rather than to make the final decision himself by advising the governor to veto the bill. Even the governor qualifies his own opinion in the words, "If it is held constitutional by the Court of Appeals."

The fact that similar amendments have been upheld in other localities is no indication of what the Court of Appeals of New York State will decide, inasmuch as the provisions of the amendments are so absolutely opposed to the Code of Civil Procedure and the spirit of the jurisprudence of this state.

2. Mr. Fairchild accuses me of repeating an old slander as to the unreliability of the locality plant in the New York Register's office, made up during his incumbency of the office of deputy register, and states that the New York Title & Mortgage Company has been using the same for four years. In answer to this I will state that my assertion that the plant is unreliable is borne out by an actual test of its workings. Ten blocks were taken at random, and the accuracy of the location of the instruments against certain lots in these blocks was tested from a search of the same lots made by said title company in its own plant. It was found that 38 per cent. of the returns which actually affected these lots had not been located against them in the register's plant. The New York Title & Mortgage Company does not rely upon the reindexing portion of the register's plant, either in its current work or in any portion of its examination of a title, for every use which it makes is carefully checked and verified by its own searchers, and many mistakes are constantly being discovered in the course

3. In asserting that a judgment in a Torrens proceeding is not conclusive I am only following out the principle laid down in many of the jurisdictions where the Torrens Law is in force. Enunciated, however, most clearly in the state of Minnesota in the cases of

Riley v. Pearson, 120 Minn. 210;

Baart v. Martin, 99 Minn. 197;

Arnold v. Smith, 121 Minn. 116.

These cases are typical as illustrating the principle that where the name of a party in interest is known and he is not made a party defendant in the action the decree is void as against him, the party not being cut off by the designation "Unknown Persons." This means, if it means anything, that a title must be examined in all cases to see if all persons known to have an interest in the property have been made parties to the action. The necessity for this is recognized in Chicago, where, I am reliably informed, practically no important loans are made on Torrens certificates without the protection of an examination of title and a policy of title insurance.

The act also expressly provides (Sec. 392) that any time within ten years an action to set aside the final order or to recover the property may be brought where a registration has been obtained as the result of fraud.

The writer has never maintained that the title companies would guarantee a title coming under a Torrens certificate without an examination of the title. No one who has any knowledge of the legal principles involved in a Torrens registration suit and the attitude of the courts with reference thereto would for a moment consider himself safe in taking a Torrens certificate without such examination. The present amendments, even more than before, make necessary such a precaution.

LEGAL NOTES AFFECTING REALTY

Prepared by Committee on Real Estate Laws of
Real Estate Board, Samuel P. Goldman, Chairman

A BROKER procured a lessee ready and willing to hire a building for use solely as a garage. The prospective lessee entered into an agreement as to the terms of lease with the owner, who at the last moment refused to execute the lease because the business could not be carried on in the zone by reason of the resolution adopted by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, under Laws 1916, c. 497, restricting such zone to residential use. The New York Appellate Division holds, Markovitz v. Arrow Const. Co., 169 N. Y. Supp. 159, that the broker was not entitled to a commission. Everyone is presumed to know of the Zoning Resolution. The owner was not called upon to attempt to get the Board to change the boundary of the residential zone where the building was situated just because it had the power to do so.

Reformation of Contract for Exchange.

In an action to reform a contract for the exchange of lots and for a specific performance of the contract as reformed, the New York Appellate Division holds, Flinn Realty Corp. v. Charter Const. Co., 169 N. Y. Supp. 116, that the fact that the defendant's agent saw the plaintiff's lots before the contract of exchange was made would not be notice to the defendant that the plaintiff's lots were subject to building restrictions, although the lots were of a uniform size and the buildings thereon of a uniform distance from the road. Whether the parties to the exchange inadvertently omitted to mention in the contract that the plaintiff's lots were subject to building restrictions was held to be a question of actual intention, and any knowledge of the broker who acted for both parties could not be imputed to the defendant to ascertain his intention.

Rescission of Contract of Sale.

The Minnesota Supreme Court holds, Nelson v. Berkner, 166 N. W. 347, that evidence of fraudulent promissory representations made with no intention to keep them and solely for the purpose of inducing another to enter into a contract may be proven, though at variance with the written contract. But such representations are not grounds for rescission when the written contract, to the promisee's knowledge, reveals the falsity of the promise; for he cannot then be said to have relied thereon in entering into the contract. If, however, such a promise is based upon false representations in respect to existing facts made in connection with the promise it affords a ground for rescinding the contract induced thereby.

Breach of Covenant to Repair.

The Kansas Supreme Court holds that where a landlord has agreed to repair the porch of a dwelling house and fails to do so, a tenant who knows of the defective condition of the porch, and continues to use it for several months, cannot recover damages for a consequent injury, when by a slight outlay he might have remedied the defect and averted the injury, and could have charged such outlay to the landlord against the rent then due and unpaid.—Murrell v. Crawford, 169 Pac. 561.

Discharge of Antecedent Debt.

Although the courts are divided upon the question, the numerical weight of authority is to the effect that the complete satisfaction and discharge of an antecedent debt is a valuable consideration for the conveyance of real property. The Oklahoma Supreme Court, Noe v. Smith, 169 Pac. 1108, considers that the weight of reason is also with that holding. "For the one reason the courts give for holding that an antecedent debt is not a valuable consideration is that the purchaser is placed in no worse position than he was before; that he has parted with nothing of value. But where there is a complete satisfaction and discharge of the debt, that is not true. For there is a marked distinction between taking property in complete satisfaction and discharge of an antecedent debt, and simply taking a mortgage on it to secure an antecedent debt. And a failure of some courts to bear in mind this distinction is responsible for much of the confusion on this question." The court holds that a complete satisfaction and discharge of a pre-existing debt to a partnership is a valuable consideration for the conveyance of real estate to a member of the firm, since the proportion of the sum credited upon the account owned by the other members of the firm is cast upon their member to whom the real estate is conveyed.

Broker's Right to Commissions.

A realty broker was authorized to sell at a minimum price of $32.50 an acre, with the understanding that, if he sold for as much as $35 an acre, he should get a commission of 5 per cent., and if he sold for not less than $33.25 and not exceeding $35 an acre, he should get all in excess of $33.25 per acre. The broker sold for $37.50 an acre, after having endeavored to get away from the original contract when sending his principal a telegram for permission to sell at $32.50. The principal was not deceived into making a new contract, or relinquishing his rights, as he approved the contract of sale, which disclosed the real transaction, on its receipt, safeguarding himself by an accompanying letter, holding the broker to the original agreement as to compensation. The Alabama Supreme Court held, Clay v. Cummins, 77 So. 328, that the broker was entitled to a commission of 5 per cent. under the original agreement, and his principal, not having been misled, and having expressly ratified the sale on condition the broker should be paid as provided by the original agreement, cannot set up that the broker forfeited his right as intending to get from under the original agreement. It was held that the broker was entitled to the commission of 5 per cent. provided in the agreement.

Purchaser's Equitable Interest.

In an action for the specific performance of an oral contract of sale of real estate, with a prayer for relief, it appeared that the plaintiff, the vendee, took possession and made such part performance that the contract was taken out of the statute of frauds. He had an equitable interest. Certain installments of the purchase price were not due. The defendant could not be required to take them in advance of the due date. Therefore the plaintiff, though he had an equitable interest, could not call in the legal title. The defendant repudiated the contract, claimed that the plaintiff had no interest, and that he was the sole owner, free of any claim of the plaintiff. The Minnesota Supreme Court, Porten v. Peterson, 166 N. W. 184, reversing judgment for the defendant, holds that the trial court should have entered judgment, determining the rights of the plaintiff and the defendant in the property; that is, that it should have determined and adjudicated the equitable title of the plaintiff resting upon the defendant's legal title. The default of the plaintiff in making payments when due did not bar him of his equitable interest in the absence of laches or abandonment, or of forfeiture by the affirmative action of the defendant, and under the evidence none of these was present, and strict payment was waived.

Investing Another with Authority.

When an instrument which clothes another with the indicia of title to property is used by him, the equities of innocent purchasers are protected. For where the true owner holds out another or allows him to appear as the owner of, or as having full power of disposition over, the property, and thus leads a third person to do what he would not otherwise have done, the owner will not then be allowed to subject such third person to loss or injury by disappointing the expectations upon which he acted.—Noe v. Smith (Okla.), 169 Pac. 1108.

REAL ESTATE REVIEW OF THE WEEK

Modern Priced Apartment Houses Figure in Sales Reported—Leasing Good With Demand Greater Than Supply—Other Reports

EFLECTING the confidence in the future of New York City real estate at a time when there is little activity in real estate circles is the tendency noted of late by tenants to purchase the buildings they occupy and thus insure themselves a home and a knowledge of just what their expenses are to be no matter how war conditions affect business.

Of late there has been several such transactions reported, and the sales have been made in the downtown section of the city. While there has not by any means been a boom in this direction there has been a healthy market, and it is a matter of record that some very attractive bargains have been acquired by tenants purchasing the buildings they occupy.

A sale reported this week having several interesting sides was that of the seven-story office building at 128 Water street, and 81 and 83 Pine street, covering a lot of 3,000 square feet, with frontages of 23 feet on Water street and 30 feet in Pine street. This property has been sold and resold four times within the past year. The buyer is Arthur H. O'Malley, who purchased it six years ago for $120,000 and then resold it. The latest price is in the neighborhood of $100,000, and the seller was the Markham Realty Company, Clarence W. Eckardt, president. Charles F. Noyes Company negotiated the sale and the two previous sales of the same property. Moderate priced west side apartment house properties figured in the sales of the week, and several such sales are reported. A sale of special interest to realty interests was consummated this week when the property at 217 West 33d street, opposite the Pennsylvania Terminal, converted a few years ago into a high-grade apartment property, was sold by the trustees of the William Lustgarten Company to Isidore Herz, who immediately resold it at a profit to Patrick O'Donnell.

Indicating the transformation from a suburban section into a metropolitan district is the sale this week by the Henry Morgenthau Company to Lappan & Jashnoff of the Hunt's Point Apartment, covering the entire block front on Southern Boulevard, 163d street to Simpson street. The buyers, appreciating the investment features of the property, heightened by the potential future of the surrounding plaza which, with its stations of city subways, the New Haven Railroad, the New York Connecting Railroad and the Westchester & Boston Railroad, become the owners of the largest six-story apartment house in the city of New York.

The house contains 521 rooms, divided into ninety-seven suites, and covers thirteen city lots, the property including a private park in the rear, making a total of twenty-four lots.

Leasing continued good this week, and the various brokers reported the usual number of leases. It is unfortunate but true that there are not enough places to lease to supply the demand, but tact and perseverance on the part of the renting agents resulted in a portion of the demands being complied with. The Charles F. Noyes Company leased to the Coastwise Warehouses, Inc., for the Henry-William Corporation, represented by Goodale, Perry & Dwight, the six-story and basement fire-proof building at 166 and 172 Perry street, running through the block to Charles Lane, and containing about 60,000 square feet of floor space. The aggregate rental is about $150,000, and the lease is for a long term.

Concerning realty conditions in New York at the present time due to the war, Clarence W. Eckardt, president of the Markham Realty Company, said yesterday: "The man who has enough confidence in real estate to invest his money at a time when there is little, if any, demand for it is bound to benefit later on. Real estate conditions today, due to the war, are very unsatisfactory, not because value is not just as good, but rather because there is a certain amount of unrest and, further, because there is no mortgage money to be had. The moneyed men who have been placing their money out on mortgage will not do so at present, and the banks and title companies are taking the same stand. I look for a decided reaction after the war, but at the present time we must be content with holding what we have, or if a bargain presents itself and we have the money to invest do so, realizing that the profit will come later on."

Real Estate interests will note with concern the opinion rendered yesterday by Corporation Counsel Burr in the matter of the application of Baron As-tor for the changing of the zoning law to permit him to erect a business building in a restricted district.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

THE total number of sales reported and not recorded in Manhattan this week was 36 as against 22 last week and 26 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 59th street was 13 as compared with 12 last week and 5 a year ago.

The sales north of 59th street aggregate 23, as compared with 12 last week and 21 a year ago.

From the Bronx 16 sales at private contract were reported as against 14 last week and 13 a year ago.

Statistical table, indicating the number of recorded instruments, will be found on page 739 of this issue.

Sold Four Times in One Year.

Charles F. Noyes Company has resold for all cash, for the Markham Realty Corporation (Clarence W. Eckardt, president), to Arthur H. O'Malley, 128 Water street and 81-83 Pine street, a seven-story office building, covering a lot of 3,000 square feet, with frontages of 23 feet on Water street and 30 feet on Pine street. The building was recently renovated throughout, is 100 per cent. rented, and at rentals of 25 per cent. greater than they were a few months ago. This sale is of particular interest because the property has been sold four times within the past twelve months and three of the sales have been made by the Charles F. Noyes Company. The property was held by the sellers at $100,000, and the transaction is of additional interest because Mr. O'Malley purchased this same property about six years ago for $120,000 and then resold it.

Buys New Dwelling.

Robert J. H. Schwarzenbach, senior member of the silk firm of Schwarzenbach, Huber & Company, purchased the six-story English basement residence at 9 East 62d street, which was sold by Edmund L. Baylies through William B. May & Company. The dwelling was recently built from plans by Harry Allan Jacobs, and is the fourth house in this block reconstructed by Mr. Baylies, all of which he profitably disposed of. The other properties developed by Mr. Baylies are: 12, sold to Malcolm Sloan; 14, sold to Charles H. Sabin, and 16, to Ambrose Monell.

Sale and Quick Resale.

The property at 217 West 33d street, opposite the Pennsylvania Terminal, converted a few years ago by the William Lustgarten Company into a high-grade apartment property, has just figured in two rapid changes of ownership. Trustees for the company sold the property to Isidor Herz, who immediately took a profit on his contract in a resale to Patrick D. McDonnell.

The building is four stories on a lot 20 x 100, containing apartment accommodations of one and two rooms and baths, and yields a yearly rental of $3,500. It has been held at $35,000.

This is the third sale arranged for the Lustgarten Company, whose president, William Lustgarten, disappeared last August, within the past ten days. The other sales were the tenement at 86 Orchard street to William Goldstone, and a similar building at 459 West 26th street to John Regressor.

Bronx Apartment Sold.

The newly completed five-story apartment building at 18 and 20 St. Nicholas Place, about 135 feet north of 150th street, has been sold by the builder, the Sonwil Holding Company, to the William S. Dempsey Realty Company, W. S. Dempsey, president. The building occupies a plot 90 x 100. It is fully tenanted and yields $21,000 in rentals annually.

The Sonwil Holding Company bought the site, which was formerly occupied by dwellings, late in 1916 and subsequently erected the present structure. Samuel Katz, the architect, estimated the cost at $100,000. The property was held at $175,000.

Negotiations in the sale were conducted by the John P. Peel Company, which has been appointed agent of the building by the new owner.

Largest Apartment House Sold.

Hunt's Point Apartment, covering the entire block front on Southern Boulevard, 163d street to Simpson street, has been sold by the Henry Morgenthau Company to Lappan & Jashnoff, represented by Alexander Selkin, as broker, who acquired the property for its investment features, heightened by the potential future of the surrounding plaza, which, with its stations of city subways and the New Haven Railroad, the New York Connecting Railroad and the Westchester and Boston Railroad, gives promise of becoming one of the most important business districts of the borough.

The Hunt's Point, which is a creation of James F. Meehan, who built it under the direction of the Morgenthau company nearly ten years ago, is still the largest six-story elevator apartment house in Greater New York. It contains 521 rooms, divided into ninety-seven suites, and covers thirteen city lots, the property including a private park at the rear of the apartment house, making a total of twenty-four lots.

Bronx Property in Exchange.

Byrne & Baumann and Eugene J. Buscher resold for Gross & Herbener the three-story business building, 25 x 100, on the east side of Courtlandt avenue, 105 feet north of 149th street, to C. J. Carey Construction Company, who gave in part payment 1499 Boone avenue, a three-story, two-family dwelling, 25 x 100. Gross & Herbener acquired the Courtlandt avenue property recently in a trade involving the southwest corner of Decatur avenue and 204th street.

Operator Buys Mercantile Building.

The twelve-story mercantile building at 28 to 32 West 27th street, covering a plot 58.6 by 98.9, between Broadway and Sixth avenue, has been sold by the Sperry & Hutchinson Company to William L. Levy, operator. The property has been held at $400,000. Burton Thompson & Company negotiated the transaction.

Manhattan.South—of 59th Street.

LEONARD ST.—William D. Kilpatrick, as president Nilton Realty Co., sold the former police station property at 19 to 21 Leonard st. on plot 50x91, near West Broadway. The plot contains a 4-sty building, with a small 2-sty house in the rear, and has been held at $45,000.

PEARL ST.—Cammann, Voorhees & Floyd sold for estates of Uriah and Nathan Herrmann the two 5-sty buildings at 80½ and 82 Pearl st. on plot 40x72, near Coenties slip. The sellers have held title since 1872.

The Fuel Administrator has apprised you of the coal situation. Will you have a sufficient supply to take care of yourself and your tenants? Perhaps not. Then you will look to gas for heating, as many thousands did last winter.

See that you have adequate gas piping to which Gas Heaters, Radiators and Gas Steam Radiators may be attached. Gas pipes should run to every room. Those gas pipes that caused trouble last winter should be put in good condition now, before there is a greater scarcity of labor than at present.

RECENT LEASES.

Hotel Belmont Lease Assigned.

The lease of the Hotel Belmont property on Park avenue between 41st and 42d streets was assigned Thursday by the August Belmont Hotel Company to John McE. Bowman and then re-assigned to the B. L. M. Bates Corporation, which will operate the five large hotels at the Grand Central Terminal figuring in the recently reported merger. The original lease made in November, 1906, by the Subway Realty Company to the August Belmont Hotel Company runs for a twenty-year term from Nov. 8 1906, and carried a renewal privilege for a similar period. The B. L. M. Bates Corporation has secured from the Guaranty Trust Company a loan for $2,300,000 in the form of a bond issue on the Hotel Belmont. The mortgage covers the leasehold, furniture and chattels and is to run till 1936, bearing interest at the rate of 6 per cent.

BLISS TALKS

“Contract exterminator service for the entire building gets to the root of the trouble and cures it.”

JACOB LEITNER

In writing to us to the effect, Mr. Leitner evidently appreciates fully the handicap to renting apartments and to keeping tenants, the expense of repainting and repapering disfigured walls, and the unsanitary conditions inevitable when vermin are present. If a building is infested, Bliss Service will clear it. If it is temporarily free, it will keep it free indefinitely. In short, it has become an axiom among the Real Estate fraternity that “Bliss Service Satisfies.” May we give you a demonstration—without charge?

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS, MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES

[Record and Guide Quotations Are Accepted as Official by Building Material Exchanges.]

ALTERATION projects grow in importance and as a type of construction may now be considered second only to the Government work in point of volume and cost. Throughout all parts of the city operations of this character are under way and the current reports from the offices of architects and builders indicate that this phase of building will be most active during the summer and coming autumn.

Structures of almost every description are being altered, modernized and enlarged. The kind of building is considered compatible with the policy of the War Industries Board, as it provides the accommodations that have been needed by business and industry and at the same time utilizes only a small percentage of the structural materials that would be required to construct an entirely new building of equal dimensions and cubic capacity.

Inasmuch as there has been extreme difficulty in obtaining adequate materials for large new operations, while at the same time the demand for office and manufacturing space has been steadily growing in volume and intensity, it is well that owners of old and dilapidated properties have come to a decision to remodel their structures. These owners are assuredly accomplishing an important work for the community in modernizing their properties. Concurrently they are increasing the potential values of their holdings, making them pay dividends instead of barely paying the carrying charges. The sums expended for alterations and repairs are in many instances insignificant when compared with the advanced rentals to be obtained by virtue of comparatively minor alterations and improvements.

Small house building in the outlying sections of the city and also in the suburban districts adjacent is progressing most favorably and while there is not as much of this character of construction current as might be desired, the volume is somewhat in excess of the predictions of last winter when it seemed as though building construction had slumped to a level from which it would require drastic measures to revive it.

The dwellings that are now under construction are sure to be readily disposed of either at rentals paying an excellent return upon the investment or at selling prices that should prove to be an incentive to builders to continue this form of activity just as long as it is possible to obtain materials and men to construct houses. At the present time the demand for living accommodations is strong and by the early autumn season will most likely be considerably in excess of the supply.

Within the boundaries of this city a number of speculative builders have apparently realized their opportunity and are making determined efforts to commence the construction of modern multi-family dwellings. There is an active renting market for all of the accommodations that will be provided between the present time and October 1, and the builders of apartment houses who are foresighted enough to start work now are sure to reap large benefits from their venture. It is now generally conceded by building material producers and dealers that material and construction costs will remain at their existing high level for a long time to come and real estate men are of the opinion that high rentals are likewise with us for an indefinite period.

The markets for building materials and supplies are generally quiet, with but little new business being registered, yet commodity prices are firm and with the advancing tendency that has now been manifest for many months. Common brick from the Hudson River district has sustained a 50c. advance over the wholesale price of last week and the wholesale lumber market has recently announced further increases for a number of grades. Some building materials are almost out of the local market so far as private construction work is concerned, the entire output of the manufacturers being temporarily diverted to the Federal building program that is daily growing in volume, cost and importance to the building industry.

Common Brick.—The wholesale market for Hudson River common brick is dull, and no developments have occurred during the week to change the outlook of the situation. Prices have strengthened somewhat, and the ruling quotations are $10.50 to $11 a thousand. The bulk of sales has been made at the lower figure and the top price obtained for barges for delivery at distant points. At the present time the demand is light, with sales keeping pace with the arrivals from up-river points. Inquiries are infrequent, but the outlook for the future is not obscured by present conditions, and dealers are of the opinion that before long the situation will be materially improved. Manufacturing conditions are unchanged and it is now conceded that the output for the season will be the lightest for many years past.

SUMMARY.—Transactions in the North River brick market for the week ending Friday, June 7, 1918. Condition of market: Demand fair. Prices firmer. Quotations: Hudson River, $10.50 to $11 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 11; sales, 13. Distribution: Manhattan, 5; Brooklyn, 3; New Jersey points, 5.

Face Brick.—Dealers and manufacturers report a fair volume of current business and excellent prospects for the coming months. The chief difficulties are in obtaining necessary fuel and labor to operate their plants and also in getting cars for delivery. Priorities for cars are not given unless commodities are consigned to Federal building operations. Almost all of the face brick producers have recently notified dealers of an increase in price of $3 to $5 a thousand, according to kind and grade.

Lumber.—Wholesale and retail dealers report that the past week has brought no material change in the lumber market situation. The bulk of the business transacted is in timber and lumber designed for Governmental use. Private demand for building purposes is almost negligible, although the outlying sections of the city and nearby suburban sections are demanding a good volume of lumber supplies for use in small dwelling construction. This phase of building activity at the present time is second in importance only to the Federal building program as far as the lumber market is concerned, and the business from this source is expected to hold for some months to come. Manufacturing consumers are in the market in force and undoubtedly would increase their orders if it were possible to be assured of deliveries. The transportation problem is one of paramount importance to the lumber interests and at the present time there seems to be no probability of early improvement. Prices are firm in all grades and with the rising tendency that has been a notable feature of the situation for months past.

Structural Steel.—For the present requirements of fabricated material for private construction are receiving no consideration, as the entire output of the steel mills is diverted to Government use. The demands from the Government for steel to be used for military construction, shipbuilding, munitions and other usages in connection with the prosecution of the conflict will require 100 per cent. of the production for some time to come. To private interests who contemplate the construction of building projects in which structural steel is an important factor the outlook is not of the brightest, and there are quite a number of important structural operations scheduled for erection in the local territory that are being held in abeyance for this reason. According to the present prospects the starting time for these buildings is most indefinite, and it would surprise none if actual construction was postponed until the close of hostilities and the steel situation clarified. Manufacturers of commodities using steel in large quantities are also feeling the effects of the scarcity, and unless manufacturers are producing munitions or other articles essential to the health and welfare of the community their output for the balance of the war will undoubtedly be greatly reduced.

Crushed Limestone.—Although the market is quiet at the present time there is an undercurrent of feeling that activity will be renewed just as soon as the Government decides upon the prices to be paid for crushed stone. This matter is pending now, and as the Federal building operations will require a large percentage of the entire output, crushed stone prices are likely to stiffen. The Government will most likely decide to pay the existing price for its requirements, and if so private consumers will undoubtedly be taxed a price somewhat higher for the limited quantities they will be able to obtain.

Wire Products.—The Government recently distributed to the mills contracts for a total of 50,000 tons of barb wire wanted by England, and an order was also placed for 5,000 tons for France. The demand from private sources for wire and wire nails is heavy, but the mills are devoting their entire output to Government needs, and it will most likely be some time before these commodities are generally released for private consumption. Government control prices dominate all quotations.

Cast Iron Pipe.—The market for this commodity is dull, although there have been some bids recently taken for municipal requirements. Private demand is lacking, and the federal requirements are lighter than they have been for some time. Practically all of the cantonment extensions using this material are now completed. New Government control prices are the basis of current quotations. These are $61.35 for 6-inch, 8-inch and heavier, and $64.35 for 4-inch.

Window Glass.—Trade in both window and plate glass is very quiet, and there are no predictions of an early improvement in the market situation. Glass prices are unchanged, however, and are likely to hold firm for the balance of the season. Although the demand is light, production has been heavily curtailed, keeping a balance between the supply and demand. There is only a slight reserve in the hands of either manufacturers or jobbers.

Sand and Gravel.—The market for these commodities is dull, private business is lacking and Government orders are not up to the volume that was anticipated some time ago, but it is now thought that this phase of activity will shortly improve. Prices for both sand and gravel are unchanged. Gravel supplies are limited, however, to what the dealers have on hand in excess of federal requirements.

Cut Nails.—Although private demand is fairly heavy, the Government is taking approximately 75 per cent. of the mill output, and this percentage is likely to be increased.

Prominent New York Architect Dies.

James Barnes Baker, one of the leading members of the architectural profession in this city, who for a number of years maintained offices in the Presbyterian Building, 156 Fifth avenue, died suddenly at Roosevelt Hospital Monday, June 3. He was fifty-four years of age. Mr. Baker was born in Elizabeth, N. J., in 1864 the son of Henry Martyn and Susan Barnes Baker. After his early studies he entered Lafayette College, where he studied civil engineering, graduating in 1884. During his active career as an architect Mr. Baker designed many buildings of considerable note in this and other cities, among which are included the New York Chamber of Commerce Building, Presbyterian Building, Hanover National Bank, Presbyterian Hospital and others, as well as some of the later structures at Lafayette College. Mr. Baker was an ardent sportsman, and spent considerable of his time in the woods. He was a member of the American Institute of Architects, the Architectural League of New York and the New York Chamber of Commerce and of the Century and University Clubs.

Contract for Country Residence.

The Cauldwell-Wingate Company, 381 Fourth avenue, Manhattan, has obtained a general contract without competition for the erection of a handsome private residence at Oyster Bay, L. I., for William R. Coe, 49 Wall street, owner. The structure will replace the one destroyed by fire early this spring. The plans and specifications for the proposed dwelling will be prepared by Walker & Gillette, architects, 128 East 37th street. Don't Forget About Outlets

Whether remodeling or building brand new it would be well to provide plenty of outlets for electric appliances. Now is the time to do this, when your plans are forming and before construction gets too far under way

More than ever before, tenants are requiring electric devices for office and factory work. The coming months, for example, will see an unprecedented use of electric fans. These and other motor-driven conveniences must be placed as desired and in ample numbers. Outlets, therefore, should be numerous and suitably located

This is no longer a question of frills. It has come instead to be an index of the up-to-dateness and "go" of rentable property. Plan for it now. Our experts will be glad to lend you any assistance

Joint Conference on Subway Strike Today

Board of Estimate and Public Service Commission Will Attempt to Adjust Differences Between Them

THE Board of Estimate and Apportionment yesterday again took up the matter of adjusting, if possible, the situation created by the strike of the subway workers and which has been the subject of numerous communications, conferences and arguments on the part of the Board and the Public Service Commission. A resolution disapproving of the suggestions set forth in a letter from Chairman Straus of the Public Service Commission under date of June 7, and showing a way out of the difficulty was presented for the benefit of the Board and adopted by a unanimous vote.

Comptroller Craig then reiterated his assertion made several times before that the strike is founded on an attempt by the contractors to coerce a cancellation of the contracts now held by the contractors and who seek relief from the city treasury.

Judge Ransom, counsel for the Public Service Commission, refused to go into this phase of the matter, but said that the plan submitted by the Commission under the Lockwood law is the only plan to meet the situation.

"The Board cannot relieve any contractor without invoking the Lockwood law," said Mr. Ransom. "We have submitted propositions which you can call cancellations, modifications or new obligations; they will, if adopted, give relief."

Comptroller Craig stated that he is opposed to the cost-plus plan of completing the subway work and said that he had been informed by a prominent Federal official that the work being done for the Government on the cost-plus basis requires the services of a regiment of inspectors to check up and protect the Government from being mulcted.

President Smith of the Board of Aldermen, replying to a statement by Judge Ransom that a conference between the members of the Board of Estimate and the Public Service Commission could not be arranged, although every effort had been made to bring about such a conference, said:

"If this Board will appoint a committee of three to confer with the Public Service Commission as to the best way to bring about a resumption of the subway work at the earliest possible moment I am sure the problem will be solved. I move that such a committee be appointed and that this Board take a recess until Monday morning to give the committee a chance to report back. There hasn't been a proper spirit of co-operation between the Board of Estimate and the Public Service Commission and that is why we are so situated. I believe we can agree if we will only try."

Judge Ransom replied: "When you can send a committee of this Board to confer with the Public Service Commission you can lock the doors and out of that conference will come a cooperation that will solve the problem and send those men back to work to complete the subways."

President Dowling of the Borough of Manhattan suggested that instead of a committee of three the entire Board go into conference with the members of the Public Service Commission, and this suggestion met the approval of the other members and it was so decided.

The question of holding the conference in public or in executive session was debated, and Mayor Hylan and Comptroller Craig both went on record as opposed to executive sessions, but when Mr. Ransom and Borough President Connelly suggested that the contractors might not like the idea of publicly confessing their financial straits it was finally decided to hold the conference in private and if an agreement was reached then to hold a public hearing.

The conference will take place this morning at 9:30 and at a conference held yesterday afternoon between Corporation Counsel Burr and Judge Ransom the legal aspects of the case were gone into and will be presented at the conference today.

The Board then passed the following:

Resolved, That the Board of Estimate and Apportionment hereby reiterates its approval of the plan presented in the opinion of the Corporation Counsel on June 7, 1918, for the relief of the contractors of subway construction by a speedy settlement and payment of their just claims by the Comptroller; and it is suggested that the Public Service Commission be requested to cooperate with this Board to that end; and that such relief shall be without prejudice to any application that may be made by any contractor under the Lockwood law.

Resolved, That this Board does not favor a general cancellation and annulment of existing subway construction contracts and the release of the sureties on the bonds of such contractors, but that it will consider the claim of any particular contractor for relief because of war conditions when presented by the Public Service Commission with the necessary facts and particulars in the manner heretofore outlined by this Board.

Resolved, That it being the earnest desire of this Board to secure the speedy completion of the subways, that the workmen employed thereon receive just compensation and that the interest of the people should be fully protected, the Board submits this statement of its policy to the earnest consideration of the Public Service Commission and the contractors and invite their cooperation to carry it into effect.

A tie-up of work on the subway costs the city $41,000 a day in interest charges in addition to loss by deterioration of materials and tools.

National Organization of Building Industry

At Informal Meeting of Allied Interests Committee is Appointed to Effect Permanent Organization.

IN an effort to find some plane upon which the construction and building industries of the entire country may lend co-ordinate assistance to the Government during the period of the war, forty representatives of organizations within the industries held an informal meeting, preceded by a luncheon, yesterday in the Engineers' Club, 32 West 40th street.

The gathering was the result of a spontaneous understanding between the business men who have the building industry at heart to assist in an organized way the Government at Washington, in solving the problems which has arisen since the Nation's entry into war.

The meeting was opened by H. H. Murdock, chairman of the Building Industries of New York, who then introduced Allen Walker, of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, who acted as chairman of the meeting. The latter announced at the outset that the meeting was to be entirely informal and that those present came as individuals and not as accredited representatives of the organizations of the building industry to which they are attached.

The keynote of the meeting was to the effect that "the industry must be adjusted to the Government and not the Government to the industry." The sentiment was voiced that in the past the various organizations represented in the building industries had been obliged to act singly in matters affecting their particular interests, and that now the time had arrived when united effort should be made in order that the best results might be accomplished.

At the outset of the meeting a letter was read from Harry A. Wheeler, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, in which he expressed himself as being in hearty accord with the aims and purposes outlined by the Building Industries of New York in its efforts to coordinate the various organizations in the building industry.

Chairman Walker, after his opening address, stated that the aim of the meeting was to outline a plan of organization, which will give fullest representation to all branches of the industry, including the material, engineering, architectural, and contracting branches. This plan, he said, is aimed to insure the widest constituency and most equitable adjustment of suffrage, to the end that this industry may have a clearing house through which interchange of knowledge may be readily effected, and that it may be able to speak for the welfare of the industry as a whole.

The first speaker was W. B. King, of Washington, D. C., counsel for the National Association of Builders' Exchanges, who voiced the sentiment that each industry would best serve the Government if it were organized on a nation-wide basis with complete representation of all members of the industry. With this object in view he introduced the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

"WHEREAS, the national interests demand that the industries of the entire country shall be so organized upon a national basis as to render the greatest possible aid to the Government in the prosecution of the war in the most efficient manner to its earliest possible conclusion, and

"WHEREAS, it is of national importance that every industry shall, as far as is consistent with the vigorous prosecution of the war, continue to contribute to the increase of the national wealth, and

"WHEREAS, it is desirable in the public interest that at the close of the war there shall be a revival of normal business activity at the earliest possible date,

"BE IT RESOLVED, That the Chairman be empowered to appoint a committee of eleven on the National Organization of the Building Industry. Said Committee shall prepare an outlined plan for a proposed national organization of the building industry for the primary purpose of placing its resources at the disposition of the Government so as to render the greatest possible aid in prosecuting the war to a successful conclusion, and for the secondary purpose of continuing during the war the production of permanent wealth to the largest extent practicable in view of war needs and of conserving the organization of the building industry in such manner that, upon the return of peace, the industry may be prepared as soon as possible to resume its normal activity.

"For effecting these purposes the committee is authorized to confer with officers of the United States Government, to correspond with all constituent members of the building industry, and to act otherwise as may seem best in their discretion.

"The committee shall report its plan when drafted for the action of a general conference of the building industry, consisting of those here present and others interested, to be summoned at an early date, to be fixed by the committee."

Following the adoption of the foregoing resolutions brief addresses were made by Allen Walker of the United States Chamber of Commerce; W. R. Messenger, Executive Secretary of Building Industries of New York; Rudolph P. Miller, C. A. Fullerton, C. J. Curtin, George S. Bartlett and Franklin T. Miller. Each of these speakers voiced the sentiment that the federation of the building industries was particularly to be desired at this time, and active moral and financial support was promised.

The chairman then announced the following organization committee: F. H. Chapin, of Cleveland, Ohio, vice-president of the Hydraulic Press Brick Company; A. M. Maddock, Trenton, N. J., president of Thomas Maddock's Sons Company; W. D. Baldwin, Otis Elevator Company, New York City; W. H. Powell, Atlantic Terra Cotto Company, New York City; George F. Lindsey, Minneapolis, Minn., White Pine Bureau; F. T. Miller, F. W. Dodge Company, New York City; B. F. Affleck, Chicago, Ill., president of the Portland Cement Association; Colonel J. R. Wiggins, Philadelphia, Pa., president of the National Association of Builders' Exchanges, and H. H. Murdoch, chairman of the Board of Directors of the Building Industries of New York.

The meeting was adjourned subject to the call of the chairman, and this will depend upon the organization committee.

ONE of the most troublesome obstacles to the prosecution of needed construction by private interests is the fact that building material and labor costs have advanced until the cost of the finished structure at the present time is far greater than it was in normal times.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics classifies 292 commodities into various groups. This is perhaps the most comprehensive index that has been attempted. It is therefore thoroughly reliable, being weighed according to the relative importance of the commodities included. Over the period from 1913-1917 the general average of increase was 75 per cent. for these 292 commodities.

Banks, Trust Companies, Department Stores, Office Buildings and Hotels Cluster Near Transportation Centre

By ALBERT B. ASHFORTH.

IN considering a subject of this nature naturally the first question that arises is: What was the primary cause for the growth of the 42d street section? It might be truly said that the great stimulus given to this section within the past decade has been largely due to the extensive adaptation of electricity to all forms of transit facilities.

Twenty years ago 42d street was considered quite a prominent street, and it was predicted by many that it would soon rival 23d street. Upon what grounds was this prediction based? Why should this district develop to a greater extent than any other district? We had the old Grand Central Depot, the cross-town trolley cars, all of the elevated roads were running. What, then, would happen to create the enormous activity now in this district? Unless I am greatly mistaken to no small degree it was an accident.

Some eighteen or twenty years ago an engineer on a New York, New Haven & Hartford train, in testifying in court as to the cause of an accident in the New York Central tunnel, said that the steam and smoke from his engine obscured and completely hid the signal, resulting in the death of a number of commuters. If my memory serves me correctly the New York Central officials were contemplating improving the terminal facilities of the then Grand Central Depot. I think an investigation would show that the officials determined, as a result of the above mentioned accident, to electrify the lines leading into the proposed new Grand Central Terminal, and in order to accomplish this almost impossible task they enlarged their plans with the idea of making the entire surrounding section of the terminal one of the finest developments in the world.

Their plans embraced the erection of one or two of the finest hotels in the country, together with three or four office buildings, as well as sites for the best class of apartments on Park and Vanderbilt avenues. This was all going on while the New York Rapid Transit Commission were framing the laws in Albany for the construction of the present subway. Within a short space of time after the erection of the high-class buildings referred to and the starting of the construction of the new Grand Central Terminal a few wise builders were able to read the future and purchased the southwest corner of Madison avenue and 42d street, announcing at that time that they would erect a twenty-story office building. This announcement caused no little discussion among real estate men and the public in general, it being considered very doubtful whether it was a wise venture; and the question was asked on all sides: Where would the tenants come from to occupy this twenty-story building?

The Rapid Transit Commission soon discovered that it was necessary to purchase the site of the Hotel Belmont in order to complete the subway at this point. After the trains were running—or, to be exact, probably a year before the trains were running—the question arose what to do with this site, and the wise officials of the Interborough Railway decided to improve it with a hotel, the success of which needs no comment.

But what has all this to do with "electricity"? Just this: By electrifying the lines of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, as well as the Central, it greatly increased traffic. The only practical way to run the subway was by electricity. This also had a tendency to bring the crowd to 42d street.

As soon as the different improvements mentioned above were completed it was no time before the public realized the enormous advantages of locating in or around the Grand Central Terminal, hence the builders of the 42d Street Building had no trouble in finding tenants. Large dry goods firms, such as Stern Brothers, Lord & Taylor, Vantine's, Arnold Constable, decided that the logical place for their establishments would be between the Pennsylvania zone and the Grand Central Depot, which is another cause for the growth of the 42d street district. In connection with the erection of the new terminal the Central officials also erected the now famous Hotel Biltmore, which, upon completion, immediately commenced to enjoy phenomenal success, chiefly because of its location. The success of this probably led Mr. John McE. Bowman to recently purchase or lease five hotels in the immediate vicinity of the Grand Central Terminal—viz., the Murray Hill, the Belmont, the Manhattan, the Biltmore and the new Commodore, at Lexington avenue and 42d street, all under his able management; another cause for the growth of the 42d street district.

The success of the 42d Street Building at Madison avenue more than likely influenced Mr. August Heckscher to secure the southeast corner of Madison avenue and 42d street, upon which he has erected the thirty-story office building, now 100 per cent. rented—another cause for the growth of the 42d street section.

The success of one building after another soon led some of the large institutions to either purchase completed buildings or lease property upon which to erect large office buildings. This is true with the Bankers' Trust Company, at Fifth avenue and 42d street; the Postal Life Insurance Company, at Fifth avenue and 43d street; the new Rogers Peet building, at Fifth avenue and 41st street; the Abercrombie & Fitch building, at Madison avenue and 45th street; Brooks Brothers' new building, at Madison avenue and 44th street; the Aeolian Building, and so on.

The question arises: Would the railroad lines have developed to the wonderful extent that they have without the use of electricity? Would the subways have been a success were it not for electricity? Would the large office buildings be a success were it not for electricity, both in elevator carrying capacity and in the artificial light? Would the surface and elevated lines be capable of carrying nearly one hundred million people a day were it not for electricity? Therefore the fundamental cause for the development of the 42d street section can be attributed primarily to the use of "electricity."

The growth of this district has been gradual, and one by one several of the large institutions have located in this district, such as the Guaranty Trust Company, the National City Company, the Fifth Avenue Bank, the Bankers' Trust Company, the Corn Exchange Bank, Equitable Trust Company, the Bryant National Bank, and Central Trust Company, and several other banks.

The main cause for this wonderful growth has been the enormous scale upon which the New York Central officials have developed the section from 42d street to

Say Banking Loans Will Follow Six Cent Fare

Financiers Tell Chairman Harding, of the War Finance Corporation, How Public Utility Companies May Be Helped

THE six-cent fare proposition received direct encouragement at the meeting this week in New York City of W. P. G. Harding, chairman of the $500,000,000 War Finance Corporation, and three of his associates, with a number of prominent city bankers.

The conference was called primarily to obtain the views of local bankers relative to the section of the war finance corporation act which states that advances to corporations desiring loans would only be made when the notes or securities of the said corporation are endorsed by banks, bankers or trust companies, unless exceptional conditions warrant loans directly from the War Finance Corporation.

The requirements of the law are not satisfactory to the bankers, who pointed out that for them to endorse the notes of a corporation obtaining relief from the War Finance Corporation would be the equivalent to incurring a contingent liability, and for that reason they do not consider it sound banking.

To relieve the public utility companies under the existing laws the proposition was advanced that the public utility companies take steps to obtain permission to increase their rates so that their revenue might be increased and their credit standing bettered to the point where banks and bankers would be more likely to undertake to finance them.

Mr. Harding issued the following statement after the meeting:

"A meeting of the board of directors of the War Finance Corporation was held at the Sub-Treasury this morning. A number of prominent bankers were present for the purpose of discussing the operations of the corporation in connection with the financial institutions of the country. The discussion of any specific cases was merely incidental to the discussion of the general principles involved. No definite conclusions were reached, and the board of directors of the corporation has no announcement to make at this time."

Mr. Harding quoted the act in respect to the making of direct advances to business concerns, and said that the United Railways Company of St. Louis, which obtained a loan of $3,235,000 for six months at 7 per cent., was an "exceptional case," as defined by the act. Mr. Harding admitted that the St. Louis concern could have obtained the funds it required from the regular banking channels. He referred to the fact that part of the collateral consisted of $800,000 of 3½ per cent. Liberty Loan bonds.

Mr. Harding indicated that the advance made to the St. Louis concern was in the nature of a test case.

The conference was attended by Directors W. P. G. Harding, Eugene Meyer, Jr., Clifford M. Leonard and Angus W. McLean of the War Finance Corporation, Secretary McAdoo, the chairman, being the only absent member of the board.

The twelve New York bankers who attended the meeting were: J. P. Morgan and Thomas W. Lamont, of J. P. Morgan & Company; Jerome J. Hanauer, of Kuhn, Loeb & Company; Charles E. Mitchell, of the National City Company; Frederick Strauss, of J. & W. Seligman & Company; James S. Alexander, of the National Bank of Commerce; Walter E. Frew, of the Corn Exchange Bank; Francis L. Hine, of the First National Bank; Gates W. McGarrah, of the Mechanics and Metals National Bank; Seward Prosser, of the Bankers' Trust Company; Charles H. Sabin, of the Guaranty Trust Company, and Albert H. Wiggin, of the Chase National Bank.

Formulating Torrens Law Procedure

THE Recording Officers of Greater New York met the presiding Justice of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, Hon. John Proctor Clarke, with a view to carrying out the provision of the Torrens Law, over which the court has control.

It is provided in the law that there shall be a "Title Part" of the Supreme Court, where all titles to be registered under the Torrens Law are to be adjudicated. The Recording Officers requested that a particular judge be designated to take up the Torrens titles exclusively, in addition to his other duties, until such time as enough titles were presented to the court to make it necessary to designate a Supreme Court judge for the sole purpose of taking up Torrens titles, very much on the same principle as in Massachusetts, where they have a land court exclusively for this purpose. The justice also took under advisement amendments to the general rules so as to apply them to the requirements of the Torrens amendments.

A sub-committee of the Recording Officers also met to decide upon uniform petitions and such other forms used in the examination of titles under the Torrens Law so that in each county of the greater city there will be uniformity in the forms and procedure.

49th street. Such buildings as the Yale Club, the Vanderbilt Concourse, the Grand Central Palace, coupled with two or three hotels above mentioned, have attracted the public to this busy section.

Another cause for future development of this section will be the completion of the McAdoo tube to the Grand Central Terminal, which will increase the traffic in the 42d street section materially.

As to the prospect of the 42d street district, it can readily be seen that it will not be very long after peace is declared and conditions become normal that the development will continue at a pace almost unheard of.

The demand for space now in this section is unprecedented. Every large building that has been completed has been fully rented before it was practically ready for the tenants. The Equitable Trust Building, at Madison avenue and 45th street, recently completed, is 100 per cent. rented, and the Vanderbilt Concourse has been so for nearly the past two years. All of the 42d street buildings have also enjoyed this prosperity, to say nothing of the large office buildings on Madison and Fifth avenues, such as the Bankers' Trust Building, the Harriman National Bank, 501 Fifth avenue; the Rogers Peet Building, the Knox Building, and all of the twelve-story, modern buildings on the adjacent streets, between Sixth and Madison avenues.

The completion of the "H" form of the subway, which is to be in operation on the fifteenth of next month, will also have a tendency to draw the public to the 42d street section. The opening of the Queensborough tunnel at 42d street to Long Island has also been a contributory cause of the development of 42d street, and will continue to give impetus to the future developments of this section. Upon the completion of all of these lines of transit it can readily be seen that from any point within the radius of ten to fifteen miles of the Grand Central Terminal, including New Jersey, the public can reach, within a remarkably short space of time, this hub or new center of Greater New York.

Practically all of the subways, surface and elevated lines of Greater New York converge or pass through the 42d street district, which undoubtedly will greatly add to the future development of this section of New York; in fact, it more than likely will cause this section to be one of the, if not the, busiest centers of the city.

It probably is no exaggeration to say that no section of any city in the world possesses a brighter future for enhancements of values of real estate and greater business activity than the 42d street district.

Realty Board's Suggestions to Mayor Hylan

Replies to His Request for Cooperation or Criticism of His Administration or of Any City Department

THE Real Estate Board of New York has sent to Mayor Hylan the following letter in reply to his invitation for cooperation by way of suggestion or criticism of his administration or any of the departments under his jurisdiction:

"The Real Estate Board of New York begs to acknowledge receipt of yours of the 1st instant, addressed to the President of the Board, inviting its cooperation by the way of suggestion or criticism of your administration or any of the departments under your jurisdiction.

"It has been the policy of this Board for a number of years past to present to the administration, or individual members of it, from time to time, criticisms or suggestions meant to be helpful both to the city and to the taxpayers.

"Nevertheless the Real Estate Board is gratified to know that it is now specifically invited to cooperate with your administration in working out the very grave problems which confront the administration and the taxpayers of New York City.

"It is, of course, quite impossible to take up seriously, in a single letter, the current problems of the city government. This Board proposes, from time to time, to make such suggestions or criticisms as you have invited on various phases of the city administration as they may affect real estate.

"In the meantime we call your attention briefly to certain outstanding facts which taxpayers now, more than ever, are profoundly concerned. These are:

"1. The absolute necessity for the most rigid economy in view of the condition of the city's finances. The 1918 city budget of $238,000,000 necessitates a tax rate so high as not only to be of grave burden to real estate owners, but to make it impossible for many of them to pay their taxes. This is a serious matter for the city; and unless the most rigid economy is exercised the budget of 1919 will exceed that of 1918 by several millions of dollars.

"2. If the tax rate is materially increased in 1919 it will at least reach and perhaps will pass beyond the constitutional limit of two per cent. exclusive of the debt service. You will appreciate what a very serious situation this would create.

"3. It is absolutely necessary that the most careful attention should be given to the valuation of real estate for the purpose of taxation. This is necessary not only to avoid inequalities as between properties of like value, but to secure an equitable assessment in the aggregate of all properties in the city. It is a conviction among well-informed persons that such property is largely over valued. This results not only in injustice to the taxpayers, but in creating a false conception of the value of the city's taxables.

"4. It is improbable that new sources of revenue can be found from which taxes in any large amount can be secured, but it should be one of the first duties of the administration to seek out such sources and to secure the tax derivable from them.

"5. It has been demonstrated that a personalty tax as high as the real estate tax cannot be collected and it is futile to try to collect it, but

"6. The city administration should cooperate with the Real Estate Board in renewing its efforts, as it will do, to secure legislation for a fixed tax rate on real estate and for a tax on personalty low enough to be collectable, but large enough to secure adequate revenue.

"7. There appears to be grave danger of the city drifting into a socialistic policy. Signs of this are already apparent in the ice, food and salary increase campaigns now in progress, and the desire for municipal ownership. It should be the duty of the city administration to administer the functions of the city government impartially to all citizens and to provide charity only for those who are the legitimate objects of charity.

"These suggestions, which are to be taken as tentatively indicating the interest of the Real Estate Board in these important matters, would be applicable at any time; but you will realize their unusual importance now when the country is engaged in a world war which places abnormal burdens upon the citizens. However willingly these burdens may be accepted it is plain that every care ought to be taken to so administer the affairs of the city that these burdens be not unnecessarily aggravated."

Titles Valid on Act of One Executor

ACASE of considerable importance to real estate interests has just been decided by the Court of Appeals. The question involved affected the title to some thirteen parcels of improved land on the upper west side of Manhattan. The action just decided was a test case, which was defended by the Title Guaranty and Trust Company, who had insured some of the titles.

The action was brought by Josephine R. Striker, as guardian ad litem of her infant son, Joseph M. L. Striker. Her claim was that the property had been, without authority, conveyed by her husband, Elsworth L. Striker, who died in the city of New York in 1912.

It seems that the father of Elsworth L. Striker left a large estate, including the property in question, and left a will whereby he appointed his son Elsworth and a friend, one George C. Miller, executors and trustees of his estate. Both the executors qualified, and Miller thereafter resigned. The power of sale, granted to both executors, was thereafter executed by Elsworth alone, he, under the will, being entitled only to the net income of the property during his life. It was the plaintiff's claim that Miller's resignation had been brought about by fraud and collusion so as to permit the other executor to convey the property and receive the proceeds and money which should have been kept for the benefit of the children.

The claim of the defendant, the present owner of the property, was that, since the will had given the power of sale to both executors and one of them had resigned, the other executor had full power to dispose of the property. This view has been sustained by the Court of Appeals. Judge Andrews, who wrote the opinion in the Court of Appeals, sustained the title of the present holders of the property upon the ground that by the will a trust was created and that the power of sale being a mere incident in the carrying out of this trust was validly executed by the remaining executor after the resignation of the other one.

The decision just rendered disposes of several other pending actions which were held in abeyance until this case could be finally decided.

The various owners who had received their titles through Elsworth L. Striker were fortunate in the fact that some of the titles had been insured by a title guaranty company, otherwise it would have been necessary for them to have defended the actions against them. As it was they were able to wait until the title company had won one of its suits and the other claims fell to the ground.

SEVERAL important developments in the building material situation have transpired recently. The order of Director General McAdoo advancing freight rates 25 per cent. on all freight is one of these. While complete details of this freight regulation are not yet in hand, maximum increases have been established on various classes of commodities. Lumber, for instance, takes a maximum increase of 5c. per cwt. and basing calculations on approximately 25 hundred pounds to the thousand feet of lumber, this would make the maximum increase $1.25 per thousand feet.

Next Winter's Coal Supply—Just What to Expect

Program of Distribution of Anthracite Authorized by the United States Fuel Administration—New York's Portion Increased

REAL ESTATE MEN will be particularly interested in the announcements of the plans of the United States Fuel Administration for the regulation of the coal supply for the coming Winter. Private individuals and owners of apartment houses in this city, as well as owners and managers of office buildings, are more interested in the anthracite supply than in the amount of bituminous coal in sight.

The Anthracite Committee of the Federal Fuel Administration, composed of Joseph B. Dickson, S. D. Warriener and W. J. Richards, has sent out a statement of the program, through the secretary, William T. Grier. Before doing this a close study of the situation as to production and distribution of anthracite was made and the definite plan for the control of the problem until next Spring was laid before Dr. Garfield and approved by him.

In the statement is the following:

"Certain basic conditions must be correctly understood. They stand as stern facts. We are in war times. In consequence, anthracite and fuel of all kinds are in such demand as never before. They are new demands of imperative kind for anthracite. At the same time the war, directly through the army draft and in less direct but even larger ways, has drawn down the anthracite mine-workers army from 177,000 to now about 145,000 in number. There is going on a further reduction in the force, which, already down to a point where it restricts the production of coal, is most threatening.

"The present coal year started with absolutely no carried over stocks of anthracite. Consequently the demands, to the utmost extent that they can be supplied, have got to be met out of the current production. With labor short, as it is, it will be difficult to get out materially more coal than the maximum amount which was shipped last year and which then proved to be insufficient to meet every need throughout the country.

"The anthracite industry is working now with full knowledge that every ton of coal that can be produced between now and next spring will be needed. It recognizes an urgent necessity not only to get out the greatest amount of anthracite, but to exert every effort and to utilize every process to increase to the maximum the quantity which can be used in domestic consumption. To accomplish this, it is necessary to recover and carry into the product, all coal that can be used in domestic service. It is highly important, and, under the circumstances, necessary, if the American people are to have sufficient anthracite next Winter, that the available labor power shall be increased both in volume and effectiveness.

"As the problem presents itself it is actually a case of cutting the coat to suit the cloth. It is also a matter of give and take between anthracite and bituminous. The war and its requirements compels this and demands conservation and sacrifices in use of coal as they are being made by the American people now in every way.

"It should be understood everywhere and by all that anthracite must be used carefully, that its waste or needless use by some will entail a shortage and suffering for others.

"The Anthracite Committee has gone over the whole problem of fuel supply and distribution in conference with the U. S. Fuel Administrator. Those in charge of the bituminous distribution, who have an equally difficult problem, have also been consulted. Both must be worked out together to best uphold the public interest. To meet the war needs compels use of very considerable anthracite in place of bituminous. This has been arranged through undertakings to substitute bituminous wherever it can be used.

"Upon such basis of cooperation, which entails not only readjustments in the country's fuel supply as between sections and uses, but a new balance as between anthracite and bituminous, domestic sizes of anthracite will be distributed during the coal year, which runs until April 1 next. This distribution and arrangement has the approval of Dr. Garfield, United States Fuel Administrator. The following allotments will be made under it:

"1. It is closely figured that a total of 54,345,783 tons of anthracite of domestic sizes will be available for distribution to consumers during the period. Such amount will be an increase of 2,668,323 tons, or more than 5 per cent. over the actual distribution for the coal year 1916-1917.

"2. Distribution to New England and Atlantic States will be very materially increased to meet the greater requirements of their expanded population. It is to be noted that the greater needs in these States for domestic fuel are not in full proportion to the larger population, for the reason that the average number of people per house, particularly among industrial workers, has increased so that the additional houses to be warmed are not as many as might be expected.

"3. Government requisitions for anthracite to be supplied the army and navy, and to war industries and utilities which require it, will be fully met.

"4. To make possible such necessary increased distribution upon Government orders and through those sections of the country where the people are dependent upon anthracite for heating and cooking there is no alternative but to curtail shipments to other States and to bar anthracite entirely from many more where it has been used but in which bituminous and other fuels can be procured and substituted.

"Comparing with the coal year 1916-17 the above works out as follows:

	Tons.
Increased production	2,668,323
Curtailement in distribution.....	2,202,288
Gain from barred sections.....	765,931
Total gained	5,636,542
Less Army and Navy.....	600,000
New balance available.....	5,036,542

"Such available freed balance is allotted to increase the distribution of domestic anthracite among the New England and Atlantic States. It enables an increase of 1,497,621 tons, or 17 per cent., in the total amount to go to New England, and of 3,538,921 tons, or 13 per cent., in the amount for the Atlantic States.

"Fuel Administrators of the six New England States figured the probable demand of 10,699,400 tons for domestic requirements. The allotment made by the Anthracite Committee is 10,331,000 tons of domestic sizes for all purposes.

"Fuel Administrators of the Atlantic States—New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia—asked for a total of 33,413,621 tons for domestic requirements. To the Atlantic States the allotments by the Committee total 31,417,154 tons of domestic sizes for all purposes.

"Such increased allotments to New England and the Atlantic States are made with regard to their necessities—the larger population which the war has concentrated in such sections, their essential dependence upon anthracite, and the virtual impossibility of getting bituminous for their needs. Shipments to the full amounts of the allotments are dependent upon the expected output of domestic sizes being reached.

"It must be understood that these allotments to New England and the Atlantic States represent absolutely the maximum amounts which can be given without grave injustice to people elsewhere in the United States and Canada who require anthracite in substantial amounts.

"The Anthracite Committee states further that should it be possible to gain any anthracite out of the nearly 2,500,000 tons used by the railroads for fuel, or to expand the total production above the 54,345,783 tons of domestic coal estimated as the output for the year, such gained coal will be distributed to increase the allotments as now fixed for the Central and Northwest States, which, as it stands, are called upon to make large sacrifice from their accustomed pre-war supply of anthracite."

Compared with the actual distribution for the coal year 1916-17, both by States and groups of States, the allotment of domestic anthracite for all purposes for the cur-

To Regulate Fuel, Transportation and Labor

War Industries Board, Fuel Administration and Railroad Administration Unite on Program for Eastern District

A PROGRAM to aid in co-ordinating the fuel transportation and labor problems in the East by regulating the expansion of industries engaged in war work within a restricted area, which includes many of the great manufacturing centers of the New England states, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland, was announced this week in a joint statement by the War Industries Board and the fuel and railroad administrations.

An official statement issued through the fuel administration reads:

"The following is authorized by the War Industries Board, the United States Fuel Administration and the United States Railroad Administration:

"A policy has been adopted and made effective for preventing further increase in the volume of war orders and the number of establishments handling them in the area known as the congested manufacturing and transportation district. This district comprises the New England states, Eastern and Southern New York, Pennsylvania as far west as Williamsport and Altoona, all of New Jersey and Delaware and Eastern Maryland, not including Baltimore.

"Exceptions to this policy will be made only if unavoidable through inability otherwise to provide for war needs.

"The congested district comprises those eastern states in which so large a proportion of war industries is located as to make it difficult to supply all with necessary raw material and fuel. This difficulty obtains because coal for those industries is mined in the territory west of the Allegheny Mountains. It must be carried into this congested district by a limited number of railway lines and by ships from Hampton Roads and Baltimore.

"The amount of coal, therefore, which can be transported into this congested area during any one season is limited and is an entirely separate problem from the production of coal. However much coal is mined in Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio, only so much is available for this congested district as the railroads and ships can transport into it.

"A careful analysis of the possible coal movement shows that the increased industrial activity in those eastern states has created a requirement for coal which exceeds the limit of possible transportation of coal, plus necessary materials for manufacture."

Because of the great demand for materials, fuel and labor for the war industries expansion of the less essential industries was limited some time ago, and curtailment in that direction is being put into effect. The new program will place the Government in position to dictate the activities of plants producing war supplies. The establishment of new industries in the zone may be prohibited.

New York City is included in the restricted area. Only the industries in the extreme southern and eastern section of the state are affected. A map will be published soon, giving the boundaries of the entire restricted area in detail. It is stated that industries producing about 90 per cent. of the war supplies are brought within the restrictions made.

Statements have been issued on numerous occasions by the fuel administration that radical curtailment was proposed and that many industries must not expect a full allotment of coal. An official announcement shows that the results accomplished were as follows:

"Fuel-saving work already done by the Conservation Bureau to June 1, 1918:

"Clay products and sanitary ware, window glass, boxboard.

"Temporary arrangements with automobile industry, brewers, piano manufacturers.

"Lightless nights.

"Skip-stop (electricity).

"Centralization of power plants.

"Economy in steam plants.

"Economy by domestic consumers."

Control in the future of all coal delivery priorities by the War Industries Board was announced yesterday in a joint statement by the Board and the Fuel Administration. A new priority list issued with the statement does not differ materially from the list in force since the shutdown order last winter.

Preference in deliveries will be given in the following order:

Railroads, army and navy, and other departments of the Government, State, and county departments and institutions, public utilities, retail dealers, manufacturing plants on the War Industries Board's preference list and those not included on the Board's list.

Next Winter's Coal Supply—Just What to Expect

rent coal year as made and now publicly announced by the Anthracite Committee is as follows:

The allotment for New York, New Jersey and the New England States of domestic anthracite for all purposes for the current coal year compared with coal year 1916-1917 is as follows:

	1916-1917 Distribution (Gross Tons)	Allotment 1918-1919 (Gross Tons)	Increase Per Ct.
Maine	556,683	660,000	18.56
New Hampshire.....	314,945	375,000	19.07
Vermont	316,850	330,000	4.15
Massachusetts	9,027,993	5,689,000	13.15
Rhode Island.....	664,008	800,300	20.53
Connecticut	1,952,900	2,476,700	26.82
New York	14,169,809	15,855,300	11.89
New Jersey	4,961,622	5,460,784	10.04
Totals	27,964,810	31,647,084	13.16

The statement adds:

"With this statement of the situation and announcement of the measures which will be pursued to meet it, the Anthracite Committee is conscious that the plan can not be successful under the circumstances—labor shortage, consequent inability to much increase production of anthracite and unusual demands for it—unless there shall be earnest and active cooperation by all concerned. This means by State and local fuel administrations, dealers and consumers, each and all of whom must help to see that anthracite is confined to its most essential uses and that in consumption it shall be conserved and made to go as far as possible.

"Otherwise there will be a shortage of anthracite next winter which no human power can then supply. The anthracite industry and this committee can meet the big problem only with general support and cooperation. In other lines of business, in these abnormal times, no one expects to get all he wants and just when he wants it. There is today a shortage of steel, of copper, of rubber, of wheat, of flour, of a hundred and one things.

"Anthracite is not an exception, but with due public consideration of the facts surrounding its supply and distribution, this committee believes that all actual needs for it can be supplied."

The allotment for the whole country follows:

	1916-1917 Distribution (Gross Tons)	Allotment 1918-1919 (Gross Tons)	Increase Per Ct.	Decrease Per Ct.
New England States.....	8,833,379	10,331,000	16.95

An Injustice Which Should Be Remedied Promptly.

Much favorable sentiment has been created by the suggestion of Mr. Frank A. Munsey, owner of the "Sun," that New York's splendid police force be better paid. Mr. Munsey the other day addressed to the citizens of New York an open letter, in which he expressed certainty they were not aware of the fact that their police force is on a "starvation wage." He presented various facts calculated to arouse thinking people, and subsequent developments show that he has succeeded.

Mr. Munsey pointed out the fact that the wages of a New York policeman have been advanced but once in twenty-four years. A policeman gets $1,050 a year during his first three years of service, and out of that he has to pay from $300 to $350 for his equipment in the first year and half as much more each year thereafter. In his service on the force a patrolman advances gradually from $1,050 to $1,500 a year, but this latter amount is the limit.

"It is certain," Mr. Munsey states in his open letter to citizens, "that few of you have had any conception of the facts as set forth herein concerning the wages you are paying your policemen, or know that out of their wages they have had and still have to buy their own uniforms, their bedding, rubber coats, boots, revolvers, and all other special equipment. The city of New York supplies them with nothing but a shield, a key and a book of rules."

Mr. Munsey offers the further timely reminder that "the police of New York are carrying heavy responsibilities in these war times—heavier than the police of inland cities, far away from the dangers of the Hun guns. Moreover, New York is a world city, vast in size, and is the abode of many nationalities, not all of whom are fully imbued with the American spirit. You must therefore get behind your police and protect them from starvation, even as they are watching out for your safety and stand between you and many dangers."

Numerous prominent citizens have adopted Mr. Munsey's suggestion, and publicly favor better pay for the New York police. The Board of Aldermen has adopted a resolution urging an increase, and a vast amount of public sentiment is now back of the idea. The Board of Estimate and Apportionment should act promptly. The injustice from which the members of the force have suffered should be ended at the earliest possible time.

Taxpayers properly have a keen interest in every suggestion for the increase of public expenses, but the Record and Guide is convinced there are few taxpayers in New York City who do not favor adequate wages for the uniformed men who are performing their work so exceedingly well. Certainly the city officials can find ways of saving the taxpayers' money in other directions if they apply themselves diligently to the task. Let them cut off some of the useless expenditures and give to the police force, as perhaps they should also to the men on the Fire Department, wages sufficient to meet the increased living expenses of the protectors of life and property in the metropolis.

The Party of the First Part.

Why is it that when such a controversy comes up as the subway construction strike so few give heed to the interests of the principal party affected by the controversy—namely, the people of the city of New York?

Since last Monday the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, the Public Service Commission, interested contractors and the striking workmen have had the center of the stage. A regular cross-fire of pronouncements, denials and ultimatums has been heard, all calculated to try the patience of thinking citizens.

When the recent Legislature passed the Lockwood Bill, which was approved by Mayor Hylan and signed by Governor Whitman, the public was led to believe that all obstacles to the prompt completion of the new subways had been removed. Far from such being the case, the week's developments have shown that serious delays in these important undertakings are yet possible.

The average citizen, it may fairly be assumed, still adheres to the simple theory that the only way to build subways is to build them. The public has too much at stake in this matter to look on patiently while various officials quarrel among themselves as to the best method of meeting unforeseen conditions created by the war.

When it comes to such a vital matter as subway construction the public is the party of the first part, and its interests should be considered first.

Long Rides and Short Fares.

When the last issue of the Record and Guide went to press the plan was to increase to ten cents passenger fares on the Hudson tubes, and it was pointed out in these columns that the establishment of these higher fares should bring home to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment the merit of the demand for higher fares on the transportation lines in Greater New York.

It was subsequently decided from Washington that a ten-cent fare for local passengers on the Hudson tubes should not be put into effect at this time. The fare between New York and Newark, however, was placed at twenty-five cents to correspond with the rate of three cents a mile which prevails on the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Newark lies nine miles distant from New York City. If the Newark rate now prevailing on the Hudson tubes should be applied to passengers using the subway, elevated or surface lines of Manhattan and the Bronx a very great increase in fares would result. For five cents a passenger may now ride $17\frac{1}{2}$ miles in the Broadway subway and 23 miles in the Bronx Park subway. A nickel fare carries a passenger nearly 14 miles on the Second and Third Avenue "L" and 10 miles on either the Sixth or Ninth Avenue "L." Passengers on the surface lines may ride $9\frac{3}{4}$ miles for a nickel.

Readers' Comment on Current Subjects

June 13, 1918.

Editor of the Record and Guide:

It is always a pleasure to record the advent of a man who, overcoming all obstacles, rises to an emergency in the well-known American way, and this is a particularly pleasant duty when the man is a New Yorker. We pride ourselves, we New Yorkers, in always having the man to deal with a crisis.

And so it is with real enthusiasm that attention is called to Jonathan C. Day, Commissioner of Markets—the man of the hour, of the twenty-four hours; even, if you like, of the added hour which we gained by setting the clocks ahead—twenty-five-hour Day.

He it is who is going to arrange things so that, instead of suffering in cold storage, as we did last winter, we shall have a comfortable, luke-warm existence until next spring, whatever happens.

By a few strokes of his pen Day has made sure that we shall have abundant coal supplies for the chill and frosty period from November until March. This morning he contracts for 300,000 tons; this afternoon for another 200,000 tons, and tomorrow—well, he can sign up, he says, for as much as he wills to do, and he wills to have us all nice and comfy next Christmas and so on.

This is the kind of a man Day is—the kind that appeals strongly to Americans—who goes right on unterrified and undeterred from his praiseworthy object by the consideration of any of the stumbling blocks which got in the way of fuel providers last year—goes right on making contracts for coal, and more coal and still more coal.

For Day has dropped, temporarily only, let us hope, his other favorite plans for filling the refrigerators cheaply and supplying eggs and butter, fresh and without profit, to overburdened New Yorkers to devote his whole time and energy to pushing through to success this coaling project; and so we know he will get there.

For Day is a man who inspires confidence in himself. He is the sort of man who, if he appeared in Picardy and told the marines he wanted to go out and smash the Hohenzollern hordes single-handed, they would side-step and wave him on: "Go ahead, you Day! Oh, Boy!" And when a grateful people, in after time, should try to heap high honors on the marines they'd point to him and say: "Day did it!"

That is the spirit that actuates us all in these trying times—to do our bit and let each other one do what he thinks he best can do. And so no one has ventured to raise any objection to Day's plans. Neither have the Wall street powers suggested calling a halt, nor has the Real Estate Board protested on the score of increased taxation, nor does any citizen of this fair town

If it is necessary to charge twenty-seven cents to haul a passenger between Newark and New York City on the Hudson tubes, as has been decided officially in Washington, then it certainly is necessary to charge more than five cents for a ride on either the subway, the elevated or the surface lines in this city. Whereas the Hudson tubes now charge three cents a mile for Newark passengers hundreds of thousands of people in the metropolis are riding on the city transportation lines for a fraction of a cent a mile.

It is no wonder there is a rapidly increasing subway deficit for the owners of real estate to pay in the form of taxes. The people who ride, instead of real estate owners, should pay for the transportation advantages the public enjoys.

point out any of the difficulties and the drawbacks that may be in the way of Day. Keep us warm, say we, no matter what it costs.

Even that good old scout, Reeve Schley, Federal Fuel Administrator, who, with battered tugs and half seaworthy barges and railroads suffering from locomotor ataxia all last winter, while we stood round blowing on our frost-bitten fingers to get them thawed out, battled with the ice floes in the raging Hudson in the effort to relieve beleaguered Manhattan, stands nobly aside and says of Day: "I am willing that the commissioner shall contract for the coal—if he can get it away from the mines."

Meanwhile Day goes on his way contracting for coal until the experts, cool calculators, who figure that a ton of coal takes up thirty-five cubic feet of space, say that there is only one plot of ground in Greater New York centrally located, as it must be, with sufficient area on which to heap up the stores of coal which Day has got.

This plot is called Central Park; but in the very nature of things nobody, certainly not the park commissioners, nor the Municipal Art Commission, nor even the New York Times, the vigilant watch-dog of the people's big playground, can take exception to the use of its broad surface for any purpose that Day proposes.

Already we may see Day coating the park with a stratum of carbon, into which each one of us may dip, at the rate of $6.50 for Broken to $4.90 for Pea, for our much needed relief.

And so when this cruel war is over and we have all settled down in a world made safe for democracy; when we draw up around the good old base burner and watch through the panes of isinglass the fusing carbon throw off the gaseous glow that means warmth and comfort for all within the old heater's radius of action, we will think kindly and gratefully of Day—well named Jonathan C.—who labored and brought forth the heaven and the h-ylan of municipal ownership when this great city was in dire need.

ONE of the most interesting developments in the labor situation is the plan of the Department of Labor to inaugurate a series of drives for various classes of skilled and unskilled workmen to supply the needs of war industry. This has already been done to some extent as is illustrated by the drive for shipyard builders last fall and winter, and recently by the move to take over the labor on docks. Whenever conditions demand an increased supply of a certain class of labor, a "drive" will be started for that class of workers.

LEGAL NOTES AFFECTING REALTY

Prepared by Committee on Real Estate Laws of
Real Estate Board, Samuel P. Goldman, Chairman

Rescission—Caveat Emptor.

A DEED correctly decribed property by metes and bounds, and stated that it contained twenty acres, more or less, and that it lay in a triangular shape. The boundaries were definitely marked on the surface. The acreage was capable of ready measurement. The abstract contained a plot, showing on its face the extent of the acreage. The vendees visited the property before the sale, at which time the true boundaries were accurately pointed out. There was no fiduciary relation between the parties. The land was sold in gross. The Washington Supreme Court holds, Hegberg v. Tripp, 169 Pac. 822, that the vendees could not rescind because the tract contained eight square rods less than sixteen acres.

Successive Assignments of Rents.

The owner of real property may lawfully assign the rents to accrue, though he may grant the reversion to another. An owner of improved property validly and effectively assigned the rents to A. to secure an indebtedness of $1,000 and until he should have collected that amount. The New York Appellate Division holds, Conley v. Fine, 169 N. Y. Supp. 162, that the owner could not lawfully assign the rents to B., though it could assign the rents to become due after A's debt had been paid. The assignment of rents to B., though absolute in form, conveyed no right to the rents assigned to A. The assignee of a non-negotiable clause in action can obtain no greater right than his assignor had, and B's assignor could not lawfully have collected and retained the rents until A's assignment had been satisfied.

Equitable Title to Land.

Under a vendor's and vendee's executory contract whereby the vendor agrees to convey to the vendee legal title upon the full and complete payment of the purchase price, and under which the vendee pays part of such price and is let into the possession of the premises, it is only when the purchaser performs or tenders full and complete performance of all the acts necessary to entitle him to a deed and conveyance of legal title that he becomes vested with an equitable title. It seems to be generally held that where, under such contracts, the vendee has performed in part and is let into possession, he acquires an equitable interest in the subject of sale which the courts will take into consideration and protect in cases involving such interests, although the vendee has not acquired an equitable title. It also seems to be a rule of universal observance that the legal title of land draws to it the legal possession, and that such rule is applicable to questions growing out of the relation of vendor and vendee. And it also seems to be generally held that an action to determine adverse claim or interests in real estate in the nature of ejectment may be maintained by a vendor as an appropriate remedy in all cases where a vendee who has been let into possession under such a contract fails to comply with the terms thereof, as where there has been a default in the stipulated payments; that in such cases the vendee forfeits the benefit of the contract and cannot avail himself of it as a defense to such an action by his vendee, although the courts will take into consideration the equitable interest of such a vendee in possession who has made part performance. The South Dakota Supreme Court holds, Sweet v. Purinton, 166 N. W. 161, that the vendor in such cases has an optional remedy either to sue for specific performance, bring an action for recovery of the land, or, under the statute of that State (Chapter 138, Laws of 1913), foreclose the adverse rights of the vendee under such contracts. This last-mentioned statutory remedy is cumulative and declaratory of pre-existing remedies. In whatever form the vendor may seek his remedy, where there has been a failure on the part of the vendee to comply with the terms of the contract, and when time is not of the essence of the contract, or has been waived, it has been the usual rule of equity courts in terminating the equitable interest of the vendee to fix by the terms of the decree some reasonable stated time, with notice, within which the vendee must comply with the terms of his contract, and, upon failure to so comply, judgment will be entered against him, forever barring and foreclosing all his equities and rights under such contract.

Mutual Mistake in Assignment.

A trust company agreed to assign a mortgage, executed an assignment, and entrusted the papers to a solicitor for delivery and receipt of the consideration. He fraudulently inserted a description of an additional mortgage in a blank space and collected the amount due on both mortgages. The New Jersey Court of Errors and Appeals held, Hubing v. Liberty Trust Co., 102 Atl. 636, that the case was one of mutual mistake, the trust company meaning to assign only one mortgage, and the purchaser meaning to acquire two; that the purchaser was entitled to rescind, and that the trust company was liable upon rescission to repay the whole amount paid by the purchaser to the solicitor.

Liability of Tenant for Repairs.

A lease provided that the lessee should make all repairs to the building, both inside and out, at his own cost and expense, with the exception of repairs necessary to remedy structural defects, such as the replacing of main walls or main supports of foundations or the main structure of the roof. The New York Appellate Division holds, Rubeck v. Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., 167 N. Y. Supp. 1049, that the lessee, notwithstanding it involved a structural change, is liable for the expense of inclosing all interior stairways serving as a required means of exit, and the landings, etc., with partitions of fire-resisting material, even though the landlord would ordinarily be liable for such repairs which were ordered by the Department of Labor.

Building Restrictions.

The Pennsylvania Supreme Court holds, Dewar v. Carson, 103 Atl. 343, that, while building restrictions are enforceable, they are not favored by the law, and covenants relating to them are not to be extended by implication. A covenant in a grantee's deed that a space of 60 feet north from the line of an avenue "shall always be left open" is to be interpreted in the light of the manifest purpose of the parties, and the meaning and extent of the restriction which was within their contemplation when it was imposed must prevail. The deeds to lots in a residential district provided "that no dwelling house or other building of any kind be erected or placed on said lot within 20 feet" of the street, and that such space should be always open and clear of buildings. In a supplemental agreement the owners increased the space to 40 feet. A street railway company purchasing two of the lots proceeded to lower their grade within the restricted space and to erect poles and lay tracks thereon for a street car line. It was held that such improvement was a breach of the covenant and was enjoined.

In a suit to enforce restrictions on land, the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court holds, MacLary v. Morgan, 119 N. E. 189, that a ruling that the plaintiff, as the owner of one of the lots, was a person for whose benefit the restrictions were imposed, and entitled to mandatory injunction, necessarily implied a finding that the original owner imposed the same restrictions on each of the lots as part of a general scheme of improvement, and for the benefit of the several lots.

REAL ESTATE REVIEW OF THE WEEK

Tenants Continue to Buy Buildings They Occupy—Week Somewhat Dull, But Few Good Sales Made

THE past week has been a very inactive one in so far as the number of sales made and the amounts involved are concerned. Few sales of any great consequence were reported, although there was a rumor yesterday that a deal is on involving property in the midtown section representing several millions of dollars in value and that several brokers are at present carrying on the preliminary detail work. The nature of the deal, however, has not been made known. Buying for occupancy by old-established merchants continues in the downtown section. Various influences have been responsible for the recent activity in the lower east side of the city, just north of the financial district, principally among which was the purchase by the Government of the major portion of the block in Maiden Lane, Nassau and Liberty streets for the purpose of erecting a monumental banking building for the Federal Reserve bank. It is rumored that the Government contemplates or at least aspires to purchase the William street frontage, thus controlling the entire block.

A sale reported this week and having interesting details was that in which Henry F. Sinclair, president of the Sinclair Oil and Refining Company, became the owner of the large limestone dwelling at the south corner of Fifth avenue and Seventy-fifth street, sold by the Metropolitan Museum of Art. The property is assessed at $465,000 and will be occupied by Mr. Sinclair.

Other transactions involving apartment houses were reported. A syndicate in which Walter Russell and Penhryn Stanslaw are interested purchased from the Strauss Building and Realty Company the seven-story apartment house known as the "Chatham Court" at the northwest corner of Central Park West and Sixty-seventh street. The building will be altered into small apartments, which will be disposed of under the co-operative plan.

A sale involving eleven parcels of land in Manhattan, Bronx and Brooklyn was consummated by B. H. Weisker and John R. and Oscar L. Foley, who sold for Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, acting as representative of the Leslie Woman Suffrage Commission, to Harry Aronson, Inc.

A sale having sentimental features was that of the property at 386 Water street, sold by Pease & Elliman for the Estate of Henry A. Coster to Antonio Borelli. This property had been in the possession of the Coster family since 1789 and is one of the oldest family ownerships in Manhattan.

Leasing continued good during the week, but there was less activity than in recent weeks. A lease of interest was that of the new building at the northwest corner of Lexington avenue and Twenty-second street nearing completion for the Manhattan Trade school and which it was expected to have ready by July 1st, has been leased by the Government to be used as a war hospital. This structure cost in the neighborhood of $700,000 to build and is equipped with two restaurants, complete kitchen equipment and other modern facilities.

Because of the war there has been little doing for the past year in building operations, so that apartments are scarce, and while the demand is exceptionally good the supply does not begin to meet the situation and brokers are unable in all parts of the city to furnish clients with suitable quarters, but manage to keep fairly active in finding apartments for some.

Action to Dissolve a Trust.

A friendly action in which it is sought to dissolve a trust which for seventy years has tied up New York City real estate, estimated to be worth upward of $10,000,000, has been commenced in the Supreme Court for the benefit of Henry Astor, greatgrandson of John Jacob Astor, founder of the family fortune. In the suit Winthrop Astor Chalker appears as plaintiff and the action is made necessary by the death last week of Henry Astor, at his country home near Albany.

By the will of Henry Astor the children and other heirs of deceased's brothers and sister are entitled to share in the distribution and their proportionate shares are set forth in the complaint. It also sets forth that Amelia Rives Troubetskoy, the novelist, and "Natalina," commonly known as Lina Cavallieri, the prima donna, former wives of John Armstrong Chanler and Robert Winthrop Chanler, respectively, are not entitled to a share in the general division of the property, having no inchoate right or dower. A lis pendens filed against the property on Monday includes the property at the northeast corner of 50th street and Twelfth avenue, 225 feet 5 inches; southwest cor-

By the appointment of a court in Holland, the complaint further sets forth, Alphonse Lambert Eugene Chevalier De Stuers is named as curator of Hubert De Stuers. It is admitted in the complaint that Malvina Astor, widow of Henry Astor, is entitled to a one-third interest in the real estate for life as a dower. Some doubt as to whether New York State is entitled to the transfer tax is implied by a clause in the complaint which says that the state "may claim" an interest in the form of an inheritance tax.

Museum of Art Sells.

The Metropolitan Museum of Art, Robert W. DeForest, president, represented by Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown & Company as agents, sold through Pease & Elliman to Henry F. Sinclair, president of the Sinclair Oil and Refining Corporation, the dwelling at 2 East 79th street, at the southeast corner of Fifth avenue, size 32.2x100. This house was left by will to the Metropolitan Museum of Art by the late Isaac D. Fletcher, who erected the house from plans by C. P. H. Gilbert, and was occupied by Mr. Fletcher until his death. The house is generally considered one of the finest on the avenue and is of limestone. Its interior is finished in the finest kind of woodwork. In addition, Mr. Fletcher gave the Museum a very large collection of works of art. Adjoining the house to the east is the residence recently purchased by Joseph W. Harriman, while to the south are the residences of James B. Duke and Payne Whitney. This property is situated on the famous Cook block, all of the property between Madison and Fifth avenues, 78th and 79th streets, having been purchased by Mr. Cook and resold under very careful restrictions to various parties, who built private residences for their own occupancy, so that it is generally considered one of the finest blocks in the city. The buyer will occupy.

Syndicate Buys Apartment House.

Walter Russell and Penrhyn Stanlaws, representing a syndicate purchased from the Strauss Building and Realty Company, the seven-story apartment house known as "Chatham Court," at the northwest corner of Central Park West and Sixty-seventh street, on a plot 100x100. The property has been held at $500,000. Malcolm E. Smith and Rudolph C. Culver were the brokers in the transaction. The property is to be taken over by the Fred T. Ley Company, which will reconstruct the building into small apartments, to be sold under the co-operative plan. The price of the finished building is to be $807,500 and upon completion it will be taken over and operated by the Town House club.

Manhattan, Brooklyn, New Jersey Deal.

An operation involving Manhattan, Brooklyn and New Jersey properties was consummated on Monday when Frederick Brown, the operator, sold to Mrs. Bessie Rieff the five-story apartment house at the northwest corner of Convent avenue and 151st street, covering a plot 54x84xirregular. The house is fully tenanted and has been held at $65,000. The buyer gave in part payment the three-story dwelling at 657 Hancock street, Brooklyn, on a plot 18.6x100 near Reid avenue, and also the three-story residence at 1203 Putnam avenue, Plainfield, N. J., on a plot 100x150. The Convent avenue house is one of the three occupying the entire block front on Convent avenue between 151st and 152d streets, bought by Mr. Brown last month from Joseph Shenk.

Sale of Waterfront Property.

A sale of waterfront property in Greenpoint removes from the market another parcel of New York water front and it is understood that the site is to be improved with a large plant. The property in question fronts on Bushwick Creek, Quay and West streets. It contains about 108,000 square feet of upland and considerable land under water. About 810 feet of the property fronts on the water. The other dimensions are 428 feet in Quay street, 126 feet in West street and 254 feet on the bulkhead line. A rubber company is reported to be the buyer, and $175,000 the price paid.

Claremont Avenue Apartment Sold.

A valuable West Side apartment house passed into new ownership on Tuesday through the sale of the six-story "Crescent Court" at 195 Claremont avenue, at the southwest corner of 127th street. This property covers a plot 150.2x91, and has been bought by William P. Sheridan, from the Dorilton Corporation, Edwin F. Carey, treasurer. It abuts the Bordeaux apartment house at the south corner of Riverside Drive and 127th street. Both properties were acquired by the Dorilton Corporation from George Noakes three years ago, in an exchange involving the twelve-story Dorilton at the northeast corner of Broadway and 71st street. A few weeks ago the Dorilton Corporation sold the Bordeaux to the 549 Riverside Drive Corporation.

Manhattan Property in Exchange.

Dr. John A. Harriss, Special Deputy Police Commissioner, in charge of traffic affairs, has purchased from Mrs. Helen L. Stokes the country estate known as "Brick House," comprising about eleven acres forming the extreme end of Long Neck Point, Noroton, Conn. In part payment Dr. Harriss transferred to Mrs. Stokes the seven-story building at 58 and 60 East 94th street, the adjoining dwellings at 62 East 94th street, and the dwelling at 88 West 103d street. The deal involved properties valued at about $1,000,000.

Deal Involves Eleven Properties.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, acting for the Leslie Woman Suffrage Commission, sold to Harry Aronson, Inc., eleven dwellings in Manhattan, the Bronx and Brooklyn. The sale was made on an all cash basis. The property sold includes 363, 365 and 367 West 117th street, each on a lot 16.8x100; 512 West 149th street, on plot 15x100; also 1674 Nelson avenue, on plot 25x100; 2385 Walton avenue, on plot 20x96; 923 Sedgwick avenue, 37.6x85; 2669 Heath avenue, 25x100; 2767 Decatur avenue, 25x86, and 234 East 202d street, 50x100, in the Bronx, and 410 4th street, 20x100, in Brooklyn. The brokers in the deal were B. H. Weisker and John R. and Oscar L. Foley.

First Break in Family Ownership.

Marking the first break in a family ownership that has extended over a period of more than 129 years, announcement has been made by Pease & Elliman of the sale of the property at 386 Water street, for the estate of Henry A. Coster to Antonio Borelli. It is a three-story building with stores on a lot 16.10x60, between Oliver street and Catharine Slip. The sale closes one of the oldest family ownerships in Manhattan, the property having been in the possession of the Coster family since 1789.

Buys in Coffee District.

The five-story business building at 52 Front street, on a plot 30.6 by 80, between Old Slip and Coenties Slip, was sold Thursday in a cash transaction by Henry A. Coster to the Markham Realty Corporation, Clarence W. Eckhardt, president. This is the first purchase of property in this block by the Markham Corporation, which has been buying and selling extensively in the immediate neighborhood within recent months. Cammann, Voorhees & Floyd and Pease & Elliman were the brokers in the transaction.

Buy Bronx Apartments.

Benenson Realty Company purchased from Louis C. Kleban, 870 East 170th street, a six-story apartment with six stores and housing forty-two families, on plot 88x107, northwest corner of Wilkins avenue, together with the adjoining six-story thirty-two family apartment, 56x100, at 1447 Wilkins avenue. The properties are fully tenanted at $27,000 per annum and were held at $185,000. In part payment Mr. Kleban took 1345 Brook avenue, a six-story apartment on a plot 42x100, built about three years ago, and valued at $45,000. The trade was negotiated by S. Rosen.

Satisfied Tenants

A satisfied tenant is assured when provision is made for the proper use of the modern conveniences you have installed in your buildings.

Adequate sidewalk outlets make your electrical equipment truly modern and provide for the convenient use of household electrical appliances now so generally in use.

Let our experts advise with you on the layout of the wiring of your buildings. It will pay you in satisfied tenants.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS, MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES

[Record and Guide Quotations Are Accepted as Official by Building Material Exchanges.]

R EPORTS from various sources indicate but scant improvement in the building situation during the past week. During the period a number of altogether new factors have developed to complicate affairs and it now seems as though the building trades could not anticipate any great volume of activity for this year at least. This applies to private construction, as it is well known that Federal operations will maintain their prominence in building circles for a long time to come and probably will materially increase in number and total cost.

The major portion of active building at the present writing is directly for Government use, and a large part of the balance is for structures that will contribute in winning the war. Private construction is at a low ebb and consists mainly of small dwellings in suburban districts and a relatively few apartments and tenements in this and neighboring cities.

Projects of a more important character are few and far between, and in view of the conditions surrounding the building business this type of activity is not likely to be increased. Architects and engineers have been working on plans for a number of large and imposing structures. Some of these have been under advisement for a long while, but high material costs and transportation difficulties have combined to prevent their starting. Now it is feared that they will be held up for considerable time.

Although the demand for building materials and supplies is relatively light there are no great reserves of commodities available at present. Manufacturing in almost all lines has been seriously curtailed on account of the scarcity of fuel and labor and the difficulties attendant upon the shipment of raw materials to manufacturer and also the transportation of finished products to jobber and consumer. In almost every line of manufactured commodity the output of the current year will be greatly below that of past seasons, and while there is no material famine at present it is feared that a revival of building activity might create a market condition that would be unusual to say the least.

Common Brick.—Market conditions for Hudson River common brick are practically unchanged from those which marked last week. The demand is dull, but owing to the small quantities of brick coming down from production points it about equals the supply. The manufacturers are experiencing great difficulty in obtaining men to load the scows. There is plenty of brick ready for shipment and the scows are tied up to the docks waiting for labor to load. Manufacturing is proceeding on a most limited scale and from all accounts the total production of this year will be far below that of any season for a long time past. Prices are steady with a disposition toward greater firmness. The ruling quotations are $10.50 to $11 to dealers, in cargo lots, alongside dock. At this writing there is a strong possibility that brick prices will advance to $11 a thousand for barge run and if the demand should increase prices might jump to a considerably higher level. The Raritan district is exceptionally quiet and only a limited production is possible on account of the scarcity of labor and the difficulty of obtaining fuel. No brick from this district is available for the New York market and no quotations are being made. What little production is possible at the Raritan plants is being shipped by rail to Government building projects located in New Jersey.

SUMMARY.—Transactions in the North River brick market for the week ending Friday, June 14, 1918. Condition of market: Demand fair; prices firm. Quotations: Hudson Rivers, $10.50 to $11.00 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 14; sales, 12. Distribution: Manhattan, 4; Brooklyn, 5; New Jersey points, 3.

Second Hand Brick.—There is little demand for second hand brick, owing to the general recession in building construction. Prices are steady at $6 a load of 1,500, at the wrecking job and $10 from yard, plus the usual charges for haulage.

Portland Cement.—Manufacturers are producing to the maximum of their abilities but are considerably hampered by the difficulty of obtaining adequate fuel and the extreme scarcity of labor. The latter condition is most serious at present. There is a steady demand for this commodity and naturally Federal building operations are the most important factor in the market. Prices are firm and likely to be further increased about 8 cents a barrel as a result of the advance in freight rates.

Crushed Limestone.—Producers of this commodity are daily obtaining larger orders from Federal sources and as a consequence the market situation is firm, with prices somewhat higher. It has been stated that one of the most important of the Government operations will require several hundred thousand cubic yards of crushed limestone, and producers are now engaged in deliveries to this job. Prices during the week have advanced to $1.70 a cubic yard for 1½ in. and $1.80 for the ¾ in. size. The latter size is the one generally called for in the Government specifications, and if the present schedule is adhered to there is likely to be a scarcity of this size for some time as far as private usage is concerned.

Trap Rock.—The demand is steady for this material and likely to hold for some time, and although the Government is not using this commodity for building purposes it has made a heavy demand upon the producers for stone to be used in road construction. Prices are advancing as a consequence of the increasing towing rates and the advanced wages of the labor required to produce this material. Current material quotations are $2 a cubic yard for 1½ in. and $2.10 a yard for ¾ in.

Sand and Gravel.—Almost the entire business in these commodities is coming from Government sources and no material improvement in the volume of private construction is anticipated at the present writing. Prices are firm and according to prominent producers likely to remain at their existing levels for some time.

Hydrated Lime.—Although the demand is quiet owing to the scarcity of new building operations, prices have firmed up because of the higher manufacturing costs and the increases in freight rates. Hydrated common is now bringing $15 a ton, New York, in duck bags, plus the increased freight charges and Hydrated finishing is selling at $17.20 a ton in cotton bags, plus the freight increase.

Linseed Oil.—Stocks in reserve are negligible and there is a scarcity of this commodity in the hands of the jobbers that is likely to increase within the next few weeks. There is practically no domestic or foreign seed available for the crushers and the new crop will not be matured and ready for crushing before next October. The demand, considering the amount of oil available, is considered heavy, although it is not comparable to that of previous years at this time. Prices are firm at the levels that now have maintained for some weeks.

Window Glass.—Trade in this line continues to be extremely light and there is no possibility of a marked increase in demand according to the present outlook. Manufacturers of hand-made window glass have practically ceased production and those who continue are likely to end the blast at almost any time. Stocks in the hands of the manufacturers are low and in the majority of instances barely one-half of that at this time one year ago. Jobbers' stocks are depleted and broken. Notwithstanding the adverse conditions involving the production of this material manufacturers have not as yet revised their schedule of discounts.

Structural Steel.—With the Government now taking 100 per cent of the output of the steel industry of the country, the builders contemplating an early start of structural projects involving the use of fabricated steel to any extent have been forced to abandon their plans for the present. The outlook from the standpoint of the building trades is not of the best and the situation will not improve until there is some likelihood of obtaining the necessary steel product used in construction, within a reasonable period of time. The conditions affecting the steel industry have induced a number of perspective builders to revise their plans so as to utilize heavy timber construction or reinforced concrete where possible, but a number of operations have been of a character where such a substitution is impossible and these will be held in abeyance indefinitely.

Wire Products.—Mills producing both wire and wire nails are devoting their entire output to Government needs and there is practically no new business being taken for orders aside from Federal business. Immense quantities of wire and nails are being turned out for England and France and the United States is shipping a large tonnage for the use of the army in Europe. Although there is a strong demand from the usual commercial sources, manufacturers of commodities not essential to the war are being curtailed in their deliveries as jobbers' stocks are low and it will be impossible to replenish them for some time. Mill base prices are unchanged.

Cast Iron Pipe.—Business in this line is slack and the manufacturers are mostly concerned with Government orders for pipe and fittings. The conditions affecting the production of steel in all forms have been felt in this industry and there will be but a small volume of cast iron pipe available for private consumption. Prices are subject to the new Government schedule as recently announced.

Lumber.—Market conditions are but slightly changed and although the demand is considered fair at wholesale and retail, both of these interests have experienced difficulty in obtaining new supplies to refill their depleted stocks. The transportation of lumber from production points is one of the serious factors of the present situation and there seems to be no immediate prospect of relief. The demand from manufacturing consumers is well sustained and builders are also in the market for a considerable volume of timber. It is generally felt that there would be a material improvement in the number of small dwellings built of lumber and trim could be obtained without long waits for delivery. This type of construction is, with the exception of purely Government building, the best present market for the lumber dealers.

Waging War

To list New York's war industries using Edison Power is to list the great body of industries that are making this city an unequalled war supply factor. Never was dependable electric service so in demand and the superiority of Edison Service so clearly demonstrated

The question with war industry is not "Can we provide ourselves with current that is approximately reliable"; but "How quickly can we get connected with the never failing service of the Edison Company?" This vital matter once settled, the industry—ship-building, machine parts, clothing, or camp equipment—can devote its brains and energies to the task in hand

High-pressure emergencies bring out the truth about Edison supply. It has been found indispensable for war industry. It is just as indispensable for every industry that is slated to win. Learn from the war. Our resources will gain you your true objectives

CALL OF CALENDAR.

The Clerk's Calendar will be called in Room 919, on Tuesday, at 3 o'clock sharp, and cases will then be taken from the General Calendar, and set down for hearing during the following week. Any requests for adjournment must be made when Clerk's Calendar is called.

The Clerk's Calendar consists of cases which are complete, but which have not yet been set down for hearing on a definite date. It is not to be confused with the Calendar, which consists of cases that have been definitely set for fixed days.

The listing of an appeal or petition in this Calendar is full and sufficient notice to all persons interested that such case will be heard on the date set and no adjournment will be allowed on the ground of ignorance of the date or of lack of due notice.

All hearings are held in Room 919, Municipal Building, Manhattan.

Mortgage Loans and War Time Money Market

Effect of Government Borrowing and Other Federal Measures on Real Estate—Conditions Loaning Companies Must Meet

By FRANK BAILEY

Second Vice-President Title Guaranty and Trust Company

THE position of the owner of a small home in New York City at the present time is causing those who are interested in a diversified home ownership much uneasiness.

First, he is confronted with the rapidly mounting tax rate. The tax rate, which is now 2.40 per cent. in Kings and 2.36 in Manhattan, next year promises to increase at least 10 per cent. unless additional sources of revenue are obtained, such as an increase in the fare on the railroads, or personal taxes of some kind.

Every man who loses a home through excessive tax rates, or through faults which are not his, and sometimes even when they are his fault, becomes a disturbing member of society. The most conservative population are those people who have an interest in the real estate of the city and are not in a position with nothing to lose or nothing to gain no matter what the tax rate may be. The population of the latter class may be appealed to by the man on the box; the other man thinks.

At the present time the small home owner is further confronted with the difficulties of handling a mortgage upon his property. Most homes are bought on the installment plan, and the basis of the mortgage is three years. Mortgages which are now maturing are renewed as a rule only at 6 per cent., and many are being called for various reasons. One of the favorite reasons for calling a mortgage is for the purpose of investing in Liberty Bonds. Such patriotism is of a poor kind. It does not increase the money available for Liberty Bonds, for the owner can only pay in case he borrows his money elsewhere. Such a practice, instead of being patriotic, is decidedly unpatriotic, and it disturbs rather than aids. It has been pointed out from the Government standpoint that it is the savings from which bonds should be purchased and not the displacement of capital.

Another class are those who think they can obtain a higher rate of interest and do not care what suffering is inflicted upon the borrower. These people are tempted by the increasing rate of interest and the high rate based upon which many good bonds are selling.

The third class are those who must call in order to meet various exigencies, settling estates, etc.

Now the source of supply of mortgages has practically stopped. The only source of supply is the mortgage guarantee companies, who are using their best efforts to find investors for mortgages and are endeavoring to prevent a call of the same by the education of the people holding their guarantee.

The bond and mortgage guarantee company which I represent has, since the breaking out of the war, taken up $20,000,000 of called mortgages. Now if the calling of these mortgages shall continue the guarantee companies will be compelled to take the eighteen months which they are allowed in which to pay their mortgages, or, no matter whether the security may be good or not, to foreclose against the homes of the people in Brooklyn and Queens. In case the guarantee companies, because of the excessive calling of mortgages, are unable to adopt any other policy than to start foreclosure then it would be a sad day for the best interests of New York City.

These companies can handle about a million dollars of called mortgages a month, and that should be sufficient money to meet all real necessities; but if greed is to step in and to influence the holders of mortgages; if the charitable institutions are to decide that they should call these mortgages for the purposes of obtaining a little higher rate of interest; if the savings banks, in order to buy Liberty Bonds, continue to call mortgages, as some have done; if those institutions whose assets are based upon real estate shall do nothing to aid, but will abet destruction of their underlying security, then relief should be obtained through the Government channels.

The Government has already come to the aid of the merchant and farmer and the railroads, and certainly home ownership is as important as anything else.

Methods of aid and the next step are another story.

Mortgage Debt Decreased Since War Started

By JOHN L. PARISH

Secretary, New York Board of Title Underwriters

ABOUT the only important line of investments that has not been the recipient of more or less delicate governmental attention since the beginning of the war is real property and its securities. Even in this line the Government's operations have taken away its normal supplies of credit and forced a liquidation in mortgages which is not only inconvenient to owners of mortgaged property, but operates to a more or less important extent against the best interests of the Government itself.

Evidence of the diversion of credit from normal flow in real estate channels is found in a comparison of the transactions in mortgages and in plans for new buildings for the first five months of this year with those of the corresponding period in 1912.

Within the period of the war the volume of current investments in mortgages has declined over 80 per cent., and is now less than 20 per cent. of what it was in normal times, while the season's investments in new construction have declined over 90 per cent., and are now less than 10 per cent. of a normal season.

As compiled by the Record and Guide the statistics are as follows:

Mortgages.

January 1 to June 6, 1912.....	$164,004,306
January 1 to June 6, 1918.....	30,274,652

New Buildings.

January 1 to June 6, 1912.....	$57,089,000
January 1 to June 6, 1918.....	5,569,550

From these figures and the average for the last two years it seems certain that the mortgage debt on real property in Manhattan is being paid off at the rate of approximately $150,000,000 per year.

It has been estimated that in normal times the volume of maturing mortgage debts in Greater New York closely approximates $1,500,000,000, and that as the city grows and expands this normal volume of refunding operations has been increasing in pro rata proportion. Probably this represents about two-thirds of the total annual overturn in all branches of the real property market, exclusive of rents.

In normal times the refunding of maturing mortgages is a market function, for which the machinery of the market has been all sufficient. Something like 90 per cent. has been renewed or extended by agreement between the parties interested respectively, the remaining 10 per cent. representing the actual refunding operations. The proportions are, of course, variable even in normal times; but there is indisputable evidence in the records that the fund available for real estate operations has grown steadily with the growth and development of the city until at the outbreak of the great war it represented an investment in mortgages alone of approximately $6,000,000,000.

With the entrance of the United States into the world conflict the Government's financial requirements have deprived this real property market of all, or nearly all, its floating capital, and has made the refunding operation less easy of performance. Instead of getting his mortgage renewed or extended on pre-existing terms the borrower has been required to pay a higher rate of interest and to make periodical payments in reduction of principal.

This has been a market requirement of the last two years, with the obvious result that a very considerable part of the total volume of mortgage indebtedness has been paid off. How much the aggregate reduction has been is not easy to say. Some borrowers, in excess of caution, have cleared their properties entirely of mortgage debt, but the greater part have contented themselves with making the partial payments agreed upon with their lenders.

Cases have appeared in which owners of valuable realty have sold other securities and paid off their mortgages rather than submit to demands for higher rates of interest on them. Indeed, this practice seems to be growing, and for obvious reasons. Most negotiable securities have fluctuated greatly in value and income in recent years, with average results that have been very disappointing to the investor; whereas large investors in both classes of securities have found from experience that their real property holdings and mortgage securities have exhibited a stability of value and certainty of income that has demonstrated again their superiority in these particulars over all other forms of investment.

The net result of the contraction in real property investments is that property is more strongly held and in generally much better financial shape than probably it ever was before. Extended calculations indicate that the aggregate mortgage debt has been reduced by at least $300,000,000 since the United States entered the war, and there are those among the close observers of the market who believe the reduction is close to $500,000,000.

At the moment there seems to be a senseless and wholly indefensible practice among a small minority of mortgagees of demanding full payments of mortgages on maturity. This does not refer to the occasional case of a lender who needs the money, for all of which there is ample provision in existing market resources, but to those who give ear to ignorant and senseless agitation and clamor, such as that which has recently been directed against any, even a moderate, increase in rents.

It is to the credit of all the larger investors in mortgages that they have not sought to embarrass borrowers by such selfish and unreasonable demands. The large life insurance companies and savings banks have uniformly met the admittedly stringent situation by agreeing to extensions with reasonable amortization. It is to their great discredit that some lenders who do not need the money, among them some trustees of charitable institutions and a few savings banks, have refused to take this course, but have demanded their pound of flesh.

That these selfish demands are diminishing is shown by the fact that the volume of foreclosures is less by several millions thus far this year than it was in the corresponding period last year.

The general conditions regarding real property finances in New York are better probably than before for a generation. Not only is the mortgage debt less by from $300,000,000 to $500,000,000, but rents are advancing in obedience to the operations of economic law, and the demand for real property for use and occupancy is greater than the supply of rentable space, and is increasing day by day.

These are facts known to every experienced observer in the market and that are susceptible of demonstration by the official records. The market has worked out its own salvation thus far without external or governmental aid, and will continue to do so if only people will be guided in their dealings by intelligence and reason rather than by the clamor of the ignorant.

Realty Men Plan War Savings Stamp Drive

LAURENCE McGUIRE, Chairman of the Realty Division of the Pioneer Division of War Savings Stamps Workers, has addressed a letter to the members of the Division urging them to renewed efforts in having pledges signed before June 29, the date set for the finish of the campaign.

The suggestion is made by Mr. McGuire, through A. N. Gitterman, Secretary, that all pledge cards be forwarded direct to the National War Savings Committee so that the results may be known in Washington promptly.

The Realty Division, through one of its members, Roby V. Priddy, was responsible for the suggestion to exchange Liberty Bond coupons for War Savings Stamps. Seven thousand letters were sent to real estate men in New York to send their coupons to headquarters as soon as the interest fell due. There have been large returns from this plan, which has been widely copied. Mr. Priddy has pointed out that the Government would have realized $160,000,000, the amount of interest paid on the last loan, if everybody had invested this extra capital in stamps.

Best American Port Should Not Be Passed Up

Commissioner Murray Hulbert Asks Mayor Hylan to Take Action to Prevent Further Discrimination Against New York

FEDERAL discrimination against the port of New York is charged by Dock Commissioner Murray Hulbert in a letter addressed to the mayor, which follows:

June 18, 1918.

Hon. John F. Hylan, Mayor and Chairman of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment.

With an application to this department for action there has been submitted this passage from a letter from the Shipping Board regarding the location of a shipbuilding plant in the Borough of the Bronx:

"Thus far we have not been able to favorably consider such application for the following reasons:

"First, the railroad administration has requested that no more Government undertakings be situated within the areas in and about New York owing to the freight congestion on all railroads centering in New York.

"It has been represented to us that delivery of the materials required in ship construction would add to the almost intolerable conditions now prevailing on the railroads in and about New York."

This is a declaration of federal policy—a policy of invidious and undeserved discrimination against the port of New York.

At the war's outbreak, with the utmost generosity and patriotism, the city of New York offered to the full its wonderful waterfront resources. How modern, how adequately equipped were these admirable facilities is shown beyond peradventure by the way in which they, in all the pressure, have met every demand.

Despite the sacrifice it has brought New York does not repent its offer of its splendid accommodations. Still it is nevertheless unwelcome to see a part of our regular trade diverted to other Atlantic ports, whence it may never return, while the Government exploits our admirable facilities without consideration of our interests. We surely had the right had it been called to attention to expect that so soon as the Government was in a position to advance port development New York would receive substantial consideration. Instead of assistance coming to us in our own war-born problems we are compelled to bow to an order subjecting us to further and absolutely unnecessary embarrassments.

Claims of common justice have had seemingly scant consideration by the railroad administration.

Every demand put upon this big and generous city has been gallantly met by it in the way of Liberty Loans, War Savings Stamps, Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., the K. of C. and the like by overscriptions. Indeed, from the proceeds of our lavish contributions come in large part the sums the Government is now expending in developing ports to compete with ours. The feeling aroused by this situation is not diminished by the fact that while other ports are now experiencing a factitious and artificial growth from war and governmental assistance, only to drop again after their occasion, the port of New York will, when the war ends, still retain those wonderful natural advantages and resources which have brought it to the forefront of the ports of the world.

To impose upon New York the burdens of one-third of the outlay for the war and a large per cent of port expenses while nearly 100 per cent. of assistance goes to competing cities which pay a relatively small proportion of war expenses seems unfair.

The vital concern of the city of New York in the successful operation of the State Barge Canal is obvious. Many of the staples of life bear a direct relation in their cost to the cost of transporting such products on the canal. The enormous expenditure of $150,000,000 of the state's money for the construction of the canal was to decrease the exorbitant railway rates on market products, building and other materials to points within the state served by the canal. Despite all this a recent ruling of the railroad administration, which has taken over control of the canal, has fixed the rates for shipments by canal and by rail as one and the same, thus, as it were, by one sweep destroying competition between the two and defeating the prime object of the state's funds.

Serious disappointment at the failure of relief prevails and discontent is aroused among the people of New York at seeing their contribution to the cost of the construction of the canal, as well as of the $12,000,000 for its annual maintenance, serve only to relieve railway congestion and assure perpetuation of the railway supremacy which has for years been an impressive factor in the cost of the necessities of life.

The so-called congestion of freight on railroads centering in New York is, I believe, a problem to which the railroad administration should energetically address itself rather than push it, so to say, upon a siding without solution. A proper co-ordination for the Government of its use of the railroad piers will release for general wharfage purposes a great portion of pier space. Careful examination shows that with but few exceptions piers occupied for railway purposes along the North River are not utilized to anywhere near their full capacity. Inasmuch as the operation of the Barge Canal is now a part of the railroad administration the use of these piers could be greatly enlarged and intensified by co-operative co-ordination. These piers are cumbered by storage of commodities thereon for months on the statement of the railroad companies that they are war materials, held subject to the call of the Government, ordered and delivered before required.

An immediate study of this freight congestion on the part of the proper federal authorities would certainly manifest the necessity for the establishment in New York City of adequate freight terminals, Government built, owned and operated at least for the period of the war. This, I believe, is as important a problem as could engage the attention of the railroad administration and Shipping Board at this time, and one that, for the time and money required, will yield tremendous results.

In consideration of all the above facts I therefore request that the Board of Estimate and Apportionment adopt a resolution authorizing the appointment of a committee, to be composed of members of the Board and representatives of the various commercial and trade associations, to protest to the authorities at Washington against this discrimination against the port of New York, to urge a proper reduction in the transportation charges on the State Barge Canal, as well as a more intensive use of railroad piers and the establish-

Washington Heights Taxpayers Will Fight

Want Dyckman Street Crosstown Line Built According to Contract with Union Railway Co.

TAXPAYERS and civic organizations of Washington Heights are jubilant over the decision of the Franchise Committee of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, which rejected the application of the Union Railway Company for a cancellation or modification of its franchise to build and operate the Dyckman street crosstown line.

The Union Railway Company applied to the Board of Estimate to cancel the contract granted to construct, maintain and operate a surface railway from West 207th street and Amsterdam avenue, along Amsterdam avenue to Nagle avenue, to Dyckman street, to the easterly line of the right of way of the New York Central Railroad at the foot of Dyckman street, and to return to the company the sum of $1,000 paid under said contract.

At the meeting of the Board of Estimate last week the Franchise Committee recommended that the application of the company for a cancellation or the modification of the contract be denied. It recommended that the contract be modified by granting the company an extension of time of six months from March 18, 1918, to commence construction, and six months to complete construction of the railway. The committee also recommended that the form of contract granting this modification be advertised in the City Record and two daily newspapers, and July 12, 1918, be fixed as the date for a hearing on such form of contract. Both recommendations were adopted by the Board.

Because of this turn of affairs a mass meeting that was being arranged for last week to be held at the Claremont Theatre was called off, but the matter now assumes a different aspect and plans for a mass meeting are now well under way, so that at the hearing on July 12 the residents and taxpayers will be well represented.

It is planned to hold the mass meeting some morning within the next two weeks and in the meantime petitions will be circulated and signatures secured protesting against a modification of the contract and asking the Board of Estimate to take action.

In view of the recent action of the Public Service Commission in the matter of the Richmond Light & Railroad Company, where a judgment for $77,300 was filed against the company for failure to comply with an order of the Commission, the suggestion made by the Franchise Committee in its report that failure to comply would result in legal action on the part of the Commission and the Corporation Counsel carries more weight than it did heretofore.

Harvey N. Bloomer, chairman of the Committee of Taxpayers and Civic Bodies, said last night that the committee proposed pushing the matter and intimated that a conference between his committee and officials of the railway is not unlikely and some satisfactory arrangement made to construct the line when conditions brought about by the war would not mean a great increase in the cost of construction.

Judgment Filed Against Public Utility Company

FORMER Judge W. L. Ransom, Counsel to the Public Service Commission, filed last Saturday in the office of the Clerk of the County of Richmond in the case of the People of the State of New York vs. Richmond Light & Railroad Company, a judgment for a fine of $100 a day from April 15, 1916, to May 28, 1918, a total of $77,300, with costs and disbursements of the action.

A copy of the judgment was served on E. J. Phillips, Secretary and Treasurer of the Richmond Light & Railroad Company, and the company has twenty days to answer or judgment will be taken for the full amount.

The Public Service Commission ordered the double tracking of Castleton avenue, Richmond Borough, on April 15, 1916. The company appealed from the order to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, Second District, and the Appellate Division sustained the order of the Commission.

The company has persistently refused to comply with the order, although the West New Brighton Board of Trade, which came into being for the expressed purpose of compelling the company to double track this very important and profitable branch of its trolley system, and other civic bodies, have repeatedly taken the matter up with the Public Service Commission. Judgment is asked pursuant to Sections 24 and 56 of the Public Service Commission Law for violation of the original order of March 15, 1913.

This is the first case in which the Public Service Commission has filed a judgment against a public utility corporation for failure to comply with an order of that body. It has been the general belief that the law creating the Public Service Commission was defective, inasmuch as it did not provide a way to compel obedience with its orders. On Staten Island, where the matter of double tracking Castleton avenue has been a very important topic, the belief was general that the trolley company had the upper hand and would continue to disregard the order, believing that the Commission could go no further than the issuance of the order.

Best Port Should Be Used

ment of modern freight terminals and other conveniences in New York City.

New York is primarily interested in winning the war, and has spared no effort to exceed her quota of men, money and the development of her port facilities to speed up the transportation of troops and the despatch of supplies; secondarily, she is interested in the nation's obligation to prepare to meet commercial requirements developed by after-war conditions, and she should protest vigorously against being eliminated by the federal authorities in the consideration of the plans adopted to that end. A notable instance of this is the fact that no action is being taken by the federal authorities to provide necessary accommodation in New York City for the enormous tonnage which is now being constructed and launched by the Emergency Fleet Corporation piers, drydocks, coaling docks and ice-breakers; and I respectfully commend these matters to the earnest consideration of your honor and the members of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment.

MURRAY HULBERT,
Commissioner of Docks.

Fewer Coal Miners at Work

OUTPUT of anthracite could be immediately increased by a quarter to a third with sufficient labor. With the number of men, as now working, it is with the utmost difficulty that production can be maintained as it has been running. There is ample development of mine workings for the much larger output which now could be reached. The above-ground development, breakers, etc., also is entirely sufficient to prepare 20,000,000 tons of coal more per annum than it is possible to mine and handle with the present force of men.

Before the war there were 177,000 mine workers in the anthracite industry. The number has been drawn down to about 145,000 now. With such reduced labor power the existing output of coal is large. It is being accomplished with the aid of the much more highly developed facilities now employed in the mining and preparation of anthracite. These facilities, which represent a big increase in the capital investment in the anthracite industry, cannot be used to full capacity now because of labor shortage.

As a body the mine workers are giving good service.

What the Subway Strike Cost New York City

Many Thousands of Dollars Lost Through the Inaction of the Board of Estimate Until Too Late

THE subway strike has been settled and the men have gone back to work, all except 200 or 300 of them, who seized the opportunity to accept steady work at higher wages in lines where they would not be subject to political shifts in the pursuit of the work of making a living.

There were something over 6,000 men who were affected by the strike. At the average wage of $4 per day they suffered a loss of $144,000 during the week they were estopped from working. This loss they must pocket because the strike was of their own making, although forced upon them by the high cost of living. If they had not struck they would have been eventually deprived of $144,000 of their savings to pay for more costly food and higher-priced living quarters, or have gone into debt for a like sum.

Unfortunately there is no remedy for this state of affairs, nor is there any come-back for the city for the losses which it also sustained during the strike. The workmen and the city are in exactly the same situation. Both have lost out and have no way of recovering, although the workmen have the better of the city through the increased amounts in their pay envelopes, which will prevent, for a time at least, a recurrence of similar trouble.

The city's loss, however, although not so large as that of the workmen, has no offset. The facts that the solution of the trouble had been provided for; that the Public Service Commission had pointed out the method; that the Lockwood Bill, embodying the principles that should be employed to effect a settlement, had been passed by the Legislature, and that the Public Service Commission had at all times stood ready to act with the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, in no wise alters the fact that the city must stand the loss.

What is the Loss?

The interest charges on all uncompleted subway work during a year amount to approximately $7,200,000. This is the huge sum that the city would lose if the work on the whole dual system should be stopped for a year. If the subway work had been stopped, as was proposed by Mayor Hylan, until the end of the war this action would have cost the city in actual cash over $7,000,000 per year as long as the war lasted.

What actually did happen was that the Board of Estimate, by delaying a meeting with the Public Service Commission until after the workmen had actually been on strike for one week, incurred for the city an unnecessary expenditure of about $75,000. This sum is the amount figured out at the office of the Public Service Commission as the actual cost to the city of the subway strike. If all the work had been stopped the amount would have been one-fifty second part of seven millions. But fortunately this did not happen.

In addition to the cost in interest charges there is a small sum for deterioration of material and the indefinable, but not inconsiderable, loss to the city of having the opening of the subway delayed a week. There is also the additional delay caused by the loss of several hundred workmen, whose places may not be filled, or, if they are by less experienced men, which means slower work and more delay.

The city has lost money in similar ways many times during the progress of the work on the subway. There have been many strikes, one of which lasted for four weeks. Most of these strikes were "local," involving a small number of men, and usually for small increases of pay. They came about in the usual way—by action of the workmen.

This last strike came about by the inaction of the city administration along the lines prescribed by law and, only recently, by the Lockwood measure until the strike had cost the city a large sum of money. The inaction of the city officials was due to the attempt to force illegal and untried methods of settlement of a very simple question upon the people.

The agreement of the Board of Estimate to meet the Public Service Commission, which it had previously refused to do, was due in large measure to the action of Alfred E. Smith, President of the Board of Aldermen, who declared in the meeting of the Board of Estimate, which had failed to formulate a policy by which the strike could be settled, that he believed that the Board should get together with the Public Service Commission and work out a workable plan of relief. This practical suggestion led to the meeting, at which action was taken that was followed by the strike being called off.

The Public Service Commission is making plans to carry out the terms of the agreement to give the contractors financial relief. It is the intention, it is said, of both the city authorities and the Public Service Commission to speed up the work. To do this more men will be required, and it is said that an appeal is to be made to the allied unions to furnish them.

Realty Board's Spring Tennis Tournament

THE following is the result of the spring tennis tournament of the Real Estate Board of New York, held at the West Side Courts, Forest Hills, L. I., on Thursday, June 13:

Urge Organization of Building Industries

Speakers at Meeting Held to Form National Association Give Strong Reasons for United Action

AT the meeting of representatives of building industries, held last week at the Engineers' Club, at which were adopted resolutions providing for the National Organization of the Building Industries and the appointment of a committee to take the necessary action to bring this about, there was a spirited discussion of the necessity for such organization. The resolutions and the names of those forming the committee were printed in the Record and Guide last week. The interesting and instructive discussion of the questions involved preceding the action taken are given herewith so that readers of this publication may see the importance of the movement.

The first speaker was William B. King of Washington, D. C., General Counsel of the National Association of Master Builders.

"While the war was raging and before the United States took part it was reported to us through many sources that the Germans had no fear of America getting into the war because America was 'after the dollar. So long as they can pursue and catch the dollar they will not care what happens on this side of the Atlantic. Whatever we may do they will not take the trouble to resent it.'

"But after a time America did resent it, and today America is being felt in that conflict. We hope that within a year the force brought to bear by America will terminate the war to the salvation of the democracy of the world.

"So today we do not need to defend our patriotism. I have no apology to make for favoring organization because I favor it in the interest of patriotism. It looks forward to the future of the country after the war and strengthens the country during the war.

"What can we do in the name of patriotism by this organization? First, we can unitedly place the resources of the building industry at the disposal of the Government for direct service during the war. This is the second largest industry in the country. Much of its resources and many of its men are engaged in supplying governmental needs. The Government is the greatest builder in the country, and we can give assistance and find out what service ought to be rendered by the industry. That is the first and direct help which we can give.

"There is another thing we can do. We all know that disturbances occurred in the industry as a result of the war. Just so far as disturbances to an industry can be avoided just to that extent shall we justify the existence of our organization.

"Secretary McAdoo says that we must save money, and in order to save money we must make money. We must, as far as possible, prevent disturbances to the industry, and we must, so far as possible, preserve it because it is only by continuing the building industry that we can produce the money with which to buy bonds and support the many volunteer associations which need the money. We are doing a patriotic duty if we can create an organization that will point out just what disturbance of the industry is necessary and just where and how that disturbance can be stopped.

"The British and French people are proud that, notwithstanding the disturbance of their industries and the diversion to the war of their men and their money, their factories are at work. So must we keep our industries working just as far as consistent with war needs. It will be the part of a central committee representing this industry to point out how building business can be fostered to the greatest possible degree.

"Some day the war will cease and our men will be called back; then the wheels of industry must turn round. This nightmare of war will pass away and the dawn will break. Then let us be prepared for the labor of the coming day. Let us not find our industries demoralized and impossible of early rescue. Let us do our part to conserve the peace organization of the building industry of this country as much as we can so that when peace comes there may not be a long period of depression.

"Is there wisdom among the building men of the United States to carry out these objects? Men who can say to the Secretary of Treasury: 'This will help the country; that will hurt the country.' I believe there is wisdom and judgment enough among us to appoint a committee that will be favorably received by the Government.

"I believe that if we had had an organization represented at Washington since the beginning of the war we should have had millions of dollars more business going on.

"It is such service that I believe we can render, and at this time we should take some definite, forward steps looking to a federation and to the appointment of a committee to look after our interests during the war; and it may be that we are laying the foundation for a permanent organization of the industry, which will continue after the war to the benefit of the business in which we are all engaged."

W. R. Messenger, Executive Secretary of the Building Industries of New York, in moving the adoption of the resolutions, read a letter from Harry A. Wheeler, President of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States of America, in which he says:

"I am very sorry that conferences arranged here for tomorrow make my remaining in Washington imperative otherwise I should be more than glad to attend the luncheon that has been called at the Engineers' Club.

"It is the purpose of the War Service Executive Committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to encourage by every means in its power the organization of all industries into trade associations, and to relate allied associations in such a manner that the industries can be competently represented with respect to their participation in war work and with respect to the maintenance of foundations for carrying on the industry with as little interruption as possible during the period of the war.

"If the building industries generally over the country can be brought together so that groups representing the industry in different cities will create a central group for the study of the needs of the business the Chamber of Commerce War Service Executive Committee will be very glad to study the problems with your central body and to exercise any influence it may possess in behalf of legitimate continuation of the building business, even though it may not have to do with construction directly related to war purposes."

Rudolph P. Miller, member of the Engineering Council, said:

"When the German authorities entered into this war I have no doubt they well considered the question of their man-power. They must perceive that they have not been able to conserve their man-power.

"I think there is an analogous situation here. The wealth producing industries, which by their activities bring about further wealth and further industry—it seems to me that the conservation of such an industry would be the one that the Government should be especially concerned with.

"The Government needs buildings and it needs building material, but it is probably not necessary and certainly not desirable to deprive the building industry of the materials needed for its existence.

"The people who can best tell the Government about conditions and assist the Government are the people most directly connected with the industry."

C. A. Fullerton, President, Architectural Iron & Bronze Manufacturing Association, said:

"This meeting is entirely in accord with what I feel to be the watchword of the day—Organization and Team Work.

to jump in with the rest of the crowd.

"There has been a great deal of discussion among the iron and bronze and metal working associations as to what to do. It is my impression that one of the things we lack is the vision as to how to adapt our equipment and availability, primarily to help out on the war situation.

In many concerns there seems to be an inability to see how they can help the war because they are not in the war business. If most of us had done what we ought to have done two years ago we would have been taking on the nation's work; that would not have been out of the question. We have changed our methods and equipment and organization to meet these demands, surprising ourselves and the Government. I believe that that possibility lies with more concerns than might be believed."

C. J. Curtin, of the National Lime Association, said: "The question of organization is a matter that should have been taken up by the men in the building business in all its branches long before this late day. We should think of what has taken place and how organization has been neglected, not only by our own Government, but by all of the allied Governments.

"What are we fighting? An organization built up through forty years of effort; that is why the war has continued so long. If we were shoulder to shoulder in an organization we could have cleaned the slate before now.

"It is up to us, representing the second largest industry, to get together as soon as we can. It occurred to the building interests of New York to do this and it was done by the Builders' Exchanges; but through Mr. Miller and others, whose vision was greater than ours, we got together and talked about a Federal organization. The only way we can lick the Huns is by organization.

"An organization is necessary to get any hearing or any consideration from the Government Board. They have no time for us at Washington unless we go with a united voice and with a definite statement of our requirements.

"I hope a national organization will come out of this movement, an organization representing all interests. F. T. Miller, President of F. W. Dodge Company, New York City, said:

"However important it may seem to conserve this great national facility, the building industry; however important it may seem to continue the strengthening of the Nation by the production of wealth, all must agree that national welfare is the prime necessity and our most intelligent self-interest, and that the bringing of the war to an early and successful termination is our first step in assuring this national welfare.

"We must, therefore, readjust the industry to the present needs of the Government, and cannot expect the Government to adjust itself to the needs of the industry. In this process of readjustment, however, an exact knowledge of the facts is obviously essential.

"Perhaps we do not fully realize how much depends upon this great national facility. In this country during the past seven years, building capacity has been decreasing and the lack of space is already acutely felt in some sections, particularly in the residential and warehousing facilities of this city. Here rentals are increasing, and yet, in the face of the demand for building there is a growing lack of confidence in real estate values which seriously affects the mortgage situation.

"But in this great center of seven million people, bearing thirty per cent. of the financial burdens of the Nation, we must realize that we are operating on the productivity of the whole United States, and that we cannot consider our own problem apart from the problem of the entire country. In the East we are short of building labor, while in the West building labor is idle. It is difficult to turn a quarryman into a skilled farmer, or a stair builder into a metal worker. These men are beyond the age of readjustment and many of them are available for building construction who cannot be assimilated into those industries so essential to the successful prosecution of the war.

"The general 'release' of labor in England was a more simple matter, and yet it was not applied to the British Empire. In this country we have a more difficult problem, because general rules cannot be applied over such a wide area involving different geographical and economic conditions.

"Senator Calder, in his address before the Building Industries of New York, brought out the thought that the building industry is of especial importance because it produces enduring wealth, and because its product produces more wealth. The circulation of funds through war industries, or non-productive industries, does not produce wealth. The cost of the war must be met by production by the industries of peace. Wealth production is a war necessity, for the wealth produced may be turned into munitions. We cannot continue the war indefinitely on the wealth which has been produced in the past. It is, therefore, necessary that wealth production should be continued during war times.

"Senator Calder, in expressing his desire to cooperate with us, said that he could aid us more effectively if we were organized on a national basis. If a man goes to Washington representing himself, he is likely to be regarded as a notoriety seeker; if he goes to Washington representing one locality, he is likely to be suspected of selfish motives for that locality; if he goes to Washington representing one branch of an industry, he is likely to be suspected of selfish motives for that particular branch of the industry,—and in any case he has a narrow view of the facts involved.

"The conclusion is that representatives of a united industry, covering all sections, will naturally have less personal, trade or local self-interest, and a more comprehensive knowledge of the facts and, therefore, have greater influence, and be more free to give impartial advice for national welfare and the welfare of this industry as a whole.

"I see great possibilities for such an affiliation of all the building industries. In it there will be no domination of any particular trade or locality; an organization which will be thoroughly representative and working for the common good, particularly if such an organization can be represented by men of national standing in whom the Governmental authorities already have confidence, and whom the trade will instinctively follow."

George S. Bartlett, of Universal Portland Cement Company, said:

"This is not a matter of resolution nor of talk. Somebody has got to do something. You all remember the famous priority order No. 2 of last fall, shutting off the use of all open cars. I was in Washington and here came a big flock from one state with letters from Senators and Congressmen. That was a joke. That sort of thing doesn't get you anywhere. You lose before you start.

"I am telling you this to show that Washington has some facts and when we go there we want to go with more complete facts.

"This has been the trouble, people have gone there and talked patriotism. Nobody wants to hear patriotism (nobody questions our patriotism) or to take up so much time painting the flag on the wall. This war is business and we are business men. We are in the war for success. That may not sound like patriotism, but it is business, and business has got to win the war.

"Mr. Humphrey called upon the Cement Association and we went to Washington and put the whole thing on the table. We have an organization which is one of the most complete of its kind, fourteen offices in different parts of the country whose duty it is to know about the business in their respective territories in detail and to promote the use of cement. That is our business.

"We went to Washington and said, 'Here is the condition of our business.' Mr. Humphrey told us what we were to do until the first of September. I presume by that time there may be another change affecting our business. He treats you with the highest degree of consideration and business courtesy.

"This organization is in the right direction. I heard Secretary McAdoo make a speech in Chicago before the Chicago Association of Commerce. He said: 'You gentlemen come to Washington because there is something the matter with, for example, the shoe business. You hire a lawyer at $25,000 a year who doesn't know a thing about the shoe business and he opens a law book to see what the law is, but I merely want to know the truth about the shoe business; the law is not involved. It is a question of fact about your particular business.'

"Now if you gentlemen will send a committee to Washington—a representative committee, that will have the backing of all the industry—and get at the man whose duty it is to determine, then you can get results. There is no use in going there with a band and there

Expand the Nation's Best Port

Divergent views seem to be held by the officers of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, the War Industries Board and the Federal Railroad Administration as to how far the Government's requirements in the way of transportation by land and sea can be met by the railroad terminal and port facilities of New York.

According to Dock Commissioner Murray Hulbert, whose letter to Mayor Hylan, with reference to the latter, is printed elsewhere in this issue, the Shipping Board has refused to grant permission for the establishment of another shipbuilding plant in this harbor on the grounds that "the railroad administration has requested that no more Government undertakings be situated within the area in and about New York owing to the freight congestion on all railroads centering in New York," and had represented that the delivery of materials required in ship construction would add to the "intolerable conditions" now prevailing.

The War Industries Board has proposed for similar reasons that there shall be no extension of war production in the New York region except such as cannot be done elsewhere.

But Mr. A. H. Smith, Regional Director for the East, whom New Yorkers know and have confidence in, in his review of the conditions on eastern railroads, recently made to the Railroad Administration, enumerates many reforms that have been accomplished to clear up the congestion of last winter which have eliminated the confusion and delays causing trouble at that time.

Among the numerous effective measures inaugurated under Mr. Smith's management have been: The elimination of over two million miles per month of unessential passenger train mileage; the assignment to eastern roads of 365 additional locomotives; diversion of traffic to other roads and common use of terminals, with classification and routing of freight to obviate delays and indirect transportation.

Last, but not least, Mr. Smith says he has secured co-ordination of harbor facilities at New York, and reports that whereas there were 41,000 cars of export freight here on January 1 this has been reduced to 28,000.

The Record and Guide will not oppose the use of other ports than New York for federal purposes if the Government business can thereby be speeded up and the war's end brought nearer, but the suggestion is offered that it will take many more years than the war is likely to last to equip any other harbor with a small part of the facilities now offered by New York, not to speak of its natural advantages, and the cost of the improvements that will have to be made elsewhere to accommodate a small percentage of the country's enlarged foreign commerce will be enormous compared with the amount necessary to expand the resources of New York Harbor so that it could easily handle many times the business now transacted here.

The best American dock terminals outside New York are at New Orleans, but that city is a week's sailing further away from European ports than is New York, and the railroad facilities are inadequate.

It is within the bounds of reason to believe that the federal officials who are now apparently so solicitous of New York's ability to handle the increased freighting problems are basing their action on the experience of last winter, with its exceptional weather conditions, and are not taking cognizance of the accomplishments of Mr. Smith, which have transformed the land and water accommodations at the mouth of the Hudson.

A better way than to try to make a port out of a shallow bay and a jerkwater railroad in an out-of-the-way part of the country is to expand the accommodations where there is every reason to believe they will be most effective, as suggested by Mr. Hulbert. A well working machine that is elaborated to accomplish greater production is better than one of huge dimensions but unknown horse-power.

New York is the greatest port in the world, but the best thing about it is that it is capable of indefinite expansion. It is not a local, but a federal, necessity that the most available and best equipped port should be made use of to the fullest extent; and it is yet to be demonstrated that the possibilities of New York Harbor are fully developed.

As to Mortgage Loans

There has been a good deal of discussion about the lack of money available for building operations and the effect of this shortage on the building industries, the trades and the material market, all of which has to do with the construction of new buildings.

Less attention has been paid to the other side of the question—the seriousness of the falling off in loanable funds for the renewal of mortgages on houses and other buildings constructed prior to the war. If a considerable number of homes were thrown back on the loaning companies through calling of mortgages there would not only be developed a strain in the financial condition of these institutions, but there would result an acute state of forced sales, which would certainly react to the disadvantage of the whole real estate business. Values would decline all along the line and it would be years before the process was stabilized and an upward turn brought about.

Several phases of this subject have been taken up and analyzed by Mr. Frank Bailey in this issue of the Record and Guide with the clear vision of the practical man of affairs.

The reader is referred to his article with confidence, and to the suggestion at its close that there is a choice of remedies for the unfavorable conditions existing and that some of these may be pointed out in another article, which will no doubt be awaited with interest.

That the situation has favorable aspects is further indicated in the article by Mr. John L. Parish, also printed in this issue. Realty men will find comfort in the figures given by him, that show the inherent strength of real estate today notwithstanding war-time conditions.

Applying Business Sense to Municipal Problems.

Work on the uncompleted subways was resumed last Monday to the general satisfaction of all concerned. A way was found whereby the demands of the workmen for higher wages could be met and the dilemma of the contractors was solved through the joint efforts of the Public Service Commission and the Board of Estimate and Apportionment.

It is a matter of congratulation to the taxpayers that this tie-up in the subway work lasted only one week. The taxpayers would be entitled to heartier congratulation if there had been no tie-up at all, because an interruption of even one week in the subway work costs this city about $75,000 in added interest charges. This means that if the dispute had been worked out sooner, which it seems it reasonably might have been, the taxpayers of the city would be $75,000 better off than they are now.

With so many millions of dollars being expended annually to conduct the city government some people may regard an item of $75,000 as trivial. But the habit of throwing away $75,000 of the taxpayers' money ought not to be regarded so lightly by the constituted authorities. Nothing so aggravates taxpayers as to have to go down into their pockets to get money to be thrown away by those elected to guard their interests.

The trouble is that the throwing away of the taxpayers' money has become altogether too much of a habit with all city administrations, no matter what may be their political complexion. Year in and year out the people of the metropolis discover every little while a lack of that prudence on the part of officials which any sound business man would apply to the expenditure of the funds at his disposal. One week it is $75,000 in interest thrown away because of an unnecessary tie-up in subway construction; another week it is a few thousand dollars here or a few thousand there appropriated for some useless purpose. The small items soon aggregate large amounts, the public gets no benefits, and the cost of conducting the city government continues upward by leaps and bounds.

To Alfred E. Smith, President of the Board of Aldermen, goes much of the credit for the settlement of the latest subway dispute. It was Mr. Smith who made the sensible suggestions which resulted in clearing away all obstacles and getting the subway work started again before more damage was done. There is no reason why good business judgment should not be applied to all municipal problems, as was demonstrated in this instance, when Mr. Smith's suggestion was acted upon and a serious situation adjusted within a few hours.

is no use in writing newspaper articles or passing resolutions or talking. Go down there and say: 'How about it? Here is what we can do and here is what we think. Tell us where we stand.'

"Right after that priority order business we formed an organization called the Highway Association. We got together all of the interests connected with highway construction—stone, sand, cement, brick, machinery—into one body, the Highway Industries Association. We opened an office in Washington. We were not there 24 hours before we were asked, 'How about this and how about that?'—requests from Chapin of everybody. Question after question came to us from every source and from every department of the Government. An organization like that is doing what the Government wants because it is giving the Government the information which it needs.

"Now if this organization doesn't get the truth and then go to Washington and lay it before the Government there is nothing to it.

Allen Walker, Chairman of the meeting, New York representative of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, said:

"Speculative opinion is the prerogative of those who arise in certain places to debate. The only thing with which to offset speculative opinion is facts which are absolutely correct and based upon wide and careful

"The Chamber of Commerce of the United States can be likened to one of those tally machines used by the cigar stores. If we decide that here is a good place for a cigar store because there is good volume of traffic every day, that is only speculative opinion. If you put against that the little machine that gives you the exact number of people who pass that spot every day, then you have on the one hand an opinion and on the other a fact. It is a fact what cannot be gainsaid that is of use; nothing else can be of use.

"These gentlemen have told you about being called to Washington. That shows the Government's requirement for information and the Government's desire that that information should be the result of careful investigation by men in position to get the facts and assemble them and classify them and analyze them so that they may be useful.

"What is sought is to have the industry represented by a single voice that shall command the confidence at once of the Government and of the people.

"Mr. King spoke of a pronouncement which could have been prevented at the time; if you had been on the spot it would not have occurred. You have never heard of such utterances concerning an industry that had its organization in advance; there has been no occasion for it. You can be as indignant as you like about loose statements made by people in Washington, but you cannot counteract them. It is an old saying that you cannot catch up with a lie. The only way you can beat it is by telling the truth in advance, and the only way you can be sure that the truth will be presented in regard to your industry is to have it presented by a single voice having the authority really to speak for those it claims to represent and it must be backed up with loyalty by those for whom it speaks."

LEGAL NOTES AFFECTING REALTY

Prepared by Committee on Real Estate Laws of
Real Estate Board, Samuel P. Goldman, Chairman

Effect of Sublease.

A LESSEE, to avoid a covenant against assignment without the written consent of the lessor, subleased the remainder of his term, the sublessee not attorning to the original lessor. The New York Appellate Division holds, Times Square Imp. Co. v. James McCreery Realty Corp., 169 N. Y. Supp. 536, that the sublease did not establish any priority of contract between the lessor and the sublessee, enabling the latter to sue the lessor on account of its representations to the lessee as to the demised premises. A suit by the sublessee to cancel the lease to the lessee and the sublease because of alleged misrepresentations by the lessor to the lessee as to the space included in the lease would not lie, as the sublessee might interpose its claim as a defense in an action at law against it by the lessee for the rent.

Absolute Deed or Mortgage.

The Oregon Supreme Court holds that giving a deed to secure a debt and receiving an agreement to recovery on payment of the debt, make the transaction a mortgage, although the giving of a deed in satisfaction of a debt, and at the same time receiving an agreement to convey, would not constitute a mortgage. In an action for damages for breach of contract to reconvey land it appeared that the plaintiffs deeded the land to secure a debt, and the defendant agreed to reconvey it in the condition in which it was received. Since the defendant had committed waste and refused to restore the land when demanded under the terms of the contract, it was not necessary to make a tender before the suit for damages.—Angus v. Holbrooke (Ore.), 170 Pac. 1179.

Notice of Sale Under Mortgage.

Powers of sale in a mortgage are contractual, and, as there are many opportunities for oppression, courts of equity are disposed to scrutinize them, and to hold the mortgage to the letter of the contract. It is essential to the validity of a sale under a power to comply fully with the requirements as to giving notice of the sale. This is the rule, but in its enforcement the presumption of law is in favor of the regularity in the execution of the power of sale.—Jenkins v. Griffin, North Carolina Supreme Court, 95 S. E. 166.

Construction of Sale Contract.

Landowners contracted with a corporation that it would plat, advertise and sell certain premises. The agreement provided that the corporation should have its expenses reimbursed out of the proceeds of sales, and that at the termination of the contract the lands unsold should be reconveyed to the owners on their paying the improvement charges. The Washington Supreme Court holds, Cannon Hill Co. v. Moore, 170 Pac. 551, that the corporation is not, on the expiration of the contract, entitled to a deficiency judgment against the landowner for expenses incurred for the benefit of unsold lands.

QUERY DEPARTMENT

This department is intended to be of service to all interested in the real estate market, whether as broker, agent or property owner. The readers of the Record and Guide are invited to send in questions on matters pertaining to real estate, building and building management, though legal questions will not be answered in this column. Questions should be stated as fully but as briefly as possible so as to allow intelligent answers. Arrangements have been made through which the questions will be answered by a Committee of the Real Estate Board, including the following

E. A. Tredwell, real estate broker.
Frederick D. Kalley, real estate broker.
Robert R. Rainey, real estate broker.
B. E. Martin.
William Douglas Kilpatrick, builder.
H. H. Murdock, architect.

Question No. 320.—A clause in a lease reads that the party of the second part will pay all taxes which shall be levied annually or otherwise by the City of New York after February 1, 1918, which is the date the lease goes into effect. Is the party of the first part entitled to pay a proportionate share of the tax of 1918 for the month of January, 1918? W. C. D.

Answer.—No. 323. Under such a lease the party of the first part is not liable for a proportionate share of the tax of 1918 for the month of January, 1918.

Annual Report of Realty Company.

The annual report of the Charles F. Noyes Company, which has been received, shows a very favorable condition of this firm's business. The report follows:

The business of the Charles F. Noyes Company for the year ending April 30, 1918, was the best in the history of the company. This organization was one of the first co-operative organizations in the real estate field. The report of Warner & McGrath, certified accountants, showed that the business had made substantial increases in every department and its business was greater by $5,000,000 than that of any previous year.

The business was established twenty years ago by Charles F. Noyes, who is still in active charge. Associated with Mr. Noyes in the management of the business are Fisher P. Weaver, Frederick B. Lewis, William B. Falconer, Joseph D. Cronan, Robert E. Leigh, M.

E., F. W. Gridley, E. C. Benedict and S. K. Green. The renting and selling departments of the business are among the largest of any firm in New York, and the renting department alone showed a gain last year of .744 per cent.

During the past year Mr. Noyes has leased the entire sixth floor in the "Wyllys" Building, 92 William street, which will be exclusively occupied by his business. On account of the rapid growth of its agency department two additional engineers have been placed on the staff of Robert E. Leigh, the plant engineer of the company. This department alone exclusively manages nearly 400 buildings, and the company looks out for 2,370 tenants. Its business, as heretofore, will continue strictly along the lines of managing, selling, leasing and mortgaging business real estate, specializing in the downtown section.

Woman Buys in Bronx.

Mrs. Louise H. Jackson acquired from the Benenson Realty Company the two five-story apartment houses at 887 and 891 Southern Boulevard, each on a plot 75 x 105, near Barretto street. Mrs. Jackson gave for this property cash and a free and clear tract of five acres on White Plains Road, Clason Point. Samuel Kronsky negotiated the deal, which involved about $200,000.

Sells Country Place.

Arthur C. Sheridan sold at auction for the estate of the late O. E. Butterfield, who was counsel general for the New York Central Railroad, the large country place known as "Knollands," 155 acres of land and large Colonial dwelling and outbuildings located on Pines Bridge Road at the shore of Croton Lake, Westchester County, N. Y. The buyer is Henry Hardway, Western capitalist, and owner of extensive potash mines in this country. When Mr. Sheridan asked for bids at the sale which took place on the premises at 3 p. m. last Saturday, June 8, fully 100 persons faced him. Bidding started at $20,000. The property is convenient to Mt. Kisco Station and in the neighborhood of the homes of Arthur S. Scribner, Louis Marshall, John McKesson, Robert Shaw Brewster and the Fargo, Van Cortlandt and Van Rensselaer Places.

REAL ESTATE REVIEW OF THE WEEK

Active Market In Sale of Tenements This Week—
Women Buyers Figures In Week's Reports.—Leasing Good

TENEMENT properties figured largely in the sales of the week, and there was a particularly active market for apartments and private dwellings, several sales of especial importance being made in the latter class.

In the Bronx G. H. Berg bought from Frederick Brown, operator, three four-story apartment houses at 2690, 2694 and 2698 Briggs avenue, which return about $9,200 a year, and have been held at $80,000. Gertrude V. Manger purchased from the estate of William Diehl, 338 East 14th street, a four-story tenement. Joseph L. Buttenweiser bought from K. Riggs two six-story tenements in Attorney street, and a five-story tenement in Norfolk street was purchased by investors.

Deals involving apartment houses were features of a somewhat quiet market early in the week. An important transaction concerned the seven-story structure at the southeast corner of Riverside Drive and 85th street, sold by the estate of Edwin G. Vail of Poughkeepsie to Joseph S. Ward, president of the Thomas Ward Coal Company. This was an all-cash sale, and was negotiated through Edward N. Crosby & Company. The property was held at $100,000.

Profit taking was a feature in the sales of the week. In every case professionals were the sellers. Seeing bargains they did not hesitate to take advantage of them and now reap the harvest. There are many bargains to be had, but investors fail to grasp many of them. Overcaution is the great fault of the market, brokers agree. A little temerity would have a very satisfactory effect on trading and on the bank accounts of traders. Real estate men maintain that the market never presented better opportunities, and recent sales in the old shipping district south of Brooklyn Bridge, on Washington Heights and in the Bronx are evidence of this.

Women buyers were active this week, one purchasing from the Benenson Realty Company two five-story apartment houses on Southern Boulevard in a deal involving about $200,000. In exchange the buyer, Mrs. Louise H. Jackson, gave part cash and five acres of free and clear property on White Plains Road, Clason Point. Another sale in which the buyer is a woman was that of 973 Fifth avenue, a modern, fireproof six-story American basement dwelling, sold by Pease & Elliman for Mrs. Carlos M. de Heredia to Mrs. C. J. Cornell, a sale involving nearly $300,000. The sale of this house completes a deal involving over $1,000,000. The other house, which adjoins that just bought by Mrs. Cornell, was the property inherited by the Metropolitan Museum of Art from the late Isaac D. Fletcher, and sold to Henry F. Sinclair, president of the Sinclair Oil and Refining Company for his own occupancy.

In the downtown district the sale of the seven-story Electrical Exchange building, occupying the block front on the east side of Washington street, between Cedar and Liberty streets, was of particular interest to real estate interests. This building is one of the best known of the older group of downtown office and loft buildings. It is assessed by the city at $400,000, of which $225,000 represents the value of the building. The buyer is an investor, a client of Edward N. Perkins, an attorney, whose identity for the present is hidden in the Liberty-Washington-Cedar Street Corporation, formed last week at Albany with a capital of $100,000.

A loan of $400,000 was secured this week through Charles F. Noyes Company from the East River Savings Institution on the property known as the Fisher Building, at the northeast corner of Broadway and 37th street, owned by the Hobart Estate of San Francisco. The property comprises an area or about 21,500 square feet and is improved with a twelve-story mercantile building, erected in 1913. Of particular significance in this loan is the fact that the bank loaned the money for no other reason or inducement than the excellent security, both in value of property and the strength of the bond. No sale of foreclosed property owned by the bank entered into the transaction.

Leasing, for over a year the source of principal activity on the part of brokers, continued good this week, and several important transactions were reported. Apartments are in great demand, but with few available. Leasing for business purposes, while good, is not as active as it was a few months ago, although a few leases for business purposes are consummated every day.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

THE total number of sales reported and not recorded in Manhattan this week was 29 as against 20 last week and 20 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 59th street was 15 as compared with 5 last week and 6 a year ago.

The sales north of 59th street aggregate 14 as compared with 15 last week and 14 a year ago.

From the Bronx 16 sales at private contract were reported as against 8 last week and 11 a year ago.

Statistical table, indicating the number of recorded instruments, will be found on page 795 of this issue.

Sale on Fifth Avenue.

off from time to time to various parties, who have since erected some of the finest houses in the city. In fact, the so-called Cook block is considered one of the finest completed blocks of residences in the city.

The house in question occupies a lot 25 x 100, and has a right of way for a tradesmen's and servants' entrance over the fifteen-foot strip adjoining on the east to 79th street.

The house was erected from plans by the late Stanford White, of McKim, Mead & White, and was completed about ten years ago, and but for a short period, when it was occupied by Mrs. de Heredia, the house has been unoccupied.

It is interesting to note that less than a week ago the adjoining corner of 79th street, size 32 x 100, was also sold by Pease & Elliman for the Metropolitan Museum of Art, who inherited the property from the late Isaac D. Fletcher.

The two houses represented a value of over $1,000,000, but the sales prices aggregated quite a little less than this sum.

Sale in Mid-town Section.

A modern mid-town loft building was traded for a valuable tract of Bronx lots on Thursday in a deal involving about $750,000. The Hasco Realty Company, Lorne A. Scott, President, sold to Paul M. Herzog, lawyer and real estate operator, the new twelve-story mercantile building at 44 to 50 East 32d street, on a plot 66.4x100, which shows an annual return of about $60,000 and has been held at $550,000. In exchange the buyer gave the tract of forty-four lots, free and clear, comprising the greater portion of the block bounded by the Grand Boulevard and Concourse, Valentine avenue, 196th and 197th streets, in the Bronx. The property begins at 196th street, where the frontage is 250 feet, and extends along the Concourse for 428 feet and along Valentine avenue 375 feet, the northerly line measuring 307.6 feet. The tract has been valued at $200,000 and will probably be held for improvement with apartment houses.

Sell Electrical Exchange.

The seven-story Electrical Exchange building, occupying the block front on the east side of Washington street, between Cedar and Liberty streets, has been sold by William H. Oscanyan to an investor, a client of Edward N. Perkins, attorney, whose identity for the present is hidden in the Liberty-Washington-Cedar Street Corporation, formed at Albany last week with a capital of $100,000. The Electrical Exchange is one of the best known of the older group of downtown office and loft buildings, and, as it name implies, has been tenanted chiefly by the electrical trade, which has centered in that section for a number of years. The building is known as 147 to 153 Washington street, 139 to 143 Cedar street and 132 to 138 Liberty street. It has a frontage of 111.8 feet on Washington street, 89.10 on Cedar street and 97.2 feet on Liberty street. The rear line is irregular. The city assesses the property for taxation purposes at $400,000, of which $225,000 represents the value of the building. Mr. Oscanyan acquired the structure in 1904, at which time there were two transfers of the building. It was first conveyed by Henry Corn to Leo Schlesinger, subject to mortgages for $475,000, and later by Mr. Schlesinger to Mr. Oscanyan, subject to liens of $350,000. Several months ago the building was seriously damaged by fire. It has been entirely renovated.

Frederick Brown has resold to Mrs. Ellen Ewall the two modern five-story apartment houses at 554 and 558 West 148th street, which he acquired last week from Ellie T. Williams of Greenwich, Conn. The buildings accommodate forty families and produce an annual return of about $20,000. They occupy a plot 100 x 100 adjoining the southeast corner of Broadway. The new owner gave, in addition to cash, 319 East 29th street, a five-story, twenty-family flat, 35 x 98.9, near Second avenue, and 534 East 135th street, between Brook and St. Ann's avenues, a six-story, new-law house, 37.6 x 100, with accommodation for thirty families. O'Reilly & Dahm negotiated the transaction.

Operator Buys in 85th Street.

One of the modern apartment houses in the Fifth avenue section—the nine-story fireproof structure at 3 East 85th street—was purchased last Saturday by Frederick Brown from Mrs. Robert S. Minturn through Douglas L. Elliman & Company and William A. White & Sons. Mrs. Minturn acquired the property in July, 1913, in a trade with the Fullerton Weaver Realty Company, builders of the structure, for the Kensington Building, at the northeast corner of Fifth avenue and 15th street, whose site was previously occupied by a hotel of that name. The 85th street property originally was owned by the New York & Harlem Railroad, which sold the site, 50 x 102.2, in 1912 through Douglas L. Elliman & Company to S. Fullerton Weaver, who erected the structure from plans by J. E. R. Carpenter and then sold it to Mrs. Minturn. It adjoins the residence of James B. Clews on the Fifth avenue corner, and is completely occupied at rentals aggregating $29,000, the tenants including Charles E. Mitchell, of the National City Company; Donald Brown, of Cross & Brown Company, and S. Fullerton Weaver.

Buys Country Estate.

On Saturday last, at Shippan Point, Conn., Arthur C. Sheridan, auctioneer, sold, for Arnstein & Levy and George Backer, Broadview, a country estate comprising two acres, with stucco residence, overlooking the Sound. After spirited bidding the property was struck down for $24,100 to M. P. Cudahy, of Chicago, who will occupy the place as his summer home. In the immediate vicinity are the fine estates of Judge W. E. B. Lockwood and Philip Herman. The sale attracted an audience of about one hundred and fifty persons.

HERBERT A. SHERMAN, JR., who was for eight years engaged in the real estate business of his father, Herbert A. Sherman, at 20 Nassau st., has received his commission as Second Lieutenant of Infantry. He enlisted as a private in the Regular Army at Fort Slocum and was soon made a Corporal; two months later he was sent to Camp Dix and made a Sergeant, and trained nearly a thousand National Army men; he was then sent to the Officers' Training School at Camp Dix and was recommended for a commission; then sent to Camp Gordon, where he is now, and has received his commission as Second Lieutenant of Infantry. His brother, Roger Sherman, is a Second Lieutenant of Infantry, and has been in active service in France since February.

HOBART ESTATE, San Francisco, owner of the property known as Fisher Building, at the northeast corner of Broadway and 37th st., secured of the East River Savings Institution through Charles F. Noyes Co. a loan of $400,000. The Hobart property comprises an area of about 21,500 sq. ft. and is improved with a 12-story mercantile building erected in 1913. There was no inducement offered to the bank to make the loan other than the excellent security, both in value of the property and strength of bond; no sale of foreclosed property owned by the bank entering into the transaction. The Hobart Estate was represented by its New York attorneys, Messrs. Murray, Prentice & Howland; the East River Savings Institution by Edward R. Vollmer.

REAL ESTATE BOARD OF NEW YORK calls the attention of those who are interested in the extension of 7th av and the widening and extension of Varick st. to a special meeting of the Board of Estimate & Apportionment on Tuesday, June 25, at 10:30 A. M., to give public hearing on petition for relief from assessment in that proceeding. The request for such relief was made by the Real Estate Board in the latter part of March as the result of a gathering of property owners held at the Board rooms on March 21. The meeting on Tuesday will be in room 16, City Hall. Last March, at the property owners' meeting, a committee was formed to try, through both the legislature and the Board of Estimate to secure a redistribution of the assessment which will amount to between nine and ten million dollars. A bill introduced in the Legislature failed and the property owners' opportunity now comes at the public hearing of the Board of Estimate. In view of the strong opposition that has developed of the laying of this assessment, the hearing next Tuesday should be largely attended.

THEODORE P. SHONTS, President of the Interborough Rapid Transit Co., at the request of the War Department, has consented to lend to the Government the services of Arthur W. Warner, that company's real estate expert, for war work. Mr. Warner was sought, it is understood, because of his special familiarity with technical condemnation or requisition work and experience in handling real estate problems of large organizations.

He is well known in real estate circles in New York, where, after a legal and newspaper training, he entered the real estate business in 1902, going with the Interborough in 1908 to organize its real estate department, when Mr. Shonts took over the management of that company. He gained much experience in the kind of work he is to undertake for the Government in handling the purchase and condemnation of real estate for right of way and power station purposes for the Interborough and the City in carrying out the Dual contracts for the extension of New York's subway and elevated railway system.

He is a member of the executive committee of the New York Building Managers' Association, and of the Real Estate Board, Merchants' Association, and Bronx Board of Trade, and is a contributor to various trade journals on technical real estate subjects.

BLISS TALKS

"No owner need hesitate about providing his buildings with such a service."

The well-known Real Estate agent who recently made this remark to us has had much trouble in the past with the vermin pest in some of his properties. In contracting for Bliss Service, he has been fully convinced that to reduce vacancies, get the right kind of tenants and keep them, and maintain rentals on a profitable basis, Exterminator Service is absolutely essential. "Bliss Service Satisfies"—we'll demonstrate it for you without charge.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS, MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES

[Record and Guide Quotations Are Accepted as Official by Building Material Exchanges.]

PROBABLY no better evidence of the trend toward an improved building situation is possible than the number and quantity of the speculative structural operations that have been announced during the past week or ten days. Reports of new projects of this nature are growing in volume, and now form a representative part of the total number of active building operations. While this type of construction does not include many large individual projects there is a growing disposition on the part of speculative and investment builders to start work where possible, and although operations are on a relatively small scale the desire to build is at least a promise of better times in store for the building trades of this community.

In the Bronx, Brooklyn, Queens and also in Long Island and New Jersey, towns tributary to New York, there has been a marked movement recently toward the erection of small dwellings for one and two families. For the greater part these operations are of a speculative nature, built by owners who desire to sell them. The need has been intense for buildings of this type, and it is predicted that the builders will experience no difficulty in disposing of all they can erect at a good profit.

Within the boundaries of Greater New York a number of new tenement house projects have been planned, and construction is being started for the greater part without delay. Architects and builders have recently been assured that the kind of materials commonly used for structures of this character are readily available and in sufficient volume to make the starting of construction an easy problem, and that only in a comparatively few instances will it be necessary to wait for the delivery of essential materials and supplies.

This naturally does not apply to the supply of structural steel and some other building commodities which are required in large volume for Government needs, but as the use of materials of the sort are not always essential to construction of the type now under consideration or as some other medium may be substituted the material situation offers no unsurmountable problem.

Building projects involving the alteration and extension of existing structures continue active in large number, and the total cost of the work of this nature at present represents a large total expenditure.

Government construction undoubtedly retains its position as the dominating factor in the local building situation, and although the federal departments have not recently announced many entirely new projects to be located in this territory work on the jobs already under way is progressing rapidly, and the building trades are for the most part satisfactorily engaged at a reasonable rate of profit.

The building material markets are almost without exception extremely quiet, but there is an undercurrent of anticipation noticeable to the effect that materially increased opportunities for business will result before long. Prices are generally firm and likely to hold to their present high levels. In a number of specific instances the price scale will undoubtedly move upward owing to the increased production costs and the labor situation. The trend is all in this direction, but it is a difficult matter to predict the future of the market at this time. The demand for materials and supplies is considered satisfactory considering the circumstances under which the building industry is operating, and from all accounts there are sufficient materials available for almost any requirement made upon the market.

Common Brick.—No change of any moment has occurred during the week in the Hudson River brick market. The volume of sales has been approximately the same as that which has now maintained over a period of a month or more, and the arrivals from up-river points are just about equal to the loads taken out of the market, so there is no large reserve piling up in the wholesale market. The dealers, however, have a considerable supply on hand and sufficient for every demand that can possibly be made upon them. Wholesale prices have advanced and are firm at the new level. Common brick is now being quoted generally at $11.50 a thousand for cargo lots, alongside dock, and $12 a thousand is being asked in some instances for the best grades. It is anticipated that this figure will be obtained in the near future as the regular market price, as the tendency is all toward a rising market. The prime reason for the advance is the scarcity of labor at production points for loading barges. The loading costs have mounted recently to an extent that producers were required to obtain the high prices now current in order to make a reasonable profit. Production is progressing, but only upon the most limited scale, and according to manufacturers there will not be any such quantity of brick under cover in the yards during the coming winter as there was last year. There has been no change in the situation as regards Raritan brick. They are out of the market as far as deliveries in New York are concerned.

SUMMARY.—Transactions in the North River brick market for the week ending Friday, June 21, 1918. Condition of market: Demand fair; prices higher. Quotations: Hudson Rivers, $11.50 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 13; sales, 14. Distribution: Manhattan, 4; Brooklyn, 4; New Jersey points, 6.

Lumber.—From almost all lines of trade the demand for lumber is strong at present, and according to the outlook business is likely to maintain steady for some time to come. Although there is only a moderate demand for lumber from building interests and the manufacturing consumers are the dominant factor in the field at present there is a growing activity among the building trades that gives promise of additional business for the material supply interests. Both wholesale and retail dealers' stocks are at a low ebb, and with the difficulties of transportation are experiencing considerable trouble in replenishing them. There has been a slight improvement in the freight situation during the past few weeks, and the lumber trade is looking forward to additional relief in the near future. Lumber prices are firm and with a tendency to advance from the existing levels.

Structural Steel.—During the week the only activity of importance as far as commitments for fabricated material was concerned has been the placing of orders for a large total tonnage for Government construction and for other building operations directly resulting from war needs. Private building operations requiring steel in any quantity are practically out of the market and although there is some steel available for this purpose the amount is negligible. According to the records of the Bridge Builders and Structural Society it is shown that during the month of May, 1918, sixty per cent. of the entire capacity of the bridge and structural shops of the country was contracted for. This approximates 108,000 tons which is in the neighborhood of 9,000 tons above the average for the first four months of this year. Prices are unchanged.

Window Glass.—Almost everybody affiliated with the window glass trade are agreed that business is duller today than it has been within their recollection. There is an absence of demand from building sources and jobbers are reporting extremely quiet times. Manufacturing has practically ceased for the balance of the season on account of the hot weather and will not be resumed again until next October or November. Only a small percentage of the plants are still in blast and these are expected to terminate operations almost any day. The output for this year has been light indeed and the industry has had many difficulties to contend with, yet there are many in the trade who are of the opinion that the season might have been much worse and that the year will produce better results in the whole than was anticipated some months ago. At the present time manufacturers' schedules of discounts remain as for some time past, but there are revisions imminent.

Portland Cement.—The market situation is generally considered satisfactory by the manufacturers, with the demand holding up firmly and the producers readily disposing of all they are able to make. Fuel is now coming through in good style, and the manufacturers would have little to complain of if the labor conditions could be adjusted. Prices are firm at $2.59 a barrel for cargoes of 1,000 barrels or more, New York; but the increase in the freight rates that will become effective June 25 will undoubtedly increase the cost of this material to jobbers by about eight cents a barrel.

Cast Iron Pipe.—As the manufacturers of this commodity are devoting more than fifty per cent. of their output to Government requirements the private demands are only obtaining what consideration is possible after Federal demands are filled. Private buying is light and for the business current buyers are given to understand that deliveries are uncertain. At the present writing cast iron pipe for non-war requirements can be delivered by the manufacturers in six to eight weeks, which is reasonable under the circumstances. Government control prices dominate all quotations and are as follows: $61.35 a ton, New York, for 6 in., 8 in., and heavier; $64.35 for 4 in.

Wire Products.—Government requirements largely dominate the situation in this industry and although no important Federal orders have been announced within the past week or ten days the mills are loaded up for the next four or five months with contracts to furnish wire and nails directly or indirectly for Government use. The stocks in the hands of the jobbers are greatly depleted and at the present time it is indefinite when they will be able to replenish them. All of the mills producing wire and wire nails now require priority certificates before orders will be filled by them. Government control prices are effective until June 30.

Linseed Oil.—Although the demand for linseed oil is not particularly brisk, the market is firm and prices have advanced during the week. Current quotations are $1.60 a gallon for lots of five barrels or more, for raw, city brands, and $1.61 a gallon for smaller lots. The strength of the market is a result of the scarcity of seed for the crushers and according to the present outlook none is immediately available.

Cut Nails.—Manufacturers report a fairly heavy commercial demand for cut nails, but owing to the recent orders of the War Industries Board giving priority to Government requirements to the extent of 100 per cent. of the mill capacity, jobbers are experiencing difficulty in filling orders.

PROMINENT CONTRACTORS ERECTING HIGH CLASS BRONX APARTMENTS

THE unusual demand for living accommodations is evidenced in the rapid and complete renting of the apartment house completed in September, 1917, built by Niewenhou Brothers, Inc., for more than twenty-seven years active builders in the Melrose section of the Bronx. Much thought was devoted to a convenient layout, which resulted in instant success of this apartment. This operation has been so successful both artistically and financially that the builders have commenced work on two more apartments of a similar character, despite the high cost of materials and labor.

The present building, as well as the two buildings now under construction, Avenue A, which for the past fifty years has been occupied by a large asylum. The buildings which have been occupied as a house for children will be altered.

Architects have been preparing preliminary sketches of the buildings on the block, and after careful study, a conclusive layout has been devised. Structures at the corner of 90th street and Avenue A, and also the corner of 89th street and Avenue A, and the adjoining building in 89th street, the sizes of which are respectively 68 by 75 feet; 141 by 45 feet, and 87 by 52 feet, will be extensively attired.

These three buildings will be remodelled with apartment houses of a modern type with suites of three and four rooms of exceptional size, heated from Niewenhou Bros., Builders.

MODERN APARTMENTS UNDER CONSTRUCTION IN THE BRONX.

have been planned with an imposing court leading to the street, thirty feet wide, and elaborately treated as an entrance to the building. This court gives access to three stairways, and is laid out in grass plots and flower beds. Suites consists of four, five, six and seven room units, with six families on each floor. The floor plan is arranged so that each stairway is used by only two families on each floor. Rentals range from $9 to $10 per room. In every case the courts are 100 to 150 per cent. wider than those required by law assuring excellent natural light and ventilation.

Careful thought was given to planning and despite the fact that there are six families on each floor, all apartments will face the street or, in other words, will be outside apartments. Each suite has a large foyer, with living and dining rooms containing a floor area of 200 square feet. The chambers have an area of 150 to 165 square feet and are equipped with large built-in clothes and linen closets.

No expense will be spared in finishing these buildings. The woodwork throughout is of hardwood, finished in oak, mahogany, and white enamel. The floors of living rooms, dining rooms and foyers are parquet. The balance of the rooms have oak floors. The bath room walls are to be covered with a sanitary tile and all plumbing is to be the best. There are accommodations in the basement for drying clothes. The apartments will be located so as to give easy access to the Melrose station, Harlem Division of the New York Central Railroad; also crosstown surface line or easy transfer to the Lenox Avenue subway.

Niewenhou Brothers, as builders, have also obtained the contract to alter the entire square block bounded by 89th street to 90th street, First avenue to a central heating plant and lighted with electric light. The interior finish will be equal to those of modern construction. An advantage of these apartments will be the immense court in the rear which will be exclusively reserved for the use of the tenants.

Another building to be altered is located at 90th street and First avenue, the size of which is 102 by 125 feet. This will be converted into a garage with all the modern appliances, including ramps. This building will accommodate one hundred and ten automobiles. There are two other buildings in addition to the four above mentioned, one of which is a laundry with full equipment already in place, with steam or electric power plant.

The location is exceptional, due to the fact that it is close to the water front of the East River and in close proximity to an attractive park.

This entire enterprise will be one of the largest of its kind in the city and when completed will be solely under the management of Niewenhou Brothers, Inc.

PERSONAL AND TRADE NOTES.

Wesley S. Bessell, architect, formerly at 56 West 45th street, has been retained by the Construction Department, U. S. Army, and is stationed at Washington, D. C.

W. Weissenberger, Jr., architect, 32 Union Square, announces that he has changed his name and in future will be known as W. Whitehill. He requests his friends and business associates to call him by his new legal name.

CALENDAR

CALL OF CALENDAR.

The Clerk's Calendar will be called in Room 919, on Tuesday, at 10 o'clock sharp, and cases will then be taken from the General Calendar, and set down for hearing during the following week. Any requests for adjournment must be made when Clerk's Calendar is called.

The Clerk's Calendar consists of cases which are complete, but which have not yet been set down for hearing on a definite date. It is not to be confused with the Calendar, which consists of cases that have been definitely set for fixed days.

The listing of an appeal or petition in this Calendar is full and sufficient notice to all persons interested that such case will be heard on the date set and no adjournment will be allowed on the ground of ignorance of the date or of lack of due notice.

All hearings are held in Room 470, Municipal Building, Manhattan.

Buy Down Town Property to Save Paying Rent

More Sales East of Broadway Below City Hall in the Last Twenty Months Than in the Previous Twenty Years

By CHARLES F. NOYES

DOWNTOWN real estate has proved its worth. I can state positively that when a parcel in this locality is properly selected it is the one best investment that can be made.

This statement is made notwithstanding the fact that the real estate market has been and is handicapped by the absence of mortgage money for reasons perfectly well known by realty experts, and notwithstanding the "knocks" real estate has received until recently by alleged fire prevention experts and various City and State authorities who tried to over-regulate and over-inspect it until it might be bled to death.

Incidentally thanks are due to Thomas J. Drennan, our present Fire Commissioner, and Dr. William F. Doyle, the best Fire Prevention Chief in my time, for their efforts to correct this pernicious practice.

There are persons who are offering gratuitous advice to possible investors to keep out of the real estate market at the present time and to invest their money in other securities. These people are usually unfortunate individuals who inherited or purchased over-capitalized buildings, erected during a boom, with an abnormally high rent roll and an equally abnormal mortgage as their only merit. They believed they had value when true underlying value did not exist, as might be indicated on the basis of reproduction, and they have been writhing, and twisting, and lamenting their fate because a perfectly reasonable and just mortgagee has been asking payments on account of the abnormally high loan.

There are five facts that will surprise the ordinary follower of the real estate market:

First.—On the lower East Side more property has been sold during the past twenty months than during the previous twenty years.

Second.—The buying has been largely for occupancy and for investment.

Third.—Many sales have been on a strictly all-cash basis.

Fourth.—Property in this section has never been more eagerly sought, either for rental or purchase.

Fifth.—Rentals have increased, only a little space is available, and while a few years ago real estate was dormant, now it is in active demand at good prices, despite the adverse conditions referred to.

Yes, more property has been sold on the lower East Side during the past twenty months than during the past twenty years, and this in a market where mortgage loans are difficult or impossible to secure, and with the most adverse conditions due to local causes and aggravated by the world conflict. This fact alone is full of significance, and an analysis of the character of the very recent buying is interesting.

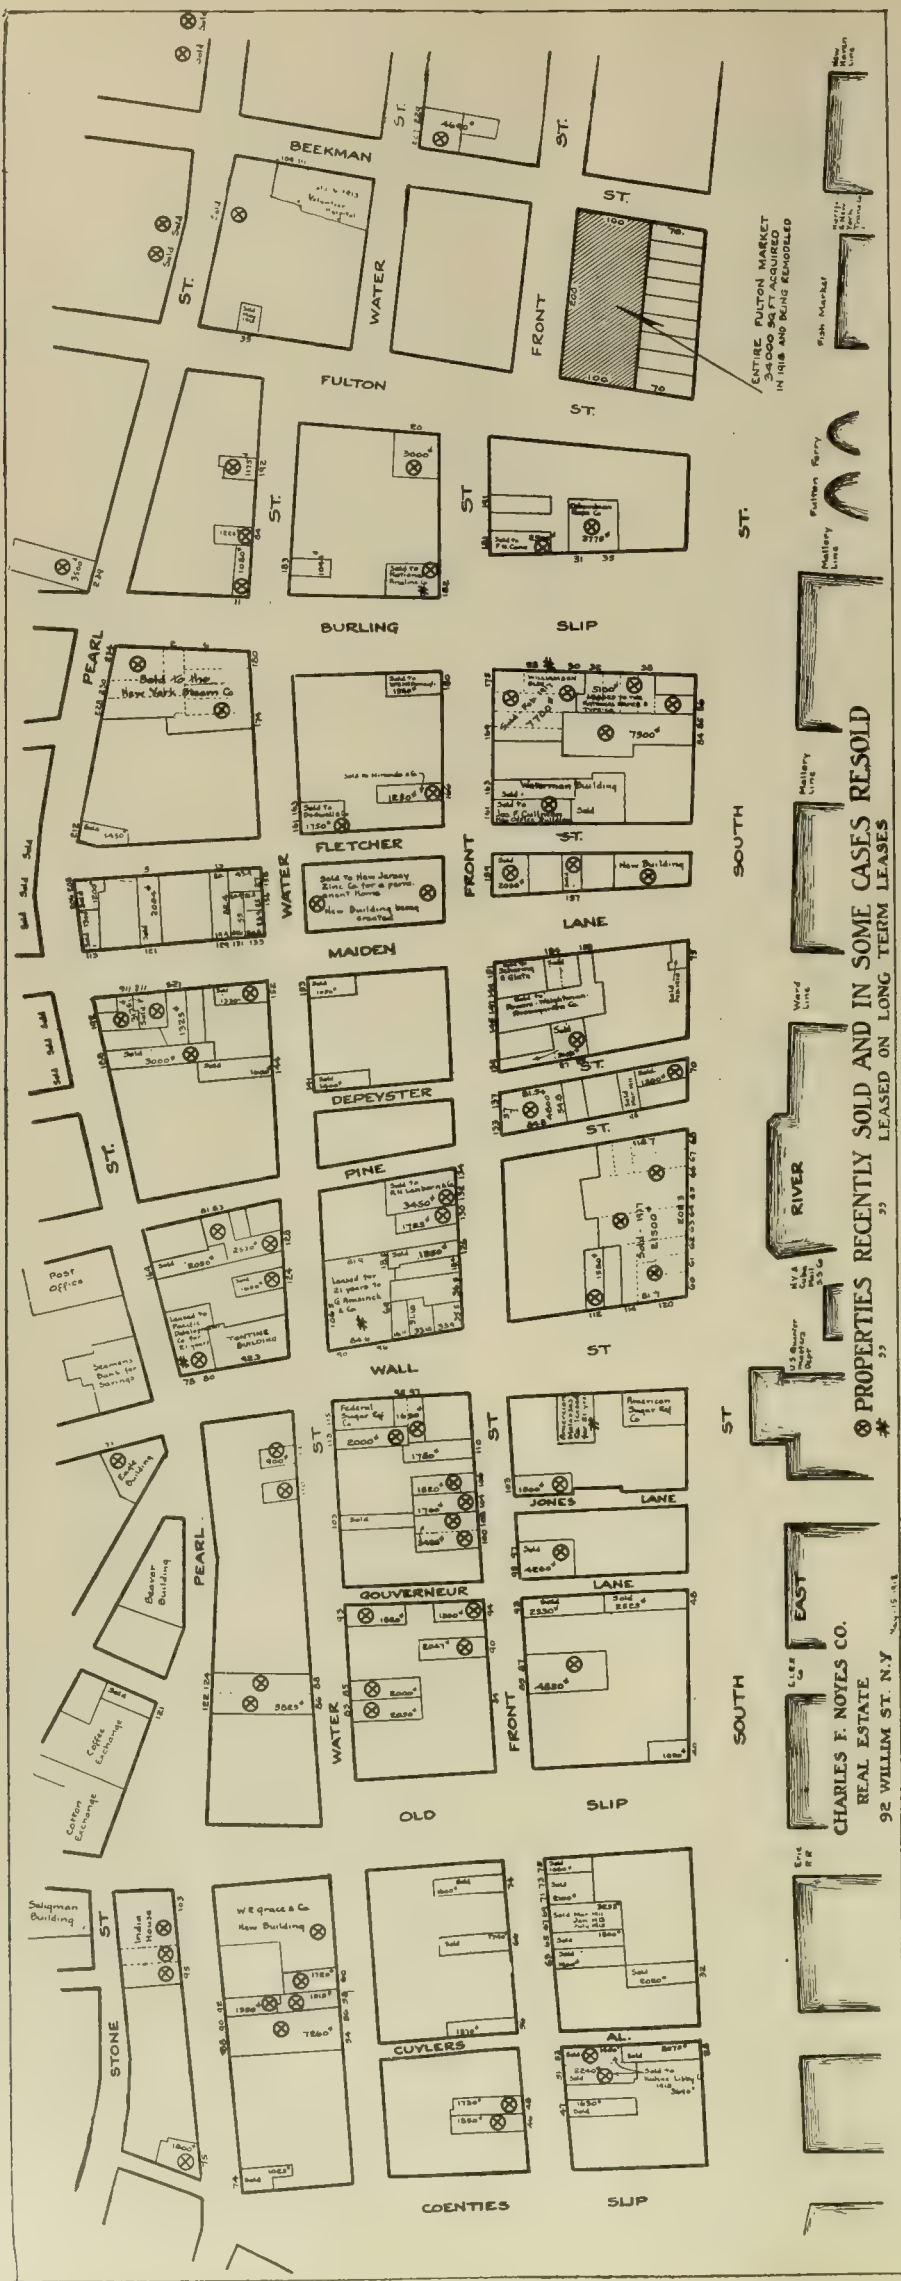

The recent purchase of the 34,000 square foot plot taking in the block on Nassau street from Maiden lane to Liberty street, by the Federal Reserve Bank at over $3,000,000, with the certain additional value that the ultimate improvement will bring to the neighborhood; the purchase of the eight or ten buildings taking in the entire block on Maiden lane to Fletcher from Front to Water; and the erection of the new modern building by and for the New Jersey Zinc Co., is certain to help Maiden lane from Broadway to the East River and the contiguous property.

Other purchases that can be referred to of great significance are the plot of 27,000 sq. ft. of ground, 13-27 Broadway to the Cunard Line; the purchase of 35-39 Broadway, 11-15 Trinity place, a plot of over 17,000 sq. ft., and its improvement, by Gaston, Williams & Wigmore; the purchase of seven different buildings at 88-92 Pearl street and 54-60 Water street, by W. R. Grace & Co., for an extension of their big banking house; the securing of 72-74 Broadway and 9-11 New street by the Central Union Trust Co.; the purchase of the old "Delmonico Building," at Beaver and South William streets, by the Merchants Marine House; the recent securing of 103-105 William street by the Maryland Casualty Co. for its permanent home; the taking over of 71-75 Wall street by the American Cotton and Grain Exchange, and in the same neighborhood the purchase of ten or twelve buildings taking in the entire block front on South street, from Wall to Pine, with a plottage of over 22,000 sq. ft., by Frederic E. Gunnison for himself and associates, and the leasing in the same neighborhood of big office buildings to Amsinck & Co.; the American Molasses Co., the Pacific Development Co., and the purchase of 112 Wall street by Czarnikow Rionda Co. At 22-24 Pearl street, near the Battery, Furness Withy & Co., Ltd., secured a site for their business home, and only a month ago the Mexican Telegraph Co. took over the entire block on Broad street from South William to Stone, for immediate improvement, and Carl Platou purchased a large plot at 113-115 Broad street and 27 Front, to be largely occupied by his business.

A very important transaction was the taking over by lease, with a contract to purchase, of the Fulton Market, a plot of 34,000 feet, taking in the entire block from South to Front and Fulton to Beekman. This was secured by W. Elsworth Sprague and Harry Trimm of Hunter & Trimm, two big fish houses, who are now altering the property, a portion of which will be sub-leased.

The Front street district has been very active and sales have been recorded as follows: 7-9 Front street to the Seaboard Trading Co.; 33 Front street to Edward W. Burr; 46-48 Front street to J. J. Curtin, Inc.; 43-47 Front street to the Seamen's Church Institute; Map Showing Recent Sales and Leases on the East Side, South of Beekman Street.

51-53 Front street to Kuhne-Libby Co.; 64 Front street to William E. Williams; 90 Front street to Bleecker & Simmons; 94 Front street to Russell & Co.; 95-97 Front street to Thomas S. Gladding; 100-104 Front street to Arkell & Douglas; 103 Front street to Adolph C. Israel; 130 Front street to James J. Kane; 132-134 Front street to Blanco Realty Corporation; 166 Front street to Charles Fox for F. Miranda & Co.; 181 Front street to Frederick H. Cone; 232-234 Front street to Michael J. Ginnane, and 241-243 Front street to Morton B. Smith Co.

In addition to the purchase of Joseph F. Cullman of the corner of Fletcher and Front streets, which has been improved for the exclusive use of Cullman Brothers, Mr. Cullman's purchases in the neighborhood have been many and varied and at times sensational. His first instructions were for our office to purchase a dozen or fifteen buildings in the blocks on Burling slip from Front to South streets. These were accumulated and immediately rented on long term leases to good advantages, some of the leases running for 21 years.

Mr. Cullman then acquired the entire block on Front street from Maiden lane to Fletcher, and added the C. C. Hamilton Warehouse at 84-85 South street, incidentally the biggest tobacco warehouse in the district, to his string of properties; left Front street for a while to purchase 35-37 Frankfort street, 192 Water; sold and resold 31-35 Burling slip, the last sale being to the Columbian Rope Co., who occupy the entire building; purchased and resold 60 South street; organized a syndicate to purchase the giant 22-story office building at No. 42 Broadway, which was promptly resold at a big profit, and very recently took over the Venezuela Building—the best office building on Front street, taking in the block front between Pine and Depeyster and containing 35,000 sq. ft.

On Water street buildings that have been sold for occupancy include 32 Water street to Seymour E. Heyman; 85 Water street to the Brooklyn Terminal Co.; 93 Water street to Stanley Jordan & Co.; 124 Water street to W. H. & F. Jordan, Jr., Inc.; 161-163 Water street to Dodwell & Co., Ltd.; 233 Water street to Valentine Lynch & Co.; 386 Water street to Antonia Borelli, and 392 Water street to Samuel Stelowitz.

What Title Guarantee Companies Have Done

By FRANK BAILEY,

Second Vice-President, Bond and Mortgage Guarantee Company.

THE position of the mortgage guarantee companies and their connection with the existing mortgage conditions is perhaps not yet understood by the owners of property.

The four large companies guaranteeing mortgages have under guarantee at the present time in New York City mortgages amounting to between $450,000,000 and $500,000,000. These mortgages, under their system of lending, have been made for three years, and it is with those which are now maturing that the borrowers are chiefly concerned.

In order to aid construction in New York, and promote its development, it was necessary to find new sources of money other than the old sources of supply which existed before these companies came into existence. They solved that problem by offering to guarantee to individuals the payment of principal and interest of their mortgages, taking eighteen months after maturity in which to collect the debt.

They have loaned in New York in the past twenty years close to a billion dollars and about half of that has been paid off. They depend for their ability to take up existing mortgages upon a large cash reserve, and their assets, but principally, as a matter of course, upon their ability to find new takers for the mortgages called, that is, to sell mortgages.

Assuming that one-quarter of these mortgages mature each year, there would be about $100,000,000 of mortgages to be renewed each year. Of these mortgages, eighty per cent. are held by those who feel it a patriotic duty not to disturb investments, and who feel that they should share with the borrowers the burden of existing conditions by not calling upon the borrowers for payment unless the security is impaired, in which event they ask for a reduction in order to make up for the depreciation in value.

The duty of the mortgage guarantee companies has been, therefore, to discourage the calling of mortgages and to use every effort to educate the public to the undesirability, from the standpoint of capital, of pressing the borrowers in times like these.

Their ability to take up, within the contract time, the mortgages which are called is as yet not a task too great for them. In cases where there has been an unjustified pressure on the part of the lender, they have merely stated that they would call for payment in the name of the lender, and have given the borrower time in which to pay or secure a new loan.

This eighteen months' clause, as far as it has operated, or is likely to operate, has been a life-saver to the mortgage market, and the position of the mortgage guarantee companies has been a great stabilizer of the mortgage market by preventing calling. Through personal solicitation, through invoking the eighteen months' clause against the obstreperous, and through using every effort to sell other mortgages in order to meet those mortgages, payment of which was properly demanded, the mortgage guarantee companies have done yeoman's service in keeping the peace between borrower and lender.

They often get unjustly the reputation for calling the mortgages, inasmuch as the correspondence with the owner is conducted by them. The process is that in case John Brown should borrow from a mortgage company, that mortgage is assigned to the investor. At its maturity the investor is asked if he will renew. If he asks for payment of his mortgage, the guarantee company writes the owner to that effect, and helps him to arrange a new loan. But where the mortgage is safe, it tries to induce the lender as a matter of duty not to insist on the call in view of the probability that in the present situation it is tantamount to taking the property away from the owner no matter how much margin there is in the value. There would be nothing more dangerous to the lenders, the borrowers and the mortgage guarantee companies alike than a general calling of mortgages and every effort should be made to prevent such a situation.

The guarantee companies do not favor renewing a mortgage on a property which has depreciated in value without asking the owner to share in the consequences of that depreciation by making the necessary reduction of principal, but no mortgage guarantee company in Greater New York wants a single good mortgage called, nor will it allow its solvent borrowers to be pressed for payment unless some general necessity of the lender should absolutely require it.

For several years now the owners of property have been struggling with a bad problem. They have witnessed decrease in values, stability of or reduction of rents, or no rents at all, increasing taxes and increase of maintenance. Now the property owner seems to be coming a little bit into his own. Rents are increasing. There is a very definite movement towards relieving real estate from part of the burden of taxation, and it would look as if the "promised land" of at least interest on his investment was in sight.

It would be almost an outrage if the property owner were now to lose his property because of a lack of funds to replace mortgages where they are called by those who are unpatriotic. I believe that the first step to relieve the situation should be an organization backed by the principal interests in New York to take care of those mortgages which must be met, and to prevent, by public opinion, the calling of mortgages which are called only for purposes of profiteering.

To Build Piers on Jamaica Bay.

The Sinking Fund Commission approved yesterday the plans of the Dock Department for the improvement of the water front of Jamaica Bay, between Barren Island and Mill Basin, and authorized the construction of fourteen piers each 1,000 feet long and 200 feet wide, and one pier 100 feet in width, with fourteen slips 300 feet in width between the piers.

The Commission's action definitely starts the Jamaica Bay improvement which has been before the city officials for action for years. There will be a public hearing on July 11 on the proposed amendment to the new plan at Jamaica Bay in the vicinity of Gerretsen's Basin, between East Thirty-second street and Flushing avenue. At the same time a hearing will be held on the proposed plan for the strengthening, widening and improvement of Coney Island Creek, and for a ship canal 200 feet wide connecting Sheepshead Bay and Gravesend Bay.

Calls Convention of All Building Industries

United States Chamber of Commerce Sets July 15 and 16 as Date for Meeting at Atlantic City

INVITATIONS have been sent for a National Convention at Atlantic City, July 15th and 16th, of all building material associations, architectural and engineering societies, builders' associations and prominent industrial concerns in the building industry.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States of America, through its President, Harry A. Wheeler, has sent the invitation, of which the text is as follows:

"Business: To consider ways and means whereby the various divisions of the building industries can find a common ground upon which they may give coordinate assistance to the Government during the war; to develop machinery whereby the industries can speak with a united voice upon matters affecting all interests involved, and consider plans for the reestablishment and maintenance of the general prosperity of the industry as a whole.

"It is desired to have the convention as thoroughly representative as possible. Your organization is asked to send as many delegates as may be induced to attend the convention, but it is requested that your organization shall name one delegate—preferably a prominent business man—who shall be authorized to speak for your organization and who may be recognized as willing to serve upon a Central War Service Committee.

"For your information, it may be pointed out that this is one of a large number of trade groups convening at the suggestion of the War Industries Board. If national organization is effected, the Central War Service Committee of the industry will find a relation to the War Industries Board and its several departments through the certification of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The convention takes place at the Hotel Marlborough-Blenheim, and commences at 10 o'clock on Monday, July 15."

It is desirable that all interested parties communicate with Mr. Allen Walker, New York Representative of the Chamber of Commerce, Room 1126 Woolworth Building, acknowledging their invitations promptly, that proper arrangements for the convention be made early as possible.

Nathan Hirsch Defends Mayor Hylan

NATHAN HIRSCH, Chairman of the Mayor's Committee on Taxation and the Investigation of Mortgage Loans, in a statement issued yesterday replied to the recent letters of the Real Estate Board and the West Side Taxpayers' Association, in which they took issue with the Mayor with reference to various of his policies. He said:

"It is perfectly obvious that the adoption of a fixed rate of taxation for real estate would be inconsistent with every principle of efficient business administration.

"Our duty is clearly to find new sources of revenue first, and then the tax rate will automatically adjust itself. Its decline to a point where it will afford positive relief to the taxpayer will be measured only in terms of our ability to find satisfactory new means of income.

"Not alone for this reason, but for others, do I believe that the present is the most opportune time for a real concentrated effort to obtain new sources of city mounting costs of City Government, beyond our power mounting costs of City Government, beyond our power to control, but the city must pay fifteen million dollars to the Interborough and Brooklyn Rapid Transit Railroad Companies under the dual subway contracts, which is piling up at the rate of about one-half million dollars per month. The seven or eight million dollars' claim against the city by the contractors because of neglect on the part of the Public Service Commission, will eventually have to be paid by the city, together with the twelve or fifteen million dollars additional which will have to be paid to the contractors for the completion of the work.

"Steadily increasing public sentiment in favor of salary increases, not only for the Police and Fire Departments, but to all city employees who get less than twelve hundred dollars a year must inevitably result in tremendous new demands upon the City Treasury.

"At the present time there is some twenty-five million dollars due the city in back taxes from certain of the Public Utility Corporations. It does not seem fair that the tax paying citizens of New York and the real estate owners be compelled to pay their taxes promptly, while corporations should be permitted to escape their just obligations to the city. If the Real Estate Board and the West Side Taxpayers' Association and every other real estate and civic organization of New York City join hands with the Mayor's Committee on Taxation, and aid us in curtailing the enormous expenditures and obligations that the Public Service Commission, the Bronx Parkway Commission and the privileges granted to the Brooklyn Rapid Transit and the Interborough under the dual subway contract are continually placing upon the city, they will render a valuable service to the people.

"Our statistician is now engaged in a tabulation of existing sources of revenue in all the large American cities. His findings will be compared with existing sources in New York City and we hope to have bills prepared along these lines and along the lines suggested in the recent report of the sub-committee of which Bryan L. Kennelly is Chairman, which will be productive of additional revenue for the city, of a great many millions of dollars."

To Operate Seventh Avenue Subway.

ANNOUNCEMENT is made by the Public Service Commission that through service on the Seventh Avenue subway between Times Square and the Battery and via shuttle through the Park Place and William Street branch of the line from Chambers Street and West Broadway to Wall and William Streets, will be commenced by the Interborough Rapid Transit Company at 2 o'clock next Monday afternoon. This line has been operating as far as the Pennsylvania depot.

The new piece of road is expected to do much in relieving congestion in travel between Times Square and South Ferry and intermediate points. It will add for this comparatively short distance another line to the two subway and two elevated lines now working.

The stations on the main line will be at Times Square, Pennsylvania station, Twenty-eight, Twenty-third, Eighteenth, and Fourteenth streets, Christopher, Houston, Canal, Franklin Chambers, Cortland, and Rector streets, and South Ferry. On the branch line the stations will be at Park Place and Broadway, Fulton and William streets and Wall and William streets.

Two other new sections of the rapid transit system are to be put in operation next week. Within a few hours after the Seventh avenue line south is opened service will begin over the 162 street elevated road connection between the Ninth avenue elevated line and the Jerome avenue branch of the Lexington avenue subway, which now terminates at Sedgwick avenue, as far as the 167th street station on the Jerome avenue line. At the same time the express tracks between 125th and 155th streets, with a new express stop at 145th street and Eight avenue, will be put into service.

On next Wednesday the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Railroad Company will begin operating that part of the Jamaica avenue elevated line from Greenwood avenue to the terminus of the road at Cliffside avenue, Jamaica.

Good Railway Service Depends on Six Cent Fare

Theodore P. Shonts Presents the Case of the Surface and Underground Companies, Which Ask Relief

IN a communication to the public Theodore P. Shonts, president of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, has set forth the case of that transportation company for an increase in fare from five to six cents.

The statement starts out with a list of the cities in which a six-cent fare is now being collected instead of five, as formerly was the case. The list follows:

City	Population	City	Population
St. Louis	757,309	New Britain	53,794
Pittsburgh	579,090	Salem	48,562
Portland (Ore.)	295,460	Haverhill	48,447
New Haven	149,685	Lexington	41,097
Fall River	128,366	Stamford	35,119
New Bedford	118,158	Meriden	34,183
Bridgeport	121,579	Nashua	27,327
Lowell	113,245	Norwalk	26,899
Hartford	110,900	Middletown (Conn.)	22,799
Reading	109,381	Pottsville	22,028
Lynn	102,425	Torrington	19,597
Lawrence	100,560	Ansonia	16,704
Waterbury	86,973	Rutland	14,831
Wilkes-Barre	76,776	Naugatuck	14,093
Erie	75,195	Dover	13,272
Brockton	67,449	Meadville	13,802

Through the inauguration of a zone system fares have been substantially increased in the following cities:

City	Population	City	Population
Providence	254,960	Norwich	29,419
Springfield (Mass.)	103,216	New London	20,895
Pawtucket	59,411	Westfield	18,391
Woonsocket	44,360

Electric railways in the following cities have applied for fare increases—in the case of the New Jersey cities for a seven-cent fare; in the case of the majority of the others for a six-cent fare:

City	Population	City	Population
New York	5,602,841	Memphis	148,995
Philadelphia	1,709,518	Scranton	146,811
Boston	756,476	Paterson	138,443
Cleveland	674,673	Cambridge	112,987
Buffalo	468,558	Trenton	111,593
Milwaukee	436,535	Camden	106,233
Newark	408,894	Albany	104,199
Minneapolis	363,454	Des Moines	101,598
Seattle	348,639	Schenectady	99,519
Jersey City	306,345	Kansas City, Kan.	99,437
Kansas City, Mo.	297,847	Elizabeth	86,690
Indianapolis	271,708	Utica	85,692
Denver	260,800	Manchester	78,283
Rochester	256,417	Troy	77,916
St. Paul	247,232	Hoboken	77,214
Louisville	238,910	Harrisburg	72,015
Columbus	214,878	Passaic	71,744
Atlanta	190,558	Johnstown	68,529
Richmond	156,687	Portland	63,867
Syracuse	155,624	Binghamton	53,973

M. Shonts quotes what is said by the Hon. John Skelton Williams, Comptroller of the United States Treasury, as follows:

"The work of war has thrown upon many of these corporations strains which they are unable to endure without prompt help. The cost of their labor and of all materials for operation, betterments and up-keep has increased heavily and suddenly. They are required to increase radically and quickly their services and facilities. . . . At the industrial centers car lines are being rushed and overburdened by new armies of workers."

"In other words," goes on Mr. Shonts, "the same causes that have forced the baker to raise the price of bread, the butcher to raise the price of meat, the milkman to raise the price of milk, the clothier to raise the price of clothes, the merchant to raise the price of dry goods, the mechanic to demand higher wages, the Government to raise postal rates, the Government to increase railroad rates, and so on through the long list of everything that a human being requires to maintain his existence, has left electric railways these alternatives: Increased revenue, or decreased service or bankruptcy."

Mr. Shonts declares that bankruptcy would neither decrease fares nor halt their increase. On the other hand, it means deteriorated service and would prevent those extensions and improvements which are essential to the growth of communities.

From President Wilson is obtained the endorsement that "it is essential that these utilities should be maintained at their maximum efficiency and that everything reasonable be done with that end in view."

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo adds to this his opinion that "our local public utilities must not be permitted to become weakened. Transportation of workers to and from our vital industries and the health and comfort of our citizens in their homes are dependent upon them. . . ."

In the statement the president of the Interborough says that the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, in formal resolutions adopted at its annual convention, declared that "the maintenance of the country's public utilities in the highest possible state of efficiency is essential not only to the war program of the United States, but also to the nation's business and industrial interests," and recommended to state and local authorities that they give "prompt and sympathetic hearing to the petitions of such utilities for assistance and relief."

Mr. Shonts sums his argument as follows:

"Good street car service is essential to the welfare of the community.

"Good street car service can be provided only when there is adequate revenue in the shape of fares.

"We are seeking increased revenue in order that we may pay adequate wages, provide adequate service and maintain our credit so that the new capital necessary for improvements and extensions may be secured.

"This company has borne, is bearing and will cheerfully continue to bear its due share of the war burden. It is, however, to the interest of no one that this share be so increased as to prevent the rendering of good service.

"We are prepared to prove that without an increase in revenue we can neither render adequate service, properly provide for our employees, protect our credit, or care for the expansion of the city.

"When we do prove this we want not only your willing assent to such measures of relief as may be necessary, but your assistance and co-operation in furnishing that service which is the city's right."

Want Public Service Commission to Act.

The New York Railways Company, which operates most of the Manhattan surface lines, yesterday filed a petition with Mayor Hylan, requesting that for the period of the war and one year thereafter, the Public Service Commission be permitted to determine rates of far on the company's lines, regardless of existing municipal agreements and franchises. This is another move toward obtaining the six-cent fare.

At present the Public Service Commission has no power to increase fares on the surface lines without a modification of existing franchises by the Board of Estimate. The present franchises hold the company to a five-cent fare. There was a strong sentiment in the Public Service Commission, when, several months ago, the companies petitioned for the six-cent fare and a charge for transfers, to grant the relief asked for.

A statement said to have been made by the War Labor Board in Washington that the President had power to fix fares on electric railways, interester members of the Public Service Commission yesterday, who expressed the opinion that to do this the Federal Government must first take control of the roads. It was said that the opinion of the Board would probably not be found applicable to the lines in this city.

Here are purchases by over seventy firms who have bought and paid for over 120 different buildings since January 1, 1917, and most of the sales have been made very recently, and many have been on an all cash basis. These properties have been taken out of the market and are to be occupied by the purchasers.

Space does not permit me to detail the buying by bona fide investors which has been on an infinitely greater scale.

I do not look for any "runaway" market in real estate until after the war is over, and I hope the market improvement will be slow and steady, and it is better that we should not have too rapid or violent a movement towards higher prices.

Among the reasons for my opinion that after the war is over we are certain to have a tremendous boom in downtown property is that real estate is now resting for the first time in fifteen years on a firm foundation. The market leaders—big banks, insurance companies and title companies—have been ultra conservative during the last few years, and, generally speaking, real estate today is not over mortgaged. The weak holders of property were long ago eliminated from the market.

This has resulted in all property being put on a proper price level, and the readjustment, while violent in certain sections, has been definite. Today practically all real estate is valued at low, conservative figures, and in many instances at prices less than what it is intrinsically worth. In this connection it is interesting to note that New York City real estate is today mortgaged at from $300,000,000 to $500,000,000 less than only a few years ago, and its rental value is much greater than it has been for a long time.

New York is growing at the rate of about 600,000 souls a year. The financial district is limited by reason of its environments and the ownership by institutions of property located downtown and because Manhattan Island is small and its area limited with the impossibility of widening it by a foot. There has been no construction to speak of for the past three years, and little or practically no building progressing now. There is a demand for space due to this steady increase of population and business growth. These conditions commenced to be felt about two years ago, at which time an increase in rental conditions was noted; property for rental became scarcer twelve months ago, and now we have practically no space for rental.

Six months from now I believe there will be no space available. What then? Only one logical answer. What will then govern the conditions will be supply and demand. The great economic condition which overrides the theory of the theorist, laughs at, ridicules and taunts the heretofore pessimist, and creates over night appraisers and actually makes conditions. No combination is great enough to force values up or down as against supply and demand, and provided the supply of space is less than the demand, then values are going up. First rental values will increase, then income and then prices, and the greater the demand and the more limited the supply, the greater will be the advance in values.

Downtown property is admittedly in great demand; its supply to meet that demand is daily diminishing, and conditions are such that there will be no floating supply of space in the near future. When this fact is more forcibly realized then will the stronger, more aggressive and far-seeing firms or corporations which intend to stay right downtown, secure by ownership or lease that location which they want, even if, in the final analysis, someone else has to be elbowed a little further uptown. This elbowing movement is now in its incipient stages. As it occurs, that district a little further uptown will gain in value, but the big gain, of course, will be in the neighborhood where supply and demand has caused the push.

Much of the buying for occupancy has been by firms that cannot get the proper office accommodations downtown, and many of these firms find that they not only get better space and individuality, but lower overhead rent charges by buying old buildings and altering them for office purposes.

Few realize the small amount of construction that has been going on and its economic effect on property values. According to the Record and Guide's figures, construction for the first five months of this year was about ten per cent. of that for the first five months of 1912. Builders and the large construction companies make the general prediction that for a considerably long period after the war steel and other building material will be scarce and buildings generally will be very expensive. This condition means that usable buildings are today worth more than they have ever been before, and these are the buildings that must be called into use in the immediate future to serve more important tenants than ever before. Fortunately, many of the older but rugged buildings are even more honestly and more substantially constructed than the newer ones, and many can be altered to advantage and when altered are often as good as new.

In conclusion I want to appeal to the imagination and common sense as the jury passing upon the future of real estate with these thoughts in mind:

How much desirable downtown thoroughfare property remains unimproved, particularly south of City Hall? Consider how little property is left that is desirable that has not been taken over by sale or long term lease by the tenant occupying the whole or a portion. Consider how few really good locations remain for purchase or lease.

This country is an infant. Less than one hundred and forty years old—only a day as in the life of nations.

Practically no new construction.

Practically no downtown space now to be had.

New York is the world's fastest growing city.

The downtown district cannot be expanded and not an acre can be added to its area.

With the above in mind, what is going to be the verdict when this war is over, and the Government pressure for money in large amounts ceases; when the uncertainty of the world's finances is over and once more the money which is now afraid, tied up or used in other directions is poured into the New York market to be loaned on real estate?

I believe the answer will be—"a real estate boom in downtown property"—and no matter what happens temporarily, I shall be the last one whose confidence will be shaken in well selected downtown real estate as the safest of all investments. I believe its tendency of value will always be upwards if for no other reason than supply and demand and an overwhelming confidence in this city, which is destined to be the world's metropolis.

Building Managers Hold Annual Convention

New York Well Represented at Meeting in Chicago—Many Measures Discussed.

THE Eleventh Annual Convention of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers was held at the Hotel La Salle, Chicago, from June 20 to 22, inclusive.

The annual election was held, the same officers, with the exception of the Vice-President, being re-elected to serve another year. The officers are: William Marshall Ellis, President, Chicago; E. M. Horine, Vice-President, Atlanta, Ga.; Howard G. Loomis, Secretary, Omaha; Ell Torrance, Jr., Treasurer, Minneapolis.

Charles E. Doty, Cleveland; Edward H. Doyle, Detroit; David Whitcomb, Seattle, together with the officers compose the Executive Committee.

One of the features of the convention was a series of breakfast and luncheon conferences.

E. H. Davidson, of St. Paul, spoke on the labor situation. David Whitcomb, a member of the Association from Seattle, now Secretary of the U. S. Fuel Administration in Washington, spoke convincingly on the coal situation at the annual banquet held at the Hotel La Salle, dwelling principally upon the work being accomplished by the Fuel Administration and the conservation of coal necessary in office and apartment buildings in order that the Government may be supplied. He prophesied far greater restrictive measures for non-essentials during the coming winter than past heatless Mondays entailed. Former Judge Charles S. Cutting, of the Probate Court of Cook County, Illinois, in "Legal Phases of the War" gave a summing up of the changed conditions brought about by the world conflict.

Another noteworthy address on "The Mechanical Equipment of Buildings," which proved of vital interest to all building managers, was delivered by William W. Lighthipe, Service Manager of the Otis Elevator Company, and Chairman of the Mechanical Equipment Committee.

Edward H. Doyle, of Detroit, read his original "Business Maxims and Suggestions Worth While." Earle

Schultz, of Chicago, read an interesting address on "Readjustments in Building Operations to Meet War-Time Conditions."

Edward A. Renwick, of Holabird & Roche, architects of Chicago, took as his theme "The Investment Problem in Office Buildings," while "Your Relation to the Coal Problems As Buyers and Users" was ably presented by Osborn Monnette, of the U. S. Fuel Conservation Committee for Illinois. The subject, "Operating Experiences in 1917" was a remarkable analysis of comparisons between fifty buildings in the United States made by Edwin S. Jewell, of Omaha.

Other numbers of the excellent program prepared were "High Grade Apartment Buildings As Investments," by Benjamin H. Marshall; an excellent address by F. X. Monville, of Philadelphia, entitled "The Wiring and Lighting of the Modern Office Building"; "The Relation Between Earning Power and Land Values in Taxation Matters," by H. J. Burton, of Minneapolis; and the excellently presented topic, "Local and National Associations from An Owner's Standpoint," by F. H. Swetland, of Cleveland.

The experiment conducted by building managers throughout the entire country in the employment of women elevator operators, and in other light work, were unanimously considered highly successful.

The following delegates from the New York Building Managers' Association attended the convention: William T. Ropes, of Horace S. Ely & Company; Thomas Morch, of Equitable Office Building Corporation; William W. Lighthipe, of Otis Elevator Company; Lee T. Smith, of Pease & Elliman, and J. Clydesdale Cushman, of Cushman & Wakefield, Inc. Two hundred and seventy-one delegates from thirty-eight cities attended the convention and it was the unanimous opinion of all members that the convention was an unqualified success.

The next convention will be held at Philadelphia.

New Regulations for Government Housing.

A MEMORANDUM from Secretary of Labor Wilson to Director of Industrial Housing and Transportation Otto M. Eidlitz, announcing important changes in the Government's housing policy, is in part as follows:

"The plan of organization approved by me May 4, 1918, shall continue in effect until otherwise directed except that there shall be associated with the director a representative of the War Department, a representative of the Navy Department and a representative of the Shipping Board, who shall be known as associate directors. They shall advise the director on behalf of their respective departments or board.

"There shall be organized a management division, which shall undertake the management of the properties erected by the Government, and also a division of existent housing, which will deal with the question of utilizing all of the housing and boarding facilities of each community in order to reduce to a minimum the need for Government housing.

"The Government will build, own, control and rent the houses until after the war.

"The houses erected in established communities shall be of a permanent character except where Congress has otherwise stipulated.

"Houses erected in communities that are not likely to continue in existence after the war shall be of a temporary character, but such temporary buildings must, of course, provide for the comfort of the occupants.

"Loans will only be advanced for the erection of dormitories to responsible corporations or associations not organized for profit, and then only after most careful consideration of the advantages to be gained thereby.

"In fixing rentals the following factors will have to be taken into account:

- "Fixed charges.
- "Interest on investment.
- "Insurance.
- "Reserves for upkeep of rented houses.
- "Repairs.
- "Renovating and redecorating.
- "Reserve for loss in case of non-occupancy.
- "Overhead expenses of administration.
- "Depreciation."

To Put An End to City's Big Noises.

The list of nuisances Police Commissioner Enright has told his men to eliminate follows:

- "All unnecessary shouting and yelling.
- "Blowing of horns or bugles or ringing of bells by scissors grinders, etc.
- "Unnecessary blowing of horns and whistles by drivers of automobiles and motor cycles.
- "Unmuffled or defective exhaust pipes on automobiles or motor cycles.
- "Yelling of taxi or carriage barkers at theatres and hotels.
- "Yelling of extras at any hour of the day or night.
- "Unnecessary noise by men delivering ice and milk.
- "Unnecessary rattling of milk cans.
- "Unnecessary noise when putting out ash cans at hotels, apartment houses and other buildings.
- "Unnecessary noise caused by defective or worn-out machinery.
- "Unnecessary blowing of factory or steamboat whistles.
- "Barking dogs and screeching parrots.
- "Faulty railroad or car tracks causing noise.
- "Flat wheeled cars, faulty brakes and unnecessary clanging of car bells."

The Other Side of It.

When a conservative and well informed real estate man says that there have been more sales of property in a given section of the city in the last twenty months than in the previous twenty years and gives the figures to prove it it is time to call pessimists to account.

It is true that the last few years have been very trying ones for all business men, real estate operators and owners included. Builders and the producers and manufacturers of materials have been seriously handicapped. It has looked at times to superficial observers as if the bottom had dropped out and the sides were caving in. The Record and Guide is not disposed to minimize the seriousness of conditions which have obtained during the period we have just passed through. It would be futile to do so.

But it is not out of place to call attention to the fact that on every occasion and whenever it was possible this publication has maintained that the real value of New York City property could not be permanently affected, even by so great a cataclysm as the war caused, and that the future promised prosperity for all those who kept up their faith in that kind of property which forms the basis of this city's well-being. It is with gratification, therefore, that there can be printed elsewhere in this issue the very hopeful and helpful article by Mr. Charles F. Noyes, who has had many years' experience in the real estate field, and whose intimate acquaintance with every detail of the business is acknowledged without question by the entire realty profession.

There are many interesting features pointed out by Mr. Noyes in his resume of a series of operations in a section of the city which has been dormant for a good many years. But what seems of most importance is that at a time when it has been popularly supposed that the real estate market was dead there has been extreme activity, comparatively speaking, in at least one part of the city.

What is apparent is that at least one far-sighted, observant and indefatigable man did not sit down lugubriously in a darkened and half deserted office and bemoan conditions, but went out and hustled and accomplished what seemed to many an impossibility. That others have done the same thing is known to this office. There are real estate firms whose books show a very fair increase in business this year over the last, although naturally the figures are not so large as they might have been with world affairs less unsettled.

There is a very important fact disclosed by Mr. Noyes, and that is that New York is at last, as was inevitable from the first, slowly spreading out in lateral fashion instead of adhering to its apparently established habit of stretching its neck northward along the sinuous and attractive Broadway.

The Zoning Law, which halted the uptown movement, has apparently instituted a backward thrust, which effectively forces growth into the less crowded but equally advantageous localities on either side of the city's main artery. The future welfare of these heretofore passed-by sections will be conserved by the new subway lines, just about ready for operation, which will really make the east and west sides of downtown New York as easily accessible as the central thoroughfare.

There can be no doubt that the city will profit materially by the reclaiming for first-class business purposes of the older parts of lower Manhattan, which have not yet been modernized. Mr. Noyes says that many of the old buildings in the section to which he refers are more substantially constructed than the newer ones. They can be remodeled at less cost than would be incurred in the erection of new buildings at this time. This solution of the question of the much needed additional space for office and commercial uses has many good features.

What is worthy of emphasizing is that when the real estate business was apparently at its lowest ebb somebody found a way to do a lot of business.

There are other sections of the city, in addition to the East Side of lower Manhattan, that might repay vigorous and resourceful working up by realty men with vision and the courage of their convictions to the benefit of the people of the city generally as well as their own.

A Concern of the Entire Nation.

Hon. Byron R. Newton, Collector of the Port of New York, is the latest important official to give public expression to the desirability of further increasing the facilities of America's greatest port.

Collector Newton, addressing members of the Rotary Club on Thursday, reiterated his belief that New York is certain to maintain her place as the greatest seaport in the world, but he also expressed regret that the policy of Congress has been to hold down appropriations designed to develop this port.

The views expressed by Mr. Newton are in line with those given by Dock Commissioner Hulbert in his recent letter to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. No intelligent student of the subject can fail to appreciate that these officials are absolutely right in the position they take. It is most unfortunate that many members of Congress from other States lack their perspective. It is especially unfortunate at this time, when all big problems must be viewed in their national aspect and when the application of local ideas deprives the entire Nation of the great benefits which prompt and broad-gauged development of the Port of New York would give.

Collector Newton occupies the most important Federal position in New York, and there is a ray of hope in the prediction he made to the Rotary Club members that the requirements of the Port of New York will be fully met by Congress eventually. Perhaps no official located in the Metropolis is in a better position to hasten this work than is Collector Newton. The situation presents to him an opportunity for splendid public service, both in the interest of New York City and of the entire Nation.

Conversion of Liberty Bonds.

One of the important announcements which has come from Washington recently has to do with the conversion of Liberty Bonds. An earlier statement on this subject proved misleading, and the Treasury authorities wisely have cleared away doubts by their later announcement.

The authoritative facts about the matter are that Liberty Bonds of the first and second issues and those obtained by converting bonds of the first issue into 4 per cent. bonds can be converted into $4\frac{1}{4}$ per cent. Liberty bonds during the six months' period, which began May 9 and ends November 9 next. The new bonds will be dated May 9, 1918.

After November 9, 1918, no further rights of conversion will attach to the 4 per cent. bonds, either the original bonds of the second loan or those obtained by conversion of bonds of the first loan. All of the $4\frac{1}{4}$ per cent. bonds are non-convertible.

Bonds for conversion may be surrendered at any Federal Reserve Bank or at the Treasury Department. Registered bonds must be assigned to the Secretary of the Treasury for conversion, but such assignment need not be witnessed. On conversion of registered bonds registered bonds only will be delivered, neither change of ownership nor change into coupon bonds being permitted.

Coupon bonds, however, may be converted into registered bonds upon request. Coupon bonds must have the May 15 or June 15 coupons detached and all subsequent coupons attached. Coupon bonds issued from conversion will have only four interest coupons attached, and later must be exchanged for new bonds with the full number of coupons attached.

Broadway Association Petitions the Mayor.

AT a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Broadway Association the following resolution was unanimously adopted, and the secretary, E. W. Estes, directed to send a copy to Mayor Hylan, which was done this week:

WHEREAS, There are pending many violations upon real estate in the city of New York, and many of such violations have grown out of changes in street plans and through new interpretations of old laws, and such violations do not hazard life or limb, but will cost large sums of money to eliminate; and

WHEREAS, The National Government has requested that we refrain from all unnecessary expense and use of material; therefore

RESOLVED, That the Broadway Association requests the city administration to refrain from enforcing the abatement of such violations during the progress of the war where there is no hazard to life or limb.

In his letter to the mayor Secretary Estes cites several cases where violations have been placed on buildings and where, if enforced, hardship and unnecessary expense entailed. One building near Forty-second street and Broadway has windows projecting four inches over the sidewalk. Their removal has been ordered, and the owner states that it will cost him nearly ten thousands dollars to do the work. The bottom of the window is eighteen feet above the sidewalk.

On the George M. Cohan Theatre building in Forty-third street there is a fire-escape ordered erected by the fire commissioner a few years ago, and it was constructed in accordance with plans approved by him and the building department. The owner has now been instructed to remove this fire-escape because it projects over the sidewalk. Not only will there be an expense of about $1,500 for its removal, but it is probable that the fire commissioner will then order the theatre closed because of the removal of this fire-escape.

A property owner informed the secretary of the Broadway Association that she has been compelled to foreclose a mortgage on a piece of property and the total of such mortgage now amounts to $7,500 upon a building assessed at $8,000. She has offered the property for sale for $5,000, but can obtain no buyer. Part of the property consists of a one-story store, which was built eleven years ago. The building department, she states, is now insisting that said building was not constructed properly and orders her either to tear it down or reconstruct it.

The association asks that orders be issued by the mayor that orders of this kind be discontinued until after the war.

Chairman John P. Leo of the Board of Standards and Appeals said: "It is the policy of the board to consider every case on its merits, and when in the opinion of the members unnecessary hardship would result to take such action as will afford relief, but it would be impossible to adopt a general policy granting relief to every appellant because of war conditions.

"The Board of Standards and Appeals was created under an act of the Legislature, and its duties and powers defined in the act. It is not within the power of any city authority to order a discontinuance or modification of the law covering such cases. A special act of the Legislature alone could change the law as it now stands and under which the board works.

"There is either a violation or no violation, and we must hear every case and decide whether to grant the appeal or to deny it. We cannot hold such cases in abeyance for any fixed period, although we have the power, and frequently do when circumstances warrant, modify orders and grant appeals under conditions imposed by the board."

At its meeting on Tuesday the Board of Appeals served notice on all appellants that it will tolerate no misrepresentation on their part, and this was emphasized by the rescinding of the board's permission for the conversion of a public stable into a public garage in the case of the L. G. House Engineering Company, before the board on April 23 of this year.

The Zoning committee, through its secretary, notified Chairman Leo that certain statements were made in this case contrary to the conditions as they existed and not in accordance with the diagrams submitted to the board and a committee appointed by the chairman after an investigation confirmed the statement of the Zoning Committee.

FOR SALE OR LEASE

For long term, the buildings 370-372-374 East Houston Street. This site has been used by the old-established firm, "Altman Furniture Company," for more than forty years, and the buildings, which are practically new, are adapted for that purpose, or are suitable for manufacturing purposes or wholesale house.

MANAGERS OF ESTATES
Broadway, cor. 80th St. 141 Broadway

LEGAL NOTES AFFECTING REALTY

Prepared by Committee on Real Estate Laws of
Real Estate Board, Samuel P. Goldman, Chairman

Mortgage Clause in Policy.

AN owner insured his interest in a property by a fire policy to which was attached a mortgage clause. He subsequently sold his interest in the property to another person, subject to the mortgage. Such other person insured the property in a second insurance company, and placed upon the policy a like mortgage clause in favor of the same mortgagee. There was no reference either expressly or by implication in the mortgage clause to the apportionment clause contained in the policy. The Pennsylvania Superior Court holds, Reed v. St. Paul Fire & Marine Ins. Co., 67 Pa. Sup. Ct. 110, that the second insurance company in an action against it by the mortgagee cannot compel the latter to accept in full settlement only one-half of the mortgage debt.

Broker's Commissions.

A contract was made for the sale of property providing for payment by installments, and that the vendor's obligations thereunder should cease on the purchaser's default. An agreement was subsequently made between the vendor and a broker, providing for payment of the broker's commission when payments of $5,000 and $10,000 were made by the purchaser, and specifically providing that, if the purchaser failed to carry out his contract, the broker should not be entitled to commission beyond the amount due at the time of the purchaser's default. The purchaser was unable to make the payments of $5,000 and $10,000, and the vendor extended the time of payment on condition that if the payments were not made at the time as so extended the contract would lapse. The payments were never made. It was held, Prince v. Selby Smelting & Lead Co. (Cal.), 170 Pac. 1075, that the vendor was not liable to the broker for commissions because of the extension of time or because the broker had no notice thereof when the extension was made.

Agreement for Resale.

A conveyed land to B for an advancement of money with which to clear it of judgment. A term of the agreement was that when B sold the land he would give A half of the proceeds above the amount of the advancement. In an action by A for the cancellation of the agreement and the deed to B, and for a reconveyance, upon payment to B. of his advances, with interest, the California Supreme Court holds, Campbell v. Kennedy, 170 Pac. 1107, that the law implies, as one of the terms of the agreement, that the sale should be made within a reasonable time, or, at least, that B would make reasonable efforts to sell within such time. Between the date of the deed to B and the demand for a reconveyance seven or eight years had elapsed, notwithstanding offers of a fair price had been received. It was held that B had breached the agreement and judgment for A was affirmed.

Rescission Where Title Is Defective.

The Tennessee Supreme Court holds, Cross v. Buskirk-Rutledge Lumber Co., 201 S. W. 141, that where title is defective, the delivery of a warranty deed to one who has gone into possession on representation of good title under contract of bargain and sale, but providing for "apt and proper deed with covenants of general warranty," does not render the contract an executory one, so as to prevent a rescission of the contract, in the absence of waiver.

Sale and Lease on Fifth Avenue.

The property of Black, Starr & Frost, at 592-594 Fifth avenue, southwest corner of 48th street, has been sold by the jewelry concern to the Oceanic Investing Company, represented by Masten & Nicholls, attorneys. The new owners have leased the property back to the jewelers for a period of twenty-one years. No figures were mentioned in connection with the deal, which was arranged on a cash basis. The property is assessed by the city for taxation purposes at $1,265,000, of which $1,010,000 represents land value. The Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company made the deal. The Starr & Frost building is a five-story structure, with an exterior of marble and bronze, and is from plans by Carrere & Hastings. It is classed among the finest pieces of commercial architecture in the country. The property has a frontage of 45.5 feet on Fifth avenue and 125 feet on 48th street. In the rear there is an "L" with a depth of 100.5 feet. The building occupies the site of the residence of the late Charles T. Cook, who for many years was president of Tiffany & Company. Black, Starr & Frost are probably the oldest jewelry concern in this country. The business was established by Isaac Marquard in 1810 at 166 Broadway, where Erastus Barton, William Black and Henry Ball served their apprenticeships.

Sell Broadway Lot.

A vacant lot on Broadway, probably the only one in that condition between 23d and 72d streets, was sold yesterday to the 1991 Broadway Company, composed of people owning property in the vicinity who are organizing a holding company preparatory to the improvement of the site with a four or a five-story business building. The property involved is 1991 Broadway, 27x130.2x25x117.4, between 67th and 68th streets, and was sold by Francis B. Robert for a price near the holding price of $100,000 for the 67th Street and Broadway Corporation, which is composed of Jacob

Hirsh, Sonn Brothers, Gutwillig Bros. and others who also own the adjoining northwest corner of Broadway and 67th street.

Buy on Fifth Avenue.

Markham Realty Company has sold to Titus, Blatter & Company, cotton goods, for occupancy, the two-story building now being completed at 162 Fifth avenue, just north of the northwest corner of 21st street. The property fronts 25 feet on Fifth avenue and is 120 feet in depth. The property was formerly the home of the Andrews family. M. & L. Hess, Inc., were the brokers in the sale of the property, which was sold free and clear and for all cash. The Markham Company acquired the property last January.

Apartment House Sale.

Frederick Brown sold to William F. Kenny, a large holder of investment properties in this city, the modern five-story apartment house at the southeast corner of Sherman avenue and 165th street, accommodating twenty families and occupying a plot 72 x 56 x 61 x 79. In part payment the buyer gave 1998 Madison avenue, near 127th street, a four-story and basement dwelling, 20 x 35, and 448 Hancock street, Brooklyn, a three-story and basement dwelling, 20 x 100, near Sumner avenue.

Sell Office Building.

Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company, has sold for William H. Sage, executor of the Ronalds Estate, to a client of the Charles F. Noyes Company, 12 Platt street, a four-story and basement office building covering a lot about 20x85. The building is one of the few individual office buildings in the downtown district, and is located within a few hundred feet of Maiden Lane and William street. In announcing the sale the brokers state that the purchaser bought the property on account of the big demand for office space in the district. The building is value at $30,000 and there was no exchange involved in the deal.

REAL ESTATE REVIEW OF THE WEEK

Bronx Apartments Figure Largely in Sales of the Week
Sale and Lease in Midtown Section. Other Leasing.

APARTMENT houses figured largely in the sales of the week, and in the Bronx especially there was more than the usual activity in this class of dealing. A sale of particular importance was that of the six-story apartment house, known as "The President," at the northeast corner of Creston avenue and 188th street, and known as 2450 Creston avenue.

The Creston Realty Company, acting for Irving Judis and Lewine & Kempner, sold the property to the Nason Realty Company, Max N. Nathanson, president.

Another Bronx transaction involved two five-story apartment houses at 2056 to 2062 Grand avenue, bought by Stark & Spitzer from the Freybell Realty Company. These buildings house twenty-one families each and are fully rented. They were sold for cash. M. J. Henschel was the broker in the transaction.

A deal in which a Bronx apartment and a four-story private dwelling in Brooklyn figured was a factor in the week's market. Frederick Brown, the operator, sold to William F. Kenny, a large holder of investment properties in this city, the modern five-story apartment house at the southeast corner of Sherman avenue and 165th street, taking in part payment a four-story and basement dwelling at 448 Hancock street, Brooklyn.

A sale in the midtown section and a lease for a long term of the property to the sellers was consummated this week when the property of Black, Starr & Frost at 592-594 Fifth avenue, southwest corner of 48th street, was sold to the Oceanic Investing Company, owners of several choice parcels of land in Manhattan, including the new twenty-story Astor Trust Building at Fifth avenue and 42d street, part of the site of the Rogers-Peet Building on Fifth avenue, 1 and 3 East 42d street, 4 East 43d street, the leasehold 561 Fifth avenue, 536 Fifth avenue, the Waterman Building at Broadway and Dey street, and the Metropolitan apartment house at the southwest corner of Broadway and 88th street. This deal involved over one million and a quarter, and was negotiated by the Douglas Robinson-Charles S. Brown Company. The buyers immediately leased the property back to the Black, Starr & Frost Company for a period of twenty-one years.

Evidencing the demand for large space in and about that portion of the downtown section in the neighborhood of Broadway and Cortlandt Alley is manifested in the leasing this week by H. L. Moxley & Company, for Douglas Robinson-Charles S. Brown Company, of the entire building at 408 and 410 Broadway, through to Cortlandt Alley, containing 68,000 square feet, to Butler Brothers, general merchandise. This property has been vacant for several years, and was formerly occupied by Calhoun, Robbins & Company prior to their removal to the midtown section. There are few available buildings to rent in this section, is the report of brokers who have had little property there on their books of late.

Leasing of apartments and private dwellings was more or less slow this week, and few leases for business purposes were reported in comparison to other weeks recently.

Enemy Aliens and Titles.

Under the proclamation of President Wilson, issued May 31, difficulties have been established which necessitate the sanction of the War Trade Board before a title can be given to real property in which enemy aliens are concerned. The Title Guarantee & Trust Company, in instructions covering this situation to conveyancers of that company, says that no title must be closed unless the person from whom the title is taken is personally present unless proof by affidavit is furnished that such person is not a citizen or subject of any nation with which the United States is at war. If such affidavit cannot be furnished because of the fact, proof of nationality of the person tendering the title and his or her residence during all of the time since August 4, 1914, must be furnished and considered by counsel before title is closed. No title will be closed from any of the persons above indicated or from a fiduciary acting for the benefit of any such person unless the transaction has been or shall be licensed by the War Trade Board.

The proclamation by the President, said Mr. Lindner yesterday, has greatly extended the classes of persons designated as enemies under the Trading With the Enemy Act.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

THE total number of sales reported and not recorded in Manhattan this week was 23 as against 29 last week and 15 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 59th street was 14 as compared with 15 last week and 7 a year ago.

The sales north of 59th street aggregate 9 as compared with 14 last week and 8 a year ago.

From the Bronx 14 sales at private contract were reported as against 16 last week and 11 a year ago.

Statistical table, indicating the number of recorded instruments, will be found on page 822 of this issue.

Newsboys' Club property, at the southeast corner of Second avenue and 11th street, a two-story building. The property was bought several years ago with the intention of developing it with a home for the city's newsboys, but the plan did not materialize, and the premises have remained idle. The present deal hinges on the acceptance by the Building Department of the plans, filed yesterday, for alterations, estimated to cost $75,000. The changes, which are expected to be sanctioned, call for an additional story and interior improvements. The Workers' Association is a fraternal organization, whose membership is mostly Hungarian. The basement of the building will be used for a printing shop for the publication of a Hungarian paper; the first floor for a restaurant; the second floor for meeting rooms and offices, and the additional floor for dance hall and auditorium.

The Creston Realty Company, acting for Irving Judis and Lewine & Kempner, sold to the Nason Realty Company, Max N. Natanson, president, the six-story apartment house at the northeast corner of Creston avenue and 188th street, and known as 2450 Creston avenue. The house, which covers a plot 54 by 91 by irregular, contains five stores and thirty apartments, all of which are rented. The property has been held at $110,000. Byrne & Baumann were the brokers in the transaction. The Creston company has been actively operating in the immediate neighborhood, having recently sold among other properties, the adjoining house at the Grand Boulevard and Concourse and 188th street to the Henry Morgenthau Company, which later resold it. Another Bronx transaction concerned the two five-story apartment houses at 2056 to 2062 Grand avenue, on a plot 113 by 90, which were bought by Stark & Spitzer from the Freybell Realty Company. These buildings, which house twenty-one families each and are entirely rented, were also sold for cash. M. J. Henschel was the broker in the deal. Abraham Leichter represented the purchasers as attorney.

Portland Cement Production Equals Demand

No Surplus Stocks on Hand—Government Work Requires About 23 Per Cent. of Total Output

IN order to get the latest authentic information about material prices, availability of supply and similar topics, the Record and Guide has just completed a thorough investigation into the manufacture of one of the most essential structural materials—cement—to find out what the producing situation is, how the war has effected manufacturing supply and cost, and the length of time that existing economic conditions might prove a detriment to the progress of building construction.

It has been reported in the newspapers that the Government has issued priority certificates for Portland cement. A dispatch to the Record and Guide from its Washington representative shows, however, that such is not the fact. The authorities have agreed to give cement manufacturers a degree of preferential treatment, in order to assure a reasonably full supply. This was made conditional upon the manufacturers curtailing their productions sufficiently to meet the demands of war requirements and other needs of national or exceptional importance. This plan, it is estimated in Washington, means a curtailing of the normal output by about thirty per cent.

Investigation into the conditions surrounding the production of Portland cement in the Lehigh Valley indicates that although the war has created an abnormal situation in many respects, the cement industry is operating upon a sound basis, producing and shipping material to the maximum permitted by the Fuel Administration, making every effort to conserve the resources of the industry, serve its customers to the best of its ability, and patriotically "do its bit" for the Government in its hour of need.

The producing capacity of the Lehigh Valley Portland cement manufacturing district is approximately 30,000,000 barrels annually, but during the past three or four years the average annual output has been in the neighborhood of 23,000,000 barrels a year. This amount is approximately 36 per cent. of the entire cement production of the country.

Early this year the National Fuel Administration decided that for 1918 the cement industry should be furnished with coal sufficient to manufacture 75 per cent. of the average output of the past three years. Owing to the difficulty in obtaining fuel during the first three or four months of this year, which prevented the operation of the majority of the cement plants in the Valley during that time, it is doubtful, even if the mills operate to their full capacity for the balance of the year, whether they will be able to produce 75 per cent. of their output of previous years. There has been considerable curtailment in production this season, but manufacturers are not willing to give out definite figures at this time.

Notwithstanding the lack of construction of a private nature it is extremely doubtful if there has been a time in the history of the Portland cement industry when manufacturers have had a smaller stock of the finished product in reserve. Almost all of the storage bins in the Lehigh district are cleaned out nightly and the finished product loaded upon cars for shipment. Many of the makers are shipping their entire daily output as it is made, and as the demand is steady there is little likelihood of any great reserve being piled up at mill points.

At present there is a negligible amount of Portland cement being exported to foreign ports, practically the entire mill output is going to supply the jobbers or into war construction and the other types of building requirements in the United States. The railroads of the nation formerly were prominent among the cement users, but these interests are now taking a small quantity as they are only making road repairs of the most essential character.

Manufacturers are agreed that there is, and will be, a sufficient supply of cement for all building purposes and that there cannot be a famine in this important material line. Cement, tributary to the New York market, is readily available and in volume sufficient to take care of any ordinary demand, unless the Government materially increases its present requirements. An official of one of the prominent producing companies in the Lehigh district stated that during the past month about 23 per cent. of the shipments from their mills were forwarded direct to Federal building projects. As all orders for materials to be used in Government work are pro rated among the manufacturers according to the capacity of their respective plants, this figure can be taken as indicating the amount of Portland cement the Government is now taking out of the market.

It is believed that Federal requisitions of cement are likely to become much larger than at present and that the demands upon the industry will grow in volume as the war progresses and the Governmental program of construction is expanded to its maximum. Producers will not be surprised if the Government announces that it will require the entire output of the cement mills for a limited period, possibly for three or four months. The Portland Cement Association pledged 100 per cent. of their output, if necessary, at any time the Government should have need of it.

Cement manufacturers are paying higher wages today for common labor employed in their plants than ever before, yet they are experiencing great difficulties in holding their forces together. Producers are paying at the rate of 32c. to 35c. per hour for a ten-hour day, with time and one-half for overtime, and double time for Sundays and holidays, which is about 100 per cent. above the scale in force prior to the war. Yet they lose men to other plants in the district who offer wages considerably higher than the scale paid in the cement mills. The Bethlehem Steel Company, located in the heart of the cement producing district, and other foundry and manufacturing corporations have immense war contracts, are steadily draining the cement industry of its man power by offering work at the rate of 44c. and 45c. per hour for common labor. These concerns have been offering as high as $8.50 per day for skilled mechanics, carpenters, masons, plumbers and other trades.

Military enlistments and the selective draft have also added to the labor difficulties of the cement manufacturing industry. A large percentage of the men employed in these plants were of military or draft age, and the number of draftees added to the high percentage of voluntary enlistments from this district has resulted in intensifying the labor shortage.

At present, and for some time past, there has been practically no difficulty in obtaining all the coal required to operate cement plants in the Lehigh Valley. Fuel shipments are now coming through in excellent volume and reasonable time and without the assistance of Federal priority orders. Some of the manufacturers using a slag anthracite are even able to store up considerable tonnage against the time when freight, transportation and mining problems might again interfere with their obtaining the required supply. Users of high gas bituminous coal are unable to store supplies in any great quantity, owing to the inflammability of high gas coal, which is a constant menace to the plant. These producers depend upon a steady supply of fuel from the mines.

The mounting cost of fuel has been one of the principal reasons for the steady advance in price of Portland cement. Before the war, slag anthracite was selling at the mine mouth for 75c. a ton and plus the freight and handling brought the delivered cost up to about $2.50 a ton. At present the same quality of coal is costing, delivered, in the neighborhood of $6.00 a ton and this price is likely to increase. As it requires about 160 pounds of coal to produce a barrel of Portland cement it can be readily seen how this increase has effected cement prices.

Packing costs have also been prominent among the influences that have advanced the cost of cement to the consumer. Prior to 1914 the cost of bags made from seven-ounce cotton duck, generally used in cement bags, was 8c. or 8½c. each per bag. Now bags made of the same quality of material cost about 30c. each. The rebate that manufacturers allow for returned bags is 10c. each.

Paper bags of a quality strong enough to stand the strain required before the war cost about 2½c. each. At the present time producers pay $60 a thousand or 6c. each for bags so poor in quality as to make the safe arrival of cement at its destination problematical.

According to the present outlook producers of Portland cement predict that the price of their commodity will not recede from its present high level for a long time to come. Production, packing and shipping expenses are steadily mounting, as are wages, and the producers expect to pass these additional costs along to the jobbers and the ultimate consumers.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

CONFIDENCE and funds are the principal factors in structural activity lacking today rather than the more concrete essentials of construction. There is apparently a sufficient supply of building commodities available for the erection of hundreds of buildings other than monumental edifices or large fire-proof office and loft structures that would require large tonnages of fabricated steel, but money to start them is scarce, and the problem generally confronting builders contemplating improvements is that of financing their operations.

If it were possible somehow to renew the confidence of the building public and to make prospective builders realize the advantage of undertaking contemplated operations at the earliest moment, and if the money markets as applied to building projects were to ease up somewhat and release funds for this essential work, building activity would almost immediately take on the semblance of a boom, as the demand for new structures of the type that can now be erected without undue hindrance is acknowledged.

The tendency toward a renewal of speculative activity continues, but there is not yet sufficient work of this character actually placed under construction to effect the building situation other than to create the feeling of better times in prospect for all phases of the industry. The past week brought additional evidences of the awakening life in speculative building fields, and there is now no doubt but that this form of activity will grow steadily in volume and importance.

New Government operations have again become prominent in the reports of the week. There had been a slight falling off during the past week or so, but the situation has been changed with the federal announcement of a number of large projects scheduled for an early start in the territory adjacent to New York City. Among these projects are included a large hospital group to be built for the Ordnance Department at a site on the Raritan River, which will cost about $400,000. Snare & Triest Company, 8 West 40th street New York, have the contract for this work. The Emerson Building Company, 103 Park avenue, has been announced as the contractor for the swimming pool, to cost $125,000, to be erected at Pelham Park, and to be used by the men in training at the naval station. William Crawford, 7 East 42d street, obtained a contract for work involving the expenditure of $100,000 for additional buildings, to be located at Base Hospital No. 1 in New York City, and the John K. Turton Corporation, 101 Park avenue, has the contract for the extension to the naval air station, costing approximately $185,000, at Rockaway, L. I. In the neighborhood of $300,000 will be expended for a similar project at Elizabeth, N. J. The plans for this work have been prepared and the contract will be let on the cost plus basis within a short time. Working plans have also been completed for a large group of structures, including barracks, mess halls and dispensary buildings, to cost in total $1,250,000, and to be located on the Shore Road, between 65th street and Fort Hamilton, Brooklyn. About $2,000,000 will be expended for additional cantonment buildings at Tenafly, N. J., for the National Army.

The markets for building materials and supplies are almost uniformly quiet, but prices are firm in those lines that are not advancing from the levels that have recently maintained. In some instances the demand is seemingly picking up, and manufacturers and dealers are of the opinion that increased activity is in store for all within the coming months.

Common Brick.—Conditions in the wholesale market for Hudson River common brick are similar to those maintaining last week. The demand is quiet and about keeping pace with the arrivals of new brick from up-river points. Arrivals have been scant owing to the difficulty of obtaining labor to load the barges and the extremely high wages demanded for this work. Prices are firm at $11.50 a thousand, and there is a tendency toward a further stiffening to $12. As a matter of fact some barges are being held at this figure today, and it is anticipated that the price will shortly be obtained. Production this year will be on a most limited scale, and if the present rate is continued it is doubtful if more than 5 per cent. of the output of last year will be made.

MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES

Lumber.—Conditions in the lumber markets, both wholesale and retail, remain practically unchanged, with a demand that is fairly active in commercial lines, but with considerable lethargy in the building situation. The latter phase of the market indicates signs of improvement, however, and with the steadily growing number of new building projects, in which wood will largely enter as a material of construction, the outlook for the future is more hopeful. There has been some improvement in the transportation situation, and supplies of timber and lumber are coming in from the mills in less time than they did some weeks ago, but there remains much room for betterments in the service rendered lumber interests by the freight lines. Lumber prices are firm in all lines, and with the tendency toward further advances.

Structural Steel.—Although the past week has brought with it announcements of a considerable tonnage of fabricated material to be used in large building and engineering projects they are all for the railroads of the country or for structures required by the Government. Private interests are out of the market for the present time as they cannot obtain steel for their contemplated buildings, while the federal requirements maintain their present urgency. The commitments of the week were all for work to be located at considerable distance from this city.

Wire Products.—During the past week there have been no large orders from federal sources, but there are indications that an order for 7,500 tons of annealed wire for shipment to France will be placed within a short time. Private consumers are in the market in considerable force, but owing to the fact that priority orders are required for all shipments the consuming trades are likely to be forced to operate on short rations of wire products until the Government requirements are entirely filled. The supplies in the hands of the jobbers are relatively small, and there is likely to be a scarcity for a while. Government prices are in force until September 1 for large lots.

Tin Plate.—The War Industries Board last week reaffirmed all present prices on tin and for delivery in the last half of this year. It is stated that a plan is being worked out by which manufacturers of tin plate will be assured of a supply and at a maximum price of 75 cents per pound. At the same time the War Industries Board is working out a plan to conserve the supply of tin wherever possible, and calls for the co-operation of all manufacturers using this commodity to assist in assuring a full supply for all essential usages by curtailing consumption in every channel where possible and substituting other materials for tin where equal results may be obtained.

Window Glass.—Conditions in the market for plate and window glass grow steadily worse, and the manufacturers are increasingly hampered by the difficulties of shipping their product. Licenses must be obtained for all rail shipments. Production has slowed down materially owing to the increasing cost of raw materials and the wages of the operatives in the plants. At the present writing the schedule of manufacturers' discounts remains unchanged.

Linseed Oil.—The scarcity of this commodity grows daily, and there is no immediate possibility of a renewal of supply. The domestic seed crop will not be available for some months, and owing to the scarcity of bottoms for ocean transportation a supply from South America is doubtful. Meanwhile the crushers are slowing down in their production and are delayed in deliveries. The demand is fairly active and prices are strong, with no prospect of a recession.

Crushed Limestone.—The market is picking up and considerable new activity has been noticeable during the past week. At the present time the demand is strong and prices are firm, owing to the large quantities of this material now being required for Government building operations. The producers are most optimistic and their only present difficulty is in combating the scarcity of labor that hinders production.

Lime.—The lime producers of the country and representatives of the War Industries Board held a conference at Washington last Saturday. The purpose of this meeting was to plan for a survey of the industry and to study and recommend as to possibilities of curtailing production and directing the product into essential uses. It has been agreed that large savings in fuel can be accomplished. The possibilities are great since approximately one ton of fuel is required to produce 2½ tons of lime.

BUILDING PROJECTS OF THE PAST WEEK

Analysis of Statistical Tables

Compiled by the F. W. Dodge Co.

NEW building projects in New York State and Northern New Jersey for the week, June 17 to 22 inclusive, aggregate $107,407,000, of which Government work amounts to $101,875,000, according to statistics compiled by F. W. Dodge & Company. The analysis includes the classification of the proposed construction and the number and cost of each. No duplicates are contained in the tables which follow:

Interesting facts are disclosed by a study of the table of comparative statistics compiled by the F. W. Dodge Company, which shows the totals of contracts awarded from January 1 to June 1 for the past nine years. The figures are for building and engineering projects in the States north of the Ohio River and east of the Missouri River, including New England, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, District of Columbia, Virginia, Ohio, West Virginia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, and portions of Missouri and Eastern Kansas.

During the first five months of this year the total of the contracts awarded for building and engineering operations amounted to $663,516,000. These figures indicate that building operations for the first five months of 1918 exceeded any similar period for the past nine years. In 1917, for the same time, the total commitment for new construction reached the sum of $624,861,000, and in no previous year did the sum of the contracts awarded reach the sum of $500,000,000.

The figures for the five months from January 1 to June 1 for the last nine years follow:

1918	$663,516,000
1917	624,861,000
1916	456,101,500
1915	321,241,100
1914	300,721,000
1913	379,001,500
1912	327,015,000
1911	339,167,813
1910	366,037,505

In the local territory, including New York State and Northern New Jersey, there has been a noticeable reduction in the gross amount of money placed in structural projects. The total of contracts awarded in this territory for the first five months of the current year amounted to $113,449,000, as compared to $127,894,000 for 1917. The figures for the present year, however, have only been exceeded twice in the past nine years and in view of the conditions governing building operations may be considered hopeful. A large percentage of the totals of the past year include Federal projects, but as the building trades have been called upon to perform the major portion of the work involved, the situation is not altered thereby.

The figures for the five months from January 1 to June 1 for the last nine years follow:

1918.....	$113,449,000
1917.....	127,894,000
1916.....	59,526,500
1915.....	59,493,500
1914.....	56,036,000
1913.....	134,307,500
1912.....	98,730,000
1911.....	100,787,000
1910.....	110,603,000

The figures indicate that notwithstanding the adverse comment upon the building situation locally, as well as nationally, there is a favorable volume of building work under construction with infinitely more to follow and that the building trades of the country have at hand practically all of the work they are able to handle with efficiency and dispatch.

Road Construction Contracts.

A test case brought by the State Road Builders' Association in an attempt to force Edwin Duffey State Highway Commissioner, to cancel all contracts for road construction, the work on which was not completed when the United States entered the war, failed today. Supreme Court Justice Chester denied an application for a peremptory writ of mandamus. The association argued that the Walters law of 1918, giving the highway commissioner power to cancel contracts during war time, was mandatory. Justice Chester upheld the contention of Attorney-General Lewis that the powers conveyed under the Walters law were merely discretionary.

PERSONAL AND TRADE NOTES.

Otto E. Goldschmidt, consulting engineer, New York, announces the removal of his offices to 116 West 39th street.

George Backer Construction Company and its allied companies have removed their offices from 20 East 32d street to the fifth floor in 729 Seventh avenue.

Harry E. Donnell, Warrington G. Lawrence and Frank E. Perkins, architects, formerly located at 225 Fifth avenue, have moved their offices to 37 East 28th street.

CALENDARCALL OF CALENDAR.

The Clerk's Calendar will be called in Room 919, on Tuesday, at 3 o'clock sharp, and cases will then be taken from the General Calendar, and set down for hearing during the following week. Any requests for adjournment must be made when Clerk's Calendar is called.

The Clerk's Calendar consists of cases which are complete, but which have not yet been set down for hearing on a definite date. It is not to be confused with the Calendar, which consists of cases that have been definitely set for fixed days.

The listing of an appeal or petition in this Calendar is full and sufficient notice to all persons interested that such case will be heard on the date set and no adjournment will be allowed on the ground of ignorance of the date or of lack of due notice.

All hearings are held in Room 919, Municipal Building, Manhattan.

HOURS OF MEETINGS.

During July and August, in accordance with action taken by the Board of Standards and Appeals on June 6, the weekly meetings will be as follows:

Board of Standards and Appeals, Tuesdays, at 10 a. m.
